Keep Maryland Beautiful Award Grants Available

The Maryland Environmental Trust is accepting funding applications through the end of March from nonprofit groups or communities that advance environmental issues and/or address environmental problems. The $2,000 Margaret Rosch Jones Award and the Bill James Environmental Grants, which award up to $1,000 each, are funded by the State Highway Administration as part of the Trust's Keep Maryland Beautiful Program.

The Margaret Jones Award is awarded to voluntary nonprofit groups or communities that make continuing plans for a project that has already demonstrated a basic understanding and resolution of an environmental issue. The award is given in the memory of Margaret Jones, long-time executive director of the Keep Maryland Beautiful Program.

Groups that apply for the Jones Award must have taken an active role in educating community residents about litter prevention, community beautification, and/or local or statewide environmental issue(s); and/or successfully eliminated or reduced the causes of a local environmental problem rather than only address the symptoms.

The Bill James Environmental Grants are awarded to school groups, science and ecology clubs, and other nonprofit youth groups for proposed environmental education projects. The grants are given in memory of William S. James, who drafted legislation to create the Trust, incorporating the activities of the Governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful.

The objectives of the James Environmental Grants are to encourage stewardship and personal responsibility for the environment; stimulate a better understanding of environmental issues; aid in the elimination or reduction of a local environmental problem; and encourage education about growth management and protection of rural areas and sensitive resources while discouraging sprawl.

Applications, which must be completed and returned to the Trust by March 31, are available from the Maryland Environmental Trust, First Floor, 100 Community Pl., Crownsville, MD 21032-2023 or via the Trust's web site at www.dnr.state.md.us/met.

FOR THE FIRST TIME THIS WEEK, it was possible to put away the above sign and others like it, as school in the county finally resumed this morning following three straight days of cancellation because of the "noreaster" storm that hit the mountaintop and much of the northeastern United States early this week. Garrett County schools have been closed seven days this winter, two beyond the five days that are built into the school calendar, meaning that at least two days will have to be made up, according to state law. At least 1½ feet of snow blanketed the county in this most recent storm and, after a brief weather break today, one to three more inches of snow is predicted for tonight. Photo by John McEwen.

Murder Suspect Appears In AC District Court

Tucker County resident Michael Todd Messenger, accused in the February shooting death of a Mtn. Lake Park woman outside a Gortner area tavern, appeared for a preliminary hearing yesterday in Allegany County District Court. Judge Paul Stakem presided at the hearing, which was moved to Cumberland after Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett recused himself due to a potential legal conflict.

Stakem ruled that probable cause existed for Messenger's trial process to continue in Garrett County Circuit Court on 24 criminal charges, including one count of second degree murder and five counts of attempted murder. The exact date is pending, but the trial is expected to get under way in Oakland between now and the first of October. The defendant is being represented by Cumberland attorney R. Steven Friend and assistant defense attorney Ramone Rozas II, while the prosecution team will be led by Garrett County state's attorney Lisa Thayer Welch.

Further details about the shooting are emerging. The incident, which took at Shorty's Bar and Grill on the night of Feb. 12., occurred after the victim, Sharyn Jane Burch, 21, refused Messenger's advances inside the Garrett Highway establishment. When he reportedly grew unruly and verbally abused her, another bar patron intervened and a fight ensued between Messenger and two other men.

Allegedly intoxicated, Messenger was then thrown out of the bar but punched the door and broke the glass, cutting his hand in the process. While in the parking lot he called out for those inside the bar to come outside and fight, then climbed into his truck. Shortly afterward the bartender and three patrons exited the building, reportedly to use a cell phone to notify the bar's owner of the damage to the door.

As the call was being made, one witness reportedly saw Messenger remove an object from under the BOWLING FOR BBBS DOLLARS — Bowlers and pledge donors are still being sought for the annual Bowl for Kids' Sake bowling benefit for the Garrett County chapter of Big Brothers Big Sisters. The community event takes place Saturday, March 31, at Oakland's Par-Mat Lanes, and teams and individual bowlers of all age levels and skill levels are encouraged to participate. For further information and team and pledge sheets, interested persons may call the local BBBS office at 301-334-3591 or 800-400-0735.

Bowl For Kids' Sake Benefit Has Openings

Bowl for Kids' Sake, sponsored by the Garrett County branch of Big Brothers Big Sisters (BBBS), will get under way at noon on Saturday, March 31, at Par-Mat Lanes in Oakland. Individual and team bowling will take place during the annual BBBS fund raiser, which is the primary source of revenue for the mentoring program.

The bowl-a-thon is not considered an athletic or sporting event, but a fun time that helps raise funds for this local charity. According to a spokesperson, being a great bowler is not a requirement for this event, and BBBS actually guarantees that every participant will score a minimum of 100 points. Pledge raisers can participate by signing up sponsors and bowling at the event.

The many prizes awarded to bowlers will add to the festive atmosphere, as a number of incentive and door prizes have been donated by local businesses and will be awarded to bowling participants. Bowlers who raise $50, $100, $150, or $200 automatically receive their choice of incentive prizes. A new incentive prize choice available this year is a bowling ball for bowlers who raise $350. Local businesses have donated door prizes that will be awarded every 10-15 minutes.

Salary Comm. Recommendations Acted Upon By Commissioners

The Garrett County commissioners this week announced their decisions concerning salaries and benefits of some of the county's elected officials and appointed commissions, approving most of those recommendations made by the Garrett County Salary Study Commission. They did, however, reject the commission's recommendations for the offices of county sheriff and state's attorney.

The commissioners' decision on one of those salary adjustments had been met with accusations of unfairness by Garrett County Sheriff Dick Sanders when they announced that the salary for that office would be raised from the current $50,000 to $55,600 annually instead of the commission's recommendation of $65,000.

The commissioners explained their rationale for the salary by saying the $55,600 was more in line with salaries in similar counties around the state. Commissioner Wendell Beitzel told the group that Allegany, Kent, Doreester, Worcester and Talbot counties all had set sheriff's salaries in the $40,000 to $45,000 range.

After Sheriff Sanders responded by saying the commissioners had not met with him to find out what all of his responsibilities were, a meeting was arranged by the commissioners later this week and the board unanimously agreed to set the sheriff's salary at $60,000.

Sanders had initially told the commissioners that he was "very disappointed," explaining that he had not had a raise in eight years. He also reported that a comparison of other counties was not necessarily an accurate one since many other sheriffs around the state do not have the re-

Leads Sought In Md. Minerals Robbery Sunday

A weekend robbery of Maryland Minerals in McHenry is under investigation by the Maryland State Police, who report that similar break-ins and thefts have occurred in Garrett County and Somerset County, Pa., over the past six months. Maryland Minerals is located at 414 Quarry Rd., behind the Garrett 8 Cinemas.

Police believe that a light gray, possibly primer-colored mid-size American-made pickup truck, which was seen parked at the front gate of the business between noon and 3 p.m. Sunday, may have been involved in the robbery. A number of electric breakers and starters, with a total value of over $25,000, were stolen from the business.

A $10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the perpetrator(s) is being offered. Persons may submit information to the MSP McHenry barrack at 301-387-1101.

Local Residents To Be Featured In Concert By Chen & Dancers

Community involvement will be an essential element when Chen & Dancers visit Garrett County for a three-day residency featuring lecture-demonstrations March 15-16 for Northern and Southern high schools and a community performance on March 16 at 8 p.m. at Southern High School. Performers including children, teens, adults, and senior citizens from the local community will be featured during the excerpt of one of the company's works, Bian Dan.

Rehearsals for these participants are scheduled for Wednesday, March 14, in the afternoon and evening at Southern High School. Ms. Hsin-Ya Hou, a dancer in the company, will arrive two days before the rest of the dancers to work with the community participants. "The results of each residency in performance reflect the unique vitality of the individual community involved," stated Beth Johnson, executive director of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, sponsor of the program.

Chen & Dancers, founded by artistic director H.T. Chen, is the nation's largest Asian-American dance institution, with its home base in New York City's Chinatown. For the last several years, H.T. Chen has created a repertory for Chen & Dancers that has given poetic voice to the journeys of Asians becoming Americans. Bian Dan follows in this tradition of creating culturally significant works in order to explore and celebrate the dramatic and dynamic interweaving of generations and cultures. Bian Dan is the Chinese word for the bamboo shoulder poles used throughout Asia to carry heavy loads, here used to represent the "cultural burdens immigrants sometimes place on their children."

The goal of the work is to bring to light, through the experiences of Asian immigrants, the issues of identity as experienced by new American families. Interviews with Asian families, collected images, and feelings on identity shaped the development of movement and overall compositional form of Bian Dan. A panorama of immigrant family experiences, their hopes, misunderstandings, and integrity are expressed through the use of poetic

County Asked To Increase Library Budget

Ruth Enlow Library director Cathy Ashby, along with staff members and representatives of Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library met with the Garrett County comanissioners this week to request a budget increase totalling $139,000.

Ashby thanked the county officials for the funding increases the library has received over the past two years but stressed the need for a larger book purchasing budget which, she said, has been at $30,000 for all five branches the past few years. Staff salaries and fringe benefits, she said, are also a major area of concern.

In support of the request, Ashby told the county officials that, with advancing technology, the library is needed "now, more than ever. We are the main agency addressing the digital divide." She described the library as "a unique, one-stop shop for web and print material."

She also reported that, according to her sources, 70% of the information found on the Internet is inaccurate and that library personnel are trained in

Narcotics Task Force Jails Two On Drug Charges

The Garrett County Narcotics Task Force arrested a pair of local men after a traffic stop in Bloomington Tuesday evening when a K-9 scan of their vehicle uncovered 26 bags of suspected heroin, according to spokesperson Sheriff Dick Sanders.

Stephen Simpson, 33, Loch Lynn, and Jeffrey Barb, 39, Oakland, were stopped at approximately 5 p.m. on Maryland Highway just inside the Garrett County line. Task Force investigators stopped their 1994 Mercury sedan based on information that the pair may have been transporting heroin from Baltimore to the Oakland area.

Hanno, a K-9 member of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, gave a positive alert for drugs in the vehicle during a drug scan. The car was searched and the suspected heroin, in powder form, was located in individual bags. The street value of the material was estimated at $400.

Simpson and Barb were charged with possession of heroin, possession of heroin with intent to distribute, and possession of drug paraphernalia. Both men are incarcerated in the Garrett County Detention Center, with bond amounts of $100,000 each set by a district court commissioner.

The Task Force investigation team on the scene was composed of Maryland

CHEN & DANCERS, the nation's largest Asian-American dance institution, will present a concert on Friday, March 16, on the stage of Southern High School, beginning at 8 p.m. The program is the kickoff performance of the 2001 season of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. The troupe, which is based in New York City, will also conduct lectures/demonstrations for students of both Northern and Southern high schools March 15 and 16, and will offer the opportunity for other local residents — children, adults, and senior citizens — to participate in one of the concert dance pieces. Rehearsal for that work will be Wednesday, March 14, from 4 to 6 p.m. Tickets to the public performance are available through the GLAF office at 301-387-3082, at The Gallery along Alder Street in Oakland, and at the door. See story for details.

Garrett CC's Role In Economic Development Noted By Trustees

The Garrett Community College board of trustees devoted the lion's share of its February meeting to an examination of the college's ongoing role in the economic development of Garrett County. Jim Hinebaugh, the county's director of economic development, was on hand to present an overview of recent economic trends, and shared some of the strategies his office is continuing to implement.

"The college has been deeply involved in economic development over recent years," Hinebaugh told the trustees, "through securing infrastructureimprovements and providing high-quality educational opportunities.

"The Garrett County Rural Information Cooperative (GRIC) has been a big help to our efforts in attracting the interest of high-tech firms. The college took the lead to get GRIC up and running, giving the entire county affordable and reliable Internet access. It's one of the several ways that GCC has helped broaden the county's technology base, giving us more options to offer prospective employers."

Hinebaugh also recognized Garrett's successful effort to secure a variety of funding sources for its proposed high-tech business incubator building, set for an early spring ground-breaking. "The partnership between the college and the county has resulted in our securing a $2 million facility at a cost to us of only $100,000. You can't do any better than that."

GCC's infrastructure improvement efforts, which benefit the entire county, are matched by its continuing development of a highly employable workforce, according to Hinebaugh. "One of the major ways to make an area more attractive to companies seeking a new location or a start-up site is to have an available labor pool of educated and skilled residents, and GCC has been at the forefront of providing education and training in a number of areas.

"The college's Information Technology Program offers area residents a great opportunity to secure training that virtually guarantees them quality jobs. Ironically, the more people who graduate from programs such as the I-Tech program will result in more, not less job opportunities. When more and more high-tech companies see the workforce, infrastructure, and quality of life amenities we have to offer, they'll be very interested in locating here.

"The county is also especially pleased with the partnership between the Board of Education and the college. Right now 19 local high school students are taking classes at GCC, and the value of this can't be stressed enough. High school students, especially some of those with the highest capabilities, can find themselves bored in their regular classes. If we can tap into their strengths and challenge them by connecting them with the college, whether here at the McHenry campus or through distance learning opportunities, we've done both them and the county a great service."

College president Dr. Steve Herman and trustee Rob Michael both underscored Hinebaugh's observations, as Herman noted the success of GCC's ECAP Program, which provides students with the opportunity to take their first year of college prior to their high school graduation. "The ECAP students are giving us wonderful feedback; they're telling us they love the challenges the program provides," Herman said.

The College and Me Program, which introduces fifth graders to the college through tours, seminars, and hands-on experiences, was saluted by Michael, who said that the highly successful program can be expanded on. "If we followed up with those students a few years after the program, perhaps when they are in tenth grade, it could help keep their interest up," he said.

"For whatever reasons, maybe peer pressure is the big one, high school students seem to develop the idea that they need to 'go away' for their college experience. We need to impress on them and their parents that the first two years of a high-quality, affordable college education are available right here in their own backyard. After two years of a GCC education they are ready for a high-quality job or to move on to a four-year institution, and have more money at their disposal," said Michael.

Hinebaugh agreed, and added that current figures show that 10 percent of the county's workforce possess a bachelor's degree, and approximately 70 percent of the workforce have completed high school. "That's an area where we, the county and the college, can do better," he said. "If we provide more people with a quality education or a usable skill, we can kill two birds with one stone. We can attract more employers, thereby creating more jobs, and we can create competition for labor that will drive up wages and benefits. Everyone can win."

Academic Report

Dr. Lillian Mitchell, Garrett's dean of Academic Affairs, presented the academic report, which reveals some substantial increases over last spring's figures. The student headcount this semester stands at 669, up 42 students, or 7 percent. The full-time student population is 387 students, up 32, or 9 percent, from last spring, while the part-time tally is 282, up 11 students, or 4 percent. The total FTE count is 230.75, a 5 percent increase over last spring.

"We're working hard on retaining students who may be thinking of dropping out," Mitchell remarked after the meeting. "The new I-Tech and Juvenile Justice programs are growing also, and we anticipate those trends to continue."

"We need to thank the Student Enrollment Office, the faculty staff, and Dean Mitchell for these impressive figures," Herman told the trustees. "The only area where we lost enrollment is in West Virginia reciprocity, because West Virginia has gotten much more aggressive in keeping its own students."

Financial Report

The financial report was presented by Dean of Administration Michael Kilgus, who noted that the college's finances were "right on track." Instructional costs are slightly below even spending, while outlays for scholarships and fellowships are exceeding the stated budget. "That is normal this time of year," Kilgus said, "and it can even be considered a good thing because the college is spending money to make money. These scholarships are mostly for out-of-state students, and not for the full tuition amounts; therefore, the college makes the money back." The college's cash position is quite strong at this point, Kilgus added.

Audit Report

The results of a recent single audit report by Rodeheaver and Associates were reviewed for the trustees by Kilgus. The audit scrutinized the college's federal funding programs, which "take a lot of paperwork to administer," according to Kilgus. "We have over $1.5 million in federal funds coming into the college, and for an institution with an overall budget of approximately $7 million, that's a big chunk of what we work with."

Last year's audit of the same nature was qualified by three minor findings, and this year all three were corrected. "We now have a totally unqualified opinion of our federal funds administration. It's a very good audit," said Kilgus.

The next monthly meeting of the Garrett CC board of trustees is set for the evening of Tuesday, March 27.

GCMH LOAR AUXILIARY MAKES DONATION — The Garrett County Memorial Hospital Loar Auxiliary recently donated $10,000 to the GCMH Foundation. In the past, the auxiliary has given gifts and pledges exceeding $130,000 to the foundation. The auxiliary is a volunteer group who operates the gift shop in the lobby of the hospital. The shop's profits are given back to the hospital in the form of donations and purchases to enhance the facilities. Most recently, the Loar Auxiliary began the "Arts Project," which purchases artwork from local artists and then displays them in various areas of the hospital. Persons wanting more information about volunteering for the auxiliary may call Linette Sines at 301-533-4041. Members of the GCMH Loar Auxiliary presented a check to Kathy Greaser, director of development for the GCMH Foundation. Pictured above, from the left, are Betty Pritt, Dorlae Shay, Dottie White, Helen Earles, Eleanor Plachta, Phyllis Winkelvoss, Kathy Greaser, and Betsy Gergoff.

DCL Board Sets Public Meetings

The Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board has slated two public meetings for later this month to solicit citizen input on several matters regarding the lake's operation.

The first meeting, set for 10 a.m. Saturday, March 17, at Garrett Community College will focus on the proposal to permit large tour boats to operate on the lake. A draft of a proposed tour boat concession management program prepared by the Department of Natural Resources was discussed at the previous board meeting, and the board decided to suspend its approval until more public input is received.

At this point Maryland law prohibits vessels more than 26 feet in length from operating on the lake. The Policy and Review Board, along with the DCL Property Owners Association, wants specific requirements for such operations written into Maryland law. Changes to such state regulations would require the board's consent and mandatory public hearings. Following receipt of additional public comment, the board is expected to reach its final decision late this month or in early April.

The second meeting of the week will take place Monday, March 19, at 5 p.m. at the DCL State Park Discovery Center. That meeting, the regularly scheduled monthly meeting of the board, will continue the planning process for the future management of the lake. The planning process was initiated last fall, and DNR staff are working with the board to formulate the plan. Also on the agenda is a discussion of potential withdrawal of water from the lake by the Wisp Ski Resort.

Among the items discussed at the board's last meeting was a letter from Del. George Edwards and Sen. John Hafer that urged the board to reconsider the recreational permit site issue. That matter was tabled until Edwards and Hafer can be on hand to discuss it further.

DCL Policy and Review Board meetings are open to the public, and the board accepts input and public comment during the proceedings. Further information on the upcoming meetings may be obtained by contacting DCL Recreation Area manager Paul Durham at 301-387-4111.

Chamber Of Commerce Announces New Rural Promotional Effort

Farms, Barns, & Rural Heritage, a new Garrett County promotional venture, will spotlight agriculture as an attraction to area visitors, as well as residents. The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and Mountain Pride Cooperative Inc. are coordinating this groundbreaking effort that will forge a connection between tourists and the farming community, according to Ken Wishnick, chamber president.

The goals of the project are to provide both increased income to farmers and agricultural educational entertainment to visitors. This will be accomplished through an agri-tourism development effort to include the formation of a joint Chamber/Cooperative task force, the publication of a brochure, and a comprehensive marketing program.

It is anticipated that visitors will have opportunities to purchase unique local products and souvenirs at each participating farm. Each attraction will be described in the brochure, along with information on visitation hours, directions, and a location map.

"I am very excited about the cooperation and support we are receiving from the chamber of commerce," said Paige Dopson of the Mountain Pride Cooperative. "There is so much we can accomplish by working together to increase farm income and at the same time educate people on the importance of agriculture to us all."

Wishnick indicated he shares Dopson's enthusiasm for this new joint effort. "Visitors are always looking for new family-oriented activities, and the addition of agri-tourism will make Garrett County an even more attractive vacation destination," he said.

FARMS, BARNS, & RURAL HERITAGE — Ken Wishnick, chamber president, and Paige Dopson, of the Mountain Pride Cooperative, are coordinating a groundbreaking effort to connect tourists and farmers. See story for more details.

Brochures are slated to be available prior to the summer season. Anyone interested in additional information is encouraged to call Dopson at 301-334-6968.

Icy Roadways Are Blamed For Several Accidents

The Garrett County sheriff's deputies handled numerous motor vehicle accidents on Sunday, March 4, due to the icy road conditions, many with minor or no injuries.

Orval Eugene DeWitt, 61, of Oakland, was traveling north on Old Crellin Road near Woodmont Lane when he lost control of his 2000 Ford Ranger on the icy road and struck a 1977 Dodge truck, operated by Roger Lee Lewis, 57, Oakland, who was traveling in the southbound lane at 12:45 p.m.

DeWitt and his passenger, Myrtle Carolyn Whitacre, 60, Oakland, were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and released. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded. Lewis refused treatment. DeWitt was charged by the deputy with failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

In another incident, Amanda Lynn Paugh, 25, of Swanton, was traveling westbound on Maryland Highway near Altamont Road when she lost control of her 1987 Pontiac Grand Am on the icy road and struck a ditch on the westbound shoulder at 9:59 a.m. Paugh was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to GCMH, where she was treated and released. The Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department also responded. No citations were issued.

Icy road conditions were to blame when Denny Leonard Stallard, 18, Oakland, traveling north on Route 219 south of Little Sandy's Restaurant at 11:21 a.m., lost control of his 1994 Pontiac Grand Prix, and drove off the northbound shoulder and struck a utility pole.

Stallard and another passenger, Jimmy Lee Barkley, 21, of Oakland, transported themselves to GCMH, where they were treated and released. William Gardner and Timothy Tasker, both of Oakland, were also passengers in the vehicle, but were not injured. No citations were issued.

At 8:52 a.m., Oakland resident Richard Lee Harvey, 55, was traveling south on Route 560 near King Wildesen Road when, due to the icy roadway, he lost control of his 1990 Chevy truck and overturned onto the northbound lane. The Gorman Volunteer Fire Department responded. There were no injuries, and no citations were issued.

Nora Duggan McCauley, 41, Oakland, was traveling west on Broadford Road in her 1987 Honda when, due to the icy road conditions, she lost control of her vehicle and traveled off the roadway and struck a tree. There were no injuries, and no citations were issued at the 11:50 a.m. accident.

Motorcycle Chase Results in Arrest Of Oakland Man

A 22-year-old Oakland man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on numerous traffic-related offenses after a high speed chase on Friday, March 2.

Thomas Mark Corbin Jr. was traveling eastbound along Bethlehem Road at 11:53 a.m. when Dfc. Jeff Green observed that Corbin, the operator of a yellow motorcycle, was not wearing the required head and eye protection, and he didn't see any visible registration on the cycle.

After the officer attempted to stop the cyclist, he initiated a pursuit when the operator of the motorcycle turned toward the officer, down shifted, and accelerated. According to the report, the high speed chase continued for 3/4 mile and the cycle crossed the center line many times. The motorcycle turned onto a private field and continued for approximately 300 yards when it turned and headed back toward the police vehicle.

The officer exited the vehicle, drew his gun, and asked the motorcyclist to step away from the cycle several times, said the deputy. After a third request, Corbin got off the cycle and was handcuffed and searched.

According to the officer, Corbin's driver's license does not permit him to operate a motorcycle, and he did not have insurance or registration for the cycle.

Corbin was charged with fleeing and eluding a marked police vehicle by failing to stop, operating an unregistered vehicle, operating an uninsured vehicle, reckless driving, failure to wear protective headgear, and operating a vehicle not licensed for. He was released on his own recognizance after his arrest.

The owner of the motorcycle, Shawn David Smith, provided the release for the cycle.

In a separate incident, three tires on a Gelco Corporation company truck were damaged at Midas along Weber Road, Oakland, on Thursday, March 1.

Jason Scott Savage reported that between 6 and 7 a.m. the tires on his 2000 Chevy Silverado company truck were slashed. Dfc. David Crossland investigated the incident, and the damage was estimated to be approximately $410.

According to Savage, he knew no one who would do this, and he said no one claimed to have seen anything.

Multiple Tire Slashings Occur In Hospital Lot

Five vehicles parked in the lower front parking lot of Garrett County Memorial Hospital along Fourth Street sustained slashed tires Friday night or early Saturday morning, according to the Oakland City Police Department. The case is still under investigation, and persons with information are asked to call the OCPD at 301-334-2100.

The incidents were first discovered at approximately 5:30 a.m. by an employee leaving the building. The slashings apparently took place between the time the last of the five vehicles was parked in the lot shortly before 11 p.m. Friday night and the time of their discovery early Saturday morning. Each of the vehicles belong to hospital employees.

Head-On I-68 Crash Injures Six Sunday

Four adults and two juveniles were injured in a Sunday afternoon accident when an Ohio driver traveling on Interstate 68 between Grantsville and Keysers Ridge lost control of her truck on the icy pavement. Her sport utility vehicle skidded across the median and struck a vehicle traveling in the opposite direction.

Maryland State Police have charged Kristine Aldemir, 47, Columbus, with failure to reduce speed in dangerous weather and highway conditions. According to Tfc. Keith Stakem, Aldemir's 1999 Toyota 4-Runner was traveling too fast for the icy road conditions when the 2:32 p.m. mishap occurred. Her vehicle, which was traveling east along the highway, slid across the median and into the westbound lanes, where it collided with a 1997 Plymouth Voyager van operated by Donna Kavo, 41, Pittsburgh. The impact caused the Toyota to overturn, while the van traveled off the roadway and struck and embankment.

The Northern Garrett Rescue Squad transported both drivers and Aldemir's lone passenger, Tunc Aldemir, 53, Columbus, and Kavo's three passengers, Edward Kavo, 47, and two juveniles, one 15 and the other 11 years old, to Cumberland Memorial Hospital. Each of the subjects were treated and released, with the exception of Edward Kavo, who was admitted but subsequently released as well.

Troopers Arrest Motorists On Drug Charges

Two out-of-state men, one from Pennsylvania and the other from West Virginia, were arrested for marijuana charges this week by Maryland State Police troopers after separate traffic stops in the northern end of Garrett County.

The first arrest, of Michael V. Marzolf, 38, Pittsburgh, occurred in the Grantsville area Saturday night shortly after 8:30 p.m. Tfc. Keith Stakem stopped a 2000 Chevrolet Malibu for speeding along Route 219 north of the National Highway and subsequently noticed the odor of suspected burning marijuana coming from the passenger compartment.

A vehicle search uncovered 14 grams of the suspected drug, and Marzolf was arrested for possession of marijuana. He was subsequently released from the Garrett County Detention Center when he posted a $500 bond set by a district court commissioner.

The second arrest took place yesterday along Interstate 68 just before the West Virginia state line. Shortly after 12:30 p.m. Cpl. John LeMay stopped a 1983 Ford Crown Victoria when he observed that the driver was not wearing a seat belt. In talking to the occupants, the trooper noticed the odor of suspected burnt marijuana.

A passenger in the vehicle, James Lee Wilson, 36, Frederick, voluntarily produced a quantity of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. He was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. It was also ascertained that Wilson was wanted on contempt of court charge in Frederick County. Later in the day he posted a total of $2,000 bond on all charges, and was released from the GC jail pending trial.

sponsibility of the day-to-day operations of the jail, which he said was a "tremendous liability." He also said that some sheriffs around the state are not full-time employees.

Another recommendation by the salary commission — to establish the salary of the state's attorney for Garrett County at 75% of the prevailing annual salary of the District Court judge and to introduce legislation to remove that office from the salary study process — was also rejected by the county commissioners at the Tuesday meeting.

At that time, they had opted to adjust the current annual salary rate of $66,000 to $73,350 and to reject the suggestion to allow it to be contingent on the salary of the District Court judge, which is set by the state.

That decision was also amended after the commissioners called a meeting with State's Attorney for Garrett County Lisa Thayer Welch to determine the extent of her duties and responsibilities. They unanimously agreed to raise the annual salary for that office to $75,000.

Another notable decision by the commissioners was to accept the recommendation to discontinue the health care benefits for members of the Garrett County Liquor Control Board, effective July 1, 2002.

Currently (and historically), the board members and all their dependents receive health care benefits. In addition, the members have life insurance, accidental death and dismemberment insurance, and retirement benefits.

The members' annual salary, however, was increased from $2,000 to $2,500, as recommended by the commission.

In all other county positions reviewed, the commissioners accepted the salary commission's recommendations, including an increase for the board of county commissioners' members from the current $28,000 to $30,000, and an increase from $1,400 to $2,200 per year for all alternates of the Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors.

The commissioners also agreed to remove the $500 per year cap on mileage expenses for members of the Garrett County Board of Education and to authorize that board to determine what is appropriate for their needs.

The commissioners issued a statement this week, explaining, "The base salaries of the board of county commissioners, state's attorney and sheriff were increased based upon a compounding percentage increase using the consumer price index (CPI) as a basis for applying compensation adjustments. Actually, CPI adjustments were made to the existing base salaries for the years 1998, 1999, and 2000, and a projected adjustment was applied for 2001."

According to the statement, an adjustment of 1.6% was allowed for 1998, 1.7% for 1999, 3.4% for 2000, and a projected adjustment of 3% for 2001.

Commissioner Fred Holliday reported that the board had been immersed in "a lot of debate and discussion to come up with what we felt was equitable. If financial conditions were better, maybe we could do better."

Beitzel added, "Give us a chance to grow the economy and put these programs to work so maybe we'll have more money in the future."

It Can Happen Here...

Incidents of school violence in the United States, particularly school shootings, continue to escalate at a horrifying rate, as the lives of two more youth were snuffed out by an angry student this week in a California high school. Then just yesterday a girl in a Catholic high school in Williamsport, Pa., shot a classmate in a crowded cafeteria.

In fact, in just 48 hours following the California shooting, there were 11 other reported incidents of school violence or threats of violence throughout the country. One of those was in nearby Frederick County, where a 15-year-old boy who attends Urbana High School was arrested after threatening to bomb the school and kill himself.

A Maryland State Department of Education report released just this morning reveals that during the 1999-2000 school year there were 1,739 Maryland high school students suspended from school for weapons violations. Eight of those students reside in Garrett County.

The greatest lesson for all of us to learn from these tragedies is to report to the authorities any and all suspicious behavior, as well as all comments and/or threats, even if they are apparently being made in jest. The alleged shooter in the California incident made numerous threats to a number of people — students and adults — but they were not taken seriously and not reported. On the other hand, the 15-year-old Frederick County youth was arrested yesterday because a student friend of his reported his threat.

The Garrett County school system has a firm, zero-tolerance policy regarding such things. Our teachers are well versed in that policy and do an excellent job enforcing it. But far more needs to be done by fellow students and, particularly, parents of troubled children, not only in reporting threats, but also simply in the basic treatment of other human beings. Many of the shooters in these cases are youth who have been "picked on" relentlessly by fellow students, and likewise brow-beaten at home, or worse. These children need friendship, they need encouragement, they need support.

Garrett County has its fair share of troubled youngsters, from the elementary level through high school, and God knows there are thousands of guns within reach of many of them. Yes, it can happen here. So another conclusion is that we adults, and our legislators, need to do more to curtail the too-easy availability of guns.

Finally, we in our profession wrestle with just exactly what role the media should play in covering these shootings. Again, most of the shooters are children who are starving for attention, and even negative attention is better than none. In the distorted, damaged minds of some young people, the recognition that the shooters receive via excessive media coverage is fame, pure and simple. They are no longer nobodies. While the media has a responsibility to report the facts of these incidents, including identification of the shooter(s), it seems that the in-depth examination of their lives on a half-dozen prime time news magazine television shows is unnecessary and, more importantly, dangerous.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

HB391 is before the Maryland legislature, a bill that eliminates the position of elected treasurer for Garrett County and replaces that position with the supervisor of tax collection, appointed by the Garrett County commissioners. This is a bad precedent.

For some time there has been a proposal to eliminate the elected judges of the orphans' court and fill those positions with attorneys appointed by the governor. The elected positions of register of wills and the clerk of the circuit court are both salaried by the state of Maryland, and if the money is provided by the state, then ultimately there may be a move to appoint attorneys to those positions by the governor.

The more elected positions that are removed from the ballot, the more likely a lower turnout by the voting public, and this is not a democracy at its best. Therefore, I challenge this newspaper to editorialize about this issue, either for or against. Delegate Edwards said publicly that other counties have done this. But just because others have done this, is this a good enough reason for our county to do it?

DeCorsey Bolden
Oakland

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to Daniel Durst, chairman of the Northern Rescue Squad board of directors, requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Mr. Durst:

We were informed at our March 5, 2001, town council meeting of a recent recommendation by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad board of directors to its membership to purchase property in the McHenry area and to consolidate the Friendsville and Accident squad locations to McHenry. It is our understanding that a majority of the members supported this recommendation.

As the elected representatives of the citizens of Friendsville, we have very grave concerns relative to such a move. The quality of emergency services and patient care to our residents would most assuredly deteriorate due to the lengthened response time.

Over half of the residents of Friendsville are senior citizens. The current location of Station #3 in Friendsville makes a very valuable contribution to the quality of life for all of our citizens. We feel the proposed move does not have the best interest of our community in mind. We strongly urge the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad to reconsider this proposed move and to keep Station #3 in the town Friendsville.

Sincerely,
Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville

To the Editor:

When I was a boy growing up during the Great Depression in the 1930s, I learned well the lesson from my fiscally conservative Republican parents that one tried very hard not to accrue debt. But if one did, then one tried even harder to get rid of the debt. That meant if somehow one came by some extra money it went immediately to reduce or eliminate the debt. One exception to this rule was in providing a family home. (If the cost of a home mortgage plus loan interest was less than rental cost, it was worth going into debt for the home.)

Now we come to a remarkable time in the life of our United States family. During the 1980s our U.S. family accrued an enormous debt. Now, miracle of miracles, we find ourselves in the situation where our total U.S. family income exceeds our total expenses. But instead of using most of this excess income to reduce our enormous debt (and thereby reducing the annual cost of this debt to all of us), the people in our federal government who previously represented fiscal conservativeness want to do other things with the excess. It has been said that it is the people's money and therefore should be returned to the people. Of course it's the people's money. All federal money is the people's money. And the great debt that was incurred during the 1980s was and is the people's debt. Until we the people, through our elected representatives, start to reduce it, the interest on it will remain a great part of our U.S. family's annual budget. As the debt is reduced, there will be a larger share of the budget for other things (like possibly reducing taxes).

Speaking of reducing taxes, in last Sunday's Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, columnist Gene Collier reported (on page 14 of Section F) two rather interesting statistics about the proposed Republican tax reduction. While the federal proponents of the Republican plan advertise that the average U.S. taxpayer will get a $1,600 per year refund, with the top tax rate being reduced from 39.6% to 33%, Julia Roberts, with her estimated annual income of $50 million, will have a refund of $3.3 million, or $9,041 per day. Collier also states that, while the top 1 percent of taxpayers pay 21 percent of the taxes, under the Republican plan they will get 43 percent of the tax cut.

This all appears to me that the federally elected fiscally conservative Republicans have disappeared. What do you think?

To the Editor:

This letter is directed to the person/people who abandoned what appeared to be a young Australian cattle dog on the Cranesville Road near Terra Alta on January 11. How did I know it was abandoned? Those responsible "thoughtfully" left a bag of dog food beside it.

I'm curious! Were you unaware that animal shelters and humane societies exist for the purpose of taking unwanted pets, or were you just too lazy to transport the dog?

Luckily, a good friend of mine found the dog and took it home with her (which is how I found out about it). The dog had a fresh two-inch gash on its head. Did you beat it before you left it there, or was it injured trying to be rescued? I know this dog had been repeatedly abused, because when I fed it a treat and reached to pet it, it immediately cowered and ran with its tail tucked between its legs.

Dogs give unconditional love, and only expect to be fed, watered, and treated decently in return. Those thinking about getting a pet should be certain they truly want one and will be responsible for it once they get it. Should circumstances arise making it necessary to give a pet up, take it to your local shelter. The staff will try to find it a home, or if need be, will euthanize it painlessly.

This little dog did not deserve your appalling lack of decency. I'm just thankful that the numbers of people who love animals, as my friend, many others, and I do, far outweigh the number of those who don't.

To the Editor:

Some time ago I wrote a letter opposing fluoridation of the water supply because I believe that government has no business putting additives in the water supply. My belief is that bungling bureaucrats simply have no business tampering with our water; their jobs are to ensure that there is pure water available for the people.

I commented that, like so many other things that politicians have done in the past, they would either screw up the water or think of something else to put in. Some of you did the old exaggeration thing about my comments and had a few laughs. I recommend that those people now please turn their attention to the news article that appeared in The Baltimore Sun on Thursday, March 1. It is a real eye opener, and you would do well to obtain a copy of the article.

A brief overview is that homeowners in Carroll, Montgomery, and Prince George's counties are experiencing leaking pipes that must be replaced at a cost of thousands of dollars for each home. Some have replaced pipes, only to have them spring leaks again. No one (including the expert hired by Carroll County) blames it on aging pipes.

Instead, "most point to the county's water treatment process." Now here's the kicker. They are attempting to solve the problem by adding caustic soda, an anti-corrosive element, to the treatment process. They are assuring everyone that they are only adding low quantities of caustic soda, that plant operators are testing the water every four hours, and that "samples are drawn from two dozen locations in the system monthly." Yeah, right.

Think about it; if the process is causing holes in copper pipes, what is it doing to your body? Caustic soda! In low quantities! As to the comments made by experts who have touted the benefits of additives, all I can say is that I remember some of the ads back in the 50s and 60s. "More doctors smoke (brand X) than any other brand."

James Randi has written extensively on hoaxes, flim flams, and other frauds perpetrated on people, usually very successfully (at least for a while). Inevitably, the success relies on something known as "the herd effect" in the field of psychology. It also relies very heavily on the demonization of anyone who dares speak out. The hoaxes are usually exposed, but not until many people have suffered—that's the real shame.

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to the Southern High School boys' and girls' basketball teams, coaching staff, fans, and the 6th Man Club.

Almost every day you will read in the newspaper about teens involved and caught in the web of drugs, alcohol, and violence. Seldom do we read about the teens who are giving spirit and pride to their community, as the students of Southern High School have given over the past several weeks.

I graduated from Petersburg High School, but when they came to town, I was a devoted Southern Rams fan. I have played both sides of the team as player, coach, and as an editor of my school newspaper, but never have I witnessed such a fine group of "kids" as the students of Southern High.

In particular, I want to recognize the boys' basketball team, their coaches and the dedication that they have shown to the sport of basketball. They are absolutely the most disciplined group of young men that I have seen in a long time, as well as being unselfish in their playing. Their parents should be very proud of them! I credit this to the fine coaching of Tom Bosley and his associates. We are blessed to have such a fine man as head coach and mentor to these boys and who contributes so much to our community. While some coaches' only goal is to win, Coach Bosley also teaches these men qualities that are necessary to be successful in life. I thank God for such a man and his team of players.

I would also like to commend the 6th Man Club for the kind of school spirit that has been displayed at the home games. I thought that kind of spirit had disappeared, but how wrong I was. I have been tempted to sit with them myself because their enthusiasm is so contagious, but I refrained from doing so. I can honestly say that, in my opinion, we have some of the greatest young people right here in our area.

Thank you, Southern boys, for exhibiting respect for officials, coaches, and fans. Thank you, 6th Man Club, for your wonderful school spirit, and to the many fans for their support. You have stolen my heart and, if God allows, my wife and I, along with many other fans, will be in College Park to cheer you on to victory. This fan is now a Ram fan and proud of it!!

We should keep all the players and their families in our prayers this week and to encourage them always. We can all benefit from the fine example these kids give to everyone they come in contact with.

Also we keep in mind the members of Southern Girls' Basketball Team as they are also headed to the state playoffs this weekend. It is just a ride up the road to cheer these girls on after the game on Friday evening. They deserve all the support and encouragement that we give the boys' team. Let's get behind the players, coaches, and the students and pray God's blessings on them.

Once again, congrats to the coaches, assistant coaches, and the players for making it to the state playoffs. That is quite an accomplishment, and this county should be proud. Let us not forget the fine leadership of all the teachers, staff, and principal Lynn Bell for their wonderful contribution to the success of these fine teams. Go, Southern Rams!!

To the Editor:

Congratulations to Governor Glendening for appointing an animal rights activist to the Maryland Wildlife Advisory Commission, causing the Coalition of Western Maryland Sportsmen to consider boycotting hunting in Maryland and taking their guns to neighboring states.

Actually, the hunters have nothing to complain about. Since the number of hunters has now dwindled to a tiny 5 percent of the population, and since, legally, wildlife in this country "belongs" to all citizens, the Wildlife Advisory Commission should be made up of 95 percent non-hunters.

Maybe now Maryland will come up with solutions other than killing to manage wildlife. People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) looks forward to other governors following Gov. Glendening's lead.

BEE REPORT

These are the worst of times and the worst of times for beekeepers. There are pests and diseases which require higher and higher levels of management. Foreign countries — China and countries of South America — import into the United States large quantities of honey at prices lower than the cost of production here.

The past year has been especially difficult for beekeepers in my area. Due principally to rain during the honey flow, even the best beekeepers had production at about 40% of average.

I bought a new box of bees last spring, having lost all three of my colonies to mites and to certain quirks in the late water of 2000. Hives in reasonably good shape in mid-February were dead by mid-March. One of mine was like that.

My new bees did well, building a strong colony throughout the spring and summer. They just could not keep production of honey up to the expansion of the hive. By mid fall I began feeding them a syrup of two parts sugar to one part water. A lot of bees have died, but I still have a strong cluster, and I am still feeding them.

The early onset of winter was another problem. Bees are highly adaptable within certain parameters. During the cold months the bees form a cluster and lower their metabolism into a low-energy state similar to hibernation. They consume little food as long as they are in cluster.

Bees over-winter best when the weather is cold enough to keep the bees in cluster, but not so cold that it prevents the cluster from moving through the hive along the combs of honey.

If the weather is too warm, too often they break cluster too often, which means revving up their metabolism and eating lots of honey. They go through their stores very quickly that way. If temperatures are too low, then the cluster cannot move to new honey, and the hive can die just an inch or two away from the source of continued life.

The cold weather we had in late November and early December through most of January made life difficult in the hive. The Maryland state bee inspector expects losses of about 50% of all bees in the state this winter. Probably no newspaper will run a front-page article on this crisis. Even among beekeepers the fact arouses little excitement. So terrible has been the experience in recent years that beekeepers have come to plan for such catastrophic losses every few years.

The nonchalance of the general public and of agricultural officials in government toward the condition of catastrophe in the beekeeping world is appalling. Honeybees are essential to pollination. That is one of the reasons that I continue to keep bees against the odds, and even when they produce no surplus honey.

As serious as the problem is within beekeeping, it is only the canary in the mine. Those who do not have mining in their background may not know that canaries were formerly taken into mines to alert the miners of noxious gases. When the canary died, the miners got out of the mine.

For years now European agriculture has been in a more general condition of catastrophe because of mad cow disease. In recent weeks, hoof and mouth disease has reappeared in Great Britain. That has been greeted in the U.S.A. with yawns. We are drunk with the arrogance that it cannot happen here. In the case of the honeybee it is happening here. Almost no one cares or pays attention.

It seems to escape the notice of the urban world we live in that eating is still necessary, and that food has to come from somewhere. The canary is, to mix my metaphors, singing its swan song. If we do not begin to take notice and to take action, it may be our swan song too.

ples of what I can do. I am a social worker, do you know me?

Social workers are trained professionals who have a bachelor's, master's, or doctoral degree in social work. Social workers work directly with individuals and families, as well as in public policy, administration, research, community organizing, and advocacy. Social workers provide counseling, therapy, casework, and volunteer services. However, a social service employee, caseworker, or volunteer community worker is not a "social worker" unless he or she has a social work degree.

Professional social workers are the nation's largest group of mental health service providers. Federal law recognizes social work as one of the four core mental health professions. Social workers are regulated by state license, and adhere to a professional code of ethics and practice standards.

March is National Professional Social Work month. Let's celebrate the vital work of professional social workers everywhere and how they contribute to making our communities safer, better places.

On behalf of social workers in Garrett County,

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to the letter to the editor written by NHS junior Ashley Elliott that appeared in the March 1 Republican.

First, Ms. Elliott does raise some valid concerns; however, I am not sure that the county newspaper was the proper medium in which to raise them.

I loved every minute of my four years at Northern Garrett. That said, I disagreed with and took offense to several comments in the letter, and will respond appropriately.

At first, I disagreed with the backpack rule. However, when one of our students nearly tripped over a backpack that an elementary student had left in the aisle on the school bus, I immediately realized one of the problems that they create, and then agreed with the rule. Even saying that, I believe minor changes in procedure and policy would have cured the problems backpacks were creating, as opposed to a ban. Outside of Allegany and Mineral counties, as well as the Meyersdale school district, I am unaware of any other district that prohibits students from carrying backpacks. Many schools in urban areas allow students to have backpacks, although they either must be see-through or have metal detectors. As Ms. Elliott states in her letter, the ban does not prevent violence, nor does it eliminate drugs or other contraband from school property.

The agenda book issue is another "beat the dead horse" issue that I will not discuss.

I never had any problem with four minutes between classes. Of course, I never wasted my time standing in the hall talking, either, but I feel with no backpacks and having to go to lockers more frequently, an additional minute probably should have been added between classes.

The "local education jail" line was very disturbing to me. I wonder if Ms. Elliott is aware that there are schools in Maryland that could be confused with a prison. Ms. Elliott should be happy she is in a school with some freedom. If one wants to see an education jail, visit High Point H.S. or any other class 3A or 4A school, and you will see a real school/jail. Those schools have armed guards monitoring the halls, every move is recorded on camera; students are not allowed to leave the room, and may be subject to arrest if they do; the bathrooms are kept locked, and one must go to the office to get a key to unlock it, then take the key back when done; drug and bomb sniffing dogs search the school daily; and students have strict uniforms, which must be worn or they face suspension or expulsion. Ms. Elliott, you have an awful lot to be thankful for. If you think you are in jail at Northern, you are sadly mistaken, as I am sure there are a lot of kids downstate who would love to trade places with you. They go to school every day afraid that they may get shot, stabbed, robbed, or raped. In Garrett County you don't have to worry much about that.

NHS has a procedure that deals with students with special health needs. Certainly if the teacher was aware that the student had a health problem, the student should have been allowed to go to the office on the first request, particularly since diabetes is a serious and even life-threatening health problem.

The racial slur allegation that Ms. Elliott raises should be investigated, and disciplinary action should be taken against anyone found guilty of using them.

I feel that Northern Garrett is an outstanding educational facility. Please remember that there is a reason that administrators run the school, although students should be given some input on issues that affect them.

Although I feel that NGHS is an outstanding educational facility, I too had gripes. Most of them have already been discussed in this letter, but there are others, which are:

1. I believe that the school bus drivers should be allowed to park their buses at Northern, during the day, as they were allowed to do until the beginning of this school year. If this is due to the gym construction, then that is fine, although I would have thought that strictly limiting student pernnts would have been a better idea.

2. I feel that NGHS has very poor school spirit shown by the students, staff, and community as a whole. After giving this much thought, I believe I have found the problems. One, we don't have any good sports rivals, and two, our sports teams are more or less mediocre. Northern should not be playing Allegany or Fort Hill, as there is no resemblance of a rivalry and it does nothing to prepare our teams for the playoffs. The Southern "rivalry" is nothing but a big joke, and probably needs to be ended. Our only rivals are Beall and Westmar, and to a lesser extent, Hancock and Salisbury. I believe that Northern should drop Allegany and Fort Hill in all sports and develop some good rivalries with nearby Pennsylvania schools (such as Turkeyfoot, Meyersdale, Berlin, and Rockwood). The fact is, Northern does not have the numbers or athleticism to compete with the two Cumberland schools or Southern, and we will get a blizzard on the Fourth of July before we beat any of those schools in a sport such as boys' basketball or football.

3. I feel that NGHS needs a uniform tardy policy. One teacher may require you to be in your seat ready to go, while another only requires you to be in the room. I also feel that the teachers should not be allowed to keep a class after the bell ending that class has rung. In my junior year, a teacher kept a class two minutes after the bell rang. A lot of people had to do some fast walking/running in order to make their next class without being late. When the dismissal bell rings, students should be allowed to leave at that time.

In closing, I would like to reiterate that NGHS is a great school, and has a professional educational, administrative, and support staff. It is unfortunate that there are students who do not see the other side of things, and only look at their side as being right. There is a reason for every rule. Like 'em or hate 'em, you have to follow them. And remember — things could always be worse.

Sincerely,
Lester Lewis
1999 Graduate of NGHS

Library Budget

judging the validity of the information and tracking down the source of that information.

"Librarians are truly the best search engine," said Ashby.

Jack Caruthers, long-time library supporter, echoed the sentiments of Ashby, saying, "My message is always the same: The amount we're requesting is the minimum amouut necessary to keep the library doors open. When the budget request is not funded, the money comes out of the fixed costs of the salary, benefits and book budget."

Caruthers also urged the commissioners to help expedite the building of the new Grantsville branch library, as construction costs continue to rise and funding opportunities are fewer.

He noted that support for the library system would further the cause of economic development in the county, citing the fact that businesses and potential homeowners look at the quality of an area's schools and libraries when deciding where to locate.

"Libraries are not a luxury," he said. "They're a necessity."

Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library president Jon Boone was also on hand urging the commissioners to strongly consider funding the library's request.

"It's very nearly dysfunctional," said Boone, referring to the plight of the library employees who do not receive full health benefits and whose salaries are not in line with other comparable library systems throughout the state. He explained that library services had expanded only at the expense of salaries, benefits and the book acquisition budget.

Boone noted that while the commissioners have increased the library budget by 33% over the past two years and, several years ago, had increased staff salaries, the effect was only to bring those salaries in line with the lower range of other county employees. This despite the fact that Garrett County has one of the highest per capita revenues from property taxes of any county in the state with a population of under 50,000, he said.

"No matter how it is calculated, the county spends not more than a penny out of every budget dollar on library services, putting Garrett near the bottom of all libraries in the state in its per capita library support," said Boone, adding that only Somerset and Allegany counties fared worse.

He also stated that, according to the American Library Association, the library's materials acquisition budget for a county the size of Garrett should be nearly three times the current budget. As one of the most heavily used public services in the county, it would be "rational" for the county to fund the library at a rate of 1½ cents out of every dollar, he said.

Barbara Boone, another advocate for increasing library funding, then told the commissioners that a funding rate of 1½ cents "will bring you to the second half of the twentieth century; 2 cents will bring you to the 21st century."

Library board member Hannah Sincell was also on hand at the meeting and suggested that the only way to stay within their budget might be to close some of the branches.

Caruthers, however, firmly stated that closing any of the branches was "not an option."

The board of county commissioners released a statement showing its fiscal support of the library during the last seven years, in particular, the board's appropriation of a 98.22% increase in the library's operating fund and a 60.21% increase during that same time period, from 1995 to 2001.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg told the group that the board is always faced with performing a "balancing act" during the budgeting process. "We can only take what we have and distribute it as equitably as we can," he said.

Commissioner Wendell Beitzel agreed, saying, "It is this board's goal to improve the economy and raise the standard of living for everyone in the county, not just the public servants. We might have the highest tax rate, but it doesn't mean we're the richest."

LITERACY COUNCIL BEGINS JAIL PROGRAM — The Literacy Council of Garrett County has entered into a partnership with the county detention center. The new program is completely staffed by volunteers and funded by the literacy council. A feasibility study showed that a total of 35 inmates were interested in increasing their reading levels. A team of tutors meets every Thursday to tutor the inmates. Pictured above at the center's entrance is the detention center's director, Capt. Larry Gregg, and literacy council officer Maury Feinstein. Persons interested in the council's services may call 301-334-8606 for further information.

In memory of my Grandpap and my Dad.

Delbert R. Friend 10/3/22 - 3/9/86

Stanley W. Tasker 10/5/43- 2/13/01

You were my family as well as my best friends. You are missed each and every day. I can't wait to see you again.

Love Always,
Jaime

The family of

would like to extend our heartfelt appreciation to everyone who has supported us during the lengthy illness and following the loss of our loved one.

To the wonderful doctors, nurses and staff at Mary Babb Randolph Cancer Center, we can't thank you enough for all you did for Rocky in the ten years that you helped him battle cancer. You always made him feel so special, and you became very special friends in his heart.

Much appreciation also to Dr. Richter and his staff, and the staff at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. We would also like to thank Hospice for all your support in the last two months. Mark Durst and Durst Funeral Home, thank you. Thanks also to the pallbearers.

To our "extended family of friends" thank you for all the cards, food, memorials, flowers, words of encouragement and support, and especially your prayers. We are very fortunate and blessed to have your friendship.

Pastor Wally Weeks, thank you for your home visits and the uplifting service you provided on Sunday. Thanks to the Pleasant View Baptist Church family for the wonderful meal you prepared for us after the funeral.

There have been so many acts of kindness and friendship bestowed upon our family, we couldn't possibly list them all. Please know that all have been greatly appreciated.

May God bless each and every one of you.

Barbara, Jerry, Kathy, Tom

Huxford Appointed GC District Court Commissioner

Oakland resident Holly L. Huxford has been appointed to the position of district court commissioner by Judge Paul J. Stakem, administrative judge for District 12 (Garrett and Allegany counties) of the District Court of Maryland. Huxford will serve in Garrett County District Court, joining two other commissioners staffing the Oakland office.

Huxford has been employed for the last 22 months as a police communications operator at the McHenry barrack of the Maryland State Police. She earned a degree in Justice and Public Safety from Auburn University, Ala. Her prior employment experience includes two years as a part-time clerk in the U.S. Attorney's Office and five years as a police officer with the Auburn Police Department.

District Court commissioners are judicial officers who determine probable cause (a legal sufficiency of information) for criminal charges based on applications from both citizens and law enforcement agencies, issue charging documents, and conduct the initial appearances of persons who have been arrested. They also determine the conditions of pretrial release, set bail, accept bail bonds, and conduct preliminary inquires. Commissioners receive applications for criminal charges from both citizens and law enforcement agencies.

The district court commissioners' office is located on the first floor at 205 S. Third Street, Oakland. A commissioner is on duty in the office weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 8 a.m. to noon. Commissioners are on call at all other times and may be reached by calling 301-334-5739 or toll free at 1-877-519-9766.

St. Paul's UM Sets Bi-Monthly Hymn Sing Series

A hymn sing has been set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 13, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland, as part of its twice-monthly "Hour of Praise for Everyone" (HOPE) services which are slated to continue over the next three months.

Tuesday's informal 45-minute service will by led by Helen Earles, and musical accompaniment will be provided by Doris Gaskill. The backgrounds of the composers of the hymns sung at the service, as well as their personal experiences that prompted the writing of the hymns, will be presented as part of the program. Participants on hand for the hymn sing will be invited to choose a favorite hymn for singing.

The St. Paul's HOPE series, which is open to the public, is scheduled for the second and fourth Tuesdays through May. The services offer an additional opportunity for worship during the week for the congregation and provide a time of worship for those unable to attend Sunday morning services. Andy Damon is coordinating the series, with assistance from lay members of the church.

"Hymns have been a vital part of Methodist worship services, said St. Paul's pastor, Ann W. Harrison, noting that Methodism's founder, John Wesley, and his brother Charles wrote over 6,500 hymns, many of which are still sung in various Christian denominations around the world.

St. Paul's church is located on the corner of East Oak and Fourth streets and is handicapped accessible. The pastors are Revs. Roger A. Harrison Sr. and Ann W. Harrison. For further information on the HOPE services, persons may call the church office.

WINS CONTEST AGAIN - For the second straight year, Southern High School junior Justin Gregory, son of Jeff and Janet Gregory, Deer Park, captured first place in the Garrett County Voice of Democracy public speaking contest, sponsored by the national Veterans of Foreign Wars. Gregory is pictured above center with his two trophies, and is flanked by Paul Graham, commander of Post 10077 VFW, left, and Robert Heginbotham, chairman of the Voice of Democracy contest committee for Post 10077. Gregory will advance to the state level of competition and, if successful there, will progress to the national level. The national winner receives a four-year college scholarship.

Mountain Lake Park Observer

by Dan Whittelsey

The last meeting of the town council on Wednesday, February 28, was an excellent example of how a meeting should be run.

Mayor Paul Shockey provided the town council and the attending public with an agenda. The meeting moved forward briskly, and I am sure it was no longer than 1½ hours. I think the mayor can hire himself out as a professional meeting chairman.

Ordinance 2001-1 received its first public reading. This ordinance prohibits burning of trash in Mountain Lake Park. Some of our residents have an allergic reaction to the smoke. If you have any strong comments to make, please attend the next town meeting to voice your comments.

Sheriff's Deputy Mike Bittinger presented a list of crimes and apprehensions that took place in Mountain Lake Park during the month of February. The list by itself is not that informative. A comparison of each monthly report would identify crimes that are on the increase/decrease. Crime Watch should be interested in this feature. Are eight hours of patrol in Mountain Lake Park adequate?

Leo Martin has asked that all budget suggestions be submitted promptly so that he may complete his work on the budget in March.

The Ticket Office Committee has suggested that the town should purchase the house between the Ticket Office and the former El Lobo building. It has fresh water and toilet facilities. Social events could then be held at the Ticket Office by Girl Scouts or other groups. Hot treats could be served from the kitchen. If you agree, please call or write Mayor Shockey.

The town should soon receive $15,000 from a grant to cover the cost of the purchasing the property next to Allegheny Park.

We have noticed that residents appearing before the town council on matters they are interested in leave the meeting after they are heard. This is not necessary. You are welcome to stay. I am sure council members will appreciate your attendance and show of support for their work. This can be your way of saying "thank you."

Broadford Park remains an unsettled issue. I do not understand why Mayor Shockey and Mayor McCain don't appoint a committee to study the matter and produce a suggested resolution.

The next town council meetings will be held March 14 and 28. Please attend.

SEE SPOT RUN

Rated PG - Running Time 1:34 - Released 3/2/01

It is one of those fortuitous accidents of fate that I should attend a screening of See Spot Run during one of the largest snowstorms to hit the eastern U.S. in recent memory. I will always remember cleaning a foot of snow and ice off my car, driving in dangerous conditions to the movie theater, being the only car in the parking lot and the only person in the house, asking the baffled theater workers to run the movie for me alone, and seeing one of the lamest films to hit the screen this season.

The film stars the ever more annoying David Arquette as a bumbling, dog-hating mailman who, through a series of unexpected circumstances, is forced to take care of his neighbor's kid and a drug-sniffing FBI pooch on the run from the mob. Directed by John Whitesell, who has made a career helming a long list of short-lived '90s TV shows, and written by Stuart Gibbs, Craig Titley, and no less than six other writers, See Spot Run is offensive on numerous levels, sporting off-color humor, fart jokes, mafia stereotypes, logical discrepancies, and, of course, the slapsticky antics of Arquette, whom I have hardly been able to stomach since he got the 1-800-CALL-ATT contract. His pint-sized co-star, Angus T. Jones, is cute, but not enough to save the movie from itself.

When FBI canine Agent 11 (dog) bites mob boss Sonny Talia (Paul Sorvino, who should be ashamed) in a very sensitive area during a drug bust, Sonny swears vengeance. But the two hit men he assigns to whack the animal (Joe Viterelli and Steve Schirripa) are ill prepared for the four-footed agent's ability to elude them. Or else they're just too stupid to catch a dog. Agent 11, having been separated from his trainer (Michael Clarke Duncan), seeks refuge with Gordon Smith (Arquette) and his little friend James (Jones), while James's mother (Leslie Bibb) is away on a misfortune-fraught business trip. Gordon doesn't like dogs (he's a mailman—get it?), but James prevails on him to let the pooch stay, even though his overprotective mom has specifically forbidden the child from getting a dog. So while both the mob guys and the FBI guys try to find Agent 11, he is re-christened "Spot" by Gordon and James, and the three of them get into all sorts of stupid, specifically-forbidden misadventures.

In a movie like this, one doesn't expect great depth of script (with eight writers, it's a wonder the screenplay is even remotely coherent), but usually we can count on the cuteness factor to make up for textual flaws. In any film with a kid and a dog, the kid and the dog are supposed to possess enough charm to provide counterpoint for the idiocy of the featured adults. But the dog playing Agent 11 has been intentionally directed to be boring and unplayful (he's supposed to be a no-nonsense FBI agent, you see) and Jones doesn't exactly have it either. So the burden of charm falls on Arquette, and—well, let's just say it's more of a burden than he can bear. ★

THE MEXICAN

Rated R - Running Time 2:03 - Released 3/2/01

The Mexican pairs two of Hollywood's most popular stars, Brad Pitt and Julia Roberts, for a gritty romance that, while presenting a largely enjoyable moviegoing experience, suffers somewhat from a strange juxtaposition of disparate styles. Part feel-good romantic comedy and part crime drama, The Mexican keeps Pitt and Roberts apart for most of the film's duration, so those who go to see them together may be somewhat disappointed. Their connection is funny and they seem to enjoy interacting, but what you've seen in the trailer is just about all there is. Roberts's real partner for most of the film is The Sopranos's James Gandolfini, and his relationship with her is arguably more enjoyable than Pitt's. And while there are some really funny moments in the film, there is also a lot of violence, as if director Gore Verbinski (Mouse Hunt) and writer J.H. Wyman couldn't come to an agreement about what kind of movie they're making.

Pitt plays Jerry Welbach, an absent-minded doofus from L.A. who stumbled into a world of crime when he crashed his car into that of a sinister and powerful crime lord named Margolis. While he and his girlfriend Sam (Roberts) are busy trying to reconcile their problematic relationship (which, at her insistence, includes attending group therapy), he is forced to "pay off his debt" to Margolis by working for his band of thugs. Having screwed up numerous jobs and thereby thoroughly vexed his stern mid-level boss, Nalin (Bob Balaban), he has only one task left to fulfill his contract: travel to Mexico and retrieve a priceless antique handgun called "The Mexican" for Margolis's collection. But Sam is so sick of Jerry's life of crime, she demands that he refuse the assignment or she will leave him. Fearing for his life, he accepts the job and heads for Mexico, while she travels to Las Vegas to begin a new life without him. However, when Jerry gets to his destination, he finds that the gun has a long history, not to mention a curse, attached to it, and the locals have no desire to let it out of the country. Several things go wrong, and Nalin begins to suspect Jerry of trying to con him and Margolis out of the gun. He sends an associate (J.K. Simmons) to get the gun and get rid of Jerry, and another (Gandolfini) to find Sam and hold her hostage, just for good measure.

The relationship established between Roberts and Gandolfini is easily the most enjoyable aspect of this movie. Although she is understandably scared and angry at first, he is such a thoughtful captor that they form a friendship and begin to confide their deepest secrets to each other, including her relationship problems and his homosexuality. But some of the troubles they get into have truly disturbing results, and these moments seem all the more jarring in the context of the film's otherwise lighthearted nature. This can also be said of the various tellings of the gun's disputed legend, which always begin with the sound of a movie projector running (suggesting a tongue-in-cheek attitude) but sometimes end badly.

Overall, The Mexican is an enjoyable, well-told tale with the kind of mythic quality that suggests a slight distance from reality, but I think it is somewhat defeated by its own trailer, which may plant expectations in some moviegoers' minds — expectations that cannot and will not be fulfilled. Incidentally, Pitt/Roberts fans will get another chance to see them together this year, as they are scheduled to appear in Steven Soderbergh's star-studded remake of the 1960 rat pack comedy Ocean's Eleven, scheduled for release this December. ★★★★

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

LENTEN SERVICES

Brookside Church of the Brethren will host the March 14 Union District Lenten services and Tim Skipper will be the speaker. Each service begins at 7:30 p.m.

Practice for an Easter drama is beginning this Tuesday, and the united sunrise choir is meeting on Thursday evening, both at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. Persons interested in participating in those efforts may call 735-3511 or 735-3261 for further information.

SPAGHETTI DINNER

A spaghetti dinner is scheduled to be held March 17 at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building, with serving from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m. Donations for the meal are $5 for adults, $2.50 for children 6-12, and those under 6 may eat free. Proceeds benefit the paving fund.

AURORA CEOS

The Jan. 16 meeting of the Aurora CEOS was held at the Union Ambulance squad hall, with newly elected president, Ressie Conrad, in charge. She presented a CEOS pin to past president Delores Douglas in appreciation of her leadership.

"God Knows Best" was the lesson theme, and name of a Helen Steiner Rice poem read by Dorothy Spaid. The Club Collect was used for prayer.

A film showing the development of the Arthurdale Homestead, "First Lady's Legacy," was shown by Alice Penzo. She further explained how Eleanor Roosevelt was responsible for developing these areas, known as homesteads, as a retraining effort for out-of-work miners, teaching them skills and providing a place to grow their food.

As the heritage feature, Janice Tackett brought a jar of cherries canned in the 1940s in a green Mason Jar, and a tax notice from 1941 which noted an 87-cent tax levied on 24 acres of land.

All members were encouraged to keep records of their volunteer hours. Each member was also asked to ascertain their years of membership. It was reported that 96 Santa Tree gifts were provided by CEOS members for the needy in Preston County. The club is also asking members to save their prescription bottles to be used in a Monongalia County program.

Ressie Conrad purchased five books and presented them to the Aurora School for its library, in observance of National Book Week in November. Alice Penzo announced that another quilt show is being planned for 2001. She also provided the vice president's feature, "Philosophy for the New Year," and Mrs. Conrad showed the special feature, a Christmas wreath made and given to her by her sister. Delores Douglas was the winner of the pig-in-the-poke.

The Aurora CEOS is celebrating its 75th anniversary as a club, and a planning committee was selected to arrange a special event.

Martha Bolyard led the opening devotions for the Feb. 20 meeting of the Aurora CEOS, also at the squad hall. Janice Tackett spoke about the requirements for the safe handling of food. Jeannie Whitehair showed a doll dressed in clothes made from one of her own dresses which had been made by her mother. She also showed a picture of the original dress and stated that each of her daughters has a doll and dress of this material. She also displayed a 100-year old doll with leather limbs and body that had belonged to her grandmother.

The Market and Membership Committee is sponsoring a county "Show How" day on March 29. Possibilities for a community project were discussed, but none selected. The club is collecting embroidery floss to be sent to Africa. Opal Myers reported her findings from the county extension office concerning records of membership. March 22 is scheduled for lesson training at Kingwood.

The vice president's feature, shown by Alice Penso, was "West Virginia Quilts and Quiltmakers," which shows the story of many old quilts in West Virginia and from nearby states. Opal Myers displayed a potholder folded to hold a pair of kitchen shears and to be placed on the refrigerator. Jeannie Whitehair was winner of the pig-in-poke.

Delores Douglas will be responsible for the March lesson, Mary Jane Hanline the special feature, and Opal Myers the devotions. Thirteen members were present, including two new members, Faye Taylor and Joyce Brennan of Terra Alta. Following the meeting adjournment, members participated in making a découpage plate. Opal Myers was the instructor.

DAY OF PRAYER

Twenty-three women assembled for the March 2 celebration of the World Day of Prayer. Sponsored by Church Women United, this annual event is observed world-wide by Christian women, and this year's service was written by women of Samoa. Alice Penzo provided the background on Samoa.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Lyle (Kim) Weimer of Eglon was a recent surgical patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She was able to return to her home later in the week.

Paul and Erma Gnegy returned to their home in Amboy on Wednesday from Pittsburgh, where Mrs. Gnegy underwent tests. Transporting them to and from Pittsburgh were Jackie and Alma Snyder.

Fred Forman of Amboy had cataract surgery last Tuesday in Buckhannon. Visiting here during his surgery was his daughter, Teresa Meany of Gaithersburg, Md.

Bill Strawser of Lantz Ridge underwent bypass surgery last Wednesday at Monongalia General Hospital.

Ressie Conrad of Aurora was a Friday surgical patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Lisa Shaffer Hartley of Kingwood has completed law school, and spent last Monday and Tuesday taking her bar entrance exams. She is the daughter of Judy and Ron Paugh of Aurora and the late Randall Shaffer.

Delores Liston of Aurora has been a patient this week in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was scheduled to undergo surgery.

Eric Myers was wed in a Saturday, March 3, ceremony at Love Chapel, Winchester, Va., to Alice Lilly. Attending the wedding from this area were his uncle and aunt, Sam and Helen Roth, his aunt and cousin, Shirley and Steve Parsons, and his grandmother, Bernice Roth Winters. Eric is the son of Bill and Sue Ann Roth Myers of Cumberland.

Friends here were notified of the recent death of Harold "Jake" Ogden, 79, of Canton, N.C. As a young boy, Mr. Ogden had been a resident of the Maple Grove Rescue Home at Eglon and attended the Slaubaugh School nearby.

Orval "Buck" DeWitt, of Oakland, and a friend accompanying him, were involved in an automobile accident enroute home from Brookside Church of the Brethren on Sunday. Both were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, but his pickup sustained major damage.

Beverly Whetstone of Arthur was a Saturday visitor with her mother, Wilda Stemple, Aurora.

Cecil Snyder of Ben DeWitt Road remains a patient in Ruby Memorial Hospital. His companion Erica was hospitalized last week at Garrett County Memorial with pneumonia, but has now returned home.

Mary, Shawn, and Craig Rembold of Aurora made a weekend visit to Pittsburgh with Eileen Rembold.

Town Hall

LOCH LYNN

The town meeting was held on Monday, March 6.

- The town discussed various problems at the elementary school.
- A new bulletin board will be posted at the town hall for residents to post their own personal news and any town news.
- Budget requests must be in by April 2.
- Voter registration will also be April 2 from 5 p.m. until 7:30 p.m.

The next town meeting will be Monday, April 2.

ACCIDENT

The town meeting was held Monday, March 5.

The council voted to add Allegany County Board of Education to the tax bills.

The council voted to send donations to the Northern High School After-Prom.

The council approved the ACHS request to accept Barrie Gregory as a new member of ACHS.

Residents' complaints about trucks using jake brakes while traveling through town were discussed. This will be discussed further at the next meeting.

The council would like to advise residents that all streets in town limits have a speed limit of 25 mph, according to the Garrett County Traffic Advisory Committee.

The council discussed heavy trucks which have been traveling through the back streets of town. Truck drivers are asked to travel along Rt. 219 unless making local deliveries.

The town election was held March 6. Mayor Carlson and Councilmen Thomas George and Charles Hahn were all re-elected for a two-year term in their respective areas.

The next town meeting will be Monday, April 2.

FRIENDSVILLE

Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle administered the oath of office to newly elected council members Herschel Allen, Ed Kelley, and Robert Sines. Herschel Allen was elected council president.

Helen Holliday of the local Crime Watch group asked council's permission to install several Crime Watch community signs throughout the town. This request was granted. The council's support for the valuable work of this organization was expressed.

A member of the community informed the mayor and council of the recent decision by the Northern Rescue squad to purchase a location in the McHenry area to consolidate the Friendsville and Accident squad locations to McHenry. The mayor and town council are adamantly opposed to such a move due to the adverse effect this would have on the emergency services available to local residents.

The Friendsville Lions Club was unanimously granted a five-year lease on the concession stand at the Friendsville Community Park.

Mayor Schlosnagle presented his annual committee assignments.

The fiscal year 2002 municipal real estate and personal property tax rate was set at .24 per $100 of assessed value.

The problem of blighted properties was discussed.

Effective Thursday, April 5, local trash collection will be permanently moved from Fridays to Thursdays. Collection will begin at 7:30 a.m.

Because of continuing safety concerns, the County Traffic Advisory Committee will be requested to evaluate Maple Street in order to advise the town as to how to slow traffic in this area.

Effective April 2, all regularly scheduled meetings of the mayor and town council will start at 7 p.m. instead of 7:30 p.m. Additionally, the second monthly meeting will be permanently moved from the third Tuesday of the month to the third Thursday of the month.

The next council meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, March 20, at 7:30 p.m. The Garrett County commissioners will attend this meeting.

BBBS RECEIVES GRANT — A mini-grant of $500 was awarded to the Garrett County chapter of Big Brothers Big Sisters recently by the Garrett County Teen Pregnancy Prevention Coalition. The money will be used to fund safety classes for BBBS "Littles" that will teach and model positive healthy behaviors, and will primarily be directed to Littles who don't yet have a Big Brother or Big Sister. Teen Pregnancy Coalition mini-grants are available to organizations or youth groups to fund the development of teen pregnancy prevention projects, which may include activities and training in communication skills, goal-setting, self-esteem, choosing values, decision making, and sexual abstinence. Shown above are BBBS representative Jennifer Broadwater, left, and Sam Moon, program coordinator for teen pregnancy prevention at the Garrett County Health Department and Teen Pregnancy Prevention Coalition representative. For more information on the mini-grants, interested persons may call Moon at 301-533-0113.

Md. House Of Delegates Drops Drunken-Driving Threshold To .08

By Laurent Thomet
Capital News Service

The Maryland House of Delegates Wednesday overwhelmingly approved a measure to lower the drunken-driving threshold from .10 blood-alcohol concentration to .08, bowing to a federal mandate attached to millions in highway money.

The state stands to lose $5.2 million in federal highway funds in fiscal 2004 if it fails to reduce its drunken-driving threshold to .08 by 2003.

It's been a wrangle to get the bill this far. Similar legislation died in the House Judiciary Committee three times in the past four years, but was finally approved Feb. 27, 16-5.

The full House then approved it, 116-17.

A committee amendment endorsed by the full House changed the names of drunken-driving offenses. Driving with a .08 blood-alcohol level changed from driving while intoxicated to driving under the influence because past opponents of the measure argued a person with a .08 blood-alcohol content was not intoxicated.

Judiciary retained Maryland's two-tier drunken-driving statute, renaming the lower threshold of .07 "driving while impaired" and keeping the same penalties for both offenses: a maximum $1,000 fine and 1 year in jail.

"This bill sends a message to the public not to drink and drive," said Judiciary Chairman Joseph F. Vallario Jr., D-Prince George's, during floor debate.

Instead of catching dangerously intoxicated drivers, the measure would incriminate casual drinkers by casting a wider net, one opponent said.

"If you're trying to get drunk drivers off the road, what you need to do is prosecute people under current law," said Delegate Clarence Davis, D-Baltimore, one of two delegates to oppose the bill. "What will happen is everyone in the state will become a criminal."

Not so, said Vallario. More than 1,500 additional drunken-driving offenders could be caught next year if the blood-alcohol threshold is reduced to .08.

The bill, which the Senate still has to consider, would take effect Sept. 30, in time to save Maryland from losing $3.5 million put aside by Congress to encourage states to conform to the .08 standard.

"The federal government cannot buy my vote to make tens of thousands of Maryland residents criminals," Davis said after the vote. "I think states have to stand firm on that."

The measure is the centerpiece of more than 20 bills introduced this year to crack down on drunken-driving accidents, which claimed more than 200 lives last year.

For the delegate who sponsored similar legislation four times in the past five years, the bill's passage is a relief, even if federal cash motivated most of his colleagues.

"Clearly I'm not going to be disingenuous and say that wasn't a factor to many (delegates)," said Delegate Dereck Davis, D-Prince George's, point man of this year's proposal. "We don't want to lose highway funds."

Though money may have influenced several legislators, they will see the measure's value if it finally becomes law, one supporter said.

"It's unfortunate in that respect," said Wendy Hamilton, national vice president of Mothers Against Drunk Driving. "But the bottom line is that it's going to save lives."

THE REPUBLICAN

SWANTON

More than 40 persons attended a bridal shower for Kendra Sweitzer on Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Community Center. The shower was hosted by Tamara Cronp, Dana Iser, and Kim Sweitzer. Kendra, daughter of Alverta and Denver Sweitzer, will be married on March 31 to Shayne Biser.

Bob Baker of Canton, Ohio, visited his mother, Luella Baker, recently.

Harold and Peggy Friend of Warren, Ohio, spent several days here with Melvin, Dotty, and Andrew Beckman. The Friends were in the area to attend the funeral of their uncle, Harland Beckman. On Friday they returned to their home in Warren. Dotty Beckman went with them to visit her son Leslie in the Imperial Skilled Care Center, where he is recovering from an automobile accident.

Melvin and Andrew Beckman traveled to Warren, Ohio, on Saturday. They were weekend guests of Harold and Peggy Friend. The Beckmans and the Friends attended the First Assembly of God Church on Sunday morning, where Leslie Beckman gave his testimony of how his life has changed since the accident, which was November 10. After the church service, Harold and Peggy Friend hosted a luncheon for Leslie, his wife Tracy, and son Anthony. Others attending were Randall, Mary, Luke, Dan, and Heidi Friend, Andover, Ohio, and Melvin, Dotty, and Andrew Beckman. The Beckmans returned to their home in Swanton Sunday evening.

James Lohry is now at home after spending several days in a hospital last week.

Linda Fleming, principal at Swan Meadow School, and Linda Buckel, principal at Grantsville Elementary, traveled to Baltimore last Thursday to attend the Principal Institute at the Maritime Institute of Technology. They returned home Friday evening. They stopped at Mt. Airy for a short visit with Christina Riley.

DCL LIONS SPONSOR PEACE POSTER CONTEST — Northern Middle School sixth grader Shayla Rodeheaver has been named the winner of the Garrett County 2000 Peace Poster Contest by the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club. The Lions Club national theme for the contest was "United In Peace," and Rodeheaver's poster illustrated her theme, "No matter what race we are, we should keep peace." Shown above, from left, are Susan M. Shockey, the DCL Lions chairperson for the Peace Poster Contest, as she presents Rodeheaver with a certificate of appreciation and a $50 savings bond; and Rodeheaver's parents Delmar and Norma Rodeheaver. The family were the guests of honor at a recent DCL Lions Club meeting at Uno's restaurant, where they were treated to dinner. In her remarks, Shockey also expressed the club's appreciation for the efforts of art instructor Frances Kenna-Schenk, who provides the opportunity for the Northern Middle School students to participate in each year's Peace Poster Contest.

Healthy Living in Garrett County

Nat'l Nutrition Month Proclaimed

Garrett County Memorial Hospital is celebrating National Nutrition Month by participating in the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging's "Food and Fitness Build a Healthy Lifestyle" health fair. The first event will be held at the Grantsville Senior Center next Thursday, March 15, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., and the second event will be held at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland on Friday, March 23, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. GCMH will provide visitors with nutrition and fitness literature.

For lunch reservations, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 137.

DENTAL HEALTH IS FOR ALL AGES — Garrett County Community Action Head Start students observed Dental Health Month in February by learning and practicing good dental hygiene. Each child received stickers and two new toothbrushes, one to keep in the classroom and one to take home, and parents received literature outlining correct brushing techniques. The classroom teaching staff conducted art activities related to oral hygiene and lead songs about bright smiles. The Head Start program requires that all enrolled children receive yearly dental screenings and that they brush after meals and snacks. Fluoride tablets are provided for children who live in homes that do not have fluoridated water. For more information about Head Start's health services, persons may call 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403 (toll free), ext. 124.

FDA Approves New Treatment For Alzheimer's

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has approved a new drug, galantamine hydrobromide (Reminyl), for the treatment of Alzheimer's disease. Alzheimer's is a devastating disease that affects more than four million Americans, and that number could increase to more than 14 million by the time the "Baby Boomer" generation reaches the age of highest risk, according to the Alzheimer's Association.

"Just a few years ago, people with Alzheimer's disease and their families had very few options. Today, we look to the future optimistically, as research progresses and more treatment options become available," said Barbara Pilgram, executive director of the Alzheimer's Association, Western Maryland Chapter. "Each of the approved drugs for Alzheimer's disease may have different side effects on individual people taking the medication. Having more approved drugs offers doctors, individuals with the disease, and their families a greater opportunity to find one that will have some benefit with the fewest unwanted {side} effects."

The FDA approved galantamine hydrobromide as a treatment for symptomatic relief for mild to moderate Alzheimer's disease. Data from four placebo-controlled, double-blind clinical trials involving more than 2,650 patients show that galantamine hydrobromide can have a beneficial effect on patients' daily function and ability to think.

In the approval process, the data supporting the use of the drug have been judged adequate by the FDA. The drug is expected to be available by prescription in May 2001.

Currently, tacrine (Cognex), donepezil (Aricept), and rivastigmine (Exelon) are the only other drugs that have been approved by the FDA for the treatment of Alzheimer's disease; however, none of these drugs will cure the disease.

According to Pilgrim, individuals with Alzheimer's disease and their families should discuss the potential benefits, risks, and costs of galantamine with their physicians before deciding whether to try it. The Alzheimer's Association, Western Maryland Chapter, does not endorse products.

The Alzheimer's Association is calling on Congress and President Bush to make conquering Alzheimer's disease a key federal health priority and is urging lawmakers to increase Alzheimer's research funding at the National Institutes of Health to $1 billion as soon as possible.

"The investment in Alzheimer research that Congress has made over the past decade is now paying off in rapid discoveries and in the development of new drug treatments," said Pil-

GCMH Wellness Coordinator To Speak To TOPS

Debora Nichols of Garrett County Memorial Hospital will conduct a program titled "Move Into the State of Wellness" on Monday, March 12, at the Mountain Glade Adult Care Center in Oakland for the Take Off Pounds Sensibly (TOPS) weight support group. Nichols' program will demonstrate how movement and dance relaxation therapy can help participants in their weight management efforts.

If there is inclement weather, persons are advised to listen to local radio stations for cancellation. For more information about TOPS, persons may call Mary Shreve at 301-387-5671.

The Wellness Department at GCMH is available to present programs on a variety of health and wellness issues. For more information about GCMH's Wellness Program, persons may contact Debora Nichols at 301-533-4327.

Health Officials Report "Alarming" Rise In Diabetes For Some Adults

by Jonathan Sheir
Capital News Services

WASHINGTON — Diabetes cases increased more than threefold from 1993 to 1999 among Marylanders in their 30s, according to a survey by the state health department.

The Maryland Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System telephone survey showed the rate of diabetes in this age group increased from 1.2 percent in 1993 to 4 percent in 1999.

Poor eating habits and lack of exercise are primary causes for the increase, experts agreed.

"We as a society are becoming more sedentary. This is resulting in more obesity at younger and younger ages," said Dr. Alan Shuldiner, director of the Joslyn Diabetes Center at the University of Maryland. Obesity is the most accurate predictor of whether someone will develop diabetes.

"Television is a major factor in the recent explosion" in diabetes cases, Shuldiner said. He said the couch-potato lifestyle, along with the messages glamorizing fast food and other high-fat, low-nutrient food, have created much of the problem.

Health officials said the "extremely alarming" increase in diabetes cases threatens to overwhelm a healthcare system not ready to accommodate them.

The numbers may be even higher, because the survey counted only those who had been diagnosed, said Helio Lopez, research statistician in the Office of Public Health Assessment. About one-third of those with diabetes don't realize they have it, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

The Maryland Diabetes Control Program estimated that while 382,000 Marylanders have diabetes, over 1.3 million are at risk because of poor diet and exercise.

Minorities continued to suffer disproportionately from diabetes, according to the survey. While the rate for whites in their 30s grew from 0.8 percent in 1993 to 1.8 percent in 1999, the rate for blacks went from 2.2 percent to 4.7 percent in the same period.

Blacks are significantly more obese than whites in Maryland. While the obesity rate has hovered around 14 percent for whites, it reached as high as 26.9 percent for blacks, according to the survey.

The sample size for other minorities was too low to be included in the Maryland report, but national studies have shown those groups

Dev. Disabilities Seminar Slated At Frostburg St.

A free seminar titled "Developing Self Determination Skills in Individuals with Developmental Disabilities" is set for Monday, March 12, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall of the Lane Center at Frostburg State University. Registration will be accepted at the door.

The seminar, which is open to anyone interested in the training of or caregiving for the developmentally disabled, is designed to benefit teachers, professionals, and caregivers in the training of developmentally disabled individuals, in cooperation with the FSU College of Education.

Dr. LaVerne Albright Buchanan, consultant with TransCen Inc., a nonprofit agency in Rockville, will present the opening keynote address. Buchanan assists local and state educational community-based agencies in planning, implementing, and evaluating transition services for youth with disabilities.

Following the keynote, Alice Marie Stevens, director of Prevention Programs for the Brain Injury Association, will present a program on services to individuals with traumatic brain injury. Her talk will be followed by an interactive

GCMH RECOGNIZED AS CLINICAL EDUCATION SITE — Garrett County Memorial Hospital has been recognized as a clinical education setting for an accredited radiology program by the Joint Review Committee on Education in Radiologic Technology, the accrediting agency for programs in radiology and radiation therapy. Stephanie Ervin, a student from Allegany College of Maryland, Cumberland, is completing her clinical training at GCMH, and Wendy Kagarise and John Jones, both radiological technicians, monitor her clinical competencies. With state of the art technology, such as dual slice spiral CT scanning, mammography, and nuclear imaging, GCMH is able to serve the imaging needs of the community. More than 28,000 procedures are performed each year, with increasing growth in referrals and outpatient services. Pictured above, from the left, are Kagarise, Ervin, holding GCMH's certificate of recognition, and Jones.

SCHOOL LUNCHES FEATURE FRUITS AND VEGGIES — Grade school students at Yough Glades and Grantsville elementary schools were offered fruits and vegetables each lunch period during a special Team Nutrition Tasting Week recently. The joint effort of the Garrett County Food and Nutrition Services and the Garrett County Cooperative Extension office was deemed a tasty success, as approximately 98 percent of the 500 students who were offered one of the nutritious items took part in the taste testing, and each received a sticker of that fruit or vegetable. The Yough Glades cafeteria staff, shown above from the left, are Scott Germaine, Dorothy Beltzel, Karen Friend, Janet Rudy, and Beverly Carvell. Pictured below are Grantsville Elementary cafeteria staff members Denise Blocher, Meredith Vagnetti, Darla Long, and Sue Damon. The Food Stamp Nutrition Education Project (FSNEP) is made possible through a grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Department of Human Services through the University of Maryland, and is designed to work collaboratively with groups and agencies in the county that serve food stamp eligible individuals. For further information on the FSNEP services, interested persons may contact program assistant Beverly Carvell at the Garrett County Cooperative Extension office at 301-334-6954. Information on school lunches can be obtained by calling the Garrett County Board of Education Food and Nutrition Service office at 301-334-8917.

Adorable Adoptables

THEY CALL ME MELLOW YELLOW — Well, they actually call me Greta because, well, that's my name! But anyone who's met me will tell you I have a very nice disposition and that I actually smile. You decide when you see me. Then there's Baby down there — a female mixed breed dog — who wants to snuggle a lot. (I think she likes me.) And last, but not least, is Butterscotch, a 1-year-old, long-haired male cat. Baby and I think his color is "yellowish." He's alright for a cat, I guess. NEW COUNTY DEPUTIES of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office were sworn in this week by David Martin, clerk of Garrett County Circuit Court, pictured right. The new deputies, who have completed their 19 weeks of training at the police academy in Westminster, are Dan Duggan, pictured left, and Brent Sanders, center. Sanders, 30, is a Garrett County native, served four years with the U.S. Navy. He resides with his wife Stephanie and their two sons, Cole and Tyler. Duggan, 36, has resided in the county for the past 30 years. He is an 18-year veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps and is still a member of the Marine Reserves. He resides in Swanton with his wife Susan and their two sons, Michael and Patrick. Both new deputies are assigned to the patrol division.

director for the Maryland chapter of the American Diabetes Association, said health groups "are constantly trying to educate the public about healthy lifestyles.

"It really starts from grammar school. Parents have to teach their kids to eat right and other healthy habits," Minter said.

The survey was part of a study released last month by the CDC, which found a 6 percent increase in 1999 alone in diabetes cases among all age groups nationwide. A September study by the CDC found diabetes rates rose 70 percent among people ages 30 to 39 from 1990 to 1998.

Although the biggest increases were among young people, cases increased in every category examined in the national study, including sex, age, race, education, weight, and smoking status.

More than 16 million Americans have diabetes, with 800,000 new cases diagnosed every year. Diabetes is the seventh-leading cause of death in both Maryland and the United States, killing 180,000 nationwide. The state's Community and Public Health Administration estimated it is a contributing factor in more than 7,000 Maryland deaths every year.

gram. "But even with these advances, we are still not able to prevent Alzheimer's. We need to increase the investment in research in both the private and public sectors so that we can develop more treatments and find a prevention or cure for Alzheimer's."

The association also notes that the approval of a new drug treatment for Alzheimer's underscores the importance of congressional action on a Medicare prescription drug benefit to make sure that beneficiaries who have Alzheimer's can obtain new therapies.

The Alzheimer's Association is the premier source of information and support for the 4 million Americans with Alzheimer's disease. Through its national network of chapters, it offers a broad range of programs and services for people with the disease, their families and caregivers and represents their interests on Alzheimer-related issues before federal, state, and local government and with health and long-term care providers. presentation by the Assistive Technology Department of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, on the latest technology for traumatic brain injury.

Two afternoon workshops are planned, one on nutritional considerations for individuals with developmental disabilities, and the other on physical activities for life. The workshops will be facilitated by Jennifer Wilson, a registered and licensed dietician with the Allegany County Health Department, and Ginny Popiolek, a certified adapted physical education educator with the Harford County Public Schools.

The daylong event is the fourth annual Alhambra Catholic Invitational Tournament (ACIT) seminar sponsored by the Order of the Alhambra Wamba Caravan. Support for the program is provided from the annual ACIT high school boys' basketball tournament, which is sponsored by the Wamba Caravan #89 and the FSU Foundation Inc. Area organizations assisting with the planning include the FSU Educational Professions Department, Brandenburg Center, Friends Aware, Allegany County Board of Education, and the ACIT.

Officials Report

are more likely to have diabetes than their white peers.

The biggest change was the increasing numbers of diabetics under age 40. Earl Schurman of the Maryland Division of Diabetes Control said the proliferation of those cases is "extremely alarming." Type II diabetes, formerly known as "adult onset," traditionally afflicted adults older than 40 but is becoming more common in younger adults, he said.

While diabetes among 30-year-olds made the most remarkable gains, Shuldiner said the increase is starting to be seen in children.

"What was once a clean separation between childhood and adult diabetes is becoming clouded," Shuldiner said.

He said earlier onset of diabetes causes greater and more expensive complications: "The duration of diabetes is directly related to its complications."

Although diabetes usually is controllable through insulin doses, it can lead to a number of serious complications, including high blood pressure, kidney and heart disease, amputations, and strokes.

It is also often preventable, said experts, and now is the time to act.

"If we can't address the problem through the root issues, it's going to be an incredible economic and medical burden on our entire society," Schurman said. "If we don't do something about this now, it's going to affect everyone who pays taxes."

Rams Whip Campers To Claim Region Title; Will Face Snow Hill In State 1A Semifinal

Despite losing last season's entire first team to graduation, the Southern High School boys' varsity basketball team concluded its regular season with 19-2 record, won three straight playoff games to capture the 1A West Region title, and is now one of only four Class 1A teams left in the state of Maryland that will vie for the state championship this weekend at the University of Maryland in College Park.

The Rams became one of the state's final four by defeating the Campers of Allegany High for the third time this season last Friday, 65-44, in the regional title game, played at Fort Hill High School in Cumberland. They will face Snow Hill this Friday in a state semifinal game, which will tip off at 5 p.m. at Cole Field House in College Park. The winner of that contest will meet the winner of the Pikesville-Oakland Mills semifinal on Saturday.

"One of the goals we set at the beginning of the season was to win the regional title," stated Ram coach Tom Bosley, "and even though we lost five starters from last year, these guys really stepped up, worked very hard, and met that goal."

Friday's win over Allegany was another team effort by the Rams that featured balanced scoring and outstanding defense. Senior Josh Sharon led in points scored with 15, while senior Bryan Panther was right behind with 14 points and a game-high seven rebounds. The performance of the junior guard duo of Ricky Reams and Chad Panther was also key to the victory, as Reams recorded nine points and six assists, and Panther finished with eight points, five assists, and three steals.

Sharon hit 100 percent of his shots from the floor (five-for-five) and was five-for-six at the foul line, while Bryan Panther converted six of 10 field goal attempts and two of two free throws. Reams, Chad Panther, and Michael Saturday also shot 50% or better from the floor and the charity stripe.

The Rams scored the first eight points of the game and led the entire contest, holding advantages of 14-6, 26-16, and 42-27 at the quarters. As a team, Southern hit two-thirds of their shots (20 of 30) from the floor and made good on 25 of 45 foul shots in a game where the Campers were whistled for 35 fouls. The Rams committed 19 fouls.

Bryan Panther hit most of his points in the first half and then got into some foul trouble, but Sharon, Reams, and Chad Panther picked up the slack offensively in the second half. The closest Allegany could get in the second half was seven points when Tim Reineke hit back-to-back three-points shots to make it 31-24 with 3:13 left in the third period. But the Rams responded with a 9-2 run to go ahead 40-26.

Fifteen of the Rams' 23 fourth-quarter points were scored on 27 attempts from the foul line, as the only chance for the Campers was to foul repeatedly.

Allegany's Ryan Rebuck led all scorers, as he poured in 21 points. He also hit 50% of his shots from the floor (eight of 16) and was five-for-six at the foul line. Rebuck scored 15 of his total in the second half because, like Panther, he got into foul trouble and had to sit out much of the first half.

Reineke, whose only two field goals were the aforementioned back-to-back three-pointers, finished with nine points, while Matt Miller pulled down seven rebounds and Paul Becker dished out four assists.

The Rams finished with a 30-25 advantage in rebounding.

"We knew we had to get some points right away and play solid defense throughout, which is what we did," Coach Bosley said. "We don't have a lot of height, and we aren't the most athletic team in the area, so we have to make up for it with aggressive defense and solid fundamentals."

Defense was the name of the game in the two regular season contests with the Campers, which the Rams won by scores of 54-28 and 47-42. Allegany concluded with an overall record of 16-7.

FOR THE THIRD TIME this season, the Southern High varsity boys defeated Allegany last Friday evening, but this time it was for all the region marbles, as the Rams captured the 1A West Region title with the 65-44 win and a trip to College Park as one of the state's final four. The Rams left this morning for College Park, where they will face Snow Hill in the 1A state semifinals Friday at 5 p.m. Josh Sharon, pictured above taking a shot, led the Rams in scoring against the Campers of Allegany with 15 points. Ready to put the ball up in the photo below is Southern's Mike Saturday. See story for details. Photos courtesy of Steve Follckman.

Bosley Says Speed, Athleticism Are Strengths For Snow Hill

"Quick, and very athletic" is how Coach Bosley describes the members of the Snow Hill team, which upset Pocomoke, 60-57, to claim the East Region 1A title for the opportunity to meet the Rams in the state semifinals. The Eagles, coached by Allen Miller, will come into College Park with an overall record of 20-5.

"They are bigger than we are, but most teams have been bigger," Bosley said. "They will want to really step up the tempo of the game, and we will probably see a full-court, man-to-man press right away."

The Eagles are led by 6-5 senior center Buddy Johnson and 6-3, 200-pound senior forward Tony Harman, whom Bosley describes as their best player.

"Harman is an outstanding quarterback in football and some have described him as the best athlete on the Eastern Shore," Bosley said. "He's powerful inside, but he has good quickness and can also play outside."

The Eagles have a pair of "very quick" guards in 5-9 senior Jesse Bratten and 5-8 junior Jerrell Harman, and their other starter is 6-3 senior Jeff Taylor.

"John Frank (6-3) is their first sub, and he is impressive," Bosley said. "He can play anywhere on the floor."

However, Bosley believes that the Rams have better depth than the Eagles, which he hopes will be an advantage upon which his team can capitalize.

"We often do not have a lot of depth, but our quality players go several deep this year," he said, "so hopefully we can keep our guys pretty fresh, which will help us cope with their speed."

One player in that depth, however, who remains out of the Ram line-up because of illness, is junior Bryson Meyers, who will be sorely missed by Bosley and the rest of the team.

"We really need Bryson," Bosley said. "He's big and strong underneath, which is where we are going to need a lot of pressure to counter their size. It's a shame that he's not going to be able to play. But I think he's going to be a great player for us next year. He will be one of those guys that has a lot of double-double games (double figures in scoring and rebounding).

"Their strengths are athleticism and speed," Bosley continued. "Our strengths are fundamentals and discipline. We will do everything we can to counter their attempts to make it an up-tempo game."

Specifically, the Ram mentor noted four keys to an SHS victory. "We absolutely have to stop their penetration toward the basket, because they are bigger than we are," he said. "We are going to have to do a good job of boxing out to keep them from getting a lot of second chances. We're going to have to be patient offensively, to make them play defense longer, limit their possessions, and make sure we get good shots. And we are going to have to take good care of the ball and not get on our heels early in the game."

Bosley has over 220 victories to his credit as coach of the Rams, and over the past three seasons, his teams have amassed an overall record of 62-11, plus an area championship, two regional runner-up trophies, and this year's regional title.

SHS Basketball Playoff Coverage Set By 92.3 FM

Tomorrow evening's semifinal Maryland high school basketball playoff tournament appearances by the boys' and girls' varsity squads of Southern High School will both be broadcast on 92.3 FM, "The Train." The boys' broadcast with the Snow Hill Eagles will originate from the University of Maryland's Cole Field House in College Park, while the girls' battle with the North Dorchester Eagles will be broadcast from the Catonsville campus of the University of Maryland—Baltimore County.

The boys SHS/Snow Hill game, which tips off at 5 p.m., will be preceded by Paul Mullan's pre-game show beginning at approximately 4:20 p.m. The contest itself will feature the play-by-play announcing of Bill Ewing and the color commentary of Oren Yoder. The coverage of the girls' SHS/North Dorchester match-up will get under way with Mullan's 8:20 p.m. pre-game show, followed by the 9 p.m. tip-off, with John Hill handling play-by-play and Monty Pagenhardt providing the color commentary.

Should both or either of the Ram units advance to the state championship contest(s) the following day, that game(s) will be broadcast as well. The boys' championship game tipoff is set for 1 p.m., and the girls' title contest tipoff is slated for 6 p.m. Both contests will be preceded by pre-game coverage that will get under way approximately 45 minutes prior to tipoff.

WFRB Radio To Broadcast Games

WFRB Radio, Frostburg, will broadcast the boys' 1A Maryland State semifinal game, to be played this Friday, March 9, at the University of Maryland's Cole Field House between Southern and Snow Hill high schools. The broadcast can be found at 560 on the AM dial, and coverage will begin at 4:30 p.m., with the game tip-off set for 5 p.m.

If the Southern Rams win Friday's game, the state 1A championship contest on Saturday against either Pikesville or Oakland Mills will also be broadcast by WFRB, with coverage beginning at 12:30 p.m. for the 1 p.m. game.

Ram Girls Take Region By Downing NHS, Williamsport; State Tourney Lies Ahead

Tomorrow marks a historic day for the Southern High School basketball program as both varsity units take part in the Maryland 1A state basketball tournament. The Ram girls take on the North Dorchester Eagles in a 9 p.m. semifinal playoff contest at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County campus in Catonsville, in a contest will get under way approximately two hours after the conclusion of the 5 p.m. Southern boys' semifinal matchup with the Snow Hill Eagles at College Park.

The SHS girls earned their trip to the state tournament with a pair of convincing wins this week to clinch the Class 1A West Region title. The Rams defeated Northern 65-48 Thursday at Fort Hill, then returned to the same gym Saturday to take a 57-49 win over Williamsport. North Dorchester reached the state tourney by claiming the 1A East Region title with a 54-52 upset of top-seeded Washington High Friday in Princess Anne. The semifinals kick off with a Bohemia Manor vs. Glenelg match-up set for 7 p.m. tomorrow at UMBC.

The Rams beat Northern in Thursday's region semifinal behind an outstanding performance from guard Ashley Liller, who scored 29 points, stole the ball seven times, and handed out five assists. The junior connected on 11 shots from the field and had an outstanding 6-for-8 tally from the free-throw line. "Ashley carried us tonight," remarked SHS coach Don Stemple. "It took a lot more to beat Northern this time around, but Ashley helped us a lot."

Despite the end result of the contest, the Huskies put forth a valiant effort for an entire four quarters. NHS was within 10 points of the Rams through most of the contest, and didn't fall behind by a double-digit margin until the final stanza. SHS led 14-8 after one quarter, 25-16 at the half, and 45-37 as the fourth quarter got under way.

In addition to Liller's heroics, Southern capitalized on strong play from junior forward Jennifer Bosley, who scored 12 points, a nine-point tally by freshman guard Robbin Gregg, and senior center Charlena Reeves's eight points and eight rebounds.

Sophomore Amanda Frantz's 19 points paced Northern, which finished the season at 12-12. Frantz stepped up as her teammates went cold in the final period, and scored all 11 of NHS's points of that stanza by connecting on a trio of three-pointers and two foul shots. Junior Bridget Frazee scored 12 points total.

"Coach Rugg had a very good game plan against us," Stemple commented of his former protegé, who holds the helm for the Huskies. "She brought her players together and had them very well prepared and, just like our earlier meetings this year, got a lot out of them. Northern is losing only one senior from their entire program (guard Kristin Lander) so they will be a force to be reckoned with next year."

While the Rams were downing Northern, Williamsport was battling with Allegany to take a 45-42 win. That action set up Saturday's region title game, which pitted SHS and Williamsport against each other for the second straight year in the regional playoffs. Southern led through most of last year's semifinal contest, but faltered at the end as the Wildcats rallied to take a 48-47 win.

"The motivation to get to the state tournament was there, but we definitely wanted to get some revenge," said Bosley.

The contest was a give-and-take battle in the early going, as the Rams found themselves up by just a 12-11 margin after one quarter, but held an all-important 12-4 rebounding advantage at that juncture. Southern was able to stretch its lead to 25-17 by the half, and with one minute to go in the third quarter, junior guard Gina Reeves sank a bucket to put the finishing touches on a 7-3 SHS outburst that gave the Rams a 46-33 lead, their largest of the night.

Southern was up 41-30 as the fourth period got under way, but the situation tightened up as the stanza dwindled down. The Wildcats mounted a rally, and, with just over a minute remaining, Liller and Gregg both fouled out within a span of 5 seconds.

Left without its starting backcourt, Stemple's squad was facing a difficult situation but rose to the occasion. "I thought we handled ourselves well, and I was definitely worried because I knew Williamsport, being well-coached as they are, was going to try to up the pressure because our two guards were on the bench," the Southern skipper said.

Bosley and her teammates responded to the challenge. The Rams sank six free throws in the last 33 seconds, and Bosley hit four of those herself over the final 27 seconds to help ice the win. "I was really nervous on the foul shots, but just blocked everything out and concentrated. We were ahead by four points or so, which is better than being down, but I did feel a lot of pressure," recalled Bosley.

"Jennifer accepted the role of ballhandler with ease, bringing the ball upcourt and drawing fouls that put her on the free-throw line. Her foul shooting under that kind of pressure was just incredible. Charlena Reeves gave us a tremendous effort as well; we moved her from forward to guard when we lost our starting guards and she rose to the challenge and showed her versatility by doing a great job of handling the ball."

Bosley recorded a team-high 15 points on the night, six of which came from the free-throw line during the final stanza. Liller had 12 points and eight rebounds, Gregg scored 10 points, Reeves had nine points and a game-high 10 rebounds, and freshman center Becca Flanagan recorded a nine-point, nine-rebound tally. Brooke Weimer scored a game-high 28 points for Williamsport (19-7), the only Wildcat to reach double figures.

Southern scored 19 points from the free-throw line to Williamsport's 11, while the Rams committed only 19 fouls (10 by Liller and Gregg) to the Wildcats' 25. The battle of the boards ended with SHS holding a 38-30 rebounding advantage.

"It was just a great effort by all our players," Stemple commented. "It's hard to single out individuals in a team performance like that, but Gina Reeves did a great job when we needed her in the first half and third quarter when we were in foul trouble.

"I think this win is a credit to our kids from the standpoint that in practice they go head-to-head against each other and they see that kind of thing every day. I know it's a different pressure-packed situation in the playoffs, but our practices help the handle that.

"I'd have to add that if the girls were to select a player of the game, I bet they'd pick Ashlee Spady, who didn't even play. She's been battling an assortment of injuries throughout the season, and broke her finger recently, but hasn't let anything get her down. She's been a leader during practices, keeping her teammates on track and really boosting their spirits and intensity," remarked the SHS coach. "It's too bad that Ashlee's injury will keep her sidelined tomorrow night, but we will rely on her leadership from the bench."

RAMS ON WAY TO STATES — The 20-5 Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team left this morning for Catonsville to take part in the Maryland Class 1A State Tournament, a trip earned when the Rams defeated Williamsport 57-49 Saturday evening to claim the West Region crown. Southern forward Jennifer Bosley (#13, shown above going up for two of her team-high 15 points) helped pace the Rams to victory with some clutch free-throw shooting in the final minute of action. Freshman guard Robbin Gregg (#15) is pictured below going high over a Wildcat defender to score a pair. The region championship victory came on the heels of last Thursday's semifinal win over Northern High. The Rams will take on the East Region champion North-Dorchester Eagles (16-7) tomorrow night at 6 p.m. in a battle that will be broadcast on 92.3 FM, "The Train." Pre-game radio coverage will get under way approximately 40 minutes prior to tip-off.

Stemple Says Rams Need To Contain Dorchester Guards

The Rams will be facing a tough 16-7 North Dorchester squad in the state semifinals tomorrow at UMBC. Skippered by third-year head coach John D'Amico, the hot-handed Eagles will bring a 12-game winning streak to bear against Southern.

North Dorchester has a pair of big, quick guards who have wreaked havoc on their Eastern Shore opponents. Ashley Warrick (5-9) and Tiffany Cephas (5-8) scored 70 percent of ND's points in the East Region title win as the seniors hit for 19 points apiece. Cephas reportedly shredded Washington High's full-court press by using her quickness to dribble unscathed through the defense. "Against a man-to-man defense, Tiffany is pretty much the best ballhandler in the Bayside Conference," D'Amico remarked afterward. "There's a lot of mismatches with her and Ashley playing."

Liller, one of the top defenders in western Maryland, and her backcourt partner Gregg will work together to contain the Eagle's potent duo. Gregg, only a freshman, will face a big test as she has drawn the assignment of covering the explosive Cephas. The Rams will spell the young guard periodically by moving Bosley into the backcourt to cover Warrick, who has a good inside game as well, while Liller switches off to take on Cephas.

"North Dorchester doesn't rely on an extremely organized attack, but they have great athletic ability that enable them to really take it to you. We've been working hard on our full-court and half-court press defenses, and I think we're quick enough to keep up with them. We hope our press can catch them off guard and break up their offensive tempo.

"They do have a noticeable advantage over us in the size department; we'll have to be ready if they post up underneath and start pushing. We've got to match up close to the basket, especially with Rashida Chester (5-9) in the frontcourt. She's an excellent player, and the Eagles are an excellent rebounding team.

"I like our balance better than theirs, however, and I think we'll be able to score against their 1-2-2 zone defense."

The Rams, both girls' and boys' squads, received a raucous send-off this morning at Southern High from their classmates, teachers, and parents. No stranger to big games, Stemple is making his fifth trip to the state tournament in 19 years of coaching the SHS girls' varsity program to a 272-136 record to date. (That doesn't include his 5th year stint as the Rams' boys' varsity head coach, which resulted in a 73-37 record and a 1976 visit to the state finals.)

"It's just a great time for Oakland and all the surrounding communities," the Rams' skipper stated. "There will be Southern fans down at College Park for the boys' game, and the good thing is that they'll be able to come over and support us at UMBC. Garrett County is just a great community, and I'm just happy to say that I'm part of it."

DIRECTIONS

Ram fans traveling from Garrett County to tomorrow night's 9 p.m. girls' state semifinal showdown at UMBC in Catonsville should take Interstate 68 east to Hancock, then follow I-70 east to I-695 (the Baltimore Beltway). Follow I-695 south toward Glen Burnie, take Exit 12 (Wilkens Avenue), and follow Wilkens Avenue west for 1/4 mile. UMBC will be on the left, and the field house is located behind the parking garage.

Southern diehards planning to make the 30-minute trek (depending on traffic conditions) from the University of Maryland's Cole Field House in College Park after watching the Ram boys' squad play their matchup(s) will want to take Rt. 193 east to Route 1 north, then take I-495 (the Washington Beltway) in the direction of Silver Spring; after 1½ miles on the Beltway, take the I-95 exit north to Baltimore. Follow I-95 to Exit 47, and watch for the ramp immediately off the exit that feeds directly into the UMBC campus.

Huskies Just Miss Second State Title; Wolf, Huber, Hayhurst Are Champions

Last year the Northern High School wrestling team won the Maryland State 1A/2A championship by the widest margin of victory in the history of the state tourney; this year the Huskies were edged out of that team title by perhaps the smallest margin in the history of the event, as they finished with a team score that was just one-half point behind the state champion, Kent County.

Coach Scott Stough and his Huskies finished with a score of 127.5 to tie for second with Hammond High and place second behind the Kent County team, which amassed 128 points. The Southern High Rams finished a respectable 10th among the 64 schools that participated in the tournament.

The Huskies also had two state champions in Blake Huber at 112 pounds and Mark Wolf at 171 pounds, while Southern's John Hayhurst won the 189-pound division. It was the second consecutive state title for both Wolf and Hayhurst, an accomplishment unmatched by any previous Garrett County wrestler. Huber had placed fourth in last year's state tournament.

Huber won the title in his weight class when he out-pointed Dan Caywood of Walkersville, 14-3, in the title bout. The victory avenged an 8-6 loss to Caywood in the regional tourney the previous weekend. Huber finished the season with a 35-3 record, and his career as a Husky with a 104-13 mark.

Wolf, who was undefeated, edged Mark Carbone of Atholton, 3-0, in the championship match of the 171-pound division. The victory gave him a perfect 37-0 mark for this season, and also the school record of 114 victories against just 20 losses. Brandon Stein held the previous record of 113 wins. Wolf allowed only one point to be scored against him in his last seven matches combined.

Hayhurst, also undefeated this season (30-0), pinned his first three opponents in the state meet and then recorded a 6-4 decision over Matt Allen of Williamsport in the title match. It was the 63rd straight win for Hayhurst, who completed his high school career with an overall record of 113-16. He missed winning his first state title by one point when he was a sophomore.

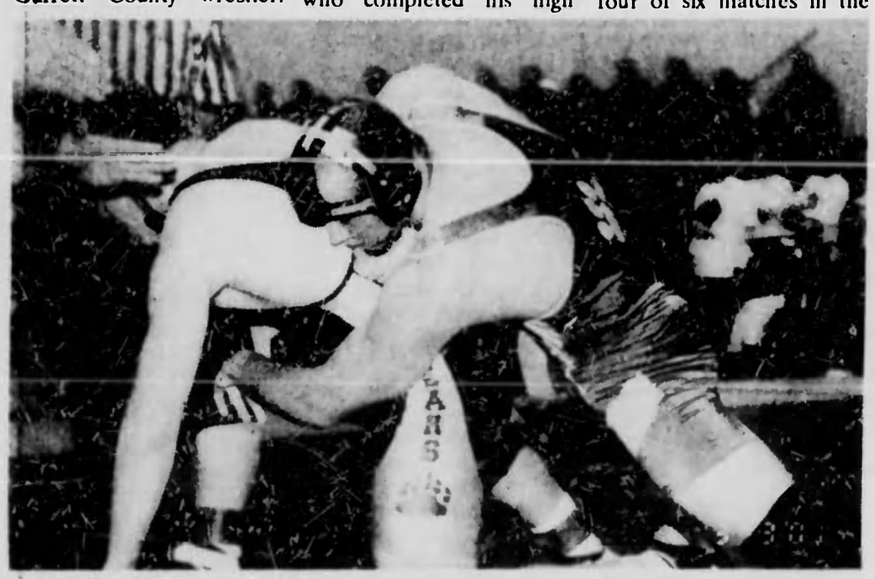
Placing second for the Huskies were reigning state champion Pete Stein and Jeremy Guard. Stein was edged in the 119-pound final, 7-5, by Brian Fox of Kent County, while Guard was defeated by Mike Blake of Kent County, 21-7, in the title bout of the 140-pound division. Stein concluded his season with a 36-2 record, while Guard finished at 33-6.

Finishing in third place was reigning state champion Brandon Kamp of Northern, who coasted to a 17-1 decision over Hammond's Marshall Porter in the consolation round of the 152-pound division. He finished the season with a 34-6 personal record.

Southern's Shawn Shifflet, a sophomore, was edged, 5-3, in the 140-pound consolation by Keller of Middletown to earn a fourth place for the Rams.

Placing fifth for the Huskies was Trey Brenneman, a junior, who won four of six matches in the heavyweight division. He completed his season with a 27-10 record.

JUST ONE-HALF OF ONE POINT kept the Northern High School wrestling team from successfully defending its 1A/2A Maryland State Wrestling Tournament team championship this past weekend at Western Maryland College in Westminster, as the Huskies finished tied for second place behind Kent County. Kent finished with 128 points, while the Huskies and Hammond High School each recorded 127.5 points. Husky Mark Wolf earned his second straight individual state title when he won the 171-pound division, while teammate Blake Huber captured the championship in the 112-pound division. Southern High's John Hayhurst also secured his second straight individual state title when he won the 189-pound division. Placing second at the state meet for Northern were Pete Stein and Jeremiah Guard. The above photo of the Northern team was taken following the Huskies' victory at the regional tournament. Pictured from left, kneeling, are: Pete Stein, Trey Brenneman, Blake Huber, and Kris Knox. Standing are: Coach Scott Stough, Jeremiah Guard, Mark Wolf, Branden Kamp, Darric Kamp, Coach Durst, and Coach Hardesty. Not present for the photo was Bill Rodeheaver.



STATE WRESTLING CHAMPIONS for the second time from Garrett County are Northern High School's Mark Wolf and Southern High School's John Hayhurst, while Northern's Blake Huber also earned a state title in last weekend's Maryland State 1A/2A Tournament at Western Maryland College, Westminster. Wolf and Hayhurst, who were both undefeated this season, are the first two Garrett County grapplers to win consecutive state titles. Wolf is pictured above in control of one of his opponents at the state meet. He ultimately decisioned Mark Carbone of Atholton High School, 3-0, in the 171-pound title bout. Hayhurst is pictured above center battling Matt Allen of Williamsport in the final bout of the 189-pound division. After pinning his first three opponents, Hayhurst decisioned Allen, 6-4. Above right, proud parents Kent and Leah Huber flank their son Blake, who whipped Dan Caywood of Walkersville, 14-3, in the finals of the 112-pound division. Most of the crowd thought Huber had Caywood pinned several times, but the referee did not see it that way. A pin would have given the Huskies the team championship for the second year in a row, but instead they were edged by one-half of one point by Kent County. Below left, Northern's Pete Stein (right) waits for the referee's whistle to start one of the periods in his final bout with Brian Fox of Kent County in the 119-pound division. Stein, a defending state champion, settled for the runner-up trophy when he was edged by Fox, 7-5. Below center, Northern's Brandon Kamp works to defeat Porter from Hammond High School, 17-1, to take third place in the 152-pound division. Below right, Husky Jeremiah Guard faces off against nationally ranked Mikey Blake of Kent County in the finals of the 140-pound division. Guard was awarded the runner-up medal after falling to Blake, 21-7. Photos courtesy of Del Carpenter.

Nathan Rickman Places Second In CAA Tourney

Nathan Rickman, a senior member of the James Madison University wrestling team, just missed earning a second trip to the NCAA national tournament, as he finished second in the Colonial Athletic Association Wrestling Championships, held this past weekend at the University of North Carolina.

A 1997 graduate of Southern High School and the defending CAA champion in the 174-pound weight class, Rickman defeated Nick Webster of George Mason University via an 11-4 decision in a semifinal bout, but was edged by Jeff Rusak of Old Dominion University in the championship clash, 5-3.

Rickman had a difficult season with the Dukes because of shoulder surgery that was required late last summer, followed by a staph infection that caused him to miss a number of meets. Nonetheless, he finished this season with a 13-9 record and earned a JMU career record of 79-42, which ranks him 14th all-time for victories at JMU.

Rickman, who holds the record number of wrestling victories at Southern High School, is a son of Jack and Norma Rickman, Oakland.

JUST MISSING A RETURN TRIP to the NCAA national wrestling tournament this season is Nathan Rickman, a senior at James Madison University, who has had to battle not only opponents on the mat this season, but also after-effects of shoulder surgery. Rickman, pictured above during one of his matches, finished second in this past weekend's Colonial Athletic Association Wrestling Championships when he was edged in the title bout, 5-3, by Jeff Rusak of Old Dominion University. The 1997 graduate of Southern High School was the defending champion in the 174-pound division. He finished his career at JMU with 79 victories, 14th best in the history of the university. Record Brown Trout Caught In North Branch

A Cumberland man caught a new Maryland freshwater state record brown trout last week.

Edward J. Martin, 23, caught a 13-pound, 7.5-ounce brown trout March 1 while fishing the Barnum area of the North Branch of the Potomac River. Martin is the first angler to set a state record in 2001.

Martin battled the 30.5-inch fish for about half an hour, while his father, David G. Martin (who, coincidentally, caught the state-record 7-pound 9-ounce cutthroat trout in May 2000), watched.

The trout took a Rapala plug on 6-pound test. Martin found the lure the day before catching the record fish.

The trout was weighed at BJ's in Savage, an official citation center, which measured 30.5 inches with a 16-inch girth.

Raymond Ferstermann of Baltimore was the previous state record holder. He caught a 12-pound 14-ounce brown trout on May 21, 2000.

'Cudas Take OT Win While Bosley, Gonder Dominate

The Oakland Recreation Basketball League action of this past Sunday featured a nail-biter overtime victory as the Barracudas nipped Patterson Boat Company 67-64, while Gonder Insurance crushed Mettiki 80-54 and Bosley Construction recorded a convincing 53-39 win over Quality Machine.

The Barracudas needed every one of the 25 points Mike Browning tossed in to take the overtime win over Patterson, while teammate Jason Shreve added 15. Patterson's output was more balanced in the defeat, with Bill Franklin scoring 22 points and Max Hill and Dave Bender scoring 18 and 16 points, respectively.

Jason Shank took day-high scoring honors as he sank 27 points during Gonder's runaway victory, while teammate Billy Braithwaite scored 22 points. Mettiki was paced by 16 points by Jon Hegman and 13, Stan Skiles.

Bosley Construction capitalized on 16 points by Tom Stem and 14 by Jerry Meyers to put the screws to Quality Machine, which was led by Mike Harvey's nine points.

This coming Sunday's Recreation League matchups feature a 6 p.m. battle between Bosley Construction and Patterson Boat and a 7 p.m. showdown between Mettiki and Quality Machine, then at 8 p.m. the Barracudas will attempt to cash in on their momentum when they go up against Gonder Insurance.

Lakers Ousted From Region XX Tourney By Hagerstown, 93-79

The 2000-01 season for the Garrett Community College Lakers was brought to an end Saturday evening by Hagerstown Community College, as the Lakers were topped by the Hawks, 93-79, in a semifinal game of the Region XX Division I championships, played at Hagerstown. Coach Dennis Gibson and his team finished, however, with one of the best Laker records ever at 23-6.

Kortaa Hall finished with a game-high 24 points for the Lakers, while Jontae Harrington recorded 19 points and 13 rebounds for a double-double, and Rob Hall netted 15 points.

Leading the Hawks in a balanced scoring effort was Cory Tabron with 19 points. Bayi Hamby and Brandon DeShields each finished with 15 points, Eric Branham produced 13, and Julius Gause contributed 11.

There were no other statistics about the contest reported.

The Hawks went on to face top-seeded and nationally ranked Allegany College in the title game on Sunday, which Allegany won, 90-70.

ALL-REGION PICKS

Three members of the GCC team — Kortaa Hall, Rob Hall, and Jontae Harrington — were named to the All-Region XX second team.

Kortaa Hall, a 6-3 freshman from Beckley, W.Va., averaged 18.4 points per outing for the Lakers. Rob Hall, a 5-11 sophomore guard from Washington, D.C., led the conference in assists with over nine per game, and also averaged 10.5 points. Harrington, a 6-6 freshman center from Norfolk, Va., averaged 15.5 points and just under nine rebounds per contest.

Lakers Open Baseball Campaign With 6-4 Loss To WVS Jayvees

The 2001 spring baseball season of Garrett Community College opened on a disappointing note for Coach Ed Wildesen and his team on Saturday, as the Lakers dropped a 6-4 decision to the junior varsity of West Virginia State in Institute, W.Va.

The Lakers took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, and stretched their advantage to 3-0 in the top of the second when Brandon Stewart smacked a two-run home run.

West Virginia State cut the lead to 3-2 in the bottom of the third, and then made it 4-3 in the fourth when starting pitcher Mike Schilling aided his own cause with a two-run homer.

GCC came back to knot the score at 4-4 with a single run in the fifth, but the home team recorded single runs in the sixth and eighth frames to secure the victory.

The Lakers were slated to play a twinbill at West Virginia Wesleyan College on Sunday, but foul weather forced postponement of that contest. Garrett is scheduled to play a doubleheader at Bridgewater College this Friday, and play a single game at Catonsville on Sunday.

SCOFIELD WINS BY A SNOWFLAKE — McHenry resident E.J. Scofield won the West Virginia Governor's Cup Ski Race last weekend at the Timberline Ski Resort, taking first place by a 15/100th-second margin over the defending champion. One of five Garrett County natives who make up the eight-member University of Maryland ski team, Scofield has been named to the 2001 All Mid-Atlantic Giant Slalom Team. His past accolades include the Top Skier award for the Allegheny Conference in 1998 and four years of All-Allegheny Conference Team honors. The Northern High School graduate is the son of Ed Scofield of Accident and Jolene Scofield of McHenry. Scofield and fellow Terrapin racers Beau and Todd Gibson, both Southern High alumni, are competing in this week's NCAA National Championship Ski Tournament in Boise, Idaho.

Little League Registration Is Rescheduled

The Grantsville Area Little League has rescheduled registration for the 2001 season, which had to be canceled this week because of severe weather. The new registration date is March 14 at the Grantsville Elementary School cafeteria from 6 to 7 p.m. Players should note that if Garrett County schools are canceled because of inclement weather, the registration will not be held that day.

Players born August 1, 1994, or after are eligible to play tee-ball. Youth born August 1, 1991, or after can register for minor league, and players born August 1, 1988, or after are eligible for Little League.

This will be the only scheduled registration for the league. Persons unable to register on March 14 may contact Greg Wilburn at 301-895-3284, Bill O'Donnell at 301-895-5657, or Mark Diehl at 301-895-3417 to make other arrangements.

Registration needs to be completed by tryouts, which will be held at the Grantsville Elementary School gym on March 16 from 6 to 8 p.m. Players need to be at tryouts by 5:45 p.m.

There is a $10 registration fee for tee-ball and minor league. The league will develop the number of teams according to the number of youth registered, and additional teams will be added if necessary.

Southern Girls' Jayvees Record 17-2 Campaign

The Southern High School girls' junior varsity basketball team completed a school record 17-win season recently under head coach Jeremy Skiles and assistant coach Monty Pagenhardt. This year's squad was the most successful JV girls' team in Southern history, based on the number of games won and the strength of the competition, according to 19-year varsity coach Don Stemple.

Two resounding victories over perennial power Tucker County, triumphs over historically successful Allegany, Fort Hill, and Keyser squads, and a road victory over Class 2A Wheaton were all significant wins during the year. The team's only losses were to the Preston County Knights and a very talented Class 2A Linganore team early in the season at Linganore.

Freshman point guard Justine Pagenhardt led the team in scoring in every game and scored a total 324 points for a 17 point average. Pagenhardt's total points scored and scoring average were both school records, and her playmaking, on-court leadership, and 83 percent foul shooting touch were noted by Coach Skiles as significant reasons for the team's success.

"Justine was expected to carry the offensive load all year," Skiles said of his main playmaker. "She wanted the ball in her hands, and she accepted this challenge on every occasion. Her teammates depended on her every game to produce, and she did not let us down despite being targeted by the opposing teams with a box-and-one defense as the year progressed. Justine will be a primary player for Lady Rams basketball over the next three years."

Casey Taylor was the catalyst for the defense, and the freshman's play often ignited the entire team. "Casey's inspirational play and hustle on the defensive end was the difference in a number of games," Skiles noted. The coach also recognized the strong all-around play of sophomore Melissa Flanagan, who, despite missing six games due to an ankle injury, played an unselfish all-around game. Pagenhardt, Taylor, and Flanagan were each moved up to the varsity for the playoffs and will suit up for tomorrow night's state varsity 1A Semifinal contest.

Freshman Sabrina Scheffel and sophomore Brittany Naylor were consistent offensive and defensive players for the team, Skiles said; and the inside play of Nina Stoner, Mandy King, and Mandi Stahl, as well as the efforts of Nicole Reeves, Roxanne Holcraft, Lori Fox, Sharon Harvey, and Missy Durst, played major roles in the team's overall success.

Varsity coach Stemple gave the junior varsity program an unqualified compliment when he remarked, "The future looks so good I may delay my retirement for a couple of years."

SHS Boys' JV Program Rolls Up 19-1 Year

The 2000-2001 Southern High School boys' junior varsity basketball season concluded recently with the young Rams recording several new benchmarks in the Southern record book. The squad got off to a 17-0 start to notch the longest winning streak in boys' JV hoops history, and concluded the year with a record 19-1 mark.

The season was "certainly one to remember," according to head coach Jim Bosley. "Our season was filled with excitement from large crowds as well as outstanding play from the individuals on this team," remarked Bosley, who coached the Rams along with assistant coach Barry Louden.

The Ram jayvees didn't taste defeat until their 18th game, when Keyser hit a 25-foot bank shot at the buzzer. Southern rebounded from the setback to win its last two games.

Dennis Tressler led the team in scoring by averaging over 16 points per game, while Matt Stephens and Nathan Fitzwater both averaged approximately 8 points and provided vital defensive work. Point guard A.J. Bender led the team in assists and steals, as well as in free throw shooting, and he and fellow backcourt player Joe Davis, who averaged approximately 6 points per contest, demonstrated their uncanny cool under pressure on several occasions during the season.

Shooting guard Davis hit a game-winning three-point pointer at Keyser to keep the winning streak alive, and he also connected on a pair of free throws at Fort Hill with 12 seconds remaining that knotted the score of that battle at 54-all. Bender then stepped to the charity stripe with 0.8 seconds on the clock to sink the game-winning foul shot that clinched the Rams' 15th win of the season.

Brent Niner and Jay Tressler added strength coming off the bench as sixth and seventh men, according to the Rams' skipper, and Adam Miller, Aaron Sines, and Chad Cerrito were also valuable players in both practice and game situations.

"This was an outstanding group of young men who were extremely fun to coach," commented Bosley. "Not only are they good kids, but they have good parents as well. This makes coaching fun, and it would be nice if all athletic teams were like this."

The Southern boys' JV program has amassed a stunning 82-18 record over the past five years, proving a fertile breeding ground for the SHS boys' varsity successes.

The grand prize for the event, a three-day stay in a lakefront home in Tidewater, Va., donated by Long & Foster/A&A Realty, will be presented to the individual who raises the most money. Individuals can compete for other category prizes in their age groupings, based on how much money they bring in. In the adult category, the winning bowlers have their choice of an off-peak pass at Wisp Resort, a two-night stay at Herrington Manor State Park in a rustic cabin, a one-year membership to Wisp Health Club, or a restaurant gift certificate package for Leone's, McClive's, Black Bear, and Deep Creek Brew Pub.

The youth prizes are for children in grades 6-12. Their prize selections feature a skateboard donated by Cumberland Electric, four free movie passes and gift certificates from Uno's restaurant and Garrett 8 Cinemas, a whitewater rafting trip for two down the Cheat Canyon donated by Precision Rafting, or free mountain biking, skiing, or snowboarding rentals from High Mountain Sports.

Children from pre-school through fifth grade will compete for a party of golf, Lazer Tag, and pizza for 10 at the Fun Zone and Smiley's Pizzeria, a free rental a month for a year from Reel Video and a pan pizza per month from Little Caesar's (pizza and a movie), a McDonaldland Party for ten, or four passes for the Western Maryland Scenic Railroad.

BBBS serves children from primarily single-parent homes between the ages of 6 and 16 in their community programs and also offers school-based mentoring at Accident and Dennett Road elementary schools.

The agency provides assistance to these families by matching a child with a special adult Big Brother, Big Sister, Big Couple or Big Lunch Buddy. The staff supervises these "matches," which give guidance and support for the volunteer and the children. The one-to-one mentoring friendship is thoroughly beneficial to the child, their family, the adult volunteer, as well as the community at large. The agency has a real need for volunteers who could share their life with a child to help to make the difficult transition to adulthood.

Team sheets need to be sent in as soon as possible so that times can be assigned to teams. The noon - 1 p.m. time slot is nearly full. Team and pledge sheets are available through the Oakland BBBS office at 105 South Second Street or at Par-Matt Lanes. Interested persons may call the BBBS office at 301-334-3591 or 800-400-0735 for further information about Bowl for Kids' Sake or BBBS volunteer opportunities and services.

seat of his truck. Several shots were fired, and Burch, who had been standing next to the bartender's vehicle, was struck in the abdomen with a single 9mm round, and died several hours later at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. None of the others were injured.

Messenger, who left the scene immediately and was arrested the next morning at his Davis, W.Va., residence, has told investigators that he had fired three rounds into the air. Garrett Bureau of Investigation detective Jeff Murphy told the court yesterday that two empty casings were located after the incident, one on the floor of Messenger's truck and the other in the parking lot. The only bullet located was the one that struck Burch.

Messenger posted a $100,000 bond after his arrest and remains free pending the GC Circuit Court trial in Oakland.

GC College To Offer Course On Body Joints

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College will offer a course on the synovial joint on Sunday, April 1, from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. This course will review types of body joints including their description, their anatomy and mechanics, pathology, and scope of practice, and will include clinical observation with manual possibilities for treatment.

The cost for Garrett County residents is $95. There is an added differential for out-of-county and out-of-state residents. Maryland senior citizens age 60 and over pay a reduced fee. This course is open to massage therapy students and practicing massage therapists as continuing education.

Practicing massage therapists will earn six Category A Continuing Education Units, and must provide proof of licensure at the time of registration. GCC is approved by the National Certification Board of Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork (NCBTMB) as a continuing education provider under Category A.

Persons wanting additional information may call 301-387-3088 or stop in at the Continuing Education and Training Division office, McHenry campus, Room 300.

College To Offer Massage Therapy Clinic For Public

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College will offer a massage therapy clinic, which is staffed by GCC's core massage therapy students. The clinic is open to the public, and is scheduled from March 19 through March 22.

In this supervised clinical setting, members of the public are invited to receive client-focused massage therapy sessions from the students. There is a $25 fee to participate.

Appointments may be scheduled through the Continuing Education and Training Division office, McHenry campus, Room 300, or by calling Carol Newman at 301-387-3088.

and abstract images, according to a company spokesperson.

Bian Dan was originally co-commissioned by Arizona State University and the Dance Center of Columbia College of Chicago and premiered in spring 2000.

For tickets and more information on the community performances, persons may contact the GLAF office at 301-387-3082, Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tickets are also available at The Gallery, located at 206 E. Alder Street, Oakland, and they will be available at the door.

This program is sponsored by Wisp Resort Hotel and Conference Center, with additional funding from sponsor partner Sincell Publishing Company Inc. All GLAF events are funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council, an agency funded by the state of Maryland and the National Endowment for the Arts.

PARTICIPATE IN WVU HONOR BAND - These members of the Southern High School band were among the many student musicians from 110 schools in a six-state region who recently participated in the annual West Virginia University Honor Band. The students were nominated by their band directors and chosen for one of three WVU honor bands on the basis of those recommendations and instrumentation needs. The weekend of rehearsal culminated with the honor bands concert, performed for the general public in WVU's Creative Arts Center in Morgantown. Pictured from left are: Brett Lambert, trumpet; Katie Richter, flute; Suzanne Gilbert, French horn; and Holly Reese, clarinet.

West Virginia Public Theatre Slates Auditions

West Virginia Public Theatre will be holding auditions for its upcoming season at West Virginia University's Creative Arts Center in Morgantown on March 25. The 2001 shows include: 1776, South Pacific, Camelot, Annie, Gypsy, Anything Goes, Fiddler on the Roof, and Carousel.

Adults and children are encouraged to audition. Singers, dancers, and characters are needed. Auditioners should come prepared to sing 32 bars of an upbeat tempo or ballad song and bring a headshot, résumé, and sheet music. Call-backs will be held the same day for reading and dance.

Auditions are by appointment only. For more information, and to schedule an audition, persons should contact Marla Freeman at 304-598-0144.

Md. Symphony Orchestra Will Perform At FSU

The Allegany Arts Council will present the Maryland Symphony Orchestra in concert Friday, March 16, at 7:30 p.m. at Frostburg State University's Performing Arts Center in the Pealer Recital Hall. "Prelude," a pre-concert talk by MSO music director Elizabeth Schulze, will begin at 6:30 p.m. A dessert reception will follow the concert.

The earlier beginning time was chosen as a "friendlier hour" for parents who may want to bring children to the concert, according to an FSU spokesperson.

This program will combine the poetry of "the perfect concerto," Mendelssohn's Concerto for Violin in E minor with bold percussion, and the majestic finale of Mahler's Symphony No. 1 in D major, "The Titan," the spokesperson said.

Grammy-nominated violinist Robert McDuffie will be the featured soloist. A Julliard graduate, McDuffie has soloed with all the major orchestras in the United States, as well as numerous orchestras abroad. He was a violinist in the compelling film score for Schindler's List, and his recording of the William Schuman Concerto for Violin and Orchestra and Leonard Bernstein's Serenade earned him a 1990 Grammy nomination.

McDuffie has been profiled on NBC's "Today," "CBS Sunday Morning," PBS's "Charlie Rose," A&E's "Breakfast with the Arts," and in the New York Times and the Wall Street Journal. He has performed four private recitals at the request of the U.S. Supreme Court. He is a member of the board of directors of the Harlem School of the Arts and resides in New York with his wife and two children.

All seats are reserved. Tickets may be purchased by calling the Allegany Arts Council at 301-777-ARTS. Tickets are $15 for students, $18 for Allegany Arts Council members, and $20 for non-members.

Award-Winning Poet To Visit Frostburg State

Nationally acclaimed poet Robin Becker will visit the campus of Frostburg State University on Monday, March 12, to present an evening reading, which is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre.

A winner of numerous awards, including a fellowship from the National Endowment for the Arts, Becker is the author of five collections of poetry. Weaving together themes of community, suicide, and love of animals, she writes about her sister's death, aging parents, and a basset hound, "legless as a walrus," that shows her "the meaning of character." In other poems, she speaks through the persona of a French painter and an Auschwitz victim to explore the complexities of sexuality and survivorship. At times humorous, poignant, and tender, the poems in her most recent book, The Horse Fair, have earned widespread praise. Becker teaches at Pennsylvania State University.

The reading is free and open to the public, and will be followed by a reception and book signing. Sponsors for Becker's appearance include the Western Maryland Writers' Workshop, the FSU Department of English, and the Office of the Provost. For more information, persons may call the Department of English at 301-687-4221.

Cruise West Takes Delivery Of Two Demaree Inflatable Boats

Demaree Inflatable Boats Inc. (DIB), a leading manufacturer of industrial grade inflatable boats and pontoons that is located in Friendsville, announced that it has delivered two 19' Ship-to-Shore boats to Cruise West, a small-ship cruise line based in Seattle, Wash. Cruise West purchased these U.S. Coast Guard approved, inflatable-hull, rigid-deck boats to ferry passengers and equipment ashore to secluded beaches in their winter and spring excursions from California to Mexico.

Each boat is powered by a single Yanmar 36 HP outboard diesel motor. With the four DIB Ship-to-Shores purchased in 1998, these two new boats bring the total to three boats stationed on the 192', 96-guest Spirit of 98 and three stationed on the 217', 102-guest Spirit of Endeavor.

Colin Leech, boat engineer for Cruise West, said, "We do a variety of trips in Mexico from Cabo San Lucas, La Paz, Loreto, and all the way up to Topa La Bampo, where we join a shore excursion going up to the Copper Canyon mines by rail. The type of people who come on our trips are more interested in getting close to beautiful scenery and learning about the wildlife, history, and local cultures than in shipboard activities such as gambling and nightclubs."

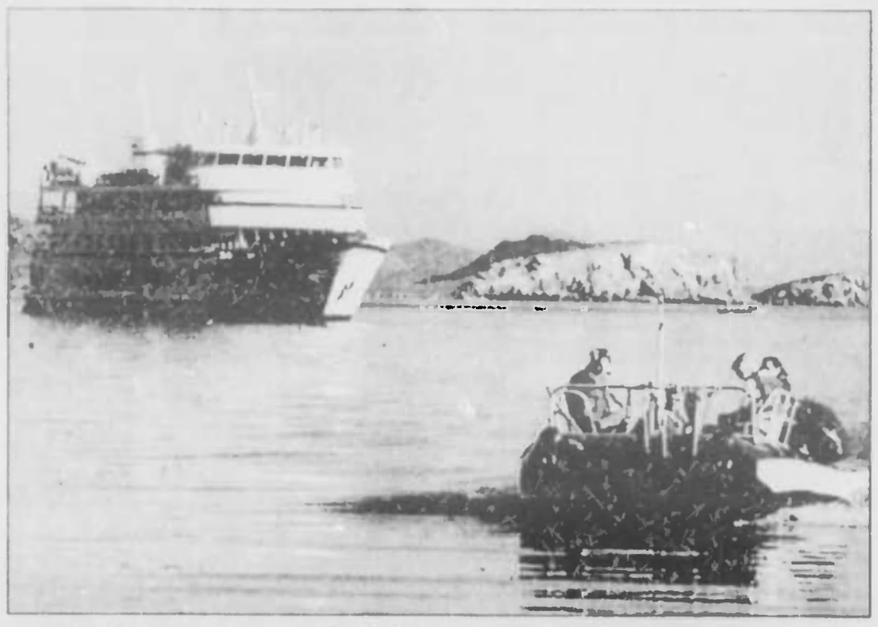
"The Ship-to-Shore boats give us the capability to ferry passengers and equipment to secluded beaches that can't be easily reached any other way. Each boat can take up to 12 passengers and two crew members, plus barbecue grills, beach chairs, umbrellas, and other equipment as needed. We store the Ship-to-Shores fully inflated on the boat decks, and then launch them by davit as needed."

Leech added, "Our boat captains have been quite pleased with the performance and durability of the first four Ship-to-Shore boats, so we didn't hesitate to call Demaree Inflatable Boats to order two additional boats."

Dave Demaree, president of Demaree Inflatable Boats, said, "Cruise West is known for offering top notch adventure travel excursions to remote locations, so we are naturally pleased with their expanded use of our Ship-to-Shore boats. The Ship-to-Shore is an extremely rugged boat that provides greater stability in shore landings and choppy seas than similar sized mono-hull designs."

The DIB Ship-to-Shore received U.S. Coast Guard certification in September 1996, making it the first hard deck, soft-hull boat certified by the U.S. Coast Guard, to carry more than six passengers to shore in U.S. waters. The Ship-to-Shore is available in two standard lengths: 19' (used by Cruise West), and 22' (preferred by some cruise lines for their larger boats).

With headquarters in Friendsville, Demaree Inflatable Boats Inc. is a custom manufacturer of industrial grade inflatable workboats, dive boats, pontoons, and rib sponsons for government and for private industry. Established in 1982 as a manufacturer of inflatables for the whitewater rafting industry, DIB has dominated sales for over 15 years of motorized inflatable pontoon boats used by outfitters on the Colorado River.



SUPPLIES BOATS TO CRUISE WEST - Demaree Inflatable Boats Inc., located in Friendsville, recently delivered two of its Ship-to-Shore boats to Cruise West, a popular small-ship cruise line based in Seattle. The 19-foot, rigid-deck boats, pictured foreground above and below, make it possible to ferry passengers and equipment to secluded beaches that can't be easily reached any other way. See story for details.

Linda Sherbin To Be Hall Of Fame Speaker

Local attorney Linda S. Sherbin will be the keynote speaker for the Garrett County Commission for Women's seventh annual Garrett County's Hall of Fame Celebration, slated for March 24.

Born in Sussex, N.J., Mrs. Sherbin received a bachelor of arts degree in history from Iowa Wesleyan College and her JD degree from University of Baltimore School of Law. She was a middle school teacher in the Baltimore City school system before her move to Garrett County in 1975.

Sherbin has the distinction of being the first woman to practice law and establish her own law practice in Garrett County. She is a partner of the law firm of Stover and Sherbin.

Sherbin is the wife of Judge James L. Sherbin, 4th Judicial Circuit of Maryland, and the mother of two sons, John and James Sherbin.

The Hall of Fame Celebration will be held Saturday, March 24, at Leone's at the Silver Tree Center, Deep Creek Lake. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m., followed by a buffet breakfast at 10. The cost is $12 for adults and $6 for children 12 and under. To make reservations, persons may call 301-387-2141.

Nimmich To Be Guest Speaker For Garden Club

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club of Garrett County will meet Tuesday, March 13, at the Point View Inn, Deep Creek Lake, beginning at 10:30 a.m. Following a short business meeting, Nancy Elizabeth Nimmich will offer a program titled "Flowering Herbs for Health and Harmony." The presentation will focus on both medicinal and culinary herbs, with ways to incorporate them into flower gardens appropriate to Garrett County's climate and environment. In addition, Ms. Nimmich will demonstrate how to make a skin salve from calendula flowers.

Nimmich moved to Garrett County in 1998 from northern Virginia, relocating her 20-year psychotherapy practice and educational services of Life Transitions. She has joined the staff of Hospice of Garrett County. Following a year's course of study on the medicinal use of herbs, she has presented workshops and retreats for women's wellness in a number of eastern and midwestern states for the last 10 years. She also grows plants organically for the production of honey, which she sells locally.

Guests are welcome to attend the meeting and are asked to make reservations for lunch by calling Barbara Sanders at 304-789-6450 or Maureen Mielenz at 301-334-5704.

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club is a member of the National Council of State Garden Clubs Inc. and the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc.

GCC To Offer Craniosacral Therapy Class

The Continuing Education and Training division of Garrett Community College will offer Introduction to Craniosacral Therapy on Saturday, March 24, and Sunday, March 25, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Craniosacral Therapy has its origins from the field of Osteopathy, and is based on balancing and realigning hydraulic and dynamic brain and spinal cord activity. This course will present an overview of techniques for release and realignment.

This course is open to massage therapy students and to practicing massage therapists as continuing education. Massage therapists will earn 12 Category A Continuing Education CEUs, and must provide proof of licensure at the time of registration. GCC is approved by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork (NCBTMB) as a continuing education provider under Category A.

The cost for Garrett county residents is $186. There is an added differential for out-of-county and out-of-state residents. Maryland senior citizens age 60 or older pay a reduced fee. For additional information, persons may call 301-387-3088, or stop at the Continuing Education and Training Division office, McHenry campus, Room 300.

Attends National Youth Leadership Forum In Capital

Oakland resident Dan Cathell attended the National Youth Leadership Forum on Defense, Intelligence and Diplomacy (NYLF/DID) recently in Washington, D.C. The Southern High School student participated in the forum with over 350 other high school juniors and seniors from across the country who have demonstrated academic achievement and interest in a career related to national security.

Cathell and his fellow forum participants learned about how the U.S. plans for peace and prepares for crisis by studying the topics of national security, diplomacy, and global defense. They met with leaders from key agencies and institutions, and visited several military installations, including the Pentagon and the U.S. Marine Corps Combat Development Command at Quantico, Va., plus the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis and the Naval Air Station at Patuxent River.

The forum culminated in a student-run simulation of an international crises involving Korea, where students assumed true-to-life roles in making decisions to resolve a fictional global situation.

"The National Youth Leadership Forum on Defense, Intelligence, and Diplomacy is designed to provide exceptional high school students a first-hand glimpse of what a career in national security is all about," said Donna Weldin, executive director of the NYLF. "Students are faced with an array of seminars, but also with a global crisis simulation to pique their interests and test their problem-solving skills. This experience will help shape their plans for the future."

Among the guest speakers for the forum was retired Marine Corps Col. H.C. "Barney" Barnum, who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for his heroic service in Vietnam in 1965. Barnum's keynote address stressed the importance of teamwork, training, and leadership.

The NYLF is a nonpartisan, nonprofit educational organization that sponsors highly specialized career-oriented programs for outstanding high school students who demonstrate leadership potential.

Cathell is the son of Carl and Kayla Cathell.

Boiling Sap Into Maple Syrup At The State Parks

On March 10 at the Swallow Falls State Park and on March 11 at Herrington Manor State Park there will be a demonstration of boiling sap into maple syrup. Information will be available on the process and on local farms that produce maple products.

Steyer Brothers, a local sugar camp operator, will be available to answer questions. Maple syrup products will be for sale from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. both days.

On Sunday, March 11, from 8:30 a.m. until 2 p.m., an "all you can eat" pancake and buckwheat breakfast will be served at the Herrington Manor concession. Adults will pay $6 and children under 12, $3.

Persons wanting further information may call 301-334-9180.

Cusack sitcom heading for ABC

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Joan Cusack

Q: You recently alluded to a midseason CBS sitcom for Joan Cusack. I can't find it anywhere in my listings. –Kathie McLaughlin, San Francisco.

A: Thanks for asking, because Cusack's new comedy series, What About Joan, actually is set to premiere on ABC, not CBS, on Tuesday, March 27, when The Geena Davis Show goes on hiatus. As previously reported, Cusack's co-stars include Kyle Chandler (Early Edition) and Wallace Langham (Veronica's Closet).

Q: I jumped with joy when you recently were able to identify the cartoon dog Snuffles. Now please help me. When my son Victor (now 37) was a child, his dad and I called him Gerald McBoing-Boing after the little cartoon boy who never spoke but constantly imitated the sounds of different things. To this day, none of our eight children has even heard of any of these cartoons. Can you convince them we are not off our rockers? –Pat Tabenske via e-mail.

A: You're definitely not off your rockers. Gerald McBoing-Boing was the creation of the esteemed Dr. Seuss, no less, and first appeared in movie theater short programs, followed by a 1956 CBS Sunday afternoon show (actor Bill Goodwin's voice interpreted Gerald's utterances).

When these episodes were repeated on Friday nights in the summer of 1958, The Gerald McBoing-Boing Show became one of primetime TV's first cartoon series, pre-dating The Flintstones by two seasons.

Q: Do you know the name of the last episode of Gilligan's Island (the one where they finally escaped from the island)? –Jeff A. Scholl via e-mail.

A: Gilligan was canceled abruptly after a CBS executive reversed an earlier renewal, which meant there was no escape episode during the regular 1964-67 run of the series. That happened in a two-part 1978 NBC special called Rescue From Gilligan's Island, which reunited the original cast except for Tina Louise. Two other reunion specials followed in 1979 and 1981.

Q: Who plays Donna in Judging Amy? –Cheryl Dare, Columbia, Tenn.

A: That's Jillian Armenante as Donna Kozlowski-Paul on Amy. The 32-year-old actress, who had a featured role in Girl, Interrupted, previously appeared in such TV shows as Northern Exposure and The West Wing, as well as a handful of minor movies.

Q: Can you name the '50s medical drama starring Richard Boone? And when did Boone die? –Bill Wilson, Columbus, Ohio.

A: Boone, who died in 1981, played Dr. Konrad Styner in Medic (NBC, 1954-56).

In Focus

Diane Farr (Dawson's Creek) and Denis Leary (Wing the Dog) star in The Job, a new sitcom set in a New York police station. It premieres Wednesday, March 14, on ABC.

Leary, who is also the show's co-creator, plays Mike McNeil, a free-spirited detective who has little patience with authority. Like most working people, he struggles to strike a balance between his job and his personal life. Farr plays sharp, gutsy Jen Lindrich, the squad room's only female detective.

Tuesday

Rick Schroder stars as Detective Danny Sorenson, a bright young cop whose on- and off-duty worlds regularly collide, in NYPD Blue, Tuesdays on ABC.

State Police Writing Fewer Speeding Tickets

by Robert Patrick
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON — Maryland State Police gave out 44 percent fewer tickets in 2000 than they did in 1997, even as traffic has increased, according to police statistics.

Police and traffic safety officials could not point to a single cause for the drop in tickets issued, but said increasing traffic congestion and a new program that targets problem areas have contributed to the drop.

Troopers "just can't go out and write tickets for the sake of writing tickets," said Lt. Clarence Bell, commander of traffic operations for Maryland State Police.

Statistics show the tickets fell 40 percent for drivers exceeding speed limits of 55 mph and higher, and they fell 49 percent drop in tickets at lower speed limits.

But police downplay the importance of the number of tickets, saying the best measure of traffic safety is the number of fatalities. Cpl. Rob Moroney, a state police spokesman, said highway deaths dropped 3 percent, from 610 to 598, between 1997 and 1999, the latest year for which figures were available.

During the same period, the number of vehicle miles traveled in the state rose by 5 percent, or 2.1 million miles, said David Buck of the Maryland State Highway Administration.

Moroney said that the increase in traffic may be one of the reasons ticketwriting has dipped. As congestion increases, he said, more and more minor accidents occur, and more of a trooper's time is taken up by attending to the accidents.

Moroney also pointed to the increasing length of rush hours in metropolitan areas of the state. He said troopers are unable to safely or effectively ticket speeders during the two or three hours of morning and evening congestion.

State police Sgt. Mike Hawkins said that congestion has made it harder for officers to work traditional speed enforcement spots — so-called "fishing holes" — because too much congestion makes it impossible for motorists to speed.

Hawkins said there are a number of new troopers on the road who have not been certified to use radar or other speed-sensing systems. He also said that a drop in federal grants may have cut into overtime funding for speeding enforcement.

Some troopers may have been diverted to other programs or priorities, such as bike patrols, DWI enforcement, or family violence programs, he said.

But both Bell and Moroney said there has been no drop in department funding or manpower during the four-year period. And Cpl. Kenny Oland said federal grants for traffic safety increased 20 percent from 1999 to 2000.

Bell said that, while there may be a drop in tickets, troopers are being utilized more effectively. Police have implemented a new program called Managing for Results, he said, which directs troopers to areas of concern, such as those with high accident or fatality rates.

But union officials said one reason for the ticket drop is that officers have too much else to do to focus on ticket-writing.

"Traffic enforcement is kind of a spare-time activity," said Sgt. David Hammel, legislative chairman of the State Law Enforcement Officers Labor Alliance. "There's only so many hours in the day."

Hammel said troopers are frequently called away from speeding enforcement to deal with minor accidents.

Troopers also face other demands for their time.

"We handle a lot of calls for service in other counties," outside the major metropolitan areas, Oland said. Hammel noted that only the "big seven" counties have their own police departments.

Hammel also pointed to the increase in the number of roads with a 65 mph speed limit, and said drivers were less likely to exceed a higher speed limit.

Myra Wieman, the Maryland spokeswoman for the American Automobile Association, said many drivers are figuring out how fast they can go without getting caught.

"I think more and more people are becoming aware of the difference between a posted speed limit and an enforced speed limit," she said.

But as traffic volume increases, it becomes even more dangerous for troopers to make traffic stops. Hawkins said congestion and the loss of shoulder areas to construction combine to increase the danger.

Hammel had other reasons to call traffic stops "the most hazardous jobs our officers can be involved with."

"When you stop a car in the middle of the night, in the middle of a cornfield...it's an eerie feeling," he said. But he said the danger has no effect on troopers' willingness to enforce speed limits.

State, County Jobless Rates Rise In January

Seasonal layoffs tempered Maryland's job market during January, according to the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation. Employment declined as anticipated, causing Maryland's unemployment rate to rise from 3.3 percent in December to 4.0 percent in January.

"It is good news that even with the expected increase in unemployment during January, Maryland's employment level was maintained at an all-time high for the month," said John P. O'Connor, secretary of the DLLR. "We remain optimistic about the strength of the state's economy because we have realized record high employment numbers over the past year."

Garrett County's jobless rate jumped over two points, from 9.3 percent in December to 11.4 percent in January, but was still below last January's rate of 12.2 percent.

Nationally, unemployment increased sharply, rising by a full percentage point from 3.7 percent to 4.7 percent. Local unemployment rates were as low as 1.7 percent in Howard and Montgomery counties, 2.4 percent in Charles County, 2.5 percent in Anne Arundel and Calvert counties, and 2.8 percent in Frederick County.

Employment declines are typical in January, with post-holiday reductions, weather-related layoffs, and semester break activity contributing to overall downsizing. During January, the number of employed fell by about 33,930 people to 2,732,379. Even with this decline, January's employment level represented the highest on record for the month. The withdrawal of seasonal workers from the labor market offset this decline somewhat, holding down January's unemployment increase to 17,471 people — an increase well below the norm for the month.

Seasonal employment declines were scattered throughout Maryland's business payrolls during January. Declines in retail trade outpaced all others as employers began to downsize following the holiday season. General merchandise/apparel stores, restaurants, and miscellaneous retail establishments were among the retailers reporting the largest employment reductions. Services, particularly business, agricultural, and amusement services, reported the need for fewer workers in January. Activity in construction began to show signs of slowing as temperatures turned colder, while break activity temporarily diminished employment in state/local government and transportation services.

Get help paying electric bills– past and present.

Have you heard about the Electric Universal Service Program? It's a State program that assists low-income Maryland residents by helping to pay their electricity bills. It can help with current bills and even past due bills as of July 1, 2000, whether you have active service now or not. The program is run by the Department of Human Resources' Office of Home Energy Programs. Eligibility is based on your household income and number of people living there.

To apply for this program, call 1-800-352-1446.

If you would like additional information on the Electric Universal Service Program, you can call 1-800-800-4491 or visit the Maryland Public Service Commission web site to request a FREE brochure. And while you're at it, request your free Guide to Electric Choice. Remember, knowledge is power

Who Should Worship?

On a vestibule bulletin board in Bronx, New York, this sign was posted: "Do come in–Trespassers will be forgiven."

Collected from a book of religious quotations compiled by Frank Mead, this quip is indeed thought-provoking. Has there ever been a time that you felt unworthy of God? If the answer is "yes", it is not surprising, for God's Word assures us that we all have sinned and come short of His glory. Yet, through the Heavenly Father's divine grace, He loves us all equally as His children and welcomes us equally to visit Him in His House each week. It has been said that God's House is not a gallery for the display of perfection but a school for the education of the imperfect.

Who should worship? You should... regularly... in your local church or synagogue. God offers forgiveness to all who seek Him.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

CUT TO THE HEART

March 11, 2001

Background Scripture: Acts 2
Devotional Reading: John 5:5-8

About 30 years ago, Marcus Bach, who wrote more than a dozen books on spirituality, told me of an incident that occurred one day when he was serving as guest speaker in a standard-brand-denomination church. For his text he had selected Acts 1:8, "You shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you" (KJV). He began to talk about his own spiritual breakthrough and experience of the Holy Spirit. "It startled the three hundred sedate church members out of their Sunday morning complacency," he said, "and they looked up at me with astonished, unbelieving eyes."

After the service, the pastor of the church took him aside for what became a shouting match. The pastor accused him of offending the sensibilities and intelligence of his congregation and Bach replied, "That's the trouble with the church. Nobody wants to offend anybody. You preach what people want to hear. You never convict anybody of sin. You never challenge your people with their need for Christ." Eventually, they agreed to disagree and the pastor ended with, "Come on, let's go and eat." * (See Marcus Bach, The Inner Ecstasy, World Publishing Co., 1969)

In one of my confirmation classes, a young man asked me why Pentecost happened 'then' and not 'now.' I'm not sure what I answered him, but I have come to realize that the Church can still experience Pentecost, although not necessarily in the same way that the early disciples experienced it, nor even as some pentecostal churches experience it today. (I am not saying theirs is not a valid experience, only that the experience does not have to be the same for all Christians.)

Conviction Of Sin

I believe one reason that Pentecost is not experienced by many Christians is that, as my friend Marcus put it, we "never convict anybody of sin." Sin is not mentioned today. (I might mention your sins, but not mine.) In the weekly "religion" section of the Dallas Morning News last week was an article by a pastor who was writing about the apparent "fall from grace" of a certain public figure. I agree with all that she said, except that she used the word "indiscretion" for what the man had done. His act, I believe, was not that of committing an "indiscretion," but a "sin." He is no less forgivable for sinning than he would be for being indiscreet, but let's call it by the right name.

We weaken our sense of responsibility when we avoid the word. A friend once told me that she didn't like the Christian preoccupation with "sin." "We make mistakes," she told me. "Our problem is usually not evil," she said, "but ignorance and I don't feel nearly so damned when I know that I have been ignorant instead of sinful." But that is the problem: the initial need is not to feel unthreatened by what we have done or been, but to experience the pain of knowing that we have failed our Lord.

Then You Shall Receive

In Acts 2, we are told, "Now when they heard this they were cut to the heart, and said to Peter and the rest of the apostles, 'Brethren, what shall we do?' And Peter said to them, 'Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins; and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit'" (2:37,38).

If the Gospel of Jesus Christ does not "cut to the heart" of you from time to time, you are not listening to the message! As the Psalmist puts it: "If thou, O Lord, shouldst mark iniquities, Lord, who could stand?" (Ps 130:2). The answer is easy: none of us! We all need to be "cut to the heart," not so that we can wallow in our sin, but that we can be freed of it, for the Psalmist assures us, "But there is forgiveness with thee."

As Peter told the throng at Pentecost, first seek the forgiveness of your sins and then "you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." Those who had been "cut to the heart" "received his word and were baptized." The writer of Acts does not tell us how these new disciples experienced the power of the Holy Spirit, except that "they devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers" (2:42).

THREE NATURAL WAYS TO CONTROL HIGH BLOOD CHOLESTEROL

Prescription medicines are available to help persons reduce high cholesterol levels. Even with use of these medicines it is important to limit intake of foods containing large amounts of cholesterol and foods that contain saturated fat. Therefore, one "natural" way to reduce cholesterol is through attention to diet.

Another natural approach to cholesterol control involves the daily use of the fiber supplement psyllium. This fiber can reduce cholesterol by as much as 20%. Psyllium apparently interferes with absorption of fats into the bloodstream from the intestine. Another natural approach involves using garlic extracts in supplement form. Many studies have shown a significant drop in cholesterol among garlic extract users.

Think back to the 18th century and imagine the smells that must have existed in a society with little plumbing, no refrigeration for food and a tradition of infrequent bathing and laundering. To mask the odors, homemade pomanders, powders, scented waters and potpourri were used. Concoctions of lavender, rosemary, sage, mint, garlic, wormwood, rue, cinnamon, clover and nutmeg were mixed with vinegar to create a fresh smell.

The pungent liquids were kept in small enameled boxes, glass or ceramic urns, and bottles. Tiny silver or gold boxes held sponges soaked in these liquids. Large containers of the mixtures were kept open in a room, and small ones were carried to be sniffed when needed.

By the 19th century, small porcelain bottles that looked like figurines — perhaps a shepherdess or a gentleman — were popular as scent holders. The figure's head was the stopper. Many of the major potteries, including Chelsea, Wedgwood, Jacob Petit, Sevres and Rockingham, created the small bottles, each less than 2 inches tall. Today they are prized by collectors of perfume bottles as well as those who admire the intricate designs of the porcelain makers.

Q: My husband bought a full-size bed at an auction. The auctioneer described it as a "sleigh bed." My husband won't tell me what he paid, but it doesn't resemble a sleigh in any way. What is a sleigh bed?

A: A sleigh bed resembles an old-fashioned horse-drawn sleigh. The headboard and footboard are the same height, or close to it. Both boards are curved out from the bed and are topped by curved, rounded rails. The sizes of sleigh beds vary, but many were twin-size and were used as daybeds. Sleigh beds were popular from the early- to mid-1800s. The bed your husband bought might not be a sleigh bed, but if you like the bed, thank him and don't ask what he paid for it.

Q: Our 16-year-old Chihuahua has just been diagnosed with Cushing's disease. Our vet did a blood panel to see why he was stumbling around and drinking so much water. If there is anything you could tell me I would be so grateful. We have had him since he was 5 months old.

A: I'm so glad you took your pet to see the veterinarian when he began to show those symptoms. Cushing's disease is often not diagnosed for several years after its onset.

Cushing's disease, or hyperadrenocorticism, is a serious condition in which either the adrenal or pituitary gland kicks into high gear, secreting large amounts of hormones. In more than 80 percent of cases, it's caused by growth of a tumor on the pituitary gland, a tumor on the adrenal gland is the culprit in the other 20 percent.

Both dogs and cats can be affected and it is primarily a disease of pets at middle age or older. Several noticeable symptoms appear: excessive drinking and urination, and hair loss are the most common. Pets may also develop an increased appetite and a pothellied appearance, wasting muscles can cause weakness and stumbling. Many owners don't notice a problem for some time because these symptoms appear gradually.

The blood panel your veterinarian performed helped confirm the diagnosis.

So, what is your role in your little friend's treatment? First, make certain he takes the medication prescribed by the vet. Feed your dog a balanced diet (avoid table scraps and other "people food"). The vet may also recommend supplements to help him recover.

Regular daily exercise is also important. Start slowly with short walks of about 5 minutes or so. He's a very small dog, so don't walk him until he's exhausted. Play with him, but gently, as his muscles rebuild.

• If you think the winter weather is bad this year, consider this: In 1888, a blizzard dumped 40 inches of snow on the East Coast.

• Gilligan of "Gilligan's Island" at one time had a first name. Most people don't know it, though, because it was only used once, on the never-aired pilot show. His first name was Willy.

• The next time you take a break and fix yourself a cup of coffee in your office's break room, remember this: Non-dairy creamer is flammable.

• The life span of a taste bud is 10 days. So why don't your tastes change as your taste buds do?

Thought for the Day: "I occasionally play works by contemporary composers and for two reasons: First to discourage the composer from writing any more and secondly to remind myself how much I appreciate Beethoven." — Jascha Heifitz

Frostburg State Open House Set For Saturday

The Frostburg State University Office of Admissions has scheduled an open house information session for prospective students for this Saturday, March 10.

The open house will convene in the FSU Lane Center Lobby at 9:30 a.m. for registration and refreshments. Welcoming remarks will be offered at 10:30 a.m., followed by consultation sessions with departmental representatives at 11 and 11:30 a.m. A walking tour of the campus with visits to the residence halls will be available at noon. A brunch will then be served at 1 p.m. in the Chesapeake Dining Hall.

For information and registration, persons may contact the FSU Office of Admissions at 301-687-4201.

Earn Gold Level In Performance

Steve and Lisa Brenneman, owners of Unique Decor in Oakland, attended the Hunter Douglas Window fashions shop in Frederick, and have successfully reached the gold level of performance toward their Products and Performance Degree available from the Hunter Douglas Window Fashions Institute. This all-day seminar and workshop displayed and detailed all the newest and latest designs in window treatments. Product design, installation, warranty information, and care and cleaning were among the many topics discussed.

This will make the third level that the Brennemans have achieved. Having already earned the bronze and silver level, the gold level is the final phase before reaching the platinum level and earning their degree. They plan to continue to this final level.

Become Certified Paint Consultants

Charles Beck, Mike Brady, Rob Ford, Kathy Frantz, Janna Naylor, and Debra Taylor from Naylor's True Value Hardware, Oakland, have earned the title of certified paint consultant, which indicates expertise in the field of paint coating and application.

The six were awarded certification on January 23 after passing a comprehensive test covering customer relations, coating knowledge, and product application. The test is based on a coating training package, the Certified Paint Consultant Program, developed by Paint and Decorating Retailers Association. The program was developed to provide professional advice and instruction to the new consultants' coatings customers.

In addition, four associates from Naylor's Hardware stores in Frostburg, Kingwood, and Cumberland also received the certified paint consultant title on that date.

These seminars are held throughout the United States and Canada, sponsored by the Paint and Decorating Retailers Association.

Lifeguard Course Being Offered By Red Cross

The American Red Cross will sponsor a lifeguard course at the Wisp Ski Resort pool March 16-25. This is a class designed to train good swimmers to become lifeguards at pools and beaches. The course enrollment will be limited, and pre-registration is necessary.

Instruction will be held on the following dates and times: Friday, March 16, 3 to 9 p.m., classroom, Saturday, March 17, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., classroom and pool; Sunday, March 18, 1 to 9 p.m., classroom and pool; Monday, March 19, 3 to 6 p.m., pool; Tuesday, March 20, 5 to 8 p.m., pool; and Sunday, March 25, 6 to 9 p.m., pool.

Anyone wishing to enroll must be at least 15 years of age and have good swimming skills. To register, persons may call either 301-387-2570 or 1-800-361-9481, extension 302. The deadline for registration is Thursday, March 15.

Amateur Radio Licensing Exams To Be Given

Local amateur radio operators in Garrett County will be offering Amateur Radio Licensing exams for all classes of amateur radio licenses.

The exams will be held Saturday, March 17, starting at 9 a.m., in the meeting room of the Oakland Town Hall, along Third Street. The examination fee is $10.

Persons interested in taking the exam or obtaining additional information may call 301-387-6167 or e-mail k3wj@arrl.net.

THE BIBLE AS VIEWED from the pew. As time allows, this column will be titled the same way and will be prepared by the same person, using the same email address indicated below. There is one purpose for this- to bring the reader closer to the sole purpose of living, which is to make a decision to know Jesus as LORD and Savior, which in turn leads one to eternity with Him. The alternative is eternity in darkness.

100 years hence, the only important decision you have made during life will be "What did you do with Jesus?" If you never accepted Him as LORD and Savior, then it means you did nothing with Him. So--while you have a chance to come to know Him, you may turn to the Bible and find He is the Way, the only Way to heaven. (John 14:6) & other verses too.

GEARING UP for the third annual Relay for Life to benefit the American Cancer Society is the Browning family team, known as the "Melanoma Militia," which is pictured above. The next team captains' meeting for the 2001 relay is scheduled for next Tuesday, March 13, at 6:30 p.m. in the Continuing Education building of Garrett Community College. The Browning team will participate again this year, according to a family spokesperson. The relay is slated for June at the Southern High School track. Members of the team pictured above include, kneeling, from left: Dave Browning, Austin Browning, JoAnn Lewis, and J.C. Cramer. Standing are: Esther Trautwein, Bill Henderson, Teresa Browning, Riff Browning, Bethany Browning, Juanita Browning, Tom Browning, Eric Browning, Nancy Browning Lewis, Rick Lewis, and Stacy Lewis. Not present for the photo were Rebecca Browning, Mike Browning, and Buck Trautwein. The team participates in memory of Brian P. Browning, who died of melanoma at the age of 34 in 1998.

State Rapidly Draws Down Welfare Surplus, Leaving Advocates Anxious

by Elizabeth Cogan
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON — Maryland will nearly wipe out a $100 million surplus in federal welfare funds by the end of this fiscal year and could slip into the red next year unless spending is curbed, according to an analysis of the welfare budget.

The state's welfare surplus will plummet from as much as $103.7 million — the amount in federal coffers last September — to $11 million by June 30, according to the General Assembly's Department of Legislative Services and federal data.

Without some adjustments, the state projects a welfare deficit of $19.5 million by the end of the next fiscal year.

Maryland and other states have accelerated their welfare spending since 1999, when Congress threatened to take back about $4 billion in unspent federal funds.

"We're not going to leave a lot in the federal treasury," said Rich Larson of the state Department of Human Resources. "We're going to pretty well take that down."

Maryland has funneled its money to an expanded child-care subsidy and to set up a contingency fund, among other uses.

The drop marks a departure from recent years, when Maryland had surpluses of about $130 million in its federal welfare account, according to David Romans, an analyst with the Department of Legislative Services.

Maryland and other states accumulated large surpluses after 1996, when a booming economy and sweeping welfare reform drove many of the nation's poor from the welfare rolls.

States receive the same amount from the federal government each year, whether the rolls grow or shrink, as long as they maintain a certain level of state spending.

Maryland's yearly grant totals $229.1 million. But its rolls have fallen nearly 68 percent since 1995. According to the state's budget overview for fiscal 2002, it will pay nearly $200 million less in cash grants to welfare recipients than it did in 1996.

So the state has found other ways to spend the money, partly to keep it out of federal hands.

In September 1999, Gov. Parris Glendening added $70 million to the child care subsidy program for poor families, according to published reports. This year, the state took $30 million from its federal welfare grant to pay for nine traditionally state-funded programs, including a school drop-out prevention program. It used the savings from the state program for a "rainy day" fund.

"We want to make sure that the money is spent but also make sure that it is wisely spent on the poor, said Larson.

"We may disagree about the amount and we may disagree about what the money is used for, but no one will disagree that it is better that the money is in Maryland's control...than the United States Congress," he said.

But some advocates and state officials are concerned that the pendulum may have swung too far. They fear that Glendening may have underestimated next year's welfare caseload.

"We are concerned that the governor's budget insufficiently provides for welfare, and there's a limit as to how much you can draw down from other sources," said Delegate Samuel Rosenberg, D-Baltimore, and chairman of a House subcommittee that oversees welfare appropriations.

And some advocates say that too much of the money has simply been parked in other accounts, unavailable to the needy families for whom it was intended.

While they agree it is prudent to hedge against an economic downturn, they say the crisis is now for many of Maryland's poor. The money "needs to be put to more active use," said Steve Hill, director of the Maryland Budget and Tax Policy Institute.

"On the one hand, it's very responsible of the state to create this rainy day fund," Hill said. But "for many families in Maryland right now, it's pouring, so it could be used right now."

Soybean Checkoff Provides Funding For Cover Crop Study

by Sandy Davis, Executive Director, Maryland Soybean Board

Suppose, in the fall, you planted a cover crop with the ability to put out a tap root deep into the soil, deep enough to penetrate compacted subsoil layers.

Come the following growing season, would the roots of soybeans follow the root channels created by the tap-rooted cover crop when those compacted subsoils are relatively hard and dry?

A University of Maryland soil scientist, with the support of the Maryland Soybean Board, intends to find out.

Dr. Roy Weil's request for $8,750 was one of 10 projects approved for 2001/2002 checkoff funding by the Maryland Soybean Board in a series of meetings in February. The board administers the national soybean checkoff program in the state.

Dr. Weil said that on a July 2000 trip to Brazil he was impressed by the fact that Brazilian growers "take cover crops very seriously" and that many producers there use tap-rooted cover crops such as forage radish.

In his studies here he will use three brassicas—canola, oilseed radish, and forage radish. The "control" will be rye, the more typical crop here. "We hypothesize," he said, "that the taproots of the radish cover crops will be able to penetrate the compacted layer during the winter when the compacted soil is wet and relatively soft. Later decomposition of the cover crop taproots will provide channels in the soil, thereby increasing transmission of water and air through the soil and providing easy pathways for the improved root growth of the following soybean crop."

Here's a summary of other projects approved for funding.

• $5,700 to Cyndi Reeser, lead nutritionist at the George Washington University Lipid Research Clinic in Washington, D.C., for a multifaceted soyfoods education project in Montgomery County. Among other activities, Reeser will conduct educational and cooking demonstrations of soybean foods for youth, parents and adult leaders at seven county 4-H events prior to the county fair. At the fair, she'll conduct a soy cooking contest with divisions for both youth and adults, and follow that up with a half-hour video, titled "Delitetful Cooking," to air on Montgomery County public access television. Reeser lives in Montgomery County and has been associated, as an exhibitor, at the county fair for eight years.

• A total of $10,500 to Dr. Ron Ritter, Extension weed control specialist at the University of Maryland, for projects at $3,500 each. With the funding, Dr. Ritter will continue his investigation of weed control systems for use with genetically engineered soybeans. For example, he has said, "Roundup has a wide spectrum of weed controlling ability but not on all weeds. Also, things like timing of application, the use of surfactants, whether or not tank-mixing with other products will cause antagonism, and the role inclement weather plays on these products have to be examined."

The board also funded the second year of a planned three-year evaluation by Ritter of how to control newly introduced grass species, particularly broadleaf signalgrass, plantain signalgrass, and Texas panicum, in Maryland soybean fields. In the third study, Ritter will launch a planned three-year evaluation of how to manage some hard-to-control weeds that have begun to show up in soybeans which have been planted continuously or in rotation with small grains. His focus will be on black nightshade, spurred anoda, giant ragweed and burcucumber. Ritter has indicated that what he calls "a shift in the weed spectrum" has occurred over the past 10 years in soybean fields across the state. Why the shift? "First, part of the blame must go to the herbicide chemistries that have been used," Ritter said. "Second are the germination patterns of these weeds, "which often continue to germinate until frost.

• $7,000 to Dr. Robert Kratochvil, University of Maryland Extension field crop specialist, who will undertake a three-part study. Principally, he will evaluate the effect of a fungicide seed treatment on two varieties of Roundup Ready soybeans planted both early and at the normal planting date and, likewise, the effect of seeding rates on the performance of four Roundup Ready varieties. Also, concurrently, Dr. Kratochvil, together with soybean breeder Dr. Wilham Kenworthy, will continue to look at edible soybean cultivars and their market potential.

• $6,000 to Carol Holko, a researcher at the Maryland Department of Agriculture, who will continue her efforts to mass-breed and establish a new pupal parasite, a known enemy of the corn earworm. Holko reported that releases by MDA or more than 7,300 of the parasitic wasps in 1999 and 2000 have "laid the foundation for a successful establishment program in Maryland" and that, based on year 2000 lab production records, an additional 10,000 or more wasps may be available for release this year.

• A total of $23,030 to Dr. Kenworthy for two projects: $12,900 to continue, along with soybean breeders in five other states, the search for low saturated fat and low linolenic soybean cultivars; and $10,130 to conduct and administer the annual soybean variety trials, always alert to plants which exhibit resistance to the cyst nematode. In the first study, Kenworthy is joined with his colleagues in Georgia, Indiana, Minnesota, North Carolina and Tennessee in a research effort begun in 1994. The major emphasis is on reducing plasmatic acid, the predominant saturated fatty acid in soybean oil, and reducing acid to enhance flavor stability while selecting for increased oleic acid.

• $5,680 to Dr. Mark Holland, research biologist at Salisbury State University, who for five years, with Maryland Soybean Board support, has been investigating the effects of the so-called "pink bacteria" on the germination, development and yield of soybeans. While there is evidence that the bacteria acts to spur growth and development and increase yields, much of the work has been done in the lab. This year, the soybean board directed that Holland work with Ron Mulford, veteran manager of the Poplar Hill Research Station, near Salisbury, to test the bacteria in the field under control conditions.

No. Of Farm Workers Down, Wage Rates Up

There were 841,000 hired workers on the nation's farms and ranches the week of January 7 through 13, 2001, down 2% from a year ago.

There were 678,000 workers hired directly by farm operators. Agricultural service employees on farms and ranches made up the remaining 163,000 workers. Migrant workers accounted for 10% of the January hired workforce, compared with 7.7% last year.

Farm operators paid their hired workers an average wage of $8.65 per hour during the January 2001 survey week, up 55 cents from a year earlier. Field workers received an average of $7.71 per hour, up 46 cents from last January. Livestock workers earned $8.09 per hour compared with $7.61 a year earlier. The field and livestock worker combined wage rate was up 48 cents from last year.

The number of hours worked averaged 36.9 hours for hired workers during the survey week, compared with 38.4 hours a year ago.

The largest increases in number of hired farm workers over last year occurred in the Southern Plains (Oklahoma and Texas), Appalachian II (Kentucky, Tennessee, and West Virginia), and Northeast I (New England and New York) regions. In the Southern Plains region, unusually cold weather providing limited wheat pasture for grazing caused an increase in livestock workers needed to help ranchers move cattle to appropriate feeding areas.

Nursery work was also active in the region. In Appalachian II, additional workers were needed primarily for tobacco stripping and extra livestock maintenance because of the harsh weather in December. Favorable weather in Northeast I allowed for pruning orchards and vineyards. Other activities in the region included packing and grading fruits and vegetables from storage, additional nursery work, caring for livestock, and general farm maintenance.

The largest decreases in number of hired farm workers from a year ago were in the Delta (Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi), Corn Belt II (Iowa and Missouri), and Lake (Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin) regions.

Farmers in part of the Delta region were recovering from ice storms and snow in the weeks leading up to the survey. Weather during the survey week was mostly damp and cool, prompting farmers to use fewer workers. In Corn Belt II, unfavorable weather allowed for little farm work during the survey week.

Farmers were dealing with rain and snow by week's end primarily in western areas of the region.

In the Lake region, farm activity was limited to general farm maintenance and livestock work.

Hired farm worker wage rates were generally above a year ago in all regions. The largest increases occurred in the Corn Belt II, California, Appalachian I (North Carolina and Virginia), Corn Belt I (Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio), and Northern Plains (North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas) regions. The higher wages in these regions were generally attributable to fewer seasonal workers on the payroll.

Maryland Milk Production Down

Maryland dairy operators produced 328 million pounds of milk during the October-December quarter, down 5% from the same quarter a year earlier.

There were 82,000 head, 3,000 fewer than a year earlier. Yield per cow at 4,419 pounds increased 13 pounds, from a year earlier. The quarterly production of milk for the U.S. was 40.9 billion pounds, 1.1% above the October-December period last year.

The average number of milk cows in the U.S. during the October-December quarter was 9.25 million head, 80,000 head more than the same period last year.

U.S. Sheep & Lamb Inventory Given By MASS

The inventory for all sheep and lambs in the United States on Jan. 1, 2001, according to the Maryland Ag Statistics Service (MASS), totaled 6.92 million head, down 2% from 2000 and 4% below two years ago.

Inventory has declined since 1942 when it reached a peak of 56.2 million head.

Breeding sheep inventory declined to 4.93 million head on Jan. 1, down 5% from 5.16 million head on Jan. 1, 2000. Ewes one year old and older, at 4.06 million head, were 4% below last year.

Market sheep and lambs on Jan. 1 totaled 1.99 million head, up 6% from Jan. 1, 2000. Market lambs comprised 96% of the total. Twenty-four percent were lambs under 65 pounds, 18% were 65 to 84 pounds, 24% were 85 to 105 pounds, 30% were over 105 pounds, and 4% were market sheep.

Maryland Cattle Numbers Compared To Past Years

The Jan. 1, 2001, number of all cattle and calves on Maryland farms at 235,000 head was 4% below January 2000, reported the Maryland Ag Statistics Service (MASS). The number of cows being milked declined 4,000 head, while dairy replacement heifers increased 1,000 over last year.

Beef cows declined from 41,000 in 2000 to 37,000 by Jan. 1, 2001. Beef replacement heifers were 1,000 head below 2000.

Heifers and steers over 500 pounds intended for slaughter decreased from 31,000 in 2000 to 25,000 in 2001. The 2000 calf crop was 101,000 head, down 4,000 from the number of calves born in 1999.

All cattle and calves in the United States on Jan. 1, 2001, were 1% below 2000 and 2% below 1999. All cows and heifers on hand that previously calved totaled 42.6 million, only slightly below 2000 and 1% below January 1999.

Beef cows were down 1%, but milk cows increased slightly. Both beef replacement heifers and milk replacement heifers were up. Steers and heifers over 500 pounds intended for slaughter were also below the 2000 inventory level.

All stock under 500 pounds (calves) were 4% below a year ago, even though the 2000 calf crop was only slightly below 1999 (and 1998). The 2000 calf crop was estimated at 38.6 million head, down slightly from both 1999 and 1998.

Calves born during the first half of the year are estimated at 28.4 million, down slightly from both 1999 and 1998.

The number of operations with cattle totaled 1.08 million during 2000, down 2% from 1999 and 4% below 1998. Beef cow operations in 2000 were down 2% from 1999 and 3% below 1998. Milk cow operations were 5% below last year and 10% below two years ago.

Maryland Ag Prices Improve Slightly In Jan.

Prices received by Maryland farmers made further, slight gains during January, reported the Maryland Ag Statistics Service (MASS).

Soybeans, apples and hay were exceptions among crops.

Livestock prices also improved, except for hogs and eggs. However, even with declines, eggs and hogs were more valuable than a year ago.

Even with improvement Maryland grain prices were below the average for the U.S.

Milk, cattle, and egg prices were better than corresponding U.S. average prices for January.

The United States index of all farm products declined 2 points from December. Lower prices for eggs, cotton, hogs and soybeans were only partially offset by higher prices for cattle, tomatoes, milk and strawberries. Prices farmers paid for products were generally unchanged from December, but were 4 points above January 2000.

GRANNY SMITH TOMATO

You probably have enjoyed the Granny Smith apple, so now you fried green tomato lovers will have a real treat with the new Granny Smith tomato. This new tomato will be available that stays green, stays hard for slicing or dicing green, but has the ripe sugars and acids for flavor. It was bred for making the best tasting fried green tomatoes you ever tried — we are talking mouth-watering flavor here! Also, nowadays there is increasing interest in Mexican dishes such as salsa and salsa verde. Fruit of this new variety can be diced or sliced when it's full of flavor at green ripe without making a mushy mess. Fruit of this new variety may prove to be an excellent substitute for tomatillos for use in preparation of Mexican dishes. When it reaches peak flavor there will be only a tinge or a spot of pale yellow that will begin to show either somewhere on the shoulder or near the bottom of the fruit.

Both of this hybrid's parents were bred for extended shelf life, so the mature, ripe but green fruits will keep and keep and keep (note: this is not a GMO genetically modified variety). All through this region and beyond, folks still love their good ole "tried green tomatoes," a traditional dish. Picking red fruited varieties at their mature green stage creates bland-tasting, even bitter fruit, not what your taste buds are craving! For enterprising commercial wholesale growers or for retail farmers market growers, an attractive poster placed near each tomato display of this new variety could tell how to make fried green tomatoes using this new Granny Smith tomato (that's what it has just been named). Farmers Market vendors might even grill or fry up some Granny Smith tomatoes to serve retail customers samples right on the spot! The fruit, are very solid, dense and firm. Don't worry, slices will hold together on the grill!

Maturity is early (72 days); vines are semi-determinate, bearing loads of large, 8 to 10 oz. smooth fruits with uniform green shoulder development. Granny Smith tomato has good resistance to Verticillium and Fusarium Wilts, and to Stemphylium or Gray Leaf Spot and to Alternaria Stem Canker. It can be grown on the regular string weave trellis or in cages like your other standard varieties.

Wye Angus Bull Sale on April 7 at Frostburg via Satellite

For the first time ever, the annual Wye Angus/Maryland Central Bull Test sale will be delivered live in interactive downlink by satellite at the Appalachian Environmental Lab in Frostburg. Beef producers from around our area can experience the live sight and sound, as well as participate in the 2001 sale. Sale catalogs will be available, and we will be on hand to facilitate the bidding and assist you in any purchase. As an added bonus, we will provide free delivery of all animals purchased through the sale site in Frostburg.

In preparation for the April 7 sale, there will be a bull evaluation and selection workshop on Wednesday, March 14, 7 to 9 p.m. at the Appalachian Environmental Lab. Sale catalogs will be available and the topics to be covered are the following:

1. The job description of a bull.
2. The role of performance testing.
3. Essential measures of bull performance.
4. Making sense of the data and catalog.
5. Choosing a bull.
6. What's a good bull worth.
7. Use and care of your new bull.
8. Sale specific issues and questions.

Reservations are necessary and can be made by calling my office at 301-334-6960. Directions to the lab will be sent to you following the reservation.

MASS Reports On State Crop Production

Maryland corn, soybean, and hay production increased in 2000, according to the Annual Crop Production Report released by the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service (MASS). Information for the report was gathered from over 800 Maryland farmers.

The 2000 corn for grain yield averaged 155 bushels per acre based on reports on Dec. 1, 2000, unchanged from the November forecast, and increased 62 bushels per acre above 1999's yield of 93 bushels per acre. This year's corn for grain yield is the highest on record. Corn production totaled 62.8 million bushels, up 88% from 1999's production of 33.5 million bushels. Corn for grain was harvested on 405,000 acres. Corn for silage production was estimated at 1.4 million tons, 27% more than for 1999. Corn for silage was harvested from 70,000 acres in 2000.

Soybean production is forecast at 22.1 million bushels, up 44% from last year and the highest production level on record. Yield is estimated at 43 bushels per acre, also a record high, up 11 bushels from 1999's final estimate of 32 bushels per acre. Soybeans were harvested from 515,000 acres, 35,000 acres more than for 1999.

Alfalfa hay production for 2000 is estimated at 286,000 tons, up 70% from 1999's production level of 168,000 tons. Alfalfa hay yield was estimated at 4.4 tons per acre, up 1.6 tons per acre from 1999. All other hay yield averaged 2.5 tons per acre, up 0.1 tons per acre from a year ago. All other hay production totaled 425,000 tons, an increase of 18% from 1999's level.

Corn for grain production across the United States is estimated at 9.97 billion bushels, up 6% from 1999, and is the second largest crop behind 1994's record production of 10.1 billion bushels. Production is down 1% from the Nov. 1 forecast because of lower than expected yields realized in the heart of the Corn Belt as well as increased abandonment in the central Plains and Southeast. The U.S. grain yield of 137.1 bushels per acre is up 3.3 bushels from 1999 and is the second largest yield on record.

U.S. soybean production in 2000 totaled 2.8 billion bushels, down slightly from the Nov. 1 forecast, but 4% above 1999. The 2000 production is the highest on record followed by 1998's crop of 2.7 billion bushels. The average yield per acre in 2000 is estimated at 38.1 bushels, 0.1 bushel below the Nov. 1 forecast and is 1.5 bushels above the 1999 yield.

Acres planted to winter wheat in Maryland for harvest in 2001 is forecast at 190,000, down 30,000 from 2000 planted acres, and down 25,000 acres from 1999.

Across the U.S., planted area for harvest in 2001 is estimated at 41.3 million acres. This is down 5% from 2000 and is the lowest level since 1971. Seeding started last August in the Pacific Northwest, some Mountain states, and Minnesota, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Progress was slow across most of the U.S. due primarily to dry soil conditions. Seeding should finish some time during February in California. About 98% of the U.S. acreage was seeded by Dec. 1.

Nutrient Applicator Training Sessions Now Available

The Maryland Nutrient Management Program has announced that a series of nutrient applicator training workshops will be offered through Maryland Cooperative Extension at locations throughout the state during the next several months.

Farmers who own or manage 10 or more acres of agricultural land and apply their own nutrients are now required by law to attend a two-hour Maryland Department of Agriculture sponsored education program on nutrient application once every three years.

The Extension workshops meet this requirement, and participants will be issued a voucher once their attendance has been verified. For more information, those interested may call Mike Webster at 410-841-5959 or contact their local Cooperative Extension office.

Maryland 2000 Fruit Production Is Reported

Maryland fruit growers produced 31 million pounds of apples in 2000, 19% less than the 38 million pounds produced in 1999, reported Ray Garibay, statistician with the Maryland Ag Statistics Service.

Utilized production totaled 30 million pounds, 11% below 1999's 38 million pounds. The season average price for utilized production was 15.1 cents per pound, up from 9.4 cents per pound in 1999.

The value of Maryland's utilized production for 2000 was $4.5 million, compared with $3.6 million in 1999.

Maryland peach growers produced 9 million pounds of peaches in 2000, up 2% from 1999. The season average price for the 2000 peach crop was 39.8 cents per pound, compared with 47.1 cents for the 1999 crop.

The value of the utilized production totaled $3.6 million, down 14% from the $9.1 million for 1999.

United States utilized apple production for 2000 was estimated at 10.3 billion pounds, down 1% from the 1999 level. Production in western states increased as a result of favorable spring growing conditions but was more than offset by production decreases in central and eastern states.

Utilized peach production in 2000 was estimated at 2.52 billion pounds, up 4% from last year and 8% above 1998.

Vegetable Production Decreases

Maryland fresh market vegetable production decreased 12% in 2000, according to the Maryland Ag Statistics Service.

Production of major vegetable commodities totaled 2.3 million hundredweight (cwt.), down from 2.61 cwt. in 1999.

Cucumber, green pea, strawberry, tomato, and watermelon productions were down, while production of all other crops remained unchanged or increased.

Yields of lima beans, cabbage, cantaloupes, sweet corn, greens, pumpkins, spinach, squash, turnips, and watermelons all increased from the previous year.

Harvested acreage also decreased 2% from 1999, totaling 29,380 acres.

Turkey Eggs In Incubators Up From Last Year

Turkey eggs in incubators on February 1 in the United States totaled 31.8 million, up 3% from February 1 a year ago.

Eggs in incubators were up 1% from the January 1 total of 31.7 million. Regional changes from the previous year were: East North Central, up 1%; West North Central, up 8%; North and South Atlantic, up 3%; South Central, down 12%; and West, up 8%.

The 25.5 million turkey poults placed during January 2001 in the United States were up 3% from the number placed during the same month a year ago. Placements were up 9% from the December 2000 total of 23.3 million.

Regional changes from the previous year were: East North Central, up 3%; West North Central, up 6%; North and South Atlantic, up 5%; South Central, down 11%; and West, up 5%.

Stonesifer Earns Scholarship At Allegany College

A Garrett County resident was among eight students of Allegany College of Maryland, Cumberland, who were recently awarded scholarships dedicated to the memory of individuals, many with ties to the college, from the tri-state and the surrounding region.

Nicholaus Stonesifer, Oakland, was awarded the Thomas O. Tyler III Excellence in Forestry Scholarship. A dean's list student, he is working toward an associate degree in forest technology. After his graduation this May, he will either enter the workplace or continue his studies.

A 1997 graduate of Southern High School, Stonesifer later worked in forestry with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. At AC, he assists other forestry students in dendrology and botany classes. He is the son of Glenn and Barbara Stonesifer.

The scholarships are for use in the current 2000-01 academic year at AC.

Relay For Life Team To Sponsor Meal, Auction

The Oak Grove Church of the Brethren Relay For Life team is sponsoring a baked potato bar and silent auction on March 31, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the church. The menu includes: baked potato with a variety of toppings, jello salad, roll, drink, and dessert.

Bachs Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Owen and Mary Bach their children and catered by Taste Unlimited.

Owen and Mary Bach were honored with a 50th anniversary buffet dinner at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident recently. The couple were married Nov. 25, 1950, at St. John's English Lutheran Church ELCA, Accident, by Pastor William E. Carlson. More than 260 friends and family members were in attendance for the anniversary dinner, which was hosted by

Mr. Bach is the son of the late Henry and Effie (George) Bach. Mrs. Bach is the daughter of the late Albert and Mary Etta (Cramer) Ringer. They have three children: Edward Bach and wife Rhonda, Allen Bach and wife Christine, and Janet (Bach) Harvey and husband Jim. The couple have five grandchildren, Matthew, Laura, and Adam Bach, and Jessica and Justine Harvey.

Dinner music was presented by Robin Deniker, who played the piano. Pastor Randy Nairn read scripture, delivered personal remarks, and gave the blessing for the buffet meal. The couple's children shared their sentiments, and then Justine Harvey presented a vocal selection and Jessica Harvey played several selections on the piano to honor their grandparents. Soloist Mike Fratz sang several selections, accompanied by the Galilean's men's group under the direction of Bill Robinson.

Raymond Wagner, friend of the family, shared a reading titled "Fifty Years Together," and also performed an old-fashioned "buck dance." Friends shared personal stories and reminiscences about the couple. Pastor Carlson expressed his sentiments as he referred to the Bach family as an extended part of the Carlson family, and also shared his memories of the couple's wedding day.

The Flowery Vale Senior Center was decorated with gold decorations, ribbon, balloons, candles, and bells, with each table adorned with white roses. A memorabilia table displayed the bride and groom's wedding attire from 1950.

Mr. Bach is a veteran of World War II and worked for the Garrett County Roads Department 32 years until retiring in 1984. He is a charter member of the Accident Volunteer Fire Department. Mrs. Bach retired from the Garrett County Board of Education in 1991 with 20 years of service. The Bachs bought their home in Accident shortly after their wedding and still reside in the same dwelling. They are lifelong members of St. John's Lutheran Church ELCA in the Cove, and are still active in many activities in the church and community.

Martha Vandall Celebrates 90th

A celebration was held in Friendsville on Sunday, Feb. 11, to celebrate the 90th birthday of Martha Vandall, who was born February 11, 1911.

Among those who traveled to Friendsville for the party were her grandchildren, Steve and Jeff Vandall and Diane Vandall Young, who drove from Pittsburgh; her niece, Sis Verdu, from Cranberry, Pa., and another grandchild, Cheyanne Vandall, from Baltimore. Two of her five great-grandchildren were there also: Tim Vandall and Kylie Young.

The party was planned by Frank and Sheila Vandall, Mrs. Vandall's son and daughter-in-law. Her longtime friend, Evelyn Uphold, was at the party, as was Gus Johnson. Many friends from the apartment where she lives also attended the party.

Mrs. Vandall was born and reared in Pittsburgh. She married Bill Vandall on January 7, 1932, and they had two children, Richard (deceased) and Frank. She worked as a bookkeeper until 1968, when she graduated from Robert Morris Business College and became an accountant. She bought her first home in Garrett County in 1965 and has lived here ever since. She is well known in Garrett County because she baby-sat for many children (now adults) in the county. Among her greatest pleasures is solving crossword puzzles.

Mrs. Vandall has lived in McHenry or Friendsville for approximately 36 years. She credits her longevity and good health to dancing and a concoction of garlic juice, honey, and vinegar. "Doctors Dona Alvarez and Thomas Johnson have also been helpful," stated her son.

CELEBRATES 90TH — Martha Vandall was honored recently on the occasion of her 90th birthday. She is pictured above with her son Frank. See story for details.

Outdoors Woman Workshop Offered By DNR In May

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is offering the opportunity for women 18 years of age and older to learn and develop outdoor skills in a supportive and non-threatening atmosphere. The award-winning Becoming an Outdoors Woman program (BOW) is currently accepting registration for its spring weekend workshop, Friday, May 4, through Sunday, May 6, at Cecil County's Camp Sandy Hill.

"Becoming an Outdoors Woman 2001 is designed primarily for women who have never tried recreational outdoor activities, but would like the opportunity to do so, or for individuals hoping to improve their skills," said Karina Blizzard, DNR Wildlife Heritage and Division education coordinator.

The three-day weekend will allow participants to select from 30 different workshops. The course offerings include stream ecology, the wonders of butterflies, hiking, backpacking, bird watching, sailing, basic fishing, fly fishing, archery, basic bow hunting, back yard wildlife, reading the woods, and more.

Due to the enrollment limit of 100 participants, interested women are encouraged to register early. Before April 20, the cost is $175, and after April 20, it is $200. The fee includes course instructions, program materials, use of demonstration equipment, meals from Friday lunch through Sunday lunch, lodging, snacks, and evening programs.

For registration and general information, persons may contact Caroline Blizzard at 301-334-9180 or visit the BOW web site at www.dnr.state.md.us/wildlife/2001bow.html

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
KEYSER'S RIDGE SANITARY DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing of the County Commissioners of Garrett County is scheduled for Tuesday, March 20, 2001, at 9:10 a.m. in the Garrett County Commissioners' Public Meeting Room, located at the Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland, to consider creating boundaries for the service area of the Keyser's Ridge Sanitary District in Garrett County.

In a resolution adopted on February 12, 2001, the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, pursuant to Title 9, Subtitle 648. of the Environment Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1996 Volume), proposed to determine the boundaries for the purpose of providing sewer facilities to serve the area described in that Resolution and shown on the plat attached thereto. A copy of the Resolution of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission adopted on February 12, 2001, and the plat showing the boundaries of the proposed service area are on file in the offices of the Garrett County Sanitary District, 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland, and are available for public inspection during regular business hours.

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on March 20, 2001, to determine if the creation of the Keyser's Ridge Sanitary District is necessary for the public health, safety, and welfare of the residents of the proposed service area and if feasible financially and from an engineering standpoint.

By Order of the County Commissioners of Garrett County

DEFENDANTS

NOTICE AND ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following properties situate in Election District 18, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the collector of Taxes for Garrett County, State of Maryland, to William E. Anderson.

All that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 18, containing 0.51 acres, more or less, known and designated as Lot No. 2, Block A, Sky Valley, and described in a deed from Ronald J. Windle and Deborah A. Windle, husband and wife, to Robert A. Craze, dated February 15, 1974, and recorded on October 18, 1974, in Liber No. 354, folio 223, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

And

All that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 18, containing 0.46 acres, more or less, known and designated as Lot No. 14, Block E, Sky Valley, and described in a deed from Sky Valley, Inc., and Stephen Golaner to Richard Klein, dated July 14, 1981, and recorded on August 4, 1981, in Liber No. 420, folio 358, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six (6) months and one day from the date of the sale has expired.

It is thereupon, this 20th day of February 2001, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED, that the notice be given in accordance with Rule 2-121 by certified mail requested: "Restricted Delivery - show to whom, date, address of delivery" on the Defendants' name in the complaint, warning the Defendants to be and appear in this Court by the 20th day of April 2001, and redeem the property and answer the complaint, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property, and vesting the Plaintiff a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION
Garrett County
Application for State Discharge Permit 00-DP-0765, NPDES Permit MD0023981:

Maryland Department of Natural Resources, c/o Maryland Environmental Service, 2011 Commerce Park Drive, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, has applied for a permit renewal to discharge an average of 16,000 gallons per day (GPD) of treated wastewater from the New Germany State Park Wastewater Treatment Plant, located on Route 2, Grantsville, Maryland 21536, to the Poplar Lick Run.

A Tentative Determination has been made to reissue the permit with the following effluent limitations: BOD5, 20 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean and 30 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean (May 1 to October 31), and 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic means and 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean (November 1 to April 30), total suspended solids, 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean and 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; TKN 7.0 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean and 10.5 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean (May 1 to October 31); fecal coliform, 200 MPN/100 ml maximum monthly log mean value, dissolved oxygen, 5.0 mg/l minimum at any and 6.0 mg/l minimum daily average; and pH maintained between 6.5 and 8.5. The use of chlorine or any chlorine-containing compound is prohibited in treatment of the wastewater. In addition, the permittee shall take temperature measurements of the plant effluent and of the effluent receiving stream approximately 30' upstream of the discharge location. After completion of the temperature sampling for one year, the Department shall evaluate whether continued monitoring or a numerical permit limitation is needed.

Regular effluent monitoring and reporting are required. The effluent limits are set to maintain compliance with State water quality standards.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by March 28, 2001. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, Maryland 21224, Attn.: Stephen Luckman, and must include the name, address, and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by March 28, 2001 will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Luckman at the above address, on or before April 9, 2001. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mr. Luckman at 410-631-3671 or by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Luckman at the above telephone number to make and appointment or by written request to Mr. Luckman at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.30 per page.

ALL OTHER PARTIES HAVING OR CLAIMING TO HAVE ANY INTEREST IN THE PARCEL OF LAND SITUATE IN ELECTION DISTRICT NO. 2, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND, CONTAINING 0.345 ACRE, MORE OR LESS, AND BEING DESCRIBED IN DEED FROM CHARLES SLAUBAUGH AND MYRTLE SLAUBAUGH, HUSBAND AND WIFE, TO SAMUEL E. SLABAUGH AND MARY SLABAUGH, HUSBAND AND WIFE, DATED JULY 14, 1962, AND RECORDED JULY 25, 1962, IN LIBER NO. 243, FOLIO 35, ONE OF THE LAND RECORDS OF GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND
DEFENDANTS
ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in all that parcel of land containing 0.345 acre, more or less, situate in Election District No. 2, Garrett County, Maryland, and being described in deed from Charles Slaubaugh and Myrtle Slaubaugh, husband and wife, to Samuel E. Slabaugh and Mary Slabaugh, husband and wife, dated July 14, 1962, and recorded July 25, 1962, Liber No. 243, folio 35, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six (6) months and one (1) day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 2nd day of March 2001, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 30th day of March 2001, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by the 1st day of May 2001, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a Judgment will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property, and vesting in the Plaintiffs a title, free and clear of all encumbrances.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Trustee's Sale of valuable fee simple property improved by premises known as 614 Nicklaus Drive, Oakland, MD 21550. By virtue of the power and authority contained in a Deed of Trust from Harry L. Biggs and Angela S. Biggs, dated October 22, 1998, and recorded in Liber 754 at Page 246 among the land records of the COUNTY OF GARRETT, in the original principal amount of $121,000.00 with an interest rate of 6.750%. Upon default and request for sale, the undersigned trustees will offer for sale at public auction at the front of the Courthouse for the COUNTY OF GARRETT, 204 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, on March 23, 2001 at 3:00 p.m., all that property described in said Deed of Trust as follows:

27,557.00 square feet and the improvements thereon, more or less, designated for tax assessment purposes by the county of Garrett as Map 113, Grid 14, Parcel 1107, Subdivision 300, Lot 100, Group 81. More fully described in Liber 726, Folio 439. The improvements now being known as 614 Nicklaus Drive, Oakland, Maryland 21550.

Said property is in fee simple and is improved by a dwelling and is sold in "as is" condition and subject to all superior covenants, conditions, liens, restrictions, easement, rights-of-way, as may affect same, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of $12,100.00 cash or certified funds shall be required at the time of sale. The balance of the purchase price with interest at 6.750% per annum from the date of sale to the date of payment will be paid within TEN DAYS after the final ratification of the sale. Adjustments on all taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by purchaser. If applicable, condominium and/or homeowner association dues and assessments that may become due after the time of sale will be the responsibility of the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, state revenue stamps, transfer taxes, title insurance, and all other costs incident to settlement are to pay by the purchaser. Time is of the essence for the purchaser, otherwise the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at risk and costs of the defaulting purchaser. If the sale is not ratified or if the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey marketable title, the purchaser's only remedy is return of the deposit. INVITATION TO BID

Sealed bids marked "Bid for the Grantsville Housing Project Work" will be received by the Garrett County Maryland Community Action Committee Inc. and the Town of Grantsville (hereinafter referred to as Owner), at the office of Century Engineering Inc., 10 North Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, until 4 p.m. on the 10th day of April 2001, and then and there the bids will be publicly opened and read.

This project is for construction of a housing project. The work consists of clearing and grubbing, earthwork, stormwater management, road base and pavement, water and sewer lines, and reseeding.

A pre-bid conference will be held on the 28th day of March 2001, at 10:00 a.m. at the Senior Center, Durst Court, east off Pennsylvania Avenue in the Town of Grantsville, to answer any questions concerning the contract documents. All bidders are invited to attend.

Contract Documents will be available for inspection during regular working hours at the office of the engineer, Century Engineering Inc., 10 North Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550. Contract Documents may be obtained from the Engineer upon written request and remittance of full payment of seventy-five dollars ($75.00) for each set, with checks made payable to Century Engineering Inc. Payment will not be refunded, said payment being retained by the Engineer to cover cost of printing, handling and shipping. Requests for Contract Documents shall be submitted to:

Morgan C. France, L.S., P.E.
Century Engineering Inc.
10 North Third Street

All bids must be made on the required Bid form. All blank spaces for Bid prices must be filled in, typewritten, or in ink, and the bid form must be fully completed and executed when submitted. The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or minor defects, or to reject any and all Bids. Any Bid may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of Bids or authorized postponement thereof. Any Bid received after the time and date specified will not be considered. No Bidder may withdraw a Bid within 30 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the Contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the Owner and the Bidder.

Bidders must satisfy themselves of the scope-of-work by examination of the site and a review of the Contract Documents including Addenda. After Bids have been submitted, the Bidder shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of work or of the nature of the work to be done.

The Contract Documents contain the provisions required for the work included in the Project. Information obtained from an officer, agent or employee of the Owner, or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the Contract.

An acceptable Bid Bond, payable to the Owner, in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid must accompany each Bid. A certified check in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid, drawn on a solvent bank chartered in the State of Maryland, and payable to the Owner, may be substituted for the Bid Bond.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign Bid Bonds, Performance Bonds, Payment Bonds, or Defective Materials, Workmanship and Equipment Bonds must file, with each Bond, a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The Bid Bonds of all bidders, except the bonds submitted with the three (3) lowest acceptable bids, will be returned within a fifteen (15) day period following the time of opening of the bids. The Bid Bonds accompanying the three lowest acceptable bids will be returned after the Contract has been awarded to and executed by the successful bidder. Provided the Owner, for any reason whatsoever, determines that it is not in its best interest to award a Contract, the Contract award will not be made by the Owner and the Owner will not then be liable for any payments whatsoever to the Bidder. Extension of time beyond the thirty (30) day period of the award may be made only by mutual agreement between the Owner, the Bidder and the Bidder's Surety.

The party to whom the Contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement within ten (10) calendar days from the date when Notice of Award is delivered to the Bidder. The Notice of Award will be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and contract forms. In case of failure of the Bidder to execute the Agreement, the Owner may, at his option, consider the Bidder in default, in which case the Bid Bond accompanying the proposal shall become the property of the Owner.

The Owner within ten (10) days of receipt of an acceptable Agreement signed by the party to whom the Contract was awarded, will sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the Owner not execute the Agreement within such period, the Bidder may, by Written Notice, withdraw his signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of notice by the Owner.

A conditional or qualified Bid will not be accepted.

Award will be made by the Owner to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over the work shall apply to the Contract throughout.

The successful bidder will be required to fully complete all contract work within one hundred twenty (120) consecutive calendar days from and including the date of receipt from the Owner of formal notice to proceed.

The award of any contract will be made by the Owner.

Bidders are cautioned that bids that are deemed by the Owner to be obviously unbalanced may be rejected.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any proposal for failure to comply with all requirements of this notice or of any of the Contract Documents; however, it may waive any minor defects or informalities at its discretion.

The Owner further reserves the right to reject all proposals, or to award a contract or contracts, which in its judgment is in the best interest of the Owner. The Owner is an equal opportunity employer.

Board Of Ed. Sets Budget Meeting, Monthly Meeting

The public presentation of the Garrett County school superintendent's proposed budget for FY 2002 has been rescheduled for Monday, March 12, 7 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the meeting, which is to be held in the Continuing Education building at Garrett Community College.

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, March 13, in the board of education meeting room, beginning at 4 p.m. The board will meet in closed session from 4:05 to 5:30 p.m., and reconvene in open session immediately thereafter.

The public is invited to attend, and public comment is set for 4 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

I don't know much of anything interesting that happened lastweek in Bittinger, except for the fact that the blizzard is nothing new in March. I can remember many big snows in March here. When I was in the 11th grade we got almost four feet around the last week of March. The next year it happened again and I was glad to see the snow season extended. This year I am sick of the snow.

My Meredith was disappointed that today was another snow day, because today was one of the biggest days at Accident Elementary School. The big game between the teachers and the 5th grade class was to be held. Baskets count double for the kids, but even so, it is still a rare year that the 5th grade wins. No wonder — they give up almost a foot of length to the teachers. But really, middle-aged women do well to just step out on the floor. Cindy Stanton and Sandy Nesline pull the weight for Bittinger, as our ace player, Cindy Kolbe, has a bad back right now. When Sandy was recovering from her shoulder surgery the last time, her husband Larry substituted for her. No way was that fair. He is several inches over six feet tall. My guess is he probably played high school hoops. That is just a guess.

But most of the females teachers are of the same generation as I, when the opportunity for girls to play basketball was very rare. In fact, when I was in high school a few of my friends and I demanded to have a team. The administration told us, "It is against the law." You know that was a lie. They were surprised that we sometimes questioned authority.

Claire confirms my memory. It was when she was in the 5th grade that Larry played. The teachers did win big that year, in spite of the fact that the 5th graders had the benefit of the girls playing too — not just boys, like when I was young, as this tradition had not started yet.

My guess is that my class would have spooked our teachers. Maybe that was just wishful thinking fantasy. I am sure when I was in the 9th grade if the freshman girls could have played against our female teachers we would have "whooped" them.

Since school is off today, the girls have played outside with Mere's buddies, Emma Bass and Hannah Avis. Emma even managed to fall halfway in the creek. Caitlin certainly handled that crisis. She ran a nice warm bath for her and found a nice cozy warm dry outfit for her. She even made chicken noodle soup. But between the outside playing, the girls were busy on the Internet, so my phone was tied up all day. That's why I have no real news from Bittinger, but I guess that is well because I don't think anyone did much. Bittinger is "Cabin Fever Central" by now.

However, we did have a treat of a short and sweet visit with friends from down-state. My cousin Courtney's best friend since the first grade, Danny Armacost, and his wife Mary and their two little kids paid us a visit on Saturday. They are always our favorite guests for Labor Day. It did not seem that long ago when Danny soloed and brought little Emily here when she was just a little baby. Now she is a big girl and in the third grade.

They were here to check out Courtney's new house and the visit to the Glotfeltys, Basses, and our family was just a side trip for them. They caught the Maryland basketball game on TV at the Glotfelty house. They got an early start back to Westminster, hopefully before the snow started falling. I don't know whether they did get a big snow down east. Carol Bass and son Matthew made the trip down to College Park on Saturday to see the Terps handle the Virginia Cavaliers with a big ACC win. They were Friday overnight guests of Barry Glotfelty and Lisa on Friday night.

A few last-minute items from the community: Jessica Cooper and Loretta Opel visited Virginia Hesson in Frankfort, Del., over the weekend.

Fern Beachy visited Mary Simpson and Mary Brenneman last week. Mary Brenneman and Lottie Brenneman recently visited Lucille Detrick and Bertha and Neil Rodamer in Springs, Pa.

Clay Stanton was a Saturday evening dinner guest of Cindy and Sam Stanton.

The Women of Emmanuel Lutheran Church will meet Friday evening at the Educational Building. Time is 7 p.m.

LEARNING THE STEPS — Community members from all walks of life took some different steps this week as they learned their parts in the performance of Chen & Dancers. The group, sponsored by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, is spending the week in the county in residency, getting to know the local folks and preparing to present shows in both high schools. Performances are slated at Northern and Southern today and tomorrow, and a public performance will take place on Friday, March 16, at 8 p.m. at Southern High School. The show will feature the dance piece Bian Dan, which will include a number of local residents, some of whom are pictured above as they learn their steps. For ticket information, persons may call the GLAF office at 301-387-3082. Hsin-Ya Hou, the rehearsal assistant for the dance troupe, is pictured in front. Runway Extension Plan Endorsed By Commissioners

The Garrett County commissioners met Tuesday with Gary Mullich, director of the county's general services office, and members of the Garrett County Airport Advisory Committee to discuss upgrades to the Garrett County Airport in McHenry.

An extended runway at the facility has been a need for several years, and the committee was formed some time ago to study extension options. The URS Corporation was contracted to prepare a detailed comparison study of the alternatives.

Because the county is responsible for partially funding the airport, a decision on a definite plan had to be endorsed by the commissioners before it could be submitted to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA). A total of five options were presented Tuesday, ranging in price from $7.1 million to $26.9 million.

The committee then recommended the $7.1 million option, which would extend the runway 2,000 feet eastward toward Bumble Bee Road. Not only is it the least costly of the options, but it would have the least effect on current airport operations, according to the committee members. Wind conditions were also studied with all options. While some of the options involved a total change in the runway direction, the current east-west alignment, which would be kept with the recommended option, provides the optimal wind

STATE CHAMBER PRESIDENT/CEO VISITS — Kathleen Snyder, president of the Maryland Chamber of Commerce, toured Garrett County last weekend upon the invitation of Garrett County Chamber president Ken Wishnick, and had the opportunity to see many of the area's attractions. While Snyder was in Oakland, Mayor Asa McCain Jr. led her on a downtown walking tour. A lifelong resident of Maryland, she admitted that this was her first visit to Garrett County. Snyder remarked that the easy pace and the beautiful scenery of Garrett County were "just what she needed" during her getaway from Annapolis. In the photo, McCain shares his enthusiasm for all the progress being made on Oakland's revitalization efforts. As head of the statewide chamber, Snyder oversees all aspects of business advocacy, political relationships, and issues management for the organization.

Mountain Lake House Damaged By Fire Sunday

Fire believed to have originated around the flue of a wood stove caused major damage to a house in Mtn. Lake Park Sunday night.

Oakland, Deer Park, Garrett, and Terra Alta firefighters were alerted at 11 p.m. to respond to the residence of the Roy Peterman family, located at 306 E Street. The fire was discovered by members of the family when they noticed smoke on an enclosed porch. The two-story, wood frame structure sustained damages estimated to be at least $80,000, as firefighters had to break windows and cut a hole through the roof for ventilation and cut into the walls to extinguish the flames.

The Southern Rescue Squad also responded to the scene. There were no injuries.

Fire personnel remained on the scene until about 2 a.m. According to John Feather, deputy chief of the Oakland VFD, about half of the house was deemed uninhabitable.

Postal Service Budget Woes Delay Expansion Of Maryland Post Offices

by Robert F. Patrick
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON — Work on 16 Maryland post offices, including the McHenry post office and the Mtn. Lake Park branch of the Oakland post office, will be frozen as part of a U.S. Postal Service effort to make up a $2 billion to $3 billion budgetary shortfall, agency officials announced last week.

Most of the Maryland projects were to build new facilities to replace post offices that have been outgrown, postal officials said. The freeze will affect projects at 800 post offices nationwide.

Postal workers in Maryland were disgruntled by the news, saying expansion of the targeted post offices is desperately needed.

The conditions are "terrible," said Joseph Hayward of the Olney post office in Montgomery County. He said the facility was "hazardous...it's so cramped."

Hayward said the Olney post office needs space for two or three new delivery routes, but is too crowded to add any more. He said a postal route serves 400 to 500 homes.

Rodney Leatherman of the Oakland post office in Garrett County said his office also lacks room for new routes, but the freeze stopped the expansion of another office that would have relieved some of the pressure.

Postal employee Lynn Baker said the Adamstown area of Frederick was growing "tremendously, and the post office was suffering. "We have very little room," she said.

The construction freeze comes on the heels of a 1-cent increase for first-class mail in January, which

USDA Boosts Keyser's Ridge Water Project

Congressman Roscoe G. Bartlett has announced a USDA Rural Development project at Keyser's Ridge. The USDA has approved a loan of $546,000 and a grant of $400,000 to the Garrett County Sanitary District for the Keyser's Ridge area.

The funds will be used to build the water extension from the town of Grantsville to a residential and commercial section of Keyser's Ridge. The project will greatly improve the water quality and capacity for area users, Bartlett said.

Terms of the loan provide for its repayment over 40 years at 4.5 percent. Another grant/loan project has been awarded to the LaVale Sanitary Commission for improvements to the Red Hill Water Treatment Plant.

"I am pleased that Keyser's Ridge and LaVale are getting much needed help from the federal government to improve their water quality and water treatment," Bartlett said. "It is my hope these loans and grants will both improve the quality of life and strengthen the local economy."

The grant/loan will aid in the ongoing improvements to the Keyser's Ridge water supply.

Finance Director Outlines 2002 Proposed Budget

Members of the Garrett County Board of Education were told this week that the proposed fiscal 2002 school budget may increase 6.2 percent to approximately $33 million, according to Ervin Fink, director of finance and human resources for the school system.

The Garrett County Commissioners may be asked for more than a $1.7 million increase for the operating budget, said Fink. Major areas of increase are wages and salaries, transportation costs, fuel costs, utility increases, and medical insurance costs, he said.

Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent, said, "This budget does not have the carry-over we had last year."

Fink said he hopes to meet the second year of the Governor's Salary Challenge to raise teachers' salaries; to increase support personnel; to support educational programs; and to maintain capital improvement plans, among other things.

Some capital projects include the permanent planetarium, Southern High School library renovation, roof replacement of the Friendsville Elementary School, and architectural and engineering services for the Route 40 Elementary School.

Fink presented the proposed budget at a public meeting earlier this week at Garrett Community College.

Education Board Awards StarLab Planetarium Bid

The Garrett County Board of Education met this week and awarded the bid for a portable planetarium system to StarLab Learning Technologies Inc. for $16,700.

The board plans to move to part of the M&T Bank building along Second Street in Oakland within the next month. The present planetarium is located on the top floor of the building they are in now. The portable system, which utilizes an inflatable dome and can accommodate 35 students, will be used until a permanent location can be found.

The device will be assembled in school classrooms and gymnasiums throughout the county, with the excep-

Commencement Date Approved For High Schools

This year's commencement date for Southern and Northern high schools will be Sunday, June 3, with SHS commencing at 1 p.m. and NHS at 4 p.m.

According to Lynn Bell, SHS principal, and Gary Reichenbecher, NHS principal, the last day of school for underclass students is June 11, and underclass final examinations are scheduled for June 6, 7, 8, and 11.

Selecting the graduation date for June 3 would allow the senior activities to be completed prior to the beginning of underclass student finals, said Martin Green, director of secondary education.

A proposal was made, which will be discussed at next month's Garrett County Board of Education meeting, to have the graduation date permanently set as a particular Sunday every June.

Northern Rescue To Consolidate Accident And Friendsville Squads

Two representatives of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad (NGCRS), Daniel Durst and Tom Riley, met with the Garrett County commissioners this week to discuss plans for consolidating the Accident and Friendsville rescue crews. The proposition outlined by the men is for the squads to vacate the fire halls in both towns currently occupied by the squads and relocate in a building located about 7 miles from each town.

"This is not going to be a popular decision for a lot of people in those towns," said Brad Frantz, director of Garrett County Office of Emergency Management. "But I truly believe that the benefits of consolidation will outweigh the losses."

Durst explained that NGCRS does not own any facilities in Accident or Friendsville, but through the cooperation of those towns' fire departments have been housed in the fire halls.

"An ambulance bay and a crew room have been furnished for which a yearly donation was set up to help defray their expenses," Durst told the commissioners. However, both the fire departments and the rescue squads are limited by space. The fire companies continue to purchase larger equipment to expand services, Durst said, and because the squads are using space at the halls, the firefighters are limited. Durst noted that the rescue squad is limited in the same fashion.

To study the problem, a committee was formed

Trickett And Leighton Named To Garrett Women's Hall Of Fame

PHYLLIS TRICKETT

DOROTHY LEIGHTON

Phyllis Trickett and the late Dorothy B. Leighton have been selected as the honorees of the 2001 Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame, sponsored by the Garrett County Commission for Women. The two were chosen by an independent selection committee from nominations submitted by the public.

In honor of the two women, a breakfast and induction ceremony will be held on Saturday, March 24, at Leone's of the Silver Tree Center, Deep Creek Lake. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m., with the breakfast buffet to open at 10 a.m.

Phyllis Trickett is a life-long resident of Garrett County and, according to a commission spokesperson, "has worked hard to raise the level of expectation in the lives of fellow Garrett residents." She was an originator of the local Commission for Women and served as chairperson for several years. She was appointed by former Governor William Donald Schaefer to serve as the chairperson for the Maryland Commission for Women, a position she held for five years.

Trickett was an organizer and member of the Women for Progress for Title IX. She is a charter member of

by Peggy Santamaria
Garrett Co. Chamber of Commerce

With what could almost be considered a "sleight of hand," Swanton resident A.J. Fleming tied the required fly pattern in 1 minute, 36 seconds to take first place in the World Fly-Fishing Qwik-Tie competition in Boston on Saturday. Fleming, the state's youngest certified fly-fishing guide, has been perfecting this craft for the last six years.

All challengers in the adult division of the fly-tying competition were assigned the muddler minnow streamer pattern to create. Tied on a size 8 hook, this pattern measures just over 1½ when complete. "You work with deer hair that you trim off. It is really easy to break this hair because you need to spin it around the hook. My hands were really sweaty before I began," Fleming admitted.

During the brief time it took to complete and trim the pattern, Fleming said he was unaware of the progress of the other contestants. "You can't look up from what you're doing or you will surely lose," he said.

But Fleming did know he was up against the stiffest of competitors. "Some of the best in the country and the world were there. I was honored to be competing with them," he said.

This high-profile contest was the first in which Fleming actually put his skill to the test, and having recently turned 21, he just qualified to challenge the adults and masters in fly-tying. Going into the contest feeling tension and excitement, Fleming said he was not pre-

WORLD CHAMPION FLY-TYER - Garrett County has yet another world champion, as A.J. Fleming, owner of A.J.'s Streamside Services, won the World Fly-Fishing Qwik-Tie competition in Boston on Saturday. The event was held as part of the World Fly-Fishing Expo. Fleming, at age 21, just made it into the adult category, where he defeated numerous older, more experienced fly-tyers. County Resident Takes Command Of MSP Barrack

Lt. Randy Resh, a resident of Garrett County, took command of Maryland State Police Barrack W in McHenry recently. Resh is a 22-year MSP veteran, who assumes responsibility for all facets of state police operations in the county, including supervisory duties for 31 sworn troopers and nine civilians stationed at the barrack.

A Somerset County, Pa., native, Resh graduated from Salisbury-Elk Lick High School, and earned an associate's degree in data processing at Allegany Community College in Cumberland. After working in the computer field for a year he entered the 77th training class of the MSP Academy in Pikesville, graduating in 1978.

Resh's initial field assignment was as a trooper stationed at the Rockville barrack, then in 1981 he was promoted to trooper first class and transfered to the Hagerstown barrack. In 1983 he was transfered to McHenry, where he served for five years. He was an investigator at the time of his 1988 assignment to the Cumberland barrack, where he rose to the rank of corporal with the Criminal Investigation Section, then from 1994 to 1998 he served with the Cumberland-based C31 unit, cam-

Oakland Resets Deadline For Inscribed Bricks

The deadline to purchase inscribed bricks to be a part of Oakland's historic walkway has been extended one week. The new deadline is Wednesday, March 21 at 4:30 p.m.

The sidewalk begins at the Garrett County Historical Society Museum along Second Street and continues toward the train station. Of the 1,460 bricks available, 1,318 have been sold.

Persons interested in having their name or that of their loved one to be included in the sidewalk should pick up a form at the Oakland Town Hall, 15 S. Third Street, or at the Book Mark'et and Antique Mezzanine, 111 S. Second Street, and return it with a check before the deadline.

Bricks cost between $25 and $35 each, depending on how many letters are ordered for inscription.

COMPUTER EDUCATOR AWARD WINNER — Doug Oxford, psychology teacher at Southern High School, has been awarded the Garrett County Computer Educator award. He has also been nominated for the Maryland Computer Educator award. Oxford has been a psychology/U.S history teacher at Southern for the past 18 years. According to Dr. Teets, Oxford has used computers effectively in the classroom since computers became available, and has been a "pioneer" in Garrett County for using scientific probeware. Oxford is pictured above with Madeleine Collins, president of the school board, and Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent.

Bowie Man Arrested For Dorm Burglary

Investigators with Garrett Bureau of Investigation recently arrested a Bowie man, also of McHenry, for various charges stemming from a burglary and theft at the Garrett Hall Dormitory, near Garrett Community College.

Antonio Keith Lappegard, 20, was arrested and charged with first degree burglary, felony and misdemeanor theft, and malicious destruction of property. He has been released from the Garrett County Jail on a $2,500 bond.

The burglary occurred sometime between March 1 and 6. GBI investigators were able to recover the stolen property, which had been sold to a local business.

In another incident, Allen Louis Long, 45, Oakland, was charged by sheriff's deputies this week with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

On March 13, Cpl. Mike Bittinger was securing a residence along Green Street in reference to an investigation, when he located Long. As Long was searched, the deputy felt a hard L-shaped object in his pants pocket. Long removed the objects, which were two metal pipes with suspected burnt marijuana in them. Long also removed a bag containing a small amount of a green leafy vegetable, which the deputy suspected to be marijuana.

Long was arrested and is incarcerated in the jail on a $500 bond.

An Oakland man was arrested early Wednesday morning when a complaint was received by the sheriff's deputies that someone was yelling and screaming profanities in a parking lot along S. Third Street. According to the report, the deputy observed this behavior by Michael Dewayne Thompson, 19.

Thompson was arrested and was released from the Garrett County Jail on his own recognizance. He was charged with disorderly conduct and being a minor in possession of alcohol.

Timothy Allen Welch, 35, was arrested by deputies early Thursday morning and charged with trespassing.

Deputies were called to 202 Sciote St. in reference to a disorderly complaint. According to the report, Welch had been previously warned not to come to that address, and the deputy found him there intoxicated.

Welch is currently in the Garrett County Jail waiting an initial bond review.

YOUNG ARTIST CAPTURES BRONZE IN COMPETITION — The Garrett County Board of Education congratulated Northern Middle School student Elliot Glotfelty for winning the bronze in a national art competition, titled "The Olympic Games." More than 5,000 school children, ages 6 to 16 from across the country, participated in the competition. The 10 winning pieces in each of the three age groups will be sent to Lausanne, Switzerland, for the international competition. These 10 pieces will be displayed at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo. The final winners from the international competition will be displayed at the Olympic Museum in Lausanne. Elliot is the son of Rodney and Marci Glotfelty of Accident. The artist is pictured above with Madeleine Collins, president of the school board, and Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent.

Swanton Man Injured By Self-Inflicted Wound

A Swanton man has been discharged from Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, after police officers were summoned to a residence along Spring Lick Road last Thursday morning for an incident initially reported as a drive-by shooting.

Officers with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, Maryland State Police, and Garrett Bureau of Investigation, aided by rescue personnel from Bloomington, responded to the scene and found Keith Franklin Douglas, 21, with a single gunshot wound to his left shoulder. The victim initially told investigators he was shot when he went outside his residence to investigate a suspicious person.

According to investigators, they examined evidence at the crime scene and found it to be inconsistent with the statement given by Douglas. An interview conducted later with Douglas revealed that the gunshot wound was self-inflicted.

Charges Filed As Result Of Local Mishaps

Several people were transported to the hospital Saturday when they were involved in two separate accidents along Route 135, one of which involved a school bus, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Debra Ellen Bennett, 36, Oakland, was operating a 1994 Ford school bus when she struck the right rear end of a 1988 Ford Tempo, driven by Crystal Lynn McRobie, 20, of Bayard, W.Va., who was stopped westbound on Route 135, attempting to turn left into the BP station at 12:50 p.m.

According to the report, there were no passengers on the school bus at the time of the accident. McRobie, Samantha Faye Lewis, 21, of Swanton, and a female juvenile were transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and later discharged for their injuries.

Bennett was charged by deputies with failure to control speed to avoid a collision. Oakland Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

The second accident occurred at 3:30 p.m. when a 1991 Ford Tempo, driven by Melvin L. Moon, 83, Oakland, traveling north on Route 135 toward Sand Flat Road, failed to yield the right of way to highway traffic. Moon was struck by Gerald R. Iman, 83, Kitzmiller, who was operating a 1993 Ford Explorer eastbound on Route 135.

Moon was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital by private vehicle and was then transported to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he is listed in stable condition.

The accident is pending investigation by the deputies.

Lake Property Owners To Hold Public Hearing

Roger W. Titus, president of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association, announced this week that the Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board will hold a public hearing at 10 a.m. on Saturday, March 17, at Garrett Community College in Room 314 in the Continuing Education building. Titus explained that the Policy and Review Board decided to have this hearing in order to receive input from the public concerning possible authorizations for the operation of tour boats on Deep Creek Lake. Titus noted that this is a subject that has generated considerable interest and correspondence from members of the association, and urged all those members having views on the subject to present them to the Policy and Review Board at its hearing on Saturday.

The Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association has a membership of over 1,000 property owners in the vicinity of Deep Creek Lake, and for many years has acted on behalf of the interests of its members with respect to all issues relating to the lake.

Honor Choruses Will Present Concert Friday

The Garrett County middle and high schools combined honor choruses will present their annual concert this Friday, March 16, at Southern Middle School, beginning at 7 p.m. The choruses consist of the top singers from the Northern and Southern middle schools, Bloomington School, and Northern and Southern high schools. There is no admission charge.

The choruses will be conducted by Marge Clever of Southern Middle School, Sharon McLaughlin of Northern Middle School, Richard Clever of Southern High School, Bill Robinson of Northern High School, and Chris Jones of Bloomington School.

Hafer Supports Tax Relief For Senior Citizens

Calling on the state of Maryland to reform its tax code to assist the state's senior citizens, Senator John J. Hafer has introduced legislation providing seniors with significant tax relief through the elimination of the Social Security offset.

Senate Bill 581 is scheduled for a hearing before the state's budget and taxation committee this afternoon.

"Too many of our senior citizens are moving to Florida, Pennsylvania, and other states because of Maryland's high tax burden," Hafer said. "On a fixed income, they are struggling to make ends meet." He added that if seniors wish to do it, they should be able to stay in Maryland with their children and grandchildren.

"That is why I introduced legislation that would provide nearly $125 million in tax relief to senior citizens annually," the senator said. "Our most vulnerable segment of the population should not fall victim to a tax code that penalizes their years of hard work.

"It is bad enough that the federal government taxes Social Security benefits," he continued. "Senate Bill 581 gives Maryland the tool it needs to remain competitive with other states and, most importantly, to deepen the pocketbooks of our senior citizens."

Maryland's tax code mandates that the maximum pension exclusion be reduced by Society Security benefits received. This is known as the "Social Security offset." SB 581 would eliminate this provision, and would therefore benefit citizens who are at least 65 years old, who are disabled, or whose spouses are disabled.

First Lady To Kick Off Children's Reading Campaign At Ruth Enlow

FRANCES HUGHES GLENDENING

Frances Hughes Glendening, Maryland's first lady, will visit the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland at 2 p.m. on Saturday, March 24, to read to local children as she kicks off a statewide reading campaign. All interested patents and children are invited to take part in the story time program, and refreshments will be served.

The "15 for the Future" campaign will encourage parents of young children to spend at least 15 minutes of each day reading to their youngsters. "Parents should think of the 15 minutes that they spend reading to their children as a daily window of opportunity to invest in their children's future," Glendening commented. "By spending 15 minutes a day reading with their children, parents can enhance their children's reading and vocabulary skills and strengthen emotional bonds with their children."

During her Oakland visit the first lady will read her favorite children's books, make recommendations of other children's books, and distribute stickers and calendars to help parents and children record and celebrate reading accomplishments. Library patrons can check out videotapes from the award-winning I am Your Child parenting series that Glendening has provided to every library in the state with assistance from a donation from Verizon.

The Ruth Enlow Library is located at 6 North Second Street in Oakland, at the intersection of Second and Center streets. Appropriate accommodations with disabilities will be provided if needed during the March 24 program. For more information, interested persons may call the library at 301-334-3996.

Tax Bill Could Benefit Ladies' Auxiliary Groups

Senator John Hafer has introduced Senate Bill 847 in the Maryland General Assembly, which would allow an income tax subtraction for volunteer members of the fire, rescue, and emergency medical services ladies' auxiliaries. Hafer and Peggy Webb, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Maryland State Firemen's Association, are soliciting public support of the bill, and information appears at the end of this article on how interested persons can contribute their comments.

Currently, the Maryland State Firemen's Association provides benefits to its volunteers, yet auxiliary members are excluded from receiving this tax subtraction modification. Volunteer members provide emergency response support services, fund raising, fire and injury prevention awareness, training for CPR certification, and other services.

"The ladies' auxiliaries contribute enormously to fire, rescue, and EMS departments," said Hafer. "When the tornado ripped through western Maryland during the summer of 1998, the members of the ladies' auxiliary worked 48 hours straight to provide assistance to both emergency care personnel and the victims of the storm. This is just one example of how the ladies' auxiliaries provides service to local fire departments and to the community at large. Senate Bill 847 would in some small measure compensate these dedicated volunteers by allowing them a $3,500 deduction on their adjusted gross income."

Webb concurred, adding, "The auxiliaries' statewide value indicates 445,000 hours dedicated annually in order to contribute nearly $7 million to Maryland's fire/rescue/EMS departments to help pay for equipment, building repairs and other items needed by their departments. I firmly believe if we are to remain a viable part of our fire/rescue/EMS departments, the eligible volunteer members of the ladies' auxiliaries of the Maryland State Firemen's Association must be able to receive the same State benefit as the eligible members of their fire/rescue/EMS departments. We need an incentive to continue to encourage volunteerism and participation with the auxiliary."

Senate Bill 847 has been assigned to the Budget and Taxation Committee and will be heard this coming Wednesday, March 21, at 1:30 p.m. Public support is crucial for passage of this legislation, which Hafer and Webb said benefits all Marylanders.

Persons interested in testifying at the hearing should call Senator Hafer's Annapolis office toll free at 1-800-492-7122, ext. 3565. Those interested in expressing support without traveling to Annapolis may call the Budget and Taxation Committee at 1-800-492-7122, ext. 3690, write to 3W Miller Senate Building, Annapolis, MD 21401, or e-mail Hafer at John_Hafer@senate.state.md.us.

A&S SCHOLARSHIP WINNER — Kurt Lear, a resource teacher/gear up coordinator at Northern Middle and Southern Middle schools, was the second recipient of the Garrett County Administrators and Supervisors Association (A&S) Scholarship. The purpose of the scholarship is to assist and encourage current staff to pursue a degree and/or Maryland certification in administration/supervision. Bill Ewing, member of the scholarship committee, presented Lear with the A&S scholarship at the recent board of education meeting. Pictured above, from the left, are Ewing; Madeleine Collins, president of the board of education; Lear; and Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent.

Task Force Jails Five Tuesday For Drug Possessiou

The Garrett County Narcotics Task Force arrested five individuals Tuesday night in a pair of drug busts that took place in and around Oakland, according to spokesperson Sheriff Dick Sanders. Task Force investigators were assisted by Garrett County sheriff's deputies and Maryland State Police troopers from the McHenry barrack in both cases.

The first arrests took place at approximately 7:30 p.m. after a traffic stop in the 14000 block of Garrett Highway, two miles north of Oakland. A vehicle search uncovered a quantity of suspected Ecstasy (MDMA, an amphetamine-like drug with hallucinogenic properties) and drug paraphernalia.

Arrested on the scene were Jimmy Barkley, 21, and Denny Stallard, 18, both of Oakland, and Jack Kight, 23, of Mtn. Lake Park. Each was charged with possession of Ecstasy and drug paraphernalia. The trio were subsequently released from the Garrett County Detention Center after bond hearings before a district court commissioner. Barkley posted a $1,000 bond, and Stallard and Kight posted $500 bonds each.

The second set of arrests came later that night in the wake of an 11 p.m. search of an Oakland apartment. In executing a search and seizure warrant at the residence, located in the 600 block of Green Street, investigators recovered 17 quarter-ounce bags of suspected marijuana with a street value of $1,000, a half-gram of suspected Ketamine (a veterinary anesthetic that produces a depressant high) estimated to be worth $50 to $100, and numerous items of drug paraphernalia.

The residents, James Reed, 19, and Kassandra Weimer, 18, were both charged with possession of marijuana and intent to distribute, and possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. Weimer was also charged with possession of Ketamine. Both were still in jail this morning, with Reed being held on a $10,000 bond and Weimer on a $5,000 bond. The case remains under investigation, according to Sheriff Sanders, and additional arrests may be pending.

Persons with information regarding any illegal drug activity in the county are encouraged to call the Narcotics Task Force at 301-387-9566 or 301-895-5889. Anonymity is guaranteed.

Two Jailed After Marijuana Found In Bloomington

The Garrett County Narcotics Task Force arrested two Bloomington residents early Saturday, March 10, after a search of their home uncovered a quantity of suspected marijuana, drug paraphernalia, and cash, according to spokesperson Lisa Thayer Welch, state's attorney for Garrett County.

Edward Linkswiler, 21, and Amy Phillips, 30, were arrested at approximately 1 a.m. by Task Force investigators and Garrett County sheriff's deputies, who executed a search and seizure warrant of their North Branch residence. The officers located four bags of suspected marijuana, each containing at least one ounce, with a combined value of approximately $800. Also recovered were a small set of weighing scales, several smoking pipes, and approximately $883 in cash.

Both Linkswiler and Phillips were released from the Garrett County Detention Center after each posted a $2,500 bond as set by a district court commissioner.

Lunch Buddies Program Helps Local Students

Among the many projects of Big Brothers Big Sisters, including the Bowl for Kids' Sake bowl-a-thon fund-raiser on March 31 at Par-Matt Lanes, is the Lunch Buddies program.

Lunch Buddies, a school-based mentoring program, began last October. Big Lunch Buddies go into the schools one hour per week during the school year to meet their Little Lunch Buddies and share a meal, talk, play games, and work on school work.

Currently, there are eight matches at Dennett Road Elementary School and three at Accident Elementary.

"These children feel so special, having someone come to their school just to spend time with them," said JoAnn Fletcher, county coordinator. She added that the teachers and counselors at the schools have reported many positive changes in these children. As funding and staffing allows, more children will be served in the schools.

The Garrett County branch of Big Brothers Big Sisters is currently serving approximately 40 children and their families through its traditional community-based program. Of those children, 24 are matched with big brothers, big sisters, or big couples.

Persons interested in the programs may call 301-334-3591 or 1-800-400-0735.

A Better Remedy...

An extremely difficult decision was made recently by a majority of the members of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, a decision that will remove ambulance/rescue service stations from Accident and Friendsville and establish a new station in McHenry. The backlash from this vote has just begun, particularly from the residents of Friendsville, who are accustomed to having a squad presence in their town. In the near future, when those folks need an ambulance it will have to make the journey from McHenry down curvy, sometimes treacherous, Rt. 42, and back again if the patient is transported to Garrett County Memorial.

Their concern/outrage is certainly understandable. There are a number of elderly persons in and around Friendsville who often need emergency medical care, and now that care is going to be eight or more miles away instead of one or less. They have supported a branch station of Northern Rescue in their town for some 20 years.

However, there is another side to the story which provides at least some justification for consolidating the two stations into one.

The volunteers of the Northern Rescue Squad should all qualify for sainthood. Because of the enormous area they must cover, the members of the squad donate literally thousands of hours of their time and talents, and travel tens of thousands of miles each year taking care of those in need of emergency care. They are continually stretched to the limit, and despite many efforts to recruit new members, they continue to be extremely understaffed, especially in Friendsville and Accident. The burden of responding to calls has rested upon the shoulders of a relatively tiny group of emergency service volunteers for a long, long time, and the burnout rate is taking a huge toll.

While response from a station in McHenry involves traveling a number of miles farther to both Friendsville and Accident, the fact of the matter is, and statistics show, that the present units in those towns are able to respond to only about half of the calls for assistance. If they are able to respond at all, many times the response time is quite slow, not because they don't care, but simply because they don't have enough volunteers available. As it is, NGCRS units all the way from Grantsville often must respond to cover the calls in Friendsville.

The McHenry area evidently has a number of volunteers ready and willing to staff a station there, which ultimately would benefit both Accident and Friendsville since ability to respond, and response times, would be greatly enhanced.

This is evidently not a money issue, but a staffing issue. There is going to be a lot of emotional, angry response from the residents of Friendsville before all is said and done. Again, it's understandable. But perhaps a better remedy would be for 30 or 40 able-bodied residents of the town to volunteer to get the EMT training and become members of the NGCRS. If that were to happen, then surely an ambulance unit could remain or be re-established in the town.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to ask all animal lovers to call 1-301-858-3404 (a toll call) to support SB-356 and HB-649 The bills if passed would make animal cruelty a felony instead of a misdemeanor.

Both are called the "Shadow Bill," as a pit bull puppy was set afire after it refused to fight. The puppy, who later died of its injuries, was called Shadow. The teenagers who set it afire were charged with a misdemeanor.

Please call and voice your support.

Thank you,
Beverly Rook

To the Editor:

I live on Mt. Nebo Road. There is a gate on the Mt. Nebo Road below me. There are no signs from Oakland on the Oakland-Sang Run Road to the landfill. They come in on Mt. Nebo Road, thinking this is the trash dump.

I moved here 17 years ago. No signs yet. I've called the county commissioners. Mr. Gregg tells me "No Signs." This used to be so quiet. No more. I have to keep my dogs tied. I can't very well tie my ducks and geese.

Wonder if you can do something, Mr. Sincell, or anyone.

Hopefully,
Mrs. Oliver Weimer

P.S. The county commissioners give themselves a raise, but can't afford to put up signs. This would be a benefit to and for Garrett County.

To the Editor:

This has been a winter that I will remember, not only for the blowing and drifting snow and the busy efforts of the many people involved in snow removal, but for the generosity of other people which is always the norm when I have ended up in a snowbank. This was the case for me on Friday, March 9, while traveling toward Grantsville on Route 495. There was only about an inch of fresh snow, but after rounding a turn, I lost control of my car and ended up in the snowbank. Fortunately no one was coming, as I ended up on the other side of the road.

The back end of the car was completely stuck, and I has just gotten out of the car when a young man stopped. He was alone in a four-wheel drive pickup truck. He offered to go to the Stanton farm to get a shovel, as neither one of us had one. After he left, a young man traveling in a Beitzel Welding pickup stopped. He said that he would send someone back with a chain to pull me out, if available.

Right after he left, two men traveling in the Byco Enterprises van stopped to help. About this time, the young man returned, not only with the shovel, but also with Mr. Stanton and his son. With only a small amount of shoveling, every one decided that they could simply push the car out, which is what happened.

I know that I should have been more careful and better prepared. I have both a shovel and a chain, but didn't have them with me. I would like to thank everyone who helped me. The owners of the businesses named are due appreciation for being represented by people who care. It has always been my case to receive help when it was needed. In a short period of time I was back on the road, and fortunately there was no damage.

Sincerely,
Donna Beitzel

On behalf of the Southern Lady Rams, I want to take the opportunity to thank the greatest fans in the state of Maryland. The many fans who drove, rode the student buses, or however you got there, were overwhelming.

Your support at the state girls' basketball tournament at the University of Maryland, Baltimore campus, was a sight to behold. When our coaches and players looked in the stands and saw and heard your spirit, the encouragement was awesome.

When we played North Dorchester on Friday, you outnumbered their fans at least 5 to 1. And when we fell behind 9-0, you were still behind us.

When we played Glenelg on Saturday, there was never a moment that you were not urging us to keep working. Glenelg is 30-40 minutes away, and you outnumbered them 3 to 1. Wow!

Although as a team we fell short of our championship goal, and we were saddened by our 3-point loss in the final game, we are proud of our team, school, and community — THANKS!

To the Editor:

Despite having lived my entire life in Maryland, I had never visited Garrett County until this past weekend. At the invitation of Ken Wishnick, president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, I spent an afternoon touring parts of the county, marveling at the natural beauty, quality of life, and warm hospitality I found.

Oakland was a special part of Ken's tour for me. Mayor Asa McCain showcased the Main Street redevelopment and introduced to me some local business owners. So entranced was I that I returned during the weekend to do some shopping at the Book Mark'et and Water Street Market. The rest of the weekend was spent at Deep Creek Lake, where my son and his friends skied on the newly fallen snow. The easy pace and the beautiful scenery were just what I needed before returning home to Annapolis.

As president/CEO of the Maryland Chamber of Commerce, I have visited many communities throughout the state and talked with many chamber executives. Garrett County should be proud of its successes in attracting ClosetMaid and Wal-Mart, as well as planning to carefully grow tourism in a way that brings substantial jobs and other economic development benefits to the community.

In particular, I would like to commend the Garrett County Chamber for doing an exceptional job for businesses and residents in leading the tourism program. Tourism is up by almost 40% in just over two years!

Congratulations to the board, to Ken, and to his staff for ensuring the tax base will grow while preserving such a beautiful place to live and work. To all local businesses: join the Garrett County Chamber so you can participate in this success.

Sincerely,
Kathleen T. Snyder, CCE

To the Editor:

I am writing you this letter in reference to all the shootings. I am not just referring to the shootings around the country, either. I am talking also about the shootings we have had here in Garrett County.

I have two daughters, one in Southern Middle and one in Yough Glades. My younger daughter came home last week and told me two boys were telling her at breakfast they were going to bring a gun to school and start killing people, and the first one they said was going to be the principal.

I have one question. "What's wrong with this picture?"

I feel it is our responsibility as parents to know every move our children are making — where they are going, what they are doing, and who their friends are. I have been observing children walking around late at night along the road. I have seen children riding around on bikes and smoking cigarettes. My older daughter has told me about a child who is sneaking out at night, drinking, smoking pot, and having sex. This is horrible! Where are the parents?

I feel it is time to make a change in the way we handle our children. Parents who think "not my child" better open their eyes and look again. It can happen to anyone. What's going to happen when a child really does bring a gun to one of our schools and opens fire? Then it is going to be too late. The damage is going to be done, not only to whomever is injured, but also to all our children who witness this horrible act of violence.

What are we supposed to do? Sit back and wait for it to happen? I don't think so; we need to protect our children now.

I am willing to help in any school effort to educate our children about gun violence. Why can't some of our police officers go to the schools and talk to children? I am sure that there are people in our county who have had first-hand experience with the effects of losing a loved one by a gun, whether it was an accident or not. I feel it would not only help our young people, but it also may help heal others who have lost loved ones.

Come on, Garrett County. Let's join together to protect our children, they are our future.

Sincerely,
Wanona S. Feller

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the letter by Carla Bennett in last week's letters. I am tired of hearing people like her bad mouthing hunting and what it stands for. At least we hunters know what we stand for.

Hunting is not just killing. Every year millions of dollars are spent by hunters to purchase licenses and equipment from local businesses and agencies. Hunters come in from other areas and rent motels and buy food and camping supplies just to spend a couple days hunting and may not even kill a single animal. That's a lot of money spent to support local business owners and their families, not to mention the taxes on their purchases that go to the governor to pay salaries for the Department of Natural Resources and Wildlife Management agencies.

But enough about the money. What about all the thousands of pounds of corn put out by the hunters each year, either raised or purchased at local feed stores? Sure, there is game harvested from that feed. But for every deer or turkey harvested, there are probably 10 that made it through the winter as a result of eating that feed, especially in years that wild foods were scarce.

A few years ago I bear hunted with an outfitter in Maine who, over the coarse of the season, put out on average four tractor trailer loads of feed. He figured for every bear harvested from that feed, there were at least three to six bear, including cubs, that would not have made it through the winter without the feed.

I see you are a member of PETA, which stands for "People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals." I would like to know how much feed was put out last year by your organization. How many animals came through the winter as a result of the efforts of PETA to feed the animals and protect the habitat? I have never seen any animal rights organization spend one nickel in any way, shape, or form to feed wildlife or protect its habitat. Money donated and collected by organizations like yours always goes to line your own pockets, and not a cent is ever spent on the wildlife itself.

My hats off to the hunting clubs and organizations like Mountain Top and Beechwood and others in the area. I've never had the chance to be a part of a group like that, but I support what they do. That's thousands of dollars spent each year to lease private land to be set aside not only for hunting, but also for the preservation of wildlife habitat. I wonder how many animal activists can say they spent money last year to feed the wildlife and manage habitat for the future. Probably the vast majority only feed their own bellies and their bank accounts, then kick back and start pointing fingers at the hunters. We hunters put back more into wildlife than we ever take from it!

According to Ms. Bennett, hunters represent only 5% of the population. I want you to know that that 5% give 110% when it comes to supporting wildlife, and the other 95% usually are willing to give nothing in support of wildlife and habitat, and oftentimes is trying to tear down and take away from the 5% who are doing their best to support and protect it.

So the next time you start to tear down the "ethics" of the hunters, why don't you put your money where your mouth is and support the ones who do the most to preserve and protect wildlife!? What is more ethical anyway? To harvest the surplus animals each year, or to let them over populate and starve to death?

In the Bible it tells us that God placed man over all the creatures, and we are to be stewards over the land. What kind of stewards would we be if we let the wildlife over populate until it ate up all the food and then starved to death? Let's face it, a section of land only has enough habitat to support a given number of animals, and that number needs to be controlled. Why shouldn't the hunters and their families benefit from that surplus instead of letting it go to waste, not to mention all the families and hungry children that are fed by wild meat and game that is donated by hunters across the country to food banks each year? I don't know any hunter who goes out hunting just to shoot an animal to see it die and then just walk off and leave it there to go to waste. If they do, then I want you to know they are not part of the 5% that you say are hunters. They're in a small group of their own called idiots.

But I have seen animal activists stand and watch an animal die a slow and agonizing death, from an illness or an injury that they knew it wasn't going to recover from, rather than euthanize it quickly with one shot to end its misery.

I have four children; the two oldest, a 16-year-old daughter and a 14-year-old son, have gone hunting with me since they were old enough to be in the woods. I have always tried to teach them that a well placed shot is a more ethical way to harvest an animal than to starve it to death, and I have seen them let trophy animals walk away while hunting because a clean shot wasn't presented.

I just hope the next time an animal rights activist sees that trophy animal standing in a field or wood lot, he or she would stop and think about who does the most for the wildlife. The high number of animals and game didn't get to be what they are today by poor management. In your letter last week you stated "Wildlife in this country belongs to all citizens." I would like to correct you on that statement. Wildlife belongs to the one who created it. It's just "managed" by all citizens.

North American Hunting Club

P.S. I didn't vote for Glendening either! I just wish more hunters would vote.

PATRICK: SAINT FOR OUR TIME

Patricius Magonus Sucatus lived during the waning years of the Roman Empire in western Europe. The imperial legions had withdrawn from Britain where for centuries they had served as guardians of Romano-Celtic civilization. By the time of the Roman withdrawal, the Empire, including Britain, had become Christian.

Patricius, or Patrick — as we know him — grew up in a Christian home in southwest Britain. The Catholic clergy were not rigorously celibate in those days. Patrick's father was a Catholic deacon. A grandfather was a priest. Patrick, by his own account, was rather nonchalant about his faith. Christianity was part of the landscape.

One day that landscape changed for him, and led to a conversion which, in turn, changed the world. Patrick was kidnapped by pirates. The southwest of England was famous for pirates into the 19th century. There was a good trade in slaves, and Patrick — a strong, lively young man — was prime pickings. He was sold to an Irish nobleman, for whom Patrick worked six years, after which time he made his escape first to France and then to home.

At that time, Ireland, as a country beyond the pale of the old Roman Empire, was pagan. Patrick had seen firsthand the difference there was in a land without the benefit of Christianity and Roman civilization. During his captivity he underwent a profound, personal conversion.

About 412 A.D. he went back to France, which still enjoyed the security that imperial Rome could lend. He studied there, and was ordained to the priesthood. When a mission to Ireland failed because of the death of the missionary bishop sent there, Patrick was consecrated bishop, and was sent to carry the gospel to the peoples of Ireland.

That he did so with enormous success is commemorated wherever an Irishman finds himself on March 17, the date of St. Patrick's death in 461 A.D., just 15 years before the final collapse of the Roman Empire in the west.

For the first 15 years of his life, St. Patrick lived on the edge of a great civilization in twilight. Not many miles across the water was a land, pagan and uncivilized. But for the pirates, Patrick might have lived as so many Christians did, wringing their hands at the decline of that imperial state, which seemed to them the embodiment of Christianity.

His misfortune lifted him above the relatively small troubles of Romano-Britain and the larger Empire. God lifted him by humbling him. In that exalted humility, Patrick saw the cross of Christ as the reality which transcended all the civil turmoil of his world and personal life. He staked his life on that reality, and began travelling that (high)way which is Christ.

Not Patrick only, but the Church hierarchy, too, deemed the time ripe for mission work and evangelization. As the worldly structures collapsed around them, the Church sought to live in the petition, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven."

Many in our day have said, "Christendom is over," by which they mean the societal embodiment of Christian principles has come to an end. A Christendom is over. Perhaps several or many different Christendoms are over. What remains to Christians today as it did 1600 years ago is not only to preach Christ, but to live Christ in the relationships and structures of everyday life.

Like St. Patrick, we live in the twilight of a great civilization, with paganism never far away. As he went across the water, we may only have to cross the road to find pagans who need Christ. We can wring our hands in self-pity, and bemoan the fact that nothing is what it used to be, or we can commit ourselves to Christ in a way that is fresh and new to ourselves, and startling to all those around us.

Garrett County Chamber of Commerce UPDATE

Home of Deep Creek Lake

During the monthly meeting of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce held this week, the following reports were given and action taken:

Chamber president Ken Wishnick presented the following:

- The new Vacation Guides have been printed and will be available in the near future.
- Efforts to increase visitor activity in the "off-season" of fall and spring have resulted in attracting the Baltimore 4-Wheelers to stage a weekend event in mid November. Approximately 300 people will attend a 4-wheeler 101 course, followed by a woodlands trek. The event is expected to attract owners of upscale SUVs who have never had an opportunity to put them to the test.
- Fly-fishermen tend to spend more than average on their getaway vacations. To attract enthusiasts here during our off-season, the chamber has approached L.L. Bean about establishing a fly-fishing school in Garrett County. We are already known as a great location to the group, and the idea was well received. L.L. Bean officials are expected to visit our area within the next few months.
- Orvis, a major manufacturer of fly-fishing equipment, was also contacted by the chamber. They operate nine fly-fishing schools in the United States, and we are attempting to establish a 10th here in Garrett County.
- The Ride Across Maryland motorcyclist fund-raising event will include a weekend stop in Garrett County. Participants will depart Columbia Mall early on June 2 and begin arriving here by early afternoon. Organizers project 500 to 1,000 participants.
- Chamber member A.J. Fleming set a world record in fly-tying in Boston last weekend. He was volunteer host at our display at the World Fly-Fishing Expo in Boston.

Chamber marketing manager Deb Clatterbuck provided a progress report on her travel show attendance:

- This was the first time that Garrett County participated in the World Fly-Fishing Expo in Boston, and it was a "huge success" for the chamber. Many fly-fishing experts from various places said they were familiar with Garrett County for its extraordinary fishing. About a fourth of those stopping by the booth said they will make plans to visit our area.
- People pay $5-$10 per person to get into travel shows. They want to efficiently gather a great deal of info on potential vacation destinations and plan out their trips when they get home. To this end, we've received many compliments on how much useful information is contained in our Vacation Guide.
- More than 1.5 million people attended the Capital Sport, Travel, and Outdoor Show in mid February in the D.C. area.
- Marketing the county for vacation planners at travel shows has focused on the natural resources of seven lakes and four rivers of Garrett County and the ability to "Park Your Car and Travel By Boat."

Chamber tourism marketing specialist Peggy Santamaria provided a report on planned upcoming media coverage of Garrett County tourism:

Pittsburgh* magazine: The April issue will feature Garrett County as one of the 10 top vacation spots within driving distance of Pittsburgh. We have submitted both information and photos to be included in this article.

The Washington Post*: The local resorts feature issue will be published May 6. Garrett County will be included in this article.

Washingtonian* magazine: Garrett County will be featured in the May issue.

Baltimore* magazine: An article on retreat and conference centers in western Maryland will be printed in the March or April issue.

BlueRidge Country* magazine: There will be a feature article on western Maryland vacation areas (Washington, Allegany, and Garrett) in the July issue.

New Vacation Book: Leonard Adkins, author of 50 Hikes In Maryland, is working on a new book describing vacation destinations in the state. His work will feature each location for a specific season; i.e., if he chooses Garrett County for summer, he won't reference vacationing here at any other time of the year. An attempt will be made to focus him on a shoulder season. The chamber will again host Adkins when he visits here and provide all needed support.

Maryland Public Television has begun working on two feature stories on the Youghiogheny River. The scriptwriter will be in Garrett County in May.

Autumn Glory Task Force Chair Asa McCain Jr. presented the following:

- The parade band and unit committee is continuing to recruit groups to participate.
- The group is recommending the development of an "events weekend" for Autumn Glory that could include outdoor activities in various parts of the county in addition to heritage activities and attractions such as the new farm tour program being developed.

Sandy Major presented a progress report on the Garrett Information Enterprise Center to be built at Garrett Community College.

- An April groundbreaking for the facility is scheduled with completion anticipated within the year.

The business "incubator" will house office space and high tech support systems for start-up businesses or satellites of existing businesses. Business counseling will be offered, along with financial information and web-based training.

- A Cool Tools Technology Fair slated at Garrett Community College will offer free learning opportunities for area residents. The chamber agreed to support this endeavor.

New chamber members approved by the board are: Micro Integration Inc., Grantsville; Wal-Mart, Oakland; and Wilderness Voyageurs Outfitters, Sang Run Rd.

The board also took a position supporting the construction of an underwater scuba diving platform in Deep Creek Lake at a location judged to be safe and suitable by the DNR. This project has been proposed by Underwater Adventures Snorkeling and Scuba Center.

Md. Charity Campaign Sets New Record

The 2000 Maryland Charity Campaign received over $3.8 million in donations to charitable organizations from state employees and retirees. This level of contribution set a new record in the campaign's history, and exceeded last year's donations by 24 percent.

"Through their donations to the 2000 Maryland Charity Campaign, state employees, past and present, have demonstrated their commitment to help their fellow citizens," said Governor Parris Glendening. "I strongly applaud Maryland state employees and retirees for their record-breaking contributions to charitable organizations."

Administered by the Office of the Secretary of State, the Maryland Charity Campaign allows state employees and retirees to contribute to over 700 charitable organizations through direct payroll deductions, as well as check and credit card donations. Participating charities must serve Maryland residents, demonstrate that the donations will be used to benefit other Marylanders, and ensure that 75 percent or more of their income is used directly for programs or services.

Maryland State Police superintendent Col. David B. Mitchell served as the assistant chair for the 2000 campaign. He and his staff coordinated the activities of "loaned executives" from state agencies and offices throughout Maryland to promote involvement in the campaign. "The efforts of the superintendent and the loaned executives were simply outstanding and represented the very best in public service performance," said Glendening.

pared at all for the outcome. "It was all going so fast. I was shocked and stunned to realize I had won," he said.

Fleming quickly became a celebrity following his victory, and that drew even more attention to the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce display at the World Fly-Fishing Expo, where he served as a host.

While still in high school, Fleming earned recognition in 1996 and again in 1997 as one of Maryland's top 10 student entrepreneurs for use of his fly-tying art. What had started as a hobby grew from a keen interest to a successful commercial venture. Fleming's business, A.J.'s Streamside Services, has allowed him to combine his avocation with his vocation. "My dad always told me when I got a job to make sure I enjoyed it, and believe me I truly do," he stated.

MSP Arrest Man After Assault In Grantsville

Maryland State Police troopers made an arrest late last month of a Grantsville man who allegedly pointed a gun at his wife during a domestic dispute at a tavern.

Ronald Lee Wilt Sr., 42, was charged with first degree assault and reckless endangement after the incident, which took place at at approximately 10:30 p.m. on Feb. 21 at the Meshack Browning Club, located along National Highway. Wilt allegedly entered the tavern and argued with his wife, reportedly grabbing her around the neck. He then left the club, but returned 15 minutes later and confronted the woman again, and allegedly pointed a 12-gauge shotgun at her while they were speaking in the parking lot.

Wilt was arrested without incident a short time later at his residence. He was jailed at the Garrett County Detention Center and subsequently released, but bond information was not immediately available.

Oakland Election Receives Low Voter Turnout

Oakland held its municipal election this week with only 37 people voting and three people running unopposed. Oakland has a total of 1,064 registered voters.

Harvey Jay Moyer, Willard Ringer, and Chris Todd were re-elected as town council members. Moyer and Ringer each received 29 votes, and Todd received 26 votes. Zack Gibson, a write-in candidate, received 2 votes.

According to Mayor Asa McCain, this was the lowest voter turnout he can remember. He said last year 142 people voted, but some of the candidates were running with opposition.

"It is a little discouraging," McCain said. "You would hope that at least people would show up to show their support. I guess you can make one of three assumptions: people just don't care, people have lost hope, or people are pleased with how things are."

Drug Charges Filed Against Driver By MSP

A Morgantown, W.Va., man was arrested on drug charges Tuesday afternoon after a traffic stop along Interstate 68, according to a spokesperson for the McHenry barrack of the Maryland State Police.

Robert Lee Frymyer, 23, was initially stopped at 4:48 p.m., when his 1996 Dodge Intrepid sedan was clocked traveling at 81 miles per hour near the Casselman River Bridge. Tfc. Brian Broadwater observed suspected marijuana and marijuana seeds lying on the driver's door armrest, and initiated a search of the driver and his car that uncovered more suspected marijuana and a small weighing scale.

Frymer was charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. He was released on his own recognizance after appearing before a district court commissioner.

In other state police news, James Webster Reeves, 46, Friendsville, was arrested on marijuana charges in the wake of a Feb. 27 traffic stop along I-68. Cpl. John LeMay stopped an Oldsmobile sedan near Grantsville because its rear license plate was not visible. A computer check through the Maryland Motor Vehicle Administration revealed that Reeves was driving on a suspended license, and, after he was arrested for that violation, a vehicle search took place.

Suspected marijuana and drug paraphernalia were located inside two hidden compartments in the vehicle, and additional charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia were filed against Reeves. He was later released from the Garrett County Detention Center after he posted a $500 bond.

Plan Endorsed

coverage.

In addition to these benefits, the recommended option would also allow for future expansion at the airport more than the other proposals, Mullich said.

The FAA will fund 90% of the project, the state will pay for 5%, and the county will cover the remaining 5%. Because the expansion has "been on the books" for about four decades, Commissioner Ernest Gregg said it is time to move on the plan. He made the motion to endorse the plan and Commissioner Wendell Beitzel seconded it. After some discussion, the vote was taken and was unanimous to support the recommendation.

ing promotions to sergeant and detective sergeant.

Resh returned to McHenry in 1998, where he served as first sergeant until he was promoted to lieutenant the following year and transferred to the Criminal Investigation Division in Columbia. Last year he took the position of barrack commander in Hagerstown, and held that post until arriving in McHenry last week.

Resh and his wife Carol reside in the Grantsville area with their three children, Jamie, Jackie, and Jared.

In Loving Memory of Husband, Dad & Pap
David "Pappy" Sweitzer
On his Birthday
March 17, 1922 - Sept. 10, 2000

A birthday is a special day
For those whom we love
So God, take this loving birthday
Wish to the heavens above.
And tell him we love him
And miss him more each day.
If we could change one single thing,
We would bring him home to stay.
Our nights and days are lonely,
And life is so hard to bear.
Because we always had the feeling
He would always be there
To dry our tears and make us smile
And make our life so worthwhile
We look into the heavens
And see your shining star
And know that you are watching over us
No matter where we are.
You are in our thoughts...
And our minds
Each second of the day
Our love will always be with you
Even though you are far away

Forever loved & missed by,
Wife Louise,
Elsie, Cecil, Kim, Joe, Cecil, Robin, Mike, Angie, Willie & Great Grandkids

Friends will be received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, from 7 to 9 p.m. today, Thursday, and from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. on Friday. A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at Old St. Ann's Shrine on Saturday, March 17, at 10 a.m., with the Rev. Fr. William Moody as celebrant. Interment will follow in St. Ann's Cemetery.

The Rosary will be recited on Friday at 3:30 p.m. at the funeral home.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to St. Ann's Cemetery Fund.

WALTER I. NINE

Walter Irvin Nine, 94, Grant Town, W.Va., formerly of Oakland, died Friday, Feb. 9, 2001, at Fairmont (W.Va.) General Hospital.

Born Dec. 7, 1906, in Oakland, he was a son of the late Irvin Murray and Minna Paulie Nine. He was also preceded in death by his wife of 63 years, Eliza Ellen (Carpenter) Nine, whom he married in 1927; three sons, Joseph Nine, James Nine, and William Nine; one brother, George Nine; two sisters, Jessie Hinebaugh and Frances Davies; and two great-granddaughters.

He was a graduate of Oakland High School. He played the trombone in various community bands and was a vocalist for many musical performances in the Fairmont area.

He moved to Grant Town in 1926 and retired from Eastern Gas and Fuel Association in 1970. He also worked at Hartley's Department Store in Fairmont for seven years.

Survivors include three sons, David Nine, Michael Nine, and Phillip Nine, all of Grant Town, three daughters, Patricia Hurd, Oak Forest, Pa., Peggy Clair, Ijamsville, and Carol Tucker, Fairmont; one sister, Hazel Worley, Talladega, Ala.; 26 grandchildren, 31 great-grandchildren, and six great-great-grandchildren.

At the request of the deceased, there was no visitation or service. The Ford Funeral Home, Fairmont, was in charge of arrangements.

FRANCES M. MAHANEY

Frances Marion Mahaney, 82, Cumberland, died Friday, March 9, 2001, at the Cumberland Nursing Home.

Born Sept. 30, 1918, in Deer Park, she was a daughter of the late James Franklin and Mary Beatrice (Ryan) Rowan. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Ralph E. Mahaney Sr., in 1978, and one brother, James Franklin Rowan.

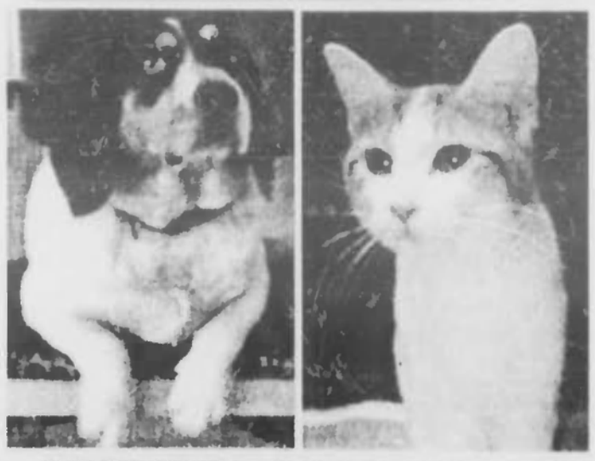
She was a former employee of the Celanese Corp. and Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. She was a member of Christ United Methodist Church, the Methodist Women, and the Cumberland Senior Citizens.

Survivors include two sons, Ralph E. Mahaney Jr., Kensington, and James W. Mahaney, Evansville, Ind.; one daughter, Karen Lynn Mahaney Speis, Martinsburg, W.Va.; two brothers, Jack Dempsey Rowan, Cumberland, and Thomas Eugene Rowan, Columbia; two sisters, Mary Rowan Shepherd and Kathleen Rowan Sisk, both of Cumberland; 11 grandchildren, and 14 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Searpelli Funeral Home, Cumberland, where a service was conducted Saturday, March 10, with the Rev. Wayne R. Turner officiating. Interment was in Hillcrest Memorial Park.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Alzheimer's Desease and Related Disorders Association, 330 E. 25th Street, Baltimore, MD 21218, or the Christ United Methodist Church, 4th and Race Street, Cumberland, MD 21502.

Adorable Adoptables



GUESS WHO'S WHO — For $1 million dollars, or the pet of your choice, guess which one of these adorables is named Tippy and which one is Matilda. The canine is an adult female blue tick/basset hound mix, who is very nice and likes to lie around and rest. (She has a lot of company there.) The cat is an 8-month-old female, orange and white in color. The pair are among the animals currently available for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, which may be reached every day but Sunday at 301-334-3553 for more information. (The dog is Matilda, and the cat is Tippy . . . just be glad we didn't ask. "Which one is a dog, and which one is a cat?") itself followed a 1-cent increase two years ago. The Postal Service said it may also propose an increase of up to 10 to 15 percent in postal rates this summer to help make up the budgetary shortfall.

A REAL GEM — Precious is a 1-year-old female Lab/chow mix who has soft black lustrous fur that almost makes her sparkle in the sunlight. She is very loving, obedient, and housebroken, and gets along well with other animals. Spayed and current on all her shots, Precious is available through the Garrett County Humane Society at 301-334-2699.

The Postal Service said Thursday that universal mail service is at risk unless the law is changed to give it more control over its budget. It said it needs better control over wages and it has to have the ability to respond more rapidly to increasing costs.

The service has also been losing business to what it calls "electronic diversion," as more and more people send e-mails instead of letters.

"By law we have to break even," said Deborah Yackley, a spokeswoman for the Postal Service's Capital District. She said the Postal Service wants to change the law so that rate increases would be less frequent and financial plans could be extended farther into the future.

"It's tedious," Yackley said of the budget process. "It looks like we're always raising rates."

Yackley said the Postal Rate Commission has nine months to decide whether it will raise rates, so it may be at least a year before construction is restarted. The list of capital projects will have to be prioritized, she said, and construction or expansion plans for some post offices may have to be dropped.

The freeze idled at least one Maryland project in mid-stream.

The Postal Service recently bought a Bethesda building to replace the West Bethesda branch, Yackley said. The building was waiting for renovation funding to be approved, but the valuable downtown property will now sit unoccupied until the freeze is lifted, she said.

tion of Swan Meadow School, which does not have a room with a ceiling high enough to accommodate the system. Those students would have to be transported to another location to use the planetarium.

According to Ervin Fink, director of finance/human resources for the school system, the cost of transporting students to and from the planetarium is approximately $15,000 per year. This, plus the fact that the item will be resellable after the permanent location has been established, makes it a "very worthy investment."

The system consists of a 16-foot diameter dome that utilizes a projector and cylinders for presenting various astronomy and earth science lessons. The portable planetarium, weighing 45 pounds, is easily transported in a duffle bag.

Jim Hart, science and planetarium teacher, commented that he has spoken to other counties who have been in a similar situation, and they found the portable planetarium to be very effective.

"It (the portable planetarium) will increase the hands-on activity and is easily resellable," Hart said. "When you consider the savings on the transportation costs and the resalable value, it doesn't seem like such an investment."

Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendant, mentioned that Camp Hickory is the proposed location for the permanent planetarium. He said if the county is awarded state funds, the planetarium will become a priority.

"I didn't anticipate moving this quickly," said Teets. "I thought we were looking at this discussion several years down the road. But it is very important to keep this outstanding program going."

QUILLS

Rated R - Running Time: 2:03 - Released 12/15/00

Most people are familiar with the term "sadist" as meaning someone who enjoys inflicting pain, especially for the purpose of erotic pleasure. Philip Kaufman's film Quills tells the story of the 18th-century French founder of sadism (at least the one who made it a popular indoor sport), the Marquis de Sade. Although not historically perfect, Quills is a sensitive and moving account of the end of the marquis's life (during and after the French Revolution, when people were being beheaded for "sexual depravity") and the effect he had on sexual culture that lasts, and indeed flourishes, to this day. An impressive debut for writer Doug Wright (based on his play), it stars Geoffrey Rush in another Oscar-nominated performance that breathes life into this controversial historical character, showing us a man who, during a period of brutal, bloodthirsty government, found no succor in God nor his country — only in his writing. Rush's Sade is complex and sympathetic, hardly the vicious deviant one would imagine as "the original sadist." But beyond his performance is the talented cast that surrounds him, including Kate Winslet, Joaquin Phoenix, and Michael Caine, and the authentic beauty (if you can call it that) of the period brought to the screen by Kaufman's expert hand.

The film starts with the publication of one of Sade's most famous and controversial novels, Justine. Although he has been imprisoned in the Charenton Asylum for the Insane and forbidden to publish any more of his scandalous literature, the marquis is aided by a chambermaid named Madeline (Winslet), who collects his pages with the laundry and smuggles them out to the publisher. Upon publication of the sexy novel, which is a runaway bestseller, the marquis is punished by the removal of all his writing supplies — paper, ink, and quills — by Abbe Coulmier (Phoenix), the friendly and well-meaning clergyman in charge of the asylum. However, the novel also attracts the attention of none other than Emperor Napoleon, who sends the eminent Dr. Royer-Collard (Caine) to help "cure" the marquis of his unsavory behavior. Royer-Collard is one of those 18th-century doctors who cures psychotic patients with the use of torture, like repeatedly dipping them, upside down, in a vat of water until they promise not to be psychotic any more.

Soon after the good doctor arrives, he decides to take a wife, the lovely and innocent Simone (Amelia Warner), who happens to be a voracious reader. Simone is an orphan and, of course, a virgin, reared in a convent, whose innocence in the ways of sex is brutally brought to an end by her marriage to Dr. Royer-Collard. Her inexperience in the bedroom in no way dampens her desire to read, however, and she soon obtains a copy of Justine. Desiring the kind of sexual adventurism she finds in the book, she develops an eye for the young architect the doctor has hired to restore the crumbling mansion he has bought. Meanwhile, the marquis continues to find ways to write (including a randy play about Dr. Royer-Collard and his bride), and is continually aided and abbetted by Madeline and several other inmates.

Rush's performance is impeccable; he paints the Marquis de Sade as the frail human he must have been, whose passion for writing exceeds even his bestial desires. Wright's text is at once disturbing, humorous, and ironic, making a clear point about the difference between one kind of sadism and another. Winslet is soft and innocent as Madeline, and yet a woman not afraid to put herself in danger for what she wants. Although Madeline is not physically attracted to the aging writer (in fact, she engages in a sweetly naive flirtation with a young man on the outside), she cannot deny the marquis's talent for the written word, nor her own desire for it. Caine is the kind of sinister yet all too real villain one sees throughout history, a dangerous man driven by greed and his lust for power, who pretends to be a humble servant of God. Lastly, Phoenix is adequate but not great as Coulmier; while convincing enough at times, his speech and manner occasionally seem stilted and phony. Any inadequacies in his performance cannot begin to take away, however, for the eminently beautiful quality of this film. ★★★★½

FIFTEEN MINUTES

Rated R - Running Time: 2:00 - Released 3/9/01

Fifteen Minutes is one of those good movies that could have been great if they had just made the script a little more credible. But dang it, they didn't. Written and directed by John Herzfeld (2 Days in the Valley), the film is truly gripping and features some well-crafted performances, and its primary message is altogether salient and thought provoking. But the absurdity of a few important details impairs its ability to deliver that message.

The film stars Robert De Niro as Eddie Flemming, a New York investigator who has become locally famous through his regular appearance on a hard-hitting TV newsmagazine produced and anchored by the evilly opportunistic Robert Hawkins (Kelsey Grammer). Hawkins is one of those two-faced TV reporters essayed so often in film, a man who would sell his own mother to get the story, whose motto is "If it bleeds, it leads." The popularity of the show, and of Eddie in particular, intrigues two Eastern European immigrants named Emil (Karel Roden) and Oleg (Oleg Taktarov), who love videotaping themselves almost as much as they love killing people. Hoping to capitalize on a perceived flaw in the American justice system, they plan to sell a tape of one of their murders to Hawkins and then plead insanity, thus avoiding prison and achieving their 15 minutes of fame. Only in America. However, their scheme begins to go awry with the appearance of Eddie's friend, Fire Marshal Jordy Warsaw (Edward Burns, Saving Private Ryan). While Jordy's lack of a badge prevents him from the kind of access accorded to Eddie, it also allows him to deal with the killers without that annoying hindrance of the law. But his feelings for a beautiful witness (Vera Farmiga) threaten to push him over the emotional edge and wreck his investigation, not to mention his career.

Fifteen Minutes makes, or attempts to make, a valid statement about the U.S. legal system, which does sometimes seem to cater more to the perpetrators of crimes than to the victims. It attacks in particular the oft-invoked "temporary insanity" plea (ah, yes, temporary insanity, the only medical condition discovered by lawyers instead of doctors — I believe the most common symptom is the itchy trigger finger) which is heard in so many murder cases. But Herzfeld's heavy-handed approach, with broadly drawn characters and frankly outrageous circumstances, pumps a little too much Hollywood into the situation for reality. In particular, Grammer's frothing media villain is too over-the-top to permit the suspension of disbelief, not so much because of the actor's performance as how the character is written. De Niro and Burns both give meaningful performances, however, and even more unsettlingly real are Roden and Taktarov as the Czech/Russian duo of killers whose differing opinions about who is running the show ultimately brings down the curtain. ★★★★

GET OVER IT

The latest entry in the recent fad of teen romances based on great literature is Tommy O'Haver's Get Over It, written by R. Lee Fleming Jr. and featuring the talents of up-and-coming teen stars Kirsten Dunst (seen recently in Bring It On) and Ben Foster (Liberty Heights). Fleming's script follows a high school theatre production of William Shakespeare's comedy A Midsummer Night's Dream, with the offstage action running vaguely parallel to the story of the play. Fleming, whose only previous big screen writing credit is She's All That (based on Shaw's Pygmalion), and O'Haver, who previously helmed Billy's Hollywood Screen Kiss (1998), achieve moderate success on their first collaboration, which was apparently pared down from its more racy, R-rated version in order to score a more profitable PG-13. While this film does not do anything extraordinary for its genre, it has its moments, and Dunst and Foster are able to generate reasonable chemistry in their utterly predictable situation.

There are two aspects of this film which do make it notable: the liberal use of music (there is much incidental singing and a few full-fledged musical numbers) and the inclusion of comic Martin Short in a comic supporting role as the play's director. Short's uncomfortably overconfident characterization, while sometimes out of sync with the rest of the cast, adds needed levity to the lovesick proceedings.

The film begins with Berke (Foster) being dumped by his lifelong friend and recent lover Allison (Melissa Sagemiller), who has found love elsewhere. The breakup scene is followed by a thoroughly enjoyable rendition of Captain & Tennille's "Love Will Keep Us Together," featuring an ever-growing troupe of singers and dancers following Berke as he walks away from Allison's house with a box full of his stuff. This number, at once amusing and ironically bittersweet, is so much fun it threatens to make the rest of the film look bad. As Berke is unable to get over the loss of Allison, he decides to try to get her back any way he can, including trying out for the school play in which she is cast as Hermia, the object of two men's affection. Also playing principal roles are Berke's platonic friend Kelly (Dunst), who secretly harbors a crush on him, and Allison's new boyfriend Striker (Shane West), a transfer student and former member of a Back Street Boys-type group. West's performance is easily the worst aspect of Get Over It; his total lack of human sensibility is matched by his truly awful fake British accent. As the rehearsals go on, headed up by the mincing, never-satisfied Dr. Desmond Forrest-Oates (Short), Kelly and Berke begin their excruciatingly slow but inevitable journey toward mutual affection.

As he did with his freshman film, director O'Haver uses frequent lapses into fantasy to push the story along. While the high school students playing their parts are less than stellar actors, and Short's Forrest-Oates is little more than an amateur with delusions of grandeur, the sets and costumes are truly fabulous, so when we enter one of the many Midsummer-themed dream sequences, we are if nothing else treated to an eye-pleasing few minutes. Dunst's singing (if that's really her voice) is sweet and pleasant, and O'Haver's use of Elvis Costello's "Allison" played over the end credits is another excellent musical choice. Elements that don't work so well include a running gag about a dog that can't stop humping everything in sight and a side plot wherein Kelly's older brother tries to stop Burke from associating with her. But these are minor weak points in an otherwise reasonably satisfying (if not great) film. ★★★½

Groves Couple Mark 60th Anniversary

Warren C. and Olive C. Groves of Swanton will observe their 60th wedding anniversary on Thursday, March 22. Both Swanton natives, Mr. Groves is the son of the late Martin L. and Grace Glotfelty Groves, and Mrs. Groves is the daughter of the late Robert E. and Louise Beekman Reckner.

The couple were married in Baltimore in 1941, shortly before Mr. Groves was drafted into the U.S. Navy. After serving during World War II as a gunner's mate aboard the destroy escort USS Blessman in both the North Atlantic and South Pacific, Groves returned to the States and he and his wife set up residence in Windber, Pa.

Mr. Groves was employed as a heavy equipment operator, primarily a dragline operator, by various coal firms in the Windber area for 40 years. Mrs. Groves was a homemaker and a Sunday school teacher, and also served on the church council of the Grace Lutheran Church in Rummell, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Groves have three children, Warren Eugene Groves of Oakland, Joyce Arlene Baker of Swanton, and the late Grace Louise Stone. They have 11 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The couple reside at 834 Green Glade Rd., Swanton, MD 21561.

Miss Henderson To Marry Mr. Tichnell

Jay and Debbie Henderson of Swanton announce the engagement of their daughter, Kristi Jo Michele, to Lee Travis Tichnell, son of Steve and Kim Tichnell of Swanton.

The bride-elect is a 1996 graduate of Westmar High School, Lonaconing, and a 2000 graduate of Frostburg State University, where she earned a bachelor of science degree in accounting. She is employed at Spherix Inc. as an accounting clerk.

The prospective bridegroom is a 1998 graduate of Westmar High and the Center for Career and Technical Education. He is employed at D&B Welding in McCoole.

The wedding ceremony will take place on Saturday, July 7, at Chestnut Grove United Methodist Church in Swanton. The reception will follow in the church basement. Although invitations will be sent, all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

SPAGHETTI DINNER

A spaghetti dinner will be served March 17 from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m. at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. Adult donations are $5, children 6 to 12 eat for $2.50, and those under 6 may eat free. Proceeds go to the church paving fund.

SOUP AND SALAD DINNER SLATED

An annual soup and salad dinner will be served April 7 at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. Adult donations are $5, children $3, and the meal includes dessert. The all-you-can-eat dinner will be served from 4 until 8 p.m. Youth of the church are sponsors of the dinner.

LENTEN SERVICES

Although the local March 7 lenten services were canceled because of bad weather, it is hoped that the March 14 services at Brookside Church of the Brethren can go on. The March 21 minister will be the Rev. Charles Teets and host church is St. Paul's Lutheran in Aurora. The services begin at 7:30 p.m.

MARCH 25 SINGERS AT MAPLE GROVE

Ernest "Bink" Sisler and Rita Sue Harsh will be ministering in song on March 25 at 6 p.m. at the Maple Grove Assembly of God. The congregation invites everyone to join them at this time for the sing.

BEEKEEPERS SCHOOL

A school for beekeepers is being sponsored by the Appalachian Beekeepers Association on March 31 and April 7 for beginning keepers, and on April 21 and 28 for intermediate keepers. These will be held at the Maryland Garrett County Extension Office on Rt. 135 East at Mtn. Lake Park. Hours will be from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., and a $10 fee makes participants and their families members of the association. For further information on the workshop, persons may contact John Minnig at 735-5171, or call the Garrett County Extension Office.

PERSONAL MENTION

Donald Frantz, Eglon, spent last week in Dover, Del., with his grandson, Wyatt Frantz, while Wyatt's parents, Donnie and Heather Frantz, spent the weekend in Hershey, Pa.

Polly Engle of Stemple Ridge was a recent patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital and was transferred March 5 to Monongalia General Hospital in Morgantown.

Craig Durst and Jeff Lipscomb returned March 3 from a tour to Hawaii, which was awarded Craig by the John Deere Company as a result of his sales efforts at Manor Builders in Mtn. Lake Park. Owners Tom and Kathy Mattingly also accompanied them and all were guests of John Deere. Craig and Jeff stayed an extra day for a visit to Oahu and Hawaii rural areas.

Garland Lewis of Aurora was a patient last week in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Keith and Delores Douglas arrived home Saturday in Aurora from a Florida vacation. Although they were staying in Sebring, they visited many other areas and with several of their West Virginia friends. A highlight of their trip was the opportunity to witness the lift-off of the shuttle Discovery from Cape Canaveral.

While the Douglases were in Florida, they stayed in the home of Mrs. Douglas's sister, Vada Fusselman. Ms. Fusselman had been in Aurora caring for their mother, Leota Elsey, and returned to her home March 14.

Cecil Snyder of the Ben DeWitt Road remains a patient in Ruby Memorial Hospital. He is also beginning rehabilitation therapy.

Mary Kelly has been visiting her mother, Maxine Hauser, Stemple Ridge, and before the weather cleared sufficiently for her return to Eastover, Ga., she became ill. An appendectomy was performed last week in Garrett County Memorial Hospital and she has now returned home.

Thelma Stemple of Aurora underwent surgery last Wednesday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Visiting David and Lois Layman, Eglon, for the March 3-4 weekend, was their son, Aaron Layman of Amhurst, N.Y.

Chuck and Krista Hayes of Eglon were accompanied by their nephew, Tyler Harsh, also of Eglon, on a weekend trip in Virginia, where they witnessed Angus shows and judging.

Alberta Moats of Moats Hollow was taken Thursday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she underwent surgery for a fractured hip as a result of a fall on the ice at her home.

Visiting in Winston-Salem, N.C., from Thursday until Monday, were Jackie and Alma Snyder of Aurora. They spent the visit with Mrs. Snyder's sister and brother-in-law, Mildred and Hancell Teets.

Douald and Elaine Roth returned last week to their home at Horse Shoe Run from a Florida vacation.

Christopher Roth returned recently to Morgantown after spending the winter months employed at a ski facility in Colorado. He is the son of Gary and Fran Roth of Aurora.

Mrs. Nick (Betty) Stemple of Brownsville, Pa., underwent heart surgery on March 13 at a Pittsburgh hospital. The Stemples had formerly pastored the Maple Grove Assembly of God Church.

Aurora Church Slates Dinner

A fund-raising spaghetti dinner will be served at the Aurora United Methodist Church Memorial Building from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, March 17. The meal will also include salad, dessert, and a beverage. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children ages 6-12, and children under 6 eat for free. Proceeds will go toward the church parking lot paving project.

TA Civic Club Plans "Luck Of The Irish" Dance

The Terra Alta Civic Club, along with Alpine Lake Resort, is making final preparations for the annual "Luck of the Irish Dance," set for Saturday, March 17, 9:30 p.m., at Alpine Lake.

Soundmaster Entertainment will provide the music for the evening. The cost is $5 a couple, and $3 single admission. Proceeds from the event support club projects, such as the Terra Alta Library, the Terra Alta Volunteer Fire Department, the ambulance squad, Preston Memorial Hospital, Food for Preston, and scholarships for Preston High students.

Weekend Maple Fest Slated In Mineral County

The Potomac Highlands Regional Maple Festival is set for this Saturday and Sunday, March 17-18, in the Newcreek Valley area of Mineral County. The annual event is designed to raise funds for the festival's parent organization, which promotes the art of maple syrup making along with other traditional acitivites practiced throughout the Potomac Highlands.

The festival will feature three sugaring camps in three different locations. The camps will operate at the Indian Water Maple Company, located off Route 93; the Merl Ours Camp in Scherr; and the Fridley Brothers Camp, located in Mt. Storm along Cherry Ridge Road (off Route 50). A tree tapping will open each camp's activities at 10 a.m. both days.

A buckwheat pancake, sausage, and maple syrup breaktast will be available on Saturday from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Laurel Dale United Methodist Church and the Newcreek Elementary School, and will be repeated the next day at the same times at the elementary school only. A dinner of the same menu will be served by local Boy Scouts from 4 to 8 p.m. Saturday at the Reese Chapel Church.

A variety of artists, craftsmen, and entertainers from throughout the Potomac Highland region will be on hand for the weekend. Area resident Tammy Hipp, the 1999 and 2000 International Bowhunting Organization world champion archer, will provide demonstrations and answer questions. Tori Starkey, the reigning Maple Queen, will be on hand to crown this year's queen.

For further information on the festival, and detailed directions, interested persons may call 304-788-5482.

Free Computer Training Set In Kingwood

Free computer classes have been set for April at the Technology Opportunity Center at Preston High School, Kingwood, by the West Virginia High Technology Consortium Foundation (WVHTCF). The hands-on classes will deliver information on Microsoft Office, Word, Excell, and Power Point programs, as well as the Internet.

For further information interested persons may call the WVHTCF's Fairmont office toll-free at 888-862-0505.

the League of Women Voters, and has served as a member of the following county groups: the health advisory committee, the advisory board for the Homemakers Career Opportunity program, and a task force for the board of education. She also served as chairperson for the county's vocational advisory council.

Trickett was a charter member of the Junior Woman's Civic Club and served as president. She is past president of the county's Business and Professional Women's Club, and the founder and past president of the Garrett County Hairdressers Association. She is also a member of the Maryland and National Hairdressers associations.

She is credited with originating the drive to procure a domestic violence shelter in the county, now known as the Dove Center. For the center she is a board member and also serves as secretary for the Garrett County Family Violence Prevention Coalition. She is currently the Regent of the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

In community activities, she has served as a Sunday school teacher, a 4-H leader, PTA president at the elementary and high school levels, and a member of the Garrett County Council of PTAs and the Southern Band Boosters. She served as the national president for Young Career Girls for the National BPW Clubs. In addition to these numerous civic and social activities, Trickett was the owner/operator of a local business for over 30 years.

A member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Trickett is married to Harold Trickett. They have two daughters and one granddaughter.

Dorothy B. Leighton, who died in March 2000 at the age of 69, had a lifelong interest in the Garrett County community and in the arts. Having grown up in the county, she graduated from the Shenandoah Conservatory in Winchester, Va., and earned a master's degree in fine arts from Northwestern University in Illinois. After teaching music for several years in West Virginia and Baltimore, she returned to Garrett County and married Dr. Herbert Leighton.

While rearing four children and assisting in her husband's medical office, Leighton had a impact on the community at large, the spokesperson said. A founder of the League of Women Voters of Garrett County, she served that organization as president for 8 of its first 12 years. She helped in the development of the local PTA infrastructure (which was changed in the past years to PTO).

She served on the board of directors of the Garrett County Arts Council for 12 consecutive years, serving in positions of president and vice president, and chairing several committees. With the collaboration of First United Bank and the Maryland State Arts Council, Leighton was instrumental in bringing performances to Garrett and Allegany county school children.

A member of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's planning committee, she served on its board for over 6 years. The county arts council presented its annual Friend of the Arts award to Leighton in 1996.

Leighton is credited with helping to initiate public discussion and change in the areas of countywide zoning, historical preservation, and domestic violence prevention. She participated in Adopt-A-Highway, was an active member of the Civic Club of Oakland, and was a fund-raiser for the Garrett County Historical Society. She helped spearhead the discussion to consider changing the county's government to charter home rule. She served as the choir director of St. Paul's United Methodist Church for 25 years.

Reservations for the Hall of Fame Breakfast can be made by calling the Commission for Women at 301-387-2141. The cost is $12.

Cumberland To Host GOP Women

The Maryland Federation of Republican Women (MFRW) will hold its Spring Board of Directors meeting on Friday, March 23, at Rocky Gap Lodge in Cumberland.

Approximately 100 Republican activists from throughout the state are expected at the two-day event which will include a variety of workshops designed to help the Republican women prepare for the election of a governor and state and county officials in the fall of 2002.

On Friday afternoon, an "Americanism" workshop will offer ideas clubs can use to improve citizenship programs in their communities, followed by "How to Start a Political Campaign," by Joyce Lyons Terhes, former chairman of the Maryland Republican Party, Jim Burton, former GOP executive director, and Md. Delegate Jean Cryor. On Saturday, the MFRW board of directors will meet, and a luncheon and awards presentation to Republican women's clubs from throughout the state will follow.

Musings
by Michael S. Glaser
Editor, Weavings 2000: The Maryland Millennial Anthology

The expression "you can't see the forest for the trees" gives voice to the frustration we sometimes feel when we fail to notice those things that truly matter. Poet and essayist Barbara Hurd has commented that literature "invites us to immerse ourselves in a very particular landscape" to help us be "open to new and richer ways of seeing ourselves and our surroundings." Perhaps it is that very thing that the speaker in Kathy Mangan's poem discovers "Proof" of in her own experience.

PROOF

Today the maples become suddenly generous, showering their webbed pods everywhere.
the screens go up. Front to back, wind blows through the house.
Neighbors appear in their yards:
two women rasp at each other over a fence, as if rediscovering their voices. Dogs bark back and forth in shade. the postman comes by on foot, drops
a letter in my box.
Three days ago,
a friend was thinking of me.
what more proof do I need?
Put on the river, the last splinter of ice returns to the river.

Kathy Mangan

Kathy Mangan teaches writing and literature at Western Maryland College, Westminster. Recipient of a Pushcart Prize, a collection of her poems, Above the Tree Line (in which this poem originally appeared), was published by Carnegie Mellon University Press in 1995. "Proof" is used with permission of the poet.

As part of its millennial activities, the Maryland Commission for Celebration 2000 sponsored the publication of Weavings 2000, an anthology of literary works which represents the breadth of excellent literature that is being created by Maryland writers today. This column is an extension of that anthology and the vision of the Commission that the lives of all Marylanders can be enriched by the special attentions that writers bring to the experiences of our lives. Weavings 2000 has been distributed to every library in Maryland.

Rams Crush Eagles In State Semis, But Glenelg Claims Crown By Three

Offensive Balance Crucial To Southern's Fortunes In Both Contests

The Southern High School girls' varsity came within just two baskets of taking the state basketball championship Saturday in an emotion-filled 1A tournament final played before hundreds of Garrett County fans at the University of Maryland--Baltimore County in Catonsville. After rolling into the championship contest by taking a convincing 66-48 semifinal win over North Dorchester Friday, the Rams battled the Glenelg Gladiators the following evening for a full four quarters before losing by a heartbreaking three-point margin, 45-42.

"There were a lot of tears in the locker room [after the championship loss]," SHS head coach Don Stemple said. "It was very emotional for all of us, including the coaching staff, because we had worked so hard to get here, and we all wanted this so badly for our seniors. Once we got over the shock, however, as we began to evaluate the season together, we realized that a great success it had been. We had a 21-6 record, and did something this year that we can be very proud of for a long time."

The coach said some of his strongest emotions of the weekend centered around the team's departing seniors, especially Charlena Reeves. "Charlena's been our heart and soul in so many ways — through her determination, work ethic, physical and emotional stature on the court — she dedicated herself to getting to the state tournament, and she did; we're only sorry we weren't able to get the title for her. She had a great year and a great career, and was one of the best players I've ever coached."

Reeves held nothing back during SHS's 18-point semifinal win over the ND Eagles Friday. The 5-8 center scored a team-high 19 points and ripped down a game-high 11 rebounds to lead the Rams to a 26-11 rebounding advantage. Reeves and fellow frontcourt players Jennifer Bosley and Becca Flanagan drew an iron curtain across the front line of ND's offense, as only one Eagle frontcourt player got off a lone shot — an errant one at that.

Southern took its time warming up to the task before the overwhelmingly pro-Garrett crowd. The Rams turned the ball over on their first four possessions, and the Eagles flew out to a 9-0 lead. "We weren't doing the right things on our first possessions," recalled Stemple. "That wasn't like us, so we called a timeout to settle the girls down and remind them that's not the way we play basketball. We just needed to put those couple of minutes behind us and do things the way we usually do them."

The coaching staff's encouragement awakened the sleeping tiger, and the Rams roared back with a 14-2 run as Reeves paced the flurry with six points. Junior guard Ashley Liller scored four points, and the fab frosh, Becca Flanagan and Robbin Gregg, each netted a pair.

Southern was on top by a 14-11 margin at the end of the first quarter, but opened the second stanza with a pair of turnovers that put the Rams behind 16-14. The spotlight shifted to forward Jennifer Bosley, whose first basket of the contest sparked a 6-0 Ram run, and Flanagan, who scored 12 points to help boost the Rams into a 33-24 halftime lead. "That's the way it's been all year," Stemple remarked. "Teams will try to stop one or two players, but every time a team keys on one of our girls, another steps up."

It was déjà vu when third quarter opened as the Rams turned the ball over twice to hand ND four unanswered points that cut the SHS lead to five, 33-28. Southern exploded again, however, for a 7-0 run that put the Rams up by 12 en route to a 49-39 fourth quarter lead. SHS outscored the Eagles 17-12 over the final stanza behind a six-point, six-rebound tally by Reeves.

"Nobody puts their heart and soul into basketball like Charlena does," Stemple told Garrett County's radio listeners immediately after victory, "and nobody deserves the player of the game honor for this one like she does. Her teammates agreed that this was the best game of her career, and it came at a great time in a very crucial game."

Reeves connected on eight field goals and recorded a 3-for-4 performance from the free-throw line, keying a balanced Ram attack against ND's zone defense that resulted in 13 points for Bosley, 12 apiece from Liller and Flanagan, and 10 points for Gregg. The even distribution did not escape the team's notice, the Rams' skipper stated. "After a game we all look up at the scoreboard, not to see who won but to see our balance. When we looked at the scoreboard and noticed all five starters reached double figures, it really jumped out at us."

The Eagles' offense relied perhaps too heavily on its outstanding guards, Tiffany Cephas and Ashley Warrick. The big pair accounted for all of North Dorchester's 48 points, tallying 34 and 14 respectively. "We were playing man-to-man, and when you're playing against a girl like Cephas who can light it up from anywhere, you have to keep the pressure on," Stemple said. "We moved Liller over to defend against her, and Ashley had some luck because her height enabled her to keep a hand in Cephas's face when she was shooting. But they just didn't have the balance we had, and it showed."

The win landed Southern in the state championship game for the first time since 1995, as the Rams took to the floor against Glenelg before hundreds of fans who wore their red and white to UMBC's RAC Arena. Observers noted another overwhelming numerical and noise advantage in the SHS stands, and those fans, who spanned both ends of the county, were treated to a hard-fought battle that went down to the wire.

Glenelg, a large 1A school that will move to the 2A class next season, brought an 18-7 record into the contest, along with the across-the-board team balance that North Dorchester had lacked. SHS fell behind early in the opening moments, 5-0, when the Gladiators capitalized on three consecutive Ram turnovers. Southern was down 11-5 late in the first quarter when Reeves and Liller sank a pair of quick buckets to pull the Rams to within two as the stanza expired, 11-9.

The Gladiators opened the second period with four unanswered points, but SHS responded with a 7-0 run that gave the Rams a 16-15 lead with two minutes remaining in the half. Glenelg got five points on a field goal by Heather Young and a three-pointer by Chrissy Starcher while Southern scored three points. The half ended with Southern down by just one basket, 20-18.

The second half opened with Liller connecting on a top-of-the-key jumper to knot the score, but the Gladiators smote the Rams with an 8-0 run. Glenelg's hustling defense kept SHS in check and forced three turnovers during the scoring run, which featured back-to-back lay-ups off steals, that put the Gladiators up 28-20 at the 4:32 mark of the quarter. Southern called a timeout to plot its firefighting strategy, and came back onto the floor to mount a 9-7 run that cut the gap to 35-29 by the end of the stanza.

The ferocious battle grew even more pitched over the final quarter. Glenelg drew first blood when Davidson hit a short shot to put her squad up by eight points. Both offenses proceeded to prod the pressing defensive units to find a weakness, and traded possessions until Liller hit a jumper from the lane with 6:50 to go, which made the score 37-31.

The Rams, who were in the one-shot bonus situation after Glenelg committed its sixth team foul just moments earlier, then drew another foul that sent Flanagan to the line, where she sank both attempts to cut the lead to 37-33. Several players dove to the floor under the Gladiators basket during Glenelg's ensuing possession, and Bosley snatched up the ball and got it moving down the floor, but the Rams were unable to capitalize on a free-throw opportunity.

A Gladiator turnover at its end of the floor gave SHS the ball again; Liller broke the Glenelg fullcourt press and got a two-on-one break going down the court. She hit Flanagan with a bounce pass, and the freshman scored to bring the Rams within two with 5:19 remaining. Davidson recorded a lay-up to put Glenelg up 39-35.

A traveling call on Southern put the ball back in the Gladiators' hands at 4:50 to go. SHS's fullcourt press harassed the Gladiators, who finally managed to get the ball up the court. Davidson sank a follow-up bucket off a missed three-point attempt, and was fouled but missed her free throw. Liller singlehandedly broke the Glenelg press and streaked down the sideline all the way to a left-handed layup. Davidson answered the SHS press with a layup of her own that made the score 43-37 with 4:07 on the clock.

SHS and Glenelg traded missed shots, then a Ram was knocked to the floor under the Southern basket and went to the line with less than three minutes to go for a two-shot attempt. Both free throws missed their mark, and the Gladiators pulled down the rebound but turned the ball back over to the Rams when an errant pass sailed out of bounds.

Southern returned the favor by not being able to control a pass of its own, but with 2:05 remaining, Liller, whose on-court presence kept growing as the pressure mounted, came up with a huge steal when Glenelg attempted an inbounds pass from the sideline. The quick guard streaked down the floor to sink a lay-up that cut the margin to four, 43-39.

With the ball in its possession, Glenelg called a timeout as the clock ticked off just inside the two-minute mark. The Gladiators missed a lay-up with 1:30 to play, and the Rams quickly got the ball upcourt, where Kate Dugan was fouled as she put a shot in the air. The senior forward went to the line and sank the first half of a one-and-one that cut the Gladiators' lead to 43-40 with 1:26 to play.

Up by three, Glenelg took a shot from three-point distance with 1:07 on the clock, and, unlike what transpired in the closing moments of SHS boys' semifinal, the ill-advised attempt missed its mark. The Rams took control of the ball and Liller rose to the occasion yet again, hitting a clutch two-point field goal just shy of three-point range with 40 seconds to go that pulled the Rams to within one, 43-42.

The SHS defense pressured the Gladiators into muffing the ball, but Glenelg called a timeout as both teams' players were scrambling for the loose ball. The Gladiators inbounded the ball with 21 seconds to go on the Southern end, and the pressing Rams attempted to force a turnover by trapping a ballhandler in a double-team. Glenelg broke the press and got off a fast break, which ended with Chela Hamilton taking the ball down the baseline for an off-balance, no-look layup from underneath the basket. Glenelg was up by three with five seconds remaining.

SHS inbounded the ball immediately and attempted to run a pre-called play designed to pop Liller free off a down-court block for a long jumper; however, the Rams were forced to pass the ball twice before they could get it into the hands of their top-shooting guard, who had by necessity retreated to half court to get the ball. By that point the clock had ground down toward the end of its run, and Liller was forced to try to make something out of nothing. She launched a desperate attempt from halfcourt, but the shot was partially deflected as a Gladiator crashed into her. No foul was called, and the ball fell short of the basket as the buzzer sounded.

The scoreboard read: Glenelg 45 - Southern 42.

"It was a tough loss," said Stemple, just as emotionally drained as his players. Southern had several chances to take control, and overall led Glenelg in both shooting percentage categories. The Rams hit 42 percent of their field goals to the Gladiators' 33 percent (however, the victors were able to get off 62 shots while holding SHS to just 38 attempts); and the Rams sank 55 percent of their free throws to the victors' 22 percent. SHS also held the rebounding advantage, 28-23, and committed just seven fouls to Glenelg's 17.

Had Southern not helped dig its own grave by letting the Gladiators get off unanswered (or barely answered) scoring runs at the start of each of the first three quarters, the result might have been very different; but "what-ifs" don't win ballgames, and the game was a classic battle between two evenly matched units.

"We got real close toward the end, and the outcome was always in doubt," Stemple commented. "It was just a great state championship game, a hard-fought contest by both teams. My girls were very disappointed, but they played hard and I'm very proud of the way they performed both nights.

"Glenelg had fine coaching, and they ran the fast break really well off our fullcourt press. They were super athletes, and they got to the ball very quick on defense. Their fullcourt press hurt us mid-way through the fourth quarter and forced turnovers that resulted in a pair of lay-ups, but I was very pleased with the way our girls came back from those mistakes. We combatted that press by switching from a three-guard set to a five-guard set, which spread us out and enabled us to get the ball inbounds without facing a double-team situation. When we told our girls to go to that, they executed real well."

Liller was the consensus player of the game for Southern, as she paced SHS with 21 points on 10 field goals, including a three-pointer. "Ashley stepped up to make things happen for us," said Stemple. "She has a real knack for creating shots for herself, and had a great night on defense with her quick hands and anticipation, which helped her out on the boards too."

Liller nabbed eight rebounds to share game-high honors with Reeves, and led the squad in assists. The offensive balance and team shooting aggressiveness that marked the semifinal win was missing, however, as Liller was the only Ram to hit for double figures. Flanagan scored nine points, and Reeves had five. Davidson scored 10 points for Glenelg, while Hamilton scored nine, and Starcher and Alli Biggs scored eight points each.

"I've been here before, and there's something about losing that makes you want to win even more," mused Stemple. "I can see it in our underclassmen's eyes already this week. We know we'll really miss Charlena next year, along with fellow seniors Kate Dugan, Ashlee Spady, Amber Stewart, and Holly Shaffer.

"As reserve players, Amber and Holly gave us everything they had in every practice to make our starters better. Ashlee was just starting to reach her full potential when she hurt her knee in December and then her finger recently. Had she played the whole year we would have a better all-around year, and we would have definitely gotten over the hump against Glenelg if we had both her and Charlena at 100 percent.

"Kate stepped in off the bench to take Ashlee's role, which was tough for her as she had only two years of experience in our program; she still had a fine year and played a big role under the basket against Glenelg, where she happens to have transferred from. If she had three or four years with us she would have had our system down pat and have been been one of top players.

"We'll have our work cut out replacing those players, but we have a maturing group of underclassmen and a fine crop of junior varsity players moving up through the ranks, thanks to the hard work of the coaches in the junior varsity program and the Oakland Service Club Basketball League."

Stemple laid down the gauntlet for his athletes as he predicted — "We'll be back."

A GAME-HIGH PERFORMANCE just wasn't quite enough for the Rams during Saturday's 45-42 title game loss to Glenelg. Junior guard Ashley Liller (#21), led all scorers with 21 points, many coming under the intense fourth-quarter pressure shown at the right, to account for half of SHS's offensive output. Following the contest, the 2000-2001 Rams, who recorded an overall 21-6 mark for the year, were honored during the Finalist Trophy presentation, shown above. From the left are head coach Don Stemple, Megan Burner, Becca Flanagan, Robbin Gregg, Justine Pagenhardt, Autumn Uphold, Liller, Amber Stewart, Holly Shaffer, Kate Dugan, Ashlee Spady, Charlena Reeves, Jennifer Bosley, Melissa Flanagan, Gina Reeves, Casey Taylor, and assistant coach Jason Shank. The team is lined up in front of the SHS cheerleading squad and one of several seating sections packed with Southern fans who trekked to UMBC to root on their Rams. "We were just floored by the support from our fans at both games, who vastly outnumbered fans from schools much closer to Catonsville, and the entire community at large," Stemple said. "The girls really appreciated it. Garrett County is a fantastic place filled with wonderful people." Photos courtesy of Rick Dolan and Steve Follckman.

Rams' Bid For State Championship Is Cut Short By Snow Hill, 54-49

"LET'S GET READY TO RUMBLE!" described the fevered pitch in the University of Maryland's Cole Field House last Friday evening, where the Southern High School varsity met Snow Hill High School in the semifinals of the Maryland 1A state tournament. The stands were packed with the Ram faithful, who came by auto and bus to support not only the boys' varsity, but also the SHS girls' varsity, which also earned a spot in the state tourney and played at nearby Catonsville. The Rams were edged by the Eagles, 54-49, which ended their season with a school-record 22 wins against just four defeats. Photos courtesy of Rick Dolan.

IT WAS NOT FOR LACK OF EFFORT that the Southern High varsity boys came up just short in their 1A state semifinal game against Snow Hill last Friday at the University of Maryland, as the Rams trailed throughout the game, but continually battled back and cut the Eagles' lead to just one point with moments to play. A three-point bucket by Snow Hill's Jessie Bratten with less than a minute to play basically sealed the Rams' fate, as they were topped by a 54-49 margin. Snow Hill went on to win the state 1A championship the following evening. In the photo above left, Southern's Michael Saturday puts up a shot for two. Also identifiable in the photo are Rams Bryan Panther (#43) and Joel Helbig (#42). Above right, Southern's Josh Sharon makes his way to the hoop, while teammate Chad Panther (#10) prepares to travel back downcourt on defense. Below, Southern's Chad Panther takes on a much taller defender to win a rebound. Photos courtesy of Rick Dolan and Steve Follckman.

"Always a bridesmaid, never a bride" might be a slogan that pops into the minds of some Southern High School fans when describing the history of the boys' varsity basketball program's record in the semifinals or finals of the Maryland State 1A Tournament. The Rams have won the regional title and made the trip to College Park several times over the years, an honor earned by a minority of high schools in the state, but they have never finished higher than runner-up.

Another outstanding season once again took the Rams to the "big dance" in College Park this year as one of the final four 1A teams. However, the quest for the coveted state title will once again have to be continued next season, as they were edged by eventual champion Snow Hill, 54-49, in a semifinal clash last Friday evening at Cole Field House of the University of Maryland. The loss was only the fourth in 26 games this season for the Rams and their coach, Tom Bosley, with the 22 victories being a new school record.

The Rams had but one lead in the entire game, and that was a 2-0 edge in the opening seconds. The Eagles quickly assumed the advantage for good, led most of the game by a margin of six to eight points, and held their largest lead at 43-30 late in the third quarter. However, the Rams rallied to narrow the gap several times, and went on an 11-3 run in the fourth quarter, led by senior Bryan Panther, to cut the margin to just one point, 48-47, with one minute to play.

With 56 ticks left on the clock, Snow Hill's Jessie Bratten put up a long, ill-planned shot, but the ball banked through the hoop to give his team a 51-47 lead. That shot, coupled with a turnover by the Rams on the ensuing possession, all but sealed their fate, as Snow Hill's Tony Harmon put up a final bucket underneath with 31 seconds remaining to ultimately put the game out of reach for the Rams.

Coach Bosley knew that, given the strength, superior height, and athleticism of the Eagles, it would be crucial for the Rams to play aggressively under the basket, and thus give up some defense against long-range shooting by the Eagles.

"Every time we scouted them we weren't particularly impressed with their outside shooting," Coach Bosley said. "In fact, neither Taylor nor Bratten showed us anything from outside, so we pulled our defenders into the lane and just gave them some open looks outside. Unfortunately, they hit some big threes, including the game-breaker by Bratten, who, frankly, we had labeled as a poor shooter."

Taylor finished with three long-range buckets, Bratten hit two, and Jerrell Harmon netted one.

"The three-pointer by Bratten really broke our backs," Bosley said. "It was a shot that he shouldn't have taken, but he took it with confidence and it fell through."

After the Rams' brief 2-0 lead, the Eagles built a 17-10 advantage by the end of the first quarter, and stretched their lead to 33 24 by halftime. The Rams were out-scored in the third stanza by a 10-8 margin to give the Eagles a 43-32 advantage going into the final quarter.

Led by the coolness and experience of seniors Panther and Josh Sharon, the Rams did not quit, however, and took charge in the fourth quarter by scoring 13 of the first 18 points of that period. Panther recorded eight of his team-high total of 14 points in the fourth period, and finished 6-for-8 from the field. A two-pointer by Sharon with about two minutes remaining made the score 48-47.

Sharon also had an outstanding shooting performance, connecting on six of seven shots and finishing with 12 points.

Panther pulled down six rebounds and blocked two shots, Chad Panther finished with eight points and nine rebounds, and Ricky Reams provided a balanced effort with six points, a game-high seven assists, and three steals.

The Rams were out-rebounded in the first half, 23-10, but trailed by just three, 32-29, at the end of the contest.

Jerrell Harmon hit a game-high 15 points to lead the Eagles, and also had five steals, while Tony Harmon finished with 12 points and nine rebounds. Taylor reached double figures with 11 points, Bratten contributed nine points, and Buddy Johnson grabbed a game-high 11 rebounds.

Snow Hill went on to capture the state championship on Saturday by defeating Oakland Mills, 69-60. Oakland Mills earned a spot in the title game by topping Pikesville in the other semifinal.

Since Snow Hill won the title, most Ram fans believe their team would have also topped Oakland Mills in the state final; however, Coach Bosley declined to make that assumption. "Just comparing scores can be deceiving because it all depends on how your team matches up with the other team," he said. "But I think there's no question that we would have been very competitive."

Despite the loss to Snow Hill, Bosley was quick to extend his appreciation to many for helping make the 2000-01 season one of the best in school history. "I absolutely can't put into words how overwhelmed I was with the support we had at college park," he said, "and the support that our girls had at UMBC. Very few teams have the kind of following that we have, which plays a big role in the level of our success. I thought our kids gave a great effort. They played extremely hard, and we have a lot to be proud of."

It was the second straight year that Bosley and the Rams lost all or nearly all of their starters to graduation, yet it was the third straight year that the program generated at least 20 victories. "This is a credit to our kids, their parents, our staff, and all of the support we receive from so many people," he said.

"What other team has a packed house at every game, has radio coverage of every game, has a 'Rampager' publication that's distributed at every game, and has a pep band and the 'Sixth Man Club' at every game?" he asked.

"This was the 30th year in a row that our pep band has played 'Jesus Christ Superstar' for our team when we come out onto the floor, and I can't say enough about how much it means to our team to have those kids in the stands at our games," he said.

"I want to extend my congratulations to Coach Don Stemple and the members of our girls' team, who made it all the way to the state final," he continued. "Don has a great program and a fine group of dedicated, talented athletes.

"I also want to thank all of our sponsors, businesses and individuals, our cheerleaders, the school administration, the parents, and our fans for all of their support

Garrett County Swim Team To Begin Season

The Garrett County Manta Rays swim team is set to begin another competitive swimming season. The team consists of approximately 50 members, ranging in age from 5 to 18, and is led by head coach Nan Gangler. The team competes in the YMCA Summer League at the Riverside YMCA in Cumberland. There are seven other teams who also compete in this league, many of which swim and compete year-round, from areas such as Cumberland, Keyser, LaVale, and Moorefield, W.Va. The Manta Rays team is one of the largest teams in the league.

The season consists of one-hour practice sessions Saturday mornings at the Alpine Lake pool in Terra Alta, W.Va., until school is dismissed for the summer. The practice schedule then changes to Tuesday and Thursday mornings through the remainder of the season. The competition, which begins in late June, consists of four regular season meets in Cumberland and a championship meet in late July. Each of the four regular season meets iss designed to focus on one of the four basic swimming strokes: freestyle, backstroke, breaststroke, and butterfly. The championship meet consists of all the strokes. Individual champions are crowned in separate age and gender groups.

According to Coach Gangler, the Garrett County swim team is not designed for those who do not know how to swim, but for the swimmer who wants to refine his/her existing skills, learn new techniques, and compete in an enjoyable atmosphere. Practice sessions emphasize stretching, conditioning, good sportsmanship, a team concept, and the use of proper swimming techniques.

Try-outs and an organizational meeting will be held Saturday, March 24, at 10 a.m. at Alpine Lake in Terra Alta. The first official practice will be on Saturday, March 31. Those swimmers wishing to join the Manta Rays need to attend.

For more information on the Garrett County swim team, including requirements, the tentative schedule, and the approximate costs, persons may call Coach Gangler at 301-334-3467.

Rams' Bid

not only at the state tournament, but all season long.

"We live in a unique community," he said. "We always rally together for special occasions and purposes, like the Relay for Life (American Cancer Society benefit) and the Deep Creek Dunk (for Maryland Special Olympics). The community is always right there to support great causes and positive endeavors, including high school athletics. It's one of the things that makes this area such a great place to live."

LOCAL DEPUTIES TO PLAY BASKETBALL - The Garrett County Sheriffs Office staff will be taking on the Allegany County office in a basketball game scheduled for Saturday, March 24, at Northern High School, beginning at 7 p.m. Tickets are on sale at $5 for adults and $3 for 12-17 year olds. Children under 12 may enter free. Prizes will be drawn throughout the game and clowns will be present for the children. Tickets can be bought in advance by contacting any deputy or sheriff office. If any tickets remain, they will be available at the door. Members of the Garrett County team include Jeff Green, Jeff Murphy, Dave McLaughlin, Chris Helbig, Rob Corley, Paul Pratt, Brent Sanders, Steve Steffan, Dave Teets, Will Valentine, Mike Bittinger, Dan Duggan, Tim Gnegy, and Jeremy DeWitt. Pictured above, the team prepares for the big game.

Fund-Raising To Be Discussed By Athletic Assn.

The Southern Garrett Athletic Association will hold a meeting Sunday, March 18, at 6:30 p.m. in the Community Services building, beside Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The main order of business will be to discuss a fund-raiser for the spring.

"We are in need of great support in this effort to raise money for the spring," said Rhonda Savage, secretary of the SGAA. "We have had many expenses over the past few weeks, and the spring sports banquet is rapidly approaching."

The sports banquet will also be discussed. All athletes of Southern High School, coaches, and parents are invited to attend the meeting.

Addison VFD Sets Sportsman's Show For This Weekend

The Addison (Pa.) Volunteer Fire Department Sportsman's Show is set for Saturday and Sunday, March 17-18, at Turkeyfoot High School. Tickets for the fund-raiser are $4 at the door for adults, and $3 at the door for children under 12. A variety of exhibits and seminars will be featured, and refreshments will be available.

The exhibit area will be open from 2 to 9 p.m. on Saturday and 1 to 7 p.m. on Sunday. It will include displays by taxidermists, gunsmiths, turkey call experts, archery dealers, fishing equipment suppliers, sport shops, and truck and boat dealers.

Three outdoor-related seminars are slated for each day. Saturday's seminar schedule is as follows: 4 p.m.—"Tuning Factory Rifles," presented by a Hay and Tokar factory representative; 5:30 p.m.—"Walleye Fishing on the Youghiogheny River Lake," by the Western Pennsylvania Anglers Association; and 7 p.m.—"Pennsylvania's Black Bear," by bear biologist Mark Ternant of the Pennsylvania Game Commission. Sunday's seminar slate is: 2 p.m.—a repeat of the rifle program; 3:30 p.m.—a repeat of the black bear presentation; and 5 p.m.—"2001 Pennsylvania Elk Season," by Game Commission elk biologist Rawley Cogan.

Persons traveling from the Keysers Ridge area can take Route 40 west to Pa. Route 523; turn north on Route 523 and travel approximately 4 miles to Turkeyfoot High School, which will be on the right. For further information persons may call Gary Compton at 814-395-3035, Jerry Bender at 814-395-5750, or Terry Bender at 814-395-5360.

GC Represented At World Fly-Fishing Expo

Garrett County took its place among some of the world's top names in fly-fishing at the World Fly-Fishing Expo near Boston last weekend. Teamed with such recognized manufacturers of fly-fishing gear as Orvis and L.L. Bean, and representatives from sports magazines including American Angler and Fly, Rod & Reel, Garrett County Chamber of Commerce representatives handed out information about the area's world-class rivers and their unique fly-fishing opportunities.

Enthusiasts had traveled from such distant points as New Zealand and Alaska to take advantage of this sixth annual expo. Swanton resident A.J. Fleming, owner of A.J.'s Streamside Services and Maryland's youngest certified fly-fishing guide, volunteered his expertise at the chamber's expo information booth. He also won the world fly-tying title (see separate story).

According to chamber president Ken Wishnick, statistics profile fly-fishermen as spending significantly more on their getaways than the average vacationer. "Attracting additional fly-fishermen during early spring and late fall will boost off-season sales and help ensure an increasing number of local year-round tourism jobs," said Wishnick.

At the expo, anglers and would-be anglers were told about the clean waters of Garrett County's rivers, which boast naturally reproducing brook, brown, and rainbow trout, and about the North Branch of the Potomac earning the designation of "Grand Slam River," because it is possible to catch four species of trout from its banks.

Because of its cool water temperatures, Garrett County has the only cutthroat trout fishing area east of the Rockies, Wishnick said, but the area's real claim to fame comes from the tailwater fishing areas along the North Branch of the Potomac, the Savage, and Youghiogheny rivers. Even at the height of summer, the waters of the North Branch stay about 50 degrees.

Every single state record trout have been caught in Garrett County, and the state record for brown trout was just broken by Eddie Martin of Cumberland with his 13 lb. 7.5-oz. catch on March 1 in the North Branch of the Potomac.

The health of Garrett County's rivers has fostered the continued expansion of sport fishing in the area, according to Ken Pavol of the Department of Natural Resources, who points to the positive results from many years of fisheries management efforts, water quality improvement, and water pollution abatement. State and local governments, fishing organizations, and caring individuals have joined forces to achieve these goals, he explained.

"I'm very optimistic that we will be able to continue to improve fly-fishing opportunities, and I expect that Garrett County will become an increasingly popular destination for fly-fishing," Pavol concluded.

SHS HOMECOMING ROYALTY - The Winter Sports Homecoming Dance was held recently at Southern High School, and elected by SHS students to reign as their queen and king for the event were Andrea Savage and Toby Tasker. Savage, a senior, is the daughter of Kevin and Renee Savage, Mtn. Lake Park. Tasker, also a senior, is the son of Allen Tasker and Mary Walker, Oakland.

Oakland Rec. Hoops League Season Ends

The men's basketball league of the Oakland Recreation League ended its season last weekend as Patterson Boat Company, Quality Machine, and Gonder Insurance each claimed victories.

Patterson Boat sank Bosley Construction 57-48 as Justin Liller scored 24 points for the winners. Tom Stem and Paul Lewis scored 15 and 12 points, respectively, for Bosley Construction.

Quality Machine put the screws to Mettiki in taking a 47-39 victory behind Joe Refosco's 17 points. Mettiki got 16 points from Stan Skiles.

Gonder Insurance nipped the Barracudas 78-73 as Billy Braithwaite and Jamie Bosley netted 21 points apiece. The Barracudas, were led by a day-high 28 points from Mike Browning, while teammate Jason Shreve scored 22 points.

Oakland Little League Sign-Up Set For March 24

The Oakland Little League will be holding a supplemental sign-up for 5- to 16-year-olds at the Shaffer Ford building on Saturday, March 24, from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Those signing up, ages 5 to 12, will be placed on a team. Any minor league player from last year must sign up again this year in order to be eligible.

HEELS TOP NORTHERN HOOP LEAGUE — The Western Garrett Tar Heels won the 2001 Northern Youth Basketball League Championship Tournament by a 23-14 margin over the Central Garrett Cavaliers, the first-place regular season squad. The tourney final took place Saturday evening at Northern High School, where some of the competitors will someday no doubt be sporting the blue and gold of the Huskies hoops squad. Shown from the left, in the front row, are Ed Herpel, Jared Lapp, and Lindsay Wolf. In the second row are Daniel Smith, Bryce Manges, Lincoln Lowdermilk, Khristy Brenes, and Leah Frazee. Tar Heels' coach Jerry Herpel stands behind his troops, happy to answer to the question "Why is the sky blue?" with "Because God is a Tar Heel!"

Experience, Leadership Cited By Coach Wildesen As Laker Strengths

MATT MILLS

DAN KOCHENDERFER

JASON DiANGELO

CHAD COOPER

JOSH BOSLEY

DEAN ALTAVILLA

JEREMY GAYMAN

A corps of talented returning players, coupled with a group of highly touted freshmen recruits, provides the makings for another successful season for the Garrett Community College baseball team, which earned a spot in last year's Region XX championship game against Potomac State College.

"There's no question that our primary strengths this season are experience, both defensively and offensively, and good leadership," stated Coach Ed Wildesen, who enters his eighth year as mentor for the Lakers. "We were generally pleased that we reached the Region XX championship game last year, but we're still not satisfied. Our schedule is extremely competitive, and will be a true test for all of our players."

The Lakers have been tested twice so far this season and now have a 1-1 record, having lost their opener to the West Virginia State junior varsity before defeating Catonsville CC this past week. Garrett will play a single game at Germantown this Friday before hitting the road for a week of spring-break ball in North Carolina.

Among the outstanding players lost from last season are Gary Lee, an All-Region honorable mention selection and All-Maryland JUCO catcher who is now playing for Duquesne University, and Brian Melnyk, a left-handed pitcher who was ninth in the nation, NJCAA Division I, last year in strike-outs per inning. He too was an All-Region XX selection and is now pitching for Point Park College in Pittsburgh.

"Brian is doing quite well for them," Wildesen said. "As of this writing he is 2-0, with one of his victories over nationally ranked Nazareth College."

Talented players back in the Laker line-up this year include Matt Mills, Dan Kochenderfer, Jason DiAngelo, and Chad Cooper. Mills, who has been tagged as a pre-season Division I All-American, hit .370 last year and was named to the All-Region XX team and second team All-JUCO. Kochenderfer, an outfielder, hit .388 last season and was also named to the All-Region XX and All-JUCO squads. DiAngelo batted .355 with nine home runs for the Lakers last year and was an All_JUCO pick, as was Cooper, who hit .354.

As a team the Lakers batted an impressive .344 last season.

Other players back for their sophomore seasons are Craig Barkey, Dennis Show, Tim Casey, Jeff Carr, Myron Deal, Brandon Stewart, Billy Swart, and Nathan Gayman.

Top freshman recruits include Ryan Wetzel, a transfer from NCAA Division I East Carolina University; Adam Skocik, a projected NCAA Division I outfielder from Ohio; Josh Bosley, a Southern High School graduate who was the area Player of the Year for Coach Jim Bosley and the Rams last year; Dean Altavilla, a catcher who made the Pennsylvania All-West Legion team last summer; and Jeremy Gayman, a catcher from Waynesburg (Pa.) Central High School.

"Consistency was one of our problems last year," Wildesen said. "If we can play more consistently, we could have an outstanding season."

DiAngelo Goes The Distance In Laker Win

Jason DiAngelo went the distance, struck out seven batters, walked just three, and gave up only four hits to lead the Garrett Community College Lakers to their first victory of the 2001 season, a 5-2 win over host Catonsville Community College on Sunday.

The Lakers, whose record was evened at 1-1, took a 2-0 lead in the first inning and never trailed. Chad Cooper led off the top of the first with a double and later scored on a dropped fly ball that was hit by Matt Mills. Adam Skocik followed with an RBI single that plated Mills.

The Lakers added one run in the second, and the Cardinals responded with a run in the bottom of that frame. GCC made it 4-1 with a single run in the fourth, and after Catonsville recorded a single run in the bottom of the fifth, Dennis Show added an insurance run for the Lakers with a solo homer in the sixth. Both teams were shut out the rest of the way.

Getting two hits apiece for the Lakers were Show, Cooper, DiAngelo, and Skocik, as Garrett finished with 12 runs off four Catonsville pitchers.

The Lakers will play a single game at Germantown this Friday and then leave Saturday for North Carolina, where they will play games against Hudson Valley, Finger Lakes, Broom, Westchester, Herkermer, and CCBC-Baltimore.

NHS Grappler Huber Named All-Academic

Blake Huber, a senior member of the Northern High School wrestling team who captured the individual championship in the 112-pound division of the Maryland State 1A/2A Wrestling Tournament last week, was afforded yet another honor this past week in being named to the first-team All-Maryland Academic Wrestling Team.

Only 13 wrestlers, one for each of the 13 weight divisions, are chosen for this honor, and the candidates come from the teams of all sizes of high schools in the state, 1A through 4A, plus private schools. The selection process is based upon the student athlete's academic performance, as well as his success in the sport of wrestling.

Huber, who is an honor student at Northern, finished the 2000-01 campaign with the Huskies by recording a 35-3 record, giving him his third 30-plus win season. He is the only Northern wrestler to ever earn at least 100 career wins in just three seasons, and with an overall mark of 104-13, he finished with the best-ever win percentage (88.8%) of the seven Northern wrestlers who completed their high school careers with at least 100 career wins.

Huber captured second place in his division in the state tournament two years ago, was third last year, and won his division this year, which gave him the three highest place finishes of any Northern wrestler ever in the state tourney.

SMC Wrestlers Win Awards At Two Tournaments

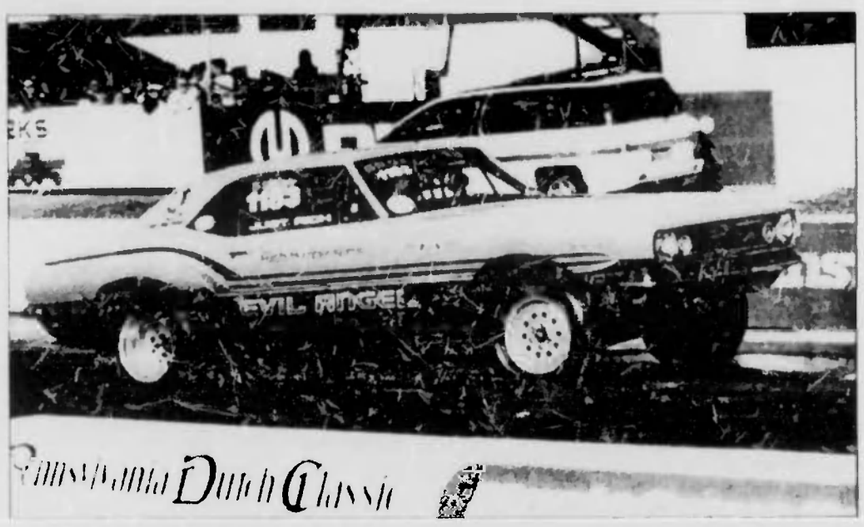
The Southern Mat Club youth wrestling team competed in tournaments last weekend in North Star, Pa., on Saturday and State College, Pa., on Sunday. At North Star, the team placed second overall, just one point behind the team champion from Pittsburgh. The tournament in State College is known as the "toughest tournament in the east," as wrestlers from as far away as Rhode Island braved the snowstorm to compete.

Individually at North Star, four SMC wrestlers won all their matches to earn a first-place trophy. Jakob Scheffel, Justin Ratliff, Brutus Scheffel, and Jeremy Gregory each finished the day without a loss to claim the top prize. Placing second, losing only once in the final match, were Nicholas Brant, Lex Ozias, and Scott Wildesen. Ryan Fitzwater placed third. Also competing at North Star were Justin Fitzwater and Gavin Murphy.

At State College, Jakob Scheffel was the only SMC wrestler able to defeat all his opponents to earn first place. Jakob's brother Brutus won three straight bouts to advance to the final match, where he was defeated to finish the day in second place. Lex Ozias was also able to win his first three matches before losing in the finals to a wrestler from New Jersey. Jeremy Gregory won three out of four matches to place third. Also competing at State College were Scott Wildesen, Justin Ratliff, Ryan Fitzwater, Nicholas Brant, and Justin Fitzwater.

The team will travel to Parkersburg, W.Va., this weekend for the Mid-Atlantic Wrestling Association's district qualifier. The top three place winners this weekend will qualify for the MAWA regional tournament, which will be held in Millersville, Pa., in three weeks. Place winners there will compete in the Eastern National Championships in East Stroudsburg, Pa., in April.

For more information on the Southern Mat Club, persons may contact any team member or visit the team's web site at www.smc wrestling.org.



GOLDEN ANGEL is the name of this automobile (previously called Evil Angel), which is owned by the local Humberson Racing Team, sponsored by Humberson Homes Inc. The 1967 Camaro, which is a National Hot Rod Association Super Stock G Class recorder holder, boasts a 396 engine, approximately 700 horsepower, 4-foot wheel stands, and can cover a quarter-mile in less than 10 seconds. The Golden Angel will be on display at the Home Show 2001, to be held at the Cumberland YMCA, 601 Kelly Road, next Friday through Sunday, March 23-25. The McHenry-based Humberson Racing Team is a father-and-son business enterprise operated by Rich Humberson Sr. and Rich Humberson Jr. They own and operate Humberson & Son, LLC, which provides excavation and pressure washing services in and around Garrett County. Rich Sr. has approximately 15 years of racing experience. The car is in the final stage of a multi-year reconstruction and improvement process, and this will be its initial presentation to the public since completion of the reconstruction. Bill Davis, a member of Humberson's pit crew and primary craftsman, has integrated additional engine performance upgrades, 4-link suspension system, 4-way disk brakes, chrome moly roll cage, and aluminum seats. The Golden Eagle will participate in several NHRA Northeast Division events between May and August. Persons interested in being sponsors for the local racing team may contact Humberson at 301-387-2501.

Domestic Violence Can Stem From Desire For Power And Control

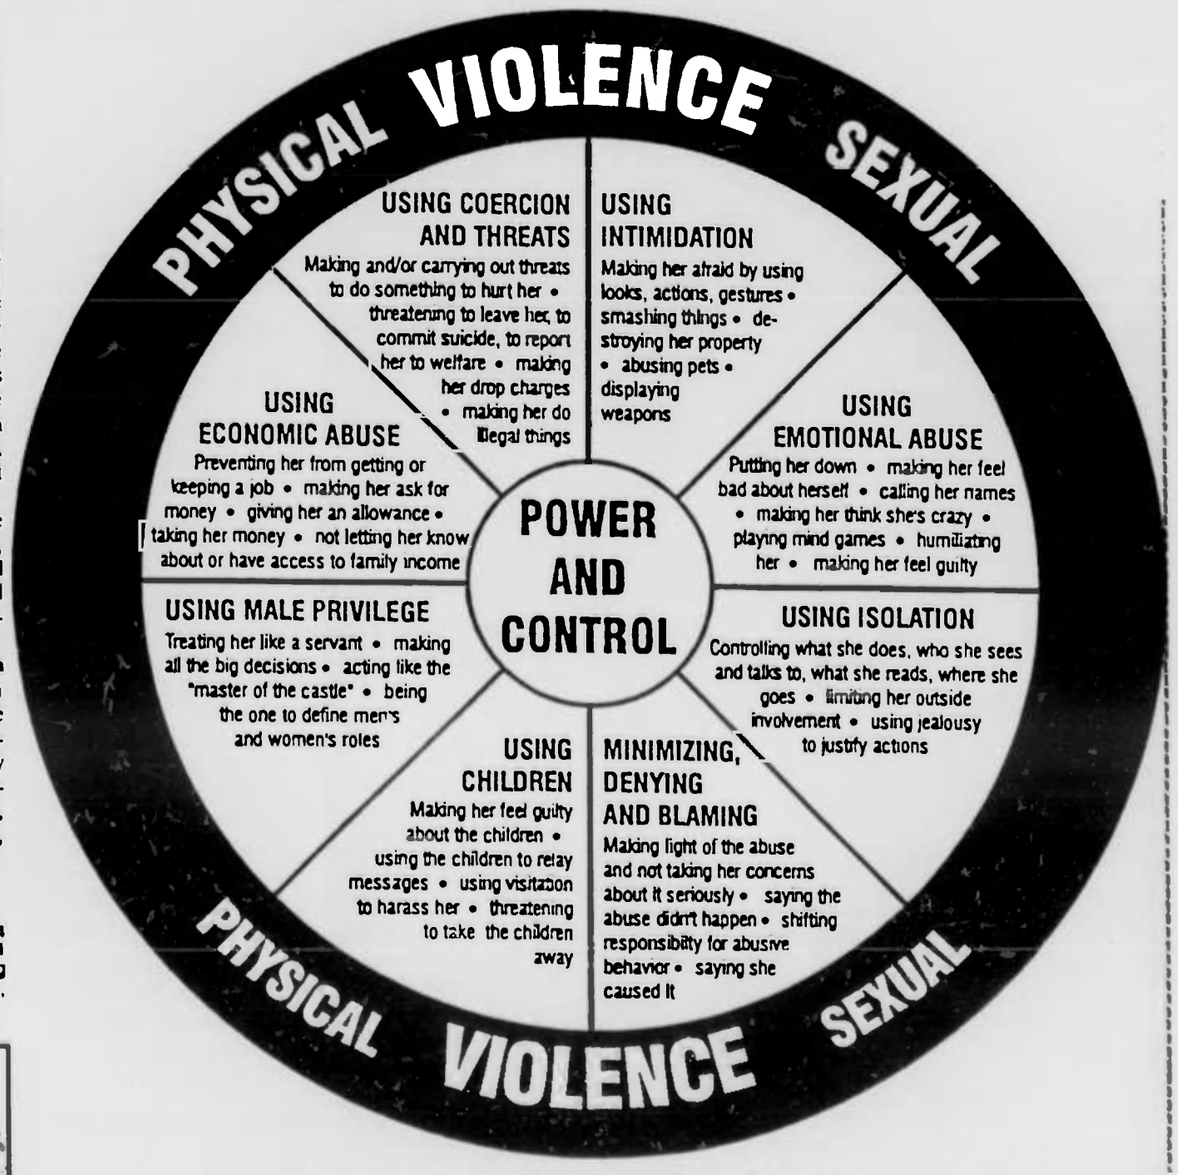
A service of the Dove Center

Garrett County's Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Resource Center

What do you think when you hear the words "domestic violence"? These two words together have different meanings for different people. Often when speaking of domestic violence, the thoughts of black eyes, slap marks, and ripped clothing come to mind.

The fact is that domestic violence is much more than physical violence. Domestic violence consists of a wide range of behaviors. Some are criminal and all are unacceptable. The person acting out these behaviors has the goal of controlling the victim.

This "Power and Control" wheel provides an overview of the many issues that power and control may entail in a relationship fraught with domestic violence.



People who are victims of domestic violence may have experienced any number, and any combination, of these dynamics. Victims will often minimize what is happening to them by telling themselves, "He only pushed me, he didn't actually hit me with his fist"; or "She doesn't physically hurt me, she just calls me names and threatens me."

After studying the wheel, ask yourself, "Are any of these forms of abuse happening to me?"

No one deserves to be abused. The effects can be devastating. You are not alone; help is available.

For further information or service, persons may call the Dove Center helpline at 301-334-9000, or toll-free at 1-800-656-4673.

To Consolidate

some years ago made up of members of the emergency management office, NGCRS, SGCRS, Deep Creek Fire Company, emergency medical official David Ramsey, and other officials. The group worked together to create a pin map to determine the number of calls in and around the northern area. The map showed a large number of calls to the McHenry area, Durst reported, creating a "strong concern" about the lack of a nearby ambulance. The committee finally agreed that consolidation would be the most beneficial action.

"It is not our intention to either abandon or decrease the quality of service, but to improve it in all areas," Durst said.

The building to be used by the consolidated squads is located along Rt. 42 just off Rt. 219. The location would put the squad 6 to 7 miles out of each town, and about 1 to 2 miles from the center of McHenry.

"We felt we could pool all our resources to a new facility that could accommodate ample lodging facilities for crews, a training center, garage, a social hall in the future, and the possibility of a heliport for the Maryland State Police," Durst said.

The facilities currently used by both squads in the fire halls are cramped, according to Phil Rook of the emergency management office.

"The fire departments have been great about sharing their quarters, and there are some advantages to the two being together," Rook said. "But in one of the locations, the squad has one small room, and there's not much more space in the other. The new facility will allow these volunteers to have a sleeping area, a training room, and other amenities. When you're volunteering to go on 2-hour calls down there, you should have a comfortable place to stay, and one that is entirely the property of the rescue squad."

Some residents of the two towns have already expressed their concern and displeasure about the consolidation, chiefly those in Friendsville. The worry is that an ambulance stationed 7 miles away will not be able to respond quickly enough, especially traveling down Rt. 42 into Friendsville. However, because of a shortage of volunteers, the response time is already limited, according to Frantz.

"We track the response rate every month, and in December the squads were unable to respond or were greatly delayed to 43% of the calls in Accident and 50% in Friendsville," Frantz said. When the squad is under-manned and unable to answer a call, other ambulances are summoned by emergency management's dispatchers. Rook said if the town's squad cannot respond, the Grantsville squad often covers, or Southern's, or sometimes a squad from West Virginia.

When outside crews are called to cover in Friendsville or Accident, the time it takes for these units (Grantsville or Southern or others) to respond puts their own communities in jeopardy, the men noted.

"While we know people are upset about the ambulances leaving the towns, it looks very likely that with the consolidation, response time will be better for everyone," Frantz said. He pointed out that a volunteer on the northern rescue squad, when responding to a call, knows that he/she will be involved in that call for at least 90 minutes.

"There aren't any nearby hospitals to transport the patients," Frantz said. "After they pick up the patient, they have to travel to Ruby Memorial in Morgantown, Cumberland Memorial, or in to Oakland. The southern rescue volunteers can turn a call around in 30 minutes. That's a big difference, and it makes recruiting in the northern end difficult."

The officials said they hope the consolidation will bring in more volunteers, especially from the McHenry area, who currently are not able to serve on the squad because of distance. A member of the Deep Creek Fire Company was present at the meeting, and he noted that he is eligible to serve on the squad but can rarely get to the squad hall in enough time to go with the ambulance.

Durst also noted that several members of the Accident and Friendsville fire companies are trained in first response emergency care, and that they can help stabilize and care for patients until the ambulance arrives.

"We know we might lose some squad members, and we know some residents are very upset about this, but we are confident that the consolidation is in the best interest of the entire county," Frantz said.

The commissioners were told of the decision for informational purposes only.

"It seems to me that this is a logical step for the rescue squad, especially considering the current response rates in the towns, which are certainly not caused by a lack of effort. But we need to make it clear that this issue is not a decision of the commissioners," said Commissioner Ernie Gregg.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Michelle Geis spent her spring break from Virginia Tech by leaving the more spring-like weather of Blacksburg, Va., to come home to Garrett County and get snowed in. I imagine she took the chance for a bit of cross country skiing.

For many years we got snowed here in Garrett County coming home from College Park, where the weather was warm and spring-like. When we got back late for our Monday morning class, no one would believe that we were actually snowed in. Finally one year I used a Polaroid instant camera to take a picture of our car buried under a two-foot layer of snow. That certainly shut up my speech professor.

Michelle returned to Blacksburg last weekend during the "spring thaw" here. Anyway, that is what Dot Teets called it at church when she saw so many cars had filled up the parking lot. I hope she is right. This warmer weather will hopefully not turn around to another big snow storm. I do like the snow cover, but I am anxious to start to watch for the sign of the first green. It is possible that will be soon, but I will not bet on it.

It was good to hear the birds singing outside this morning, instead of the wind howling. I have not as yet seen any sign of robins in Bittinger. I did hear where someone in Accident had seen one a few weeks ago. But let's take Dot's word for it since she has seen a lot more springs come to Bittinger than I did. So let's say, "Spring is coming up soon."

But that is another story. Michele is back in Blacksburg, and if everything goes as planned, she will have a treat on Thursday with a visit from her good friend, Lea Stanton, as she is on her spring break from Towson State. They have been friends since they were just little tots, as their mothers and I were. Michelle's mother, Ellen Housley, and I have stayed close longer, since we often shared rides home to Bittinger from the University of Maryland when Cindy Beachy was a student at Frostburg State. Even after a couple of decades when our paths had gone off in different directions and Cindy had gotten married when I was still in college and had a couple of babies while I was running all around working in the theater and on the horse show circuit.

Cindy's kids had almost grown up. But my little girl Claire really looked up to Michelle and Lea. She used to love to go to Northern High School to watch the girls' basketball and volleyball games, where the girls really shined. Now she follows Michelle's footpath on the Northern High School track team, along with Michelle's younger brother, Brent Housley. In fact, Brent's mother Ellen is due to give Claire a ride home after track practice this afternoon. Brent and Claire were for many years teammates on their soccer team. It is nice to have someone close by on the same team, and besides, it is good to have someone whom you will know in a new venture. For their parents it is a Godsend to share the burden of providing rides.

But once again, I dropped my original thread about Cindy and me. She is still among my peers in Bittinger. I feel most comfortable with her. No wonder, since even before we were in school we played together almost every day. Even before we got our ponies we loved to go down to the creek, just like my girls do, and get wet and dirty.

One year about this time of year we found a dead blue heron along the fence. Of course, we had to drag it up to Cindy's and Sally's, where we picked at it and saved the feathers, and then just watched it rot. I wish we could find another one, since I certainly could use those indigo blue feathers to decorate my nature dolls.

In fact, just the other day, Cindy dropped by with some leftover dry plant matter from a former venture in wreath making. As we discussed my needs (any kind of berries, princess pine or as one we used to call Crowfoot), she mentioned a kind of bush we used for pony whips. I always notice a good bush or low tree branch that is just right for a switch.

Cindy's pony Tony and my Misty occasionally got a bit stubborn, and we knew where all the right kind of sticks grew. Cindy was always enthusiastic to forage for a supply without having to use them.

Anyway, when she dropped off her dried flowers, sticks, etc., I had a pot on the stove to boil off the last fragments of deer flesh from some bones that our dogs had dragged in and that I want to use for my dolls. My daughter completely grossed out even at the sight of them, but after our heron, Cindy didn't even raise an eyebrow at the stinking mess. But our little sisters, either Sally or Carol, would not approve. They are not so inclined to get their hands dirty. In fact, Cindy admired my photograph of Claire all dressed up for the Snow Ball. She asked where our daughters got their good looks. Yes, we were big, scruffy, and boyish before 16 or so, but then we caught up pretty fast. We were not that bad looking, but of course in no way up to the standard of our darling daughters.

I am glad to have such wonderful role models as they have in the big girls from Bittinger: Michelle, Lea, Jennifer, Allison, and Kandi and Leslie. They are such beautiful girls and active in sports and are quite accomplished in many things. They have such good heads on their beautiful shoulders. They certainly value their friendship with their oldest friends. It is so nice to see how they rush together, squealing and hugging when they meet after a long separation, like at Christmas, or after their year at different colleges are over.

It is easy and natural being with a really old friend like Cindy, but it is also good to find new friends who grew up the same way — dirty hands, ponies, and know how to find the perfect stick for a pony whip. Even in New York City many of my close female friends were the same type, pony girls who were not afraid to get dirty. Even my next door neighbor who was a dancer from England grew up the same way as I did. Cindy and I have some fun driving around on her four-wheeler to find supplies for my dolls.

Patty Diehlman and her husband Steve checked out many communities in Garrett County until they found just the right place for them in Bittinger since they used to live in Vermont and our winters do not upset them. Patty has squired me around also looking for supplies. Their tribe of young daughters fits perfectly with my girls. I am glad my girls have good friends just over the field and through the woods from our house. They often meet halfway, just like Cindy and Sally and I used to do.

This week also marks another anniversary of the 39th birthday of some gals from Bittinger. At least that is what one of the birthday girls (Pastor Pat) said at church last Sunday. The other one is Sally Poholsky, who will be celebrating her ? birthday. When you have reached your 39th, there are no more. I want to finish up my present for Pastor Pat, which is a doll dressed in her clerical robe and made from old corn leaves that I bleached.

Sharon Buckel recently had minor surgery. She is still in the hospital in Morgantown, but is coming along fine. I am sure that Gary looks forward to her coming home so he can pamper her.

Lana and Larry Roby and Lottie Brenneman motored to Florida, where Lottie spent two weeks with her sister, Nellie Hutton. Lana and Larry went on to Tampa to attend a Coldwell Banker Convention. They spent time on the beach in the sun and toured other beaches. They also spent two days at Kill Devil Hills, N.C., with Lois and Paul Erb at a condo there. On the way home they toured several points of interest, including South of the Border, and spent a day and night at Hilton Head Island. They had excellent weather going down, returning home, and while vacationing there.

Ruth DiPaolo visited Harriett Buckel on Monday afternoon.

Two recent surgical patients at Garrett Memorial Hospital are recuperating at home and are much improved. Mary Simpson had hip surgery, and Leora Yaste underwent shoulder surgery.

Dr. Ralph Buckel Jr., Chestertown, visited his parents, Ralph and Ethel Buckel, over the weekend.

JWCC SUPPORTS SPAY/NEUTER EFFORT — The local Junior Woman's Civic Club recently showed its support of efforts to curtail unwanted pet births in the area by making a donation to the Spay/Neuter Awareness Month program. The Garrett County Humane Society and the Garrett County Animal Shelter are jointly sponsoring this awareness effort to draw attention to the problem of pet overpopulation and its simple solution. Throughout the month of March, these two organizations are soliciting $25 donations for sponsorships of spay/neuter discount certificates. These certificates will accompany all animals adopted from the shelter in March and will also be available to county residents who want their current pets spayed or neutered. Nationwide between 4 and 6 million animals are euthanized annually in animal shelters because there are not enough homes for them, according to a humane society spokesperson. In Garrett County, an average of 871 animals were destroyed yearly from 1997 through 1999. For more information about sponsoring or receiving a spay/neuter discount certificate, persons may contact a humane society volunteer at 301-334-2699 or the animal shelter at 301-334-3553. Pictured are Candy Virts, left, animal shelter employee, and Beverly Haines, JWCC project chairperson.

Three W.Va. Men Sentenced To Jail For May Thefts

Three West Virginia men pleaded guilty in Garrett County District Court recently to three theft charges apiece. Visiting Judge Thomas Lohm handed each subject a jail term after their trials in connection with a series of May thefts from vehicles parked in the Lake Shore Drive area of Deep Creek Lake.

Anthony Joseph Meredith, 19, and Ronald Joseph Bowser, 18, both of Morgantown, and Steven Don DeWitt, 19, Clarksburg, each received a 90-day sentence with all but 30 days suspended, a $55 fine, 12 months of supervised probation, and an order to pay restitution to their victims. The trio were arrested by Garrett Bureau of Investigation detectives in June for stealing items from three parked vehicles in late May.

As part of the ruling, each subject will have to make restitution payments of $422 to Shane Eyler, $275 to Danny Bosley, and $228 to Steve Eyler. While the state's attorney's charges did not specify the materials taken from pair of the vehicles belonging to the Eylers, the GBI charges stated that credit cards taken from the Bosley vehicle were subsequently used to make purchases at several West Virginia stores.

Additional charges of credit card misuse, forgery of private documents, and theft of gasoline from the McHenry BFS gas station were not prosecuted.

In other district court news, an Accident man was handed a jail term and fined after he pleaded guilty to non-support of a minor child. Richard W. Miller, 59, was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in January at the behest of the state's attorney, who accused him of not making child support payments to the Department of Social Services. Judge Ralph M. Burnett handed down a one-year jail sentence and ordered that Miller make a $2,400 restitution payment to the DSS.

A Swanton woman received a suspended sentence after she pleaded guilty to second degree assault. Marilyn Marie Storey, 46, was accused of assaulting Cheryl Wilt during an early December incident at Broad Ford Elementary School, which resulted in her arrest by sheriff's deputies. Storey was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $200, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Roy Lee Friend, 29, Mtn. Lake Park, was handed a stet ruling in connection with an alleged ongoing pattern of harassment of his ex-wife and her husband.

Friend's conduct had resulted in his January arrest by sheriff's deputies within hours of being notified that the court had issued a peace order on the woman's behalf. Slotted in last week's hearing were charges of harassment, telephone misuse by making repeated phone calls, and failure to comply with a peace order. The stet ruling allows the court to recall the charges for trial at any point within the next 365 days should it deem appropriate.

A second-degree assault charge faced by William Earl Frank Jr., 32, Oakland, was placed on the stet docket, while associated charges of child abuse and keeping a disorderly house were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office. Frank had been arrested by sheriff's deputies in November for allegedly striking a child in the leg with a stick, claiming he was playing with her. The deputy's report noted that the house was filthy and in an unlivable condition.

Robert Lee Hutzel, 34, Salisbury, Pa., faced charges of welfare fraud, perjury, and felony theft that were placed on the stet docket. His November arrest by sheriff's deputies came after a GBI investigation concluded that he was receiving welfare funds and food stamps through the Garrett County DSS while residing in Pennsylvania. The court mandated that he pay $512 m restitution to the DSS.

Charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, and illegally transporting a handgun in a vehicle were not prosecuted against Virginia residents Christopher Mason Knox, 21, Williamsburg, and Tyler Andersen Hartley, 19, Newport News. The pair's September arrest by Maryland State Police troopers came after a traffic stop along Interstate 68 near Grantsville. Hartley and Knox were passengers in a vehicle that was found to contain a large bag of suspected marijuana and a set of scales in the trunk, plus a loaded .38-caliber handgun in the glove box.

Paul Robert Reidl, 22, Bristol, Pa., was not prosecuted on charges of possession of marijuana, Xanax, LSD, Ecstasy, and drug paraphernalia that were filed by sheriff's deputies at the time of his August arrest. After Reidl's car was stopped along Hutton Road, a vehicle scan by a trained K-9 drug dog and a search uncovered the suspected drugs and a smoking pipe bearing suspected burnt marijuana residue.

Charges of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace faced by David Allen Everett II, 28, Oakland, were not prosecuted. Everett had been arrested in October by Oakland police officers for yelling outside a High Street residence late at night.

Andrew Mark Bell, 32, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a destruction of property charge stemming from his January arrest by sheriff's deputies. He was accused of destroying property at a Crellin Mine Road residence he was renting.

Peter John Ligas III, 28, Oakland, was deemed not guilty of second degree assault, and Harry William Mayle Sr., 64, Oakland, was deemed not guilty of disorderly conduct and violating an ex parte order.

DWI/DUI Hearings

Judge Burnett and Judge Lohm heard a number of DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases in traffic court recently.

Burnett ruled that several persons had violated their DWI probation: Peter John Ligas III, 28, Md., who was handed a 28-day jail term, Jason Todd Skipper, 26, Md., who was handed a 15-day jail term; and Charles Arthur Pursley, 27, Md., who was handed a 10-day jail term.

Burnett sentenced Charlene Renee Brun, 31, Md., to 30 days in jail after she was convicted of DWI. Brun was also fined $300, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 60 hours of community service.

Richard Bevan Orr II, 22, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a 90-day sentence with all but 14 days suspended, fined $555, and placed on two years of supervised probation.

Look at the huge robot in this picture. Remember when robots were, "more fiction than truth", as many of our grandparents would say. Even so, the robot is nothing without the builder and the programmer...basically a pile of metal, circuits and bolts. But because it's creators give it a "brain", the robot becomes useful, obeying each command.

Unlike the creator of the robot, our Creator gives us the ability to make choices and a soul that can guide us in those choices. When we ask God to live in our "control center", our choices are wiser ones and we feel peace and joy in our lives.

In Hebrews 11:10, we read that the "builder and maker is God". Visit God's house this week. He is waiting to help you build your future. Won't you let the Creator have the power in your life?

These firms invite you to a House of Worship each week

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

'RECOGNIZED'?

March 18, 2001

Background Scripture:
Acts 3 1 through 4 13
Devotional Reading:
1 Corinthians 1 26-31

The man who was "lame from birth" and encountered Peter and John at the Beautiful Gate of the temple had a classic experience with the gospel of Jesus Christ — he got a lot more than he asked for — just as do most, if not all, of us.

Lame from birth, he was carried daily to the Beautiful Gate of the temple, where he begged for alms from those who came there to worship. We have no reason to believe that he knew who Peter and John were, or that they were apostles of the recently-crucified Jesus of Nazareth, who was believed to be a healer. No, this man wanted from Peter and John what he asked of all who came there — some coins to help him put food on the table and a roof over his head.

What happened that day, however, was something much more than he expected. One reason, I believe, is that, instead of pushing by him as though he were not there, they gave him their attention. They could have given him a coin without even looking at him, but "Peter directed his gaze at him, with John ..." (3 4). They really looked at him and they really saw him. There are lots of people in need to whom we do not minister simply because we do not really look at them. We have learned to look in their direction without actually giving them our attention. Often, we do this because to really look at and see these people would mean that we would have to do something about it.

Fixing Your Gaze

Another reason that something special could happen that day is that they not only gave this man their attention, but they were successful in getting him to look at them with expectancy. Looking intently at the man born lame, Peter said "'Look at us.' And he fixed his attention upon them, expecting to receive something from them" (3.4,5). Expectancy — in prayer, in worship, in need — is usually a pre-requisite, I have found. Go to a worship service without expectancy and you are likely to experience nothing. Pray without expectancy and it will seem your prayers are unanswered (I recent sometimes as in the case of Abraham and Zechariah when angels informed them that they were about to become fathers in their old age.) In my experience, our problems with prayer are usually, not that we expect too much, but too little. Strangely, prayer is often a matter of both humility and audacity.

Peter then says "I have no silver and gold, but I give you what I have, in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, walk." In a moment the lame man was lame no longer, standing, walking and even leaping in joy. He asked for alms, he got his legs instead, a healing that would change his life forever. Unlike some who were healed in the name of Jesus Christ, this man did not take his healing and run. "While he clung to Peter and John, all the people ran together to them in the portico called Solomon's astounded" (3 11).

The Power To Heal

It occurs to me that Peter and John passed an important test that day. Some would have been tempted to claim responsibility for this miraculous event. After all, a little adulation might help their cause. But Peter replied with requisite humility. "Men of Israel, why do you wonder at this, ... as though by our own power or piety we had made him walk?" The power to heal this man, Peter made clear, was that of the very Jesus whom they had crucified. And when he and John were arrested the next day and brought before the high priest, Peter and John reiterated, "... be it known to you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead, by him this man is standing before you well" (3 10,11).

Unwittingly, the high priest had presented Peter and John with an excellent opportunity to witness to Jesus Christ. When the religious authorities "saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were uneducated, common men, they wondered, and they recognized that they had been with Jesus" (4 13).

Is that not the key to being a disciple of Jesus Christ? Not what we say or how we say it, not even what we do or how we do it, but that in the lives we live people may be able to recognize that we have been with Jesus. There is no standard of discipleship higher than that.

Jemma Redgrave has famous aunts

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Jemma Redgrave

Q: Is Jemma Redgrave, who stars in Brumwell on Masterpiece Theatre, related to Vanessa Redgrave? –Marilyn J. Morris, Bradenton, Fla.

A: Yes. Jemma, 33, is the daughter of Corin Redgrave, the brother of Vanessa and Lynn Redgrave, who are Jemma's aunts. Jemma's cousins Natasha and Joely Richardson (The Patriot), are Vanessa's daughters.

Q: What was the name of Alexander Mundy's (Robert Wagner) boss on It Takes a Thief? I remember Malachi Throne played him. –Diane Servis, Las Cruces, N.M.

A: Throne played Noah Bain, head of the S.I.A., the government agency that hired Mundy on this 1968-70 series.

Q: Is Cornel Wilde still alive? And did he ever appear on Murder, She Wrote? –Mrs. A.G. Acker, Pottsville, Pa.

A: The handsome leading man died Oct. 16, 1989, just three days after his 74th birthday. At the time of his death, he was editing his autobiography, My Very Wilde Life, and working on a sequel to his critically acclaimed movie The Naked Prey.

Two years earlier, he appeared with Angela Lansbury in a Murder, She Wrote episode called "The Way to Dusty Death."

Q: Is Malcolm in the Middle creator Linwood Boomer the same person who played Adam Kendall on Little House on the Prairie? –Manra Keener, Lancaster, Pa.

A: Yes, he is.

Q: When and where was Benjamin Bratt born? –S.L. Hamm, Pottsville, Pa.

A: Dec. 16, 1963, in San Francisco.

Q: I understand that you cannot actually search for videos, but I need someone to clarify the correct title of a comedy I am seeking called This Is Tuesday, We're in Belgium, or something similar. What is the correct title? –Mary Ann Carissimo, Belleville, N.J.

A: If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium (1969). Just for the record, there also was a lame 1987 TV movie sequel called If It's Tuesday, It Still Must Be Belgium.

Q: I love Amanda Burton on Mystery! Is she related to Richard Burton? –V. Holmstrom, Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.

A: The Irish actress (Silent Witness) is not related to the late Welsh actor, who does, however, have a daughter who is an actress. Kate Burton, who regularly appears in U.S. movies and plays.

Q: Hazel Court made a guest appearance on Mission: Impossible. Can you provide the episode title? –A.L., Harrisonburg, Va.

A: Court played Catherine Hagar in a 1967 episode called "Charity."

FSU RECOGNIZES NHS STUDENTS — Two Northern High School seniors, Brandon Hoover of Grantsville, left, and Jamie Grove of Friendsville, were recognized as Outstanding Scholars by Frostburg State University recently. Brandon Hoover of Grantsville, left, and Jamie Grove of Friendsville, were among a group of high school seniors from Garrett, Allegany, Frederick, and Washington counties, as well as contiguous counties in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, who were nominated by their guidance counselors based on academic achievement or talent in the arts. The students were honored at a Lane Center dinner recently, attended by their parents, guidance counselors, and school principals, and the honorees were each presented with a gift honoring their accomplishments.

Bathum Named To Washington District Court

Rick Bathum was recently elected as a judge of the Aukeen, Wash., District Court. Bathum is the son-in-law of Bud and Bernadine Friend, Friendsville. He and his wife, the former Penny Friend, live in Enumclaw, Wash., with their two sons.

He graduated from Enumclaw High School in 1970, and from Western Washington State College in 1974, with a degree in political science. He received his law degree from the University of Puget Sound School of Law in 1977.

He was prosecutor for the city of Kent in 1984 and was assistant city attorney for Enumclaw and Black Diamond in 1978 and 1979. He has previous experience on the bench, serving as a magistrate in Aukeen District Court from 1980 to 1984, and as a judge pro tem from 1980 to 1986. Since 1986 he has been the judge in Buckley Municipal Court.

Red Cross To Conduct First Aid, Safety Class

The American Red Cross will conduct a local Community First Aid and Safety class. Training of adult, child, and infant CPR will be taught.

The class will meet Saturday, March 31, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the McHenry fire hall.

Persons wanting more information or to register may call Monday through Thursday, 1-800-361-9481 or 301-722-1760, ext. 305, or Friday, 301-387-2570.

Park Volunteer Group To Meet

The Friends of New Germany Inc. will meet at the lakehouse in New Germany State Park at 7 p.m. Monday, March 26. All persons interested in doing volunteer work at the park are encouraged to attend the meeting, where summer programs will be discussed. Refreshments will be served.

For further information, persons may call volunteer coordinator Bill Martin at 301-895-5303 daily after 6 p.m.

Food Donation Program Slated By Post Offices

The annual U.S. Postal Service's Harvest for the Hungry food collection program is under way. All Garrett County post offices will accept food donations through Satuday, March 24, which can be left in designated containers in each lobby. Mail carriers will also collect any food left for them along their routes through March 24.

All food donations will be distributed to food banks in the county that serve local residents. Persons may call the Oakland post office at 301-334-3151 for further information.

Gorman VFD Cancels Meal

The Sunday, March 18, buckwheat cake and sausage meal fund-raising dinner of the Gorman Volunteer Fire Department has been canceled. The scheduling of the next meal will be announced when it is confirmed.

Initiated Into Honor Society

A Friendsville woman was recently initiated in to the Allegany College of Maryland's chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society during the spring ceremony.

Angelina Mae House was among 20 new members initiated at the ceremony in which the society's regional president, Fred Strohl, gave the keynote address.

Blind Appalachian Trail Thru-Hiker To Speak At FSU

Author Bill Irwin, the only blind person to have hiked the entire Appalachian Trail, will speak at Frostburg State University at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 27, in the Lane Center's Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall. The program is free and open to the public.

Accompanied by his seeing eye dog Orient, Irwin completed the 2,168-mile trek from Georgia to northern Maine in nine months. His hike generated a great deal of interest from national television and print media, the small communities he passed through, and from other hikers along the AT.

Since completing his long-distance hike, Irwin has traveled the country delivering an account of his trail odyssey and his life experiences, which include 30 years' employment in the corporate sector, recovery from alcoholism, and experience as a family counselor. Audiences from the academic and corporate world, including employees of L.L. Bean, IBM, and American Express, have given Irwin's message of hope high praise. USA Today special correspondent Tom Walters wrote that "Bill did more than achieve the unbelievable, he touched and inspired countless others with his example of courage and perseverance."

Irwin's appearance is sponsored by FSU's United Campus Ministries, Student Government Association, and Campus Activities Board. For further information persons may call the Lane Center information desk at 301-687-4411.

Assn Of Beekeepers Sets Meeting; Offers Scholarships

The Appalachian Beekeepers Association (ABA) will hold its monthly meeting on March 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room at the Garrett County Extension office in Mtn. Lake Park.

The ABA is offering two scholarships to high school seniors, one in Garrett County and one in Preston County, W.Va. Persons interested in obtaining a scholarship application may pick one up at the ABA meeting or by writing to Becky DeWitt, 5330 Kitzmiller Road, Rd. #1, Kitzmiller, MD 21538.

Beginner beekeeping school is scheduled for March 31 and April 7 from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Extension office. Intermediate beekeeping school is scheduled for April 21 and 28.

Persons wanting more information may call 301-334-6960.

FSU To Build $26.5 Million Science Center

A new three-story science center will be built on the campus of Frostburg State University at a cost of $26.5 million, Governor Parris Glendening announced recently. The Board of Public Works has approved construction of the Compton Science Center, which is expected to be completed by the winter of 2002.

Named for Lillian Compton, the school's former president who oversaw the institution's post-war expansion from 1945 to 1955, the center will house the Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Engineering, and Computer Science departments. The facility will contain over 100,000 square feet of laboratories, classrooms, and offices, and will make resources available for the surrounding community, particularly local schools. The existing Compton Hall building will be partially demolished as part of the project.

The centerpiece of the new Compton Science Center will be a two-story tall Foucault pendulum which will demonstrate the earth's rotation. The pendulum will be similar to the one housed in the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of American History in Washington, D.C. Other features will include a greenhouse, biotechnology/biochemistry suite, distance learning lab, natural history museum, and an interactive science facility.

"This is great news for the faculty and students of Frostburg State University," Glendening remarked. "Maryland's colleges and universities are the engines that drive the state's booming economy. This new facility is an example of our commitment to providing state-of-the-art research labs and high-tech equipment to our institutions of higher learning."

Faith Church To Host Missionary To Romania

DR. JOSEF TSON

Faith Evangelical Free Church, Mountain Lake Park, will hold a Deeper Life Conference this Friday, March 23, through Sunday, March 25.

The featured speaker will be Dr. Josef Tson of the Romanian Missionary Society. For six months Dr. Tson was called before investigators in Communist Romania and was daily threatened with death. After being exiled in 1981, Tson planned on some day returning to Romania and began accumulating materials for theological training. With the fall of communism in 1990, he returned to Romania and began an evangelical training center for pastors, a Christian publishing company, and a Christian radio network. His wife Elisabeth will share some of the speaking with him during the weekend.

Services are at 7 p.m. nightly and at 10:45 a.m. Sunday. Nursery care will be provided at each service. Persons may call the church at 301-334-4172 for more information.

ROCKY DREAN TO HOST MISSIONARY — Rev. Mel Erickson, nationally appointed Assemblies of God home missionary to American Indians, will be speaking at the Rocky Drean Assembly of God Church at 7 p.m. each evening from Sunday, March 18, through Wednesday, March 21. Coordinator of Indian Ministries in North Dakota, Erickson and his wife Corliss served as missionaries to the Devils Lake Sioux Tribe in North Dakota for 20 years, and have a family that included three adopted Indian children and many foster children. He supervises pastors of American Indian churches and oversees many activities, including the annual Conquest Outreach Program, which trains teams from across the nation to perform a number of outreach activities on reservations. The Minot, N.D., resident has coordinated construction of six new church buildings in four states of the upper plains by raising funds and recruiting volunteer labor. For information on Erickson's local engagement, persons may call pastor William Skipper at 301-387-8292.

WEPCO Holds Annual Meeting In Westernport

WEPCO Federal Credit Union held its 51st annual Membership Meeting on Saturday, March 3, at the Victory Post #155 American Legion in Westernport.

The evening began with Dr. Dallas Shaffer of Emmanuel Episcopal Church in Keyser giving the invocation. A baked-steak dinner was then served.

The meeting opened with board chairman James Weasenforth introducing those seated at the head tables: Rick Warnick, president; Sherry Lucas, wife of David Lucas, vice president, who was absent due to illness; Lana Bittinger, vice president; Vicki Thayer, vice president/branch manager; Becky McKenzie, vice president; Kim Hoffman, collection manager; Denise Willis, Keyser branch manager; Bob Steils, president of the Maryland Credit Union League, Harold Fike, CPA with Whitacre & Fike, and wife Kathy; John Pattison, charter member, and wife Evelyn; Bill Hood and Mary Lou Kady of the Piedmont Herald, and Alan Elliott, photographer.

He then introduced the credit union staff who were present and recognized past presidents Melvin Foley and Frederick Imhoff; past directors Glenn Shaffer, William Eazenbaker, Jack Myers, Bill Metz, and Buddy Wilson; past supervisory committee member Regina Rigsby; and retired employee Libby Symons.

He also introduced the board of directors, supervisory committee members, and credit union employees that were present.

Weasenforth presented service awards to the following credit union employees: Bernice McIntyre, loan officer, 25 years of service; Jill Tettenburn, loan officer, 20 years of service; Terry Berg, teller/loan officer, 15 years of service; Lana J. Bittinger, vice president, 10 years of service; and Kimberly Hoffman, collection manager, five years of service.

Brief comments were made by Steils of the Maryland Credit Union League, and Harold Fike, CPA, Whitacre & Fike, LaVale.

No voting took place, as all nominees ran unopposed. Elected to three-year terms on the board were: Philip "Bill" Hays, William McKenzie, and Weasenforth. Appointed to complete Raymond Miller's remaining term of one year was Bradford Anderson.

The WEPCO annual report was dedicated to Miller, who recently retired from the board of directors after 20 years' service.

Tickets were drawn for the door prizes, with Glenn Shaffer winning the grand prize of a 20" RCA color television. Other winners were: Eleanor McRobie, Ruby Broadwater, Melvin Wiley, Jack Myers, Jerry Bartlett, Cody Morton, Frank Woy, Margie Beckner, Don Wagoner, Pat Jackson, Keith Gibson, Richard Duckworth, Joe Durham, Evelyn Pattison, Robert Whetzel, Jo Ann Bever, Pickle Jones, Jean Roberts, Bob Rizer, Rhonda Beckner, Dr. Shaffer, Viola Knox, Donita Shaw, Jo Ann Johnson, Lillian Smith, Joe Taylor, Richard Duckworth, Betty Fraley, Pat Miller, Laura Thomas, Justin Berg, Stella Groves, Bill Hays, Doris Elliott, Jerry Mayles, Jean Taylor, Paul Miller, Beverly Kitzmiller, Bill Eazenbaker, Kay Shibley, Boots Woy, Charles Dodd, Mary Foley, Laah Broadwater, and Bill Fahey.

A dance concluded the evening, with music by Rampage.

WEPCO Federal Credit Union has three office locations in Bloomington, Oakland, and Keyser, W.Va. A nonprofit financial cooperative, WEPCO currently has $79 million in assets, serving just under 16,000 members.

Horse Liniment Eases Arthritis Pain

OCALA, FL -- An ingredient derived from hot peppers that decreases inflammation in racehorse's legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx™ and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more.

Although the mechanism by which ARTH-Rx works to relieve pain is not totally clear, scientists suggest that pain is relieved because ARTH-Rx intercepts the messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain.

ARTH-Rx is available in a convenient roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, due to the overwhelming demand for ARTH-Rx, supplies are sometimes limited. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446, ext. 300 PGC.

ARTH Rx is available at

GCC Schedules Class For Child Care Workers

A training course for child care workers course is set for Tuesday and Thursday evenings from April 10 through June 14 at the Willy Wisp Day Care Center in McHenry. Class sessions will meet from 6 to 9:15 p.m. each evening.

The course is required by the state of Maryland for persons seeking employment as a worker at a child care center, as senior staff member for a Head Start program, or as director of a small child care center. The topics will include child development, child health and nutrition, curriculum development, and regulations.

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College is sponsoring the course, which is limited to 15 students. Registration will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis. For more details or for registration information, interested persons may contact Patricia Baer at GCC's Oakland Center, located at National Guard Armory, at 301-334-8304.

4-H Club News

SHEPHERDS
by Kari Bernard

The February meeting of the Shepherds 4-H Club was held Feb. 12 at the Extension office. Chad Harvey led the eight members and six adults in the pledges.

Ben Friend and Ted Bell each gave a report on the skiing trip. We discussed having a fund-raiser, which could possibly be a dinner. Finally, we gave the public speaking speeches. Ben Friend reported on his trip to Kentucky; Ted Bell on his hunting trip with Ben Friend; Lisa Bernard reported on rabbits, Scott Bolyard reported on his favorite day of the year, which is the first day of hunting season; Chad Harvey spoke about his goal for his fair steer; Matt Murchim talked about his 13 indoor plants; Jeremy Bernard spoke about Farmall Cub tractors; and Josh Fike reported on what he would do if he were president.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by Debbie Bolyard. The next meeting was scheduled for March 12 at the Extension office.

NOTICE
GARRETT COUNTY TAXPAYERS!

According to the laws governing my office (Section 14-808, Tax Property), the Treasurer must advise and sell properties for delinquent County, State, Town and/or taxes due other taxing agencies.

Delinquent notices were mailed March 2, 2001. We have included all taxes on the property as required by law. However, only delinquent taxes (1999-2000 and prior years) must be paid to avoid a tax sale on the property. (If you are involved in a bankruptcy proceeding, please contact our office as soon as possible.) TAX BILLS MAILED LAST JULY ARE NOT DELINQUENT! Also, personal property taxes for 1999-2000 and prior years are delinquent and become a lien on the real estate (Section 14-808).

According to legislation (Annotated Code 14-809), the county collector shall proceed to advertise and sell any real property located in any municipal corporation in the county on which municipal corporation taxes are delinquent. Unpaid amounts for municipalities or other taxing agencies are shown at the bottom of the notices. Please contact these taxing agencies for information about these amounts.

Effective July 1, 2000, Mtn. Lake Park taxes were included on the County tax bill. (You will not be able to pay just Town taxes or just County taxes.) Due to this change, the County Treasurer's Office is the collection point for these taxes. The option of annual or semi-annual payment will be available for all owner-occupied properties.

The figures on the delinquent notices will be effective through April 2, 2001. After April 2, 2001, all delinquent accounts will be given to the attorney for preparation for tax sale. Failure to pay before this deadline will result in assessment of attorney fees and other expenses of sale as provided by law.

If you should have questions or our office can be of asistance to you, please don't hesitate to call anytime between the hours of 8:30 am. and 4:30 p.m.

Antiques

by Ralph and Terry Kovel

The cheval glass was an important piece of bedroom furniture in past centuries. By the 1700s, large sheets of glass could be made and silvered. A cheval is a large mirror on a stand. The mirror can be swiveled to allow the viewer to see both shoes and hat — a practical dressing mirror. The word "cheval" comes from the French word for horse, but the only similarity between the mirror and a horse is that each has four legs.

Bedrooms in past centuries rarely had full-length mirrors. The only way to see how you looked was to swivel the small mirror attached to a dresser or to look into a small, hand-held mirror. The large, swiveling mirror remained a popular piece of bedroom furniture into the 1900s. They were made in many styles, from Georgian to Empire to Art Nouveau. Most were framed with wood, but a few had wicker or bamboo stands.

Q: I have a box filled with patriotic press-on transfers from World War II. Each is about 7-by-4 inches. Have they any value?

A: Some paper collectibles sell for good prices. The highest-priced ones have historic value or are attractive enough to display. But transfers are small, the writing would be backward if framed and displayed, and there is no organized group looking for them. We have never seen any offered for sale. Colorful, decorative transfers meant for the walls of kitchens and bathrooms of the 1950s sell for about $50 each.

Tip: If you accidentally drop a vintage watch in water, take it to a professional jeweler immediately. If you can't do that, take the back off the watch and dry it with a hair dryer set on low. When dry, put a drop of oil in the watch — unless the dial is made of paper.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On March 22, 1622, in the first major massacre of European colonists by Native Americans, Algonquian Indians led by Opechancanough, chief of the Pamunkey, slaughter 347 English settlers around Jamestown, Va. — nearly a third of the settlement's total population.

• On March 25, 1807, in England, the royal assent is given for an act by Parliament to abolish the slave trade, less than four weeks after the U.S. Congress banned the importation of slaves from Africa into the United States.

• On March 20, 1854, in Ripon, Wis., former members of the Whig political party meet to establish a new political party that would oppose the spread of slavery into the Western territories. The Republican Party continued to dominate the presidency until the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932.

• On March 19, 1931, in an attempt to lift the state from the hard times of the Great Depression, the Nevada state legislature votes to legalize gambling. Today, state gambling taxes account for more than 40 percent of Nevada's overall tax revenues.

• On March 21, 1965, in Selma, Ala., a five-day civil-rights march from Selma to Montgomery, the Alabama state capital, is begun by some 3,200 marchers led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., winner of the 1964 Nobel Prize for Peace.

• On March 23, 1983, on national television, U.S. President Ronald Reagan, citing the recent Soviet military buildup, calls for the development of the Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI).

• On March 24, 1996, U.S. astronaut Shannon Lucid safely transfers to the Russian space station Mir from the U.S. space shuttle Atlantis for a planned five-month stay. Her 188-day sojourn aboard Mir sets a new space endurance record for an American and a world endurance record for a woman.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It seems as though every group of people has a patron saint. St. Margaret of Cortona is the patroness of "fallen women." St. Peter Damian was invoked to relieve headaches. Anyone who was attempting to avoid starvation would pray to St. Conrad. St. Juliana was called on by virgins — she was a nun in the first century who was famed for binding the devil with a rope.

• Alexander Graham Bell did more for modern society than just invent the telephone (although teen-agers might think that is his most important contribution). He also had the idea for using ailerons, moveable surfaces on the trailing edge of a wing, to maneuver aircraft.

• Every day, 35 people die by falling down.

• The Eiffel Tower contains around 2.5 million rivets.

• Some people once tried to foretell the future through alectoromantia. They would draw a circle on the ground and divide it into 24 equal portions. A letter of the alphabet would be written in each portion, and a grain of wheat would be placed on each letter. Then, a cock would be turned loose in the circle, and the foretellers would carefully watch which grains of wheat the cock picked up. The letters under them would spell the answer to the question that they wanted answered. Sounds like it would be quicker and easier just to wait for the future to come to you.

• If you're in a morbid mood, you should head for Houston. There, you can pay a visit to the National Museum of Funeral History.

• In the 15th century, there was a pig-piano. The music came when the pig squealed as it was poked with spikes of different lengths.

Dealing With The Neighbor's Dog

Q: My neighbor, two doors down, has a very large dog that is also very aggressive. He lets it run around the street. Last week, the dog charged my terrier. If I had not picked up my dog in time, he might have attacked and maybe killed my dog. How can I get the owner to pen this animal up? I don't want to call animal control.

A: Unfortunately, you might have to call animal control to help resolve this problem. In today's closely built suburbs, pets are often a major issue among neighbors — from dogs barking at night to cats digging in the shrubbery. Even worse, dealing with this issue can lead to serious squabbles between otherwise nice people.

So, I understand your reluctance to bring in the authorities. The trouble is, something has to be done — not just for your terrier's safety, but for that large dog's safety as well. Letting an animal run loose in the city streets shows neglect on the owner's part.

If you're reluctant to talk to the dog's owner yourself, enlist the help of other neighbors. I'm sure others on your street have met this dog. Together, you can research your community's laws regarding pets. As a group, meet the owner face-to-face and tell him — calmly, since he is still your neighbor — that his dog must be kept under control at all times. Show him any statutes that apply.

If the dog still runs loose after this meeting, then you must bring animal control and any other local authorities in, and quickly. Again, work with your neighbors. You don't have to deal with this aggressive dog alone.

LIONS HEAR MAJOR - Sandy Major of Garrett Community College was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club. She spoke about the Garrett Information Enterprise Center and the new facility on the GCC campus, which will be an "incubator" building to house new, small businesses for a start-up period. The assistance will help the new businesses then move into the community, which will support economic growth and increase job opportunities in the county. Ms. Major was also the winner of the club's Big Toy raffle, and she donated all her winnings to local charities, including a $500 donation to the Lions Club. She is pictured above center, flanked by club member Richard Buckingham and club president Sue Shockey.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE

The following activities have been scheduled at Deep Creek Lake State Park for this coming weekend, Saturday and Sunday, March 17-18. All programs will take place at or depart from the Discovery Center, and further information on all activities can be obtained by calling the center at 301-387-7067.

Thirty-minute horse-drawn hayrides will be offered on both days each hour on the hour, beginning with the 11 a.m. ride and concluding with the 3 p.m. ride. Reservations are required and may be made by contacting the Discovery Center.

Saturday's activities will get under way with a 10 a.m. winter birding hike, a 45-minute guided outing during which participants will learn how to identify many different winter birds by sight and call. "Snakes Alive," a 30-minute nature program featuring live snakes, will be presented at 1 p.m. A 30-minute children's scavenger hunt will begin at 3 p.m.

Sunday's schedule begins with a 10 a.m. Brant Mine Hike. The nature film Eyewitness Mammals will be shown at 1 p.m., and a 30-minute children's nature craft activity will get under way at 3 p.m.

MSDE Revises Parent Handbook

The Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE) has revised its Parent Handbook for Better Schools to include test questions and answers from the Maryland High School Assessments, a series of exams high school students will soon have to pass in order to earn their diplomas. MSDE will distribute more than 650,000 copies of the handbook to schools and other organizations across the state. More test questions and high school assessment information are available on the Web at mdk12.org/mspp/high_school/index.html.

The handbook should arrive in schools within a week. MSDE shipped schools enough handbooks for each teacher to have a copy and for each K-8 student to take one home to his/her parents. The state encourages principals to discuss information in the handbook with teachers at faculty meetings and with parents during parent-teacher conferences and back-to-school nights.

The revised handbook also includes information about the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS/5) — a nationally standardized test given in grades 2, 4, and 6 — and the state's three public education web sites, www.msde.state.md.us, www.mspmsde.state.md.us, and mdk12.org.

To request a copy of the handbook, persons may contact the Office of School and Community Outreach at 410-767-0600.

First Time Home Buyer Program Receives Grant

The First Time Home Buyer Program of the Garrett County Community Action Committee has been awarded a $300,000 grant to fund low-interest loans for low- to moderate-income families who wish to purchase their first home. This grant has been made available through the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development.

The First Time Home Buyer Program is designed for families who wish to take on the responsibility of owning their own home, but who may lack adequate financial resources and/or knowledge of the homebuying process. The program provides assistance for purchases of homes located in Garrett County only, which can be existing or new construction homes. Applicants do not have to be county residents.

The latest gram will allow GCCAC to be able to provide financial assistance in helping qualified borrowers with downpayment and/or closing costs. There are several different financing options available to program participants, according to GCCAC Home Ownership loan coordinator Deb Swiger. "We work closely with our local lenders and offer the 80/20 Program, which allows borrowers to choose their own lending institution; if they can obtain a mortgage loan, GCCAC will help them with the downpayment. Another program is the Leveraged Program, which is a partnership between M&T Bank, USDA Rural Housing Services, and GCCAC," said Swiger.

Eligibility for the pro gram is based on family size and income amount. The family size/maximum income breakdown is as follows: one/$28,300; two/$32,300; three/$36,350; four/$40,400; five/$43,650; six/$46,850; seven/$50,100, and eight/$53,350.

For prospective home buyers who wish to participate in the program, the first step is to complete the mandatory workshops, which are divided into two three hour modules. With the help of local professional, legal, and financial service providers, the training familiarizes a potential home buyer with the homebuying process, vocabulary, responsibilities of homeowners, importance of employment, and the impact personal money management skills have on the ability to secure financing for a home purchase.

A credit report for each family must be evaluated during a workshop session, when the prospective borrower will meet in private with loan officers from local banks. In the event that a person's credit report reveals obstacles that would make it difficult to obtain a loan, the participant will be offered suggestions and a plan designed to help him or her to work through the problems.

The workshops have served 550 participants since the program's inception in 1994. Last year 30 families became homeowners, and to date 139 loans have been closed, generating $8,827,687 in mortgages through local lending institutions with an average effective interest rate of 5.217 percent.

For more information on the First Time Home Buyer Program interested persons may contact Swiger at 301-334-9431 or toll free at 1-888-877-8403, ext. 150.

CATERPILLARS ARE BOOKWORMS, TOO — Head Start's annual Reading Is Fundamental Caterpillar Program got under way last month. Each of the Head Start sites are participating, including the Helping Hand and Luv-n-Care family child care centers, which partner with Head Start's Family Child Care Option. The caterpillar program is designed to encourage family literacy as well as family togetherness. Each time a child is read a book, a circle with the book title and child's name is added to the "caterpillar." Several classrooms already boast caterpillars that cover entire walls, and the class with the longest caterpillar will win a special prize. "The best part is the kids and parents are talking about the books they have read," said Debbie Workman, owner of Luv-n-Care. "Our caterpillar has over eighty circles and we're a small class." For more information on Garrett County Community Action Head Start's literacy program, persons may call 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, ext 126. Deadline Nears For United Way Affiliations

Time is of the essence for organizations desiring to affiliate with the United Way of Garrett County, according to Harry King, director of County United Way. Applications are due to the local organization by March 31 and are available by contacting the main United Way office in Cumberland at 301-359-9697.

County United Way has operated since 1957 and has covered Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland, as well as five neighboring West Virginia counties. The United Way of Garrett County was founded approximately one year ago when it was determined that there were sufficient need and interest for a separate organization.

Money raised for the United Way of Garrett County stays within the county, according to Lisa Thayer Welch, board member of the local organization. The local fund-raising effort is assisted by the staff at the County United Way office in Cumberland, Welch said.

At this time, applications for affiliation for the 2002 calendar year are available. Established non-profit agencies, those who qualify for 501(c)(3) status that operate programs in Garrett County, may apply to become an affiliate of the United Way. Agencies chosen for affiliation will be included in the United Way campaign materials in 2002 and will receive all money designated to that agency by donors. Agencies can then apply to have a program or project funded for calendar year 2003. If these programs are chosen, money will be given to them as designated by donors, in addition to a share of the non-designated funds given during the annual campaign.

Fifteen agencies qualified for inclusion in this year's annual campaign, according to King. Previously affiliated with United Way were the following: Big Brothers Big Sisters (Garrett County branch), Boy Scouts, the Dove Center, Garrett County Lighthouse, Maryland Salem Children's Trust Inc., Mountain Glade Adult Day Care Services, the Salvation Army, Western Maryland Catholic Charities, and the Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Selected for affiliation this year are the following Garrett Cooperative Ministry Inc., Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc., Garrett County Literacy Council, Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, Garrett County Habitat for Humanity Inc., and Hospice of Garrett County Inc.

The applications are reviewed and recommended for approval by the Community Response Committee of the United Way. This committee is made up of United Way board members and other community volunteers who make site visits, meet with agency representatives, and make recommendations to the board as to what programs/projects meet established criteria. All selected agencies are required to report to the Community Response Committee the results of the funded project.

"Every effort is made to avoid agencies duplicating projects and to meet needs that have been determined to exist in Garrett County," said Tom Myers, chairperson of the response team.

Persons able to assist the efforts of the response committee, or those desiring more information about volunteer opportunities or the annual campaign, should contact the County United Way office at the number noted above.

Underwood Church Slates Hymn Sing

The Underwood United Brethren Church has set a hymn sing for 7 p.m. this Saturday, March 17. Among the local performers that will help lead the singing will be Granny Blosser and Butch, the Gospel Express, and Joe Lewis and Family. The public is invited.

Dance Concerts To Be Presented At Frostburg

Area residents will have the opportunity to see some of the best talents of modern dance in performance at Frostburg State University, including a presentation by "Martha Graham" herself, on Saturday, March 24.

Two gala concerts will be presented at 4 and 8:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre as capstones of the Mid-Atlantic Regional American College Dance Festival, scheduled for March 21 through 25.

At a time when most FSU students are enjoying spring break, the campus will become a dance mecca for about 500 ACDF participants from 34 universities, including 70 faculty members and three special guest artists. Returning to the Frostburg campus after a "successful" debut several years ago, the festival features more than 100 dance classes, workshops, seminars, and adjudicating concerts. FSU dance professor Dr. Barry Fischer, who is now serving his second term on the ACDF board of directors, is the coordinator for this year's festival.

The gala concerts will feature the best student works selected through an adjudicating process, along with performances from several well known dancers and choreographers. Claire Porter will present her comedic performance art piece "The Fundraiser." Kenneth Topping of the Martha Graham Dance Company and FSU's Summer Dance Retreat returns to campus for this event. Edie Barnes, chair of the University of Alabama's department of dance, will also perform.

A highlight of the concerts will be dance impersonations of Martha Graham, performed by Richard Move of New York City. His "Martha" has won praise and support from such dance and theatre luminaries as Mikhail Baryshnikov, Merce Cunningham, Meredith Monk, and Mark Morris for its "inspired" combination of intelligence and hilarity. Morris said, "He's more Martha Graham than Martha Graham was."

Each concert will last approximately two hours, with a half-hour intermission. Tickets are $15, and will be available at the Performing Arts Center box office on a first-come, first-served basis. Persons wanting more information may contact Fischer at 301-687-4730.

MARTHA GRAHAM HE ISN'T, but Richard Move has her looks and dance skills down to a tee, and he will perform in that role in a dance concert at Frostburg State University on Saturday, March 24. Performances will be presented at 4 and 8:30 p.m. that day in the FSU Performing Arts Center. See story for details.

FSU Theatre Will Present Children's Show

The Spring University Theatre Children's Show at Frostburg State University, Quest for the Dragon, will be presented on Saturday, March 31, and Sunday, April 1, at 2 p.m. both days in the Performing Arts Center's F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre.

Directed by Jennifer Null of FSU's theatre department, this whimsical play tells the tale of a kingdom plagued by a dragon. The king (Sonic Mathew) sends forth some of his subjects to slay the dragon (Tony Washington). Things don't go exactly according to plan, but the players find an unusual and satisfactory solution. Besides the king and the dragon, the cast consists of Debby Sellers as the princess; Scott Deans and Jennifer Bonner as the jesters; Joe Higdon as the farmer; and Dominick Massino as the knight. All are students, except for Washington, an FSU graduate, who now works in the university's AmeriCorps office.

Tickets for Quest for the Dragon are $1 per person. For information and reservations, persons may call 301-687-4145, Monday through Friday, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

shops for FSU theatre students, area middle and high school students, and members of the Department of Juvenile Justice's Meadow Mountain Youth Camp from Thursday through Saturday, March 29-31.

A mini-playwrighting festival will be presented on Saturday to give students the opportunity to direct and work with the actors to prepare for an evening presentation of their original plays. A public play reading and discussion is set for Saturday afternoon from 2 to 3:30 p.m. in the Drama Theatre of the Performing Arts Center. The play reading is free and open to the public.

QUILTS DISPLAYED AT VISITORS CENTER — Meticulously handcrafted quilts, which will be available this summer at the 7th annual Country Fest & Auction, will be exhibited on a rotating basis at the Garrett County Visitors Center in McHenry. Currently on display is "Lone Star," which was pieced by Nancy Bender and quilted by Esther and Fannie Beachy. Viewing this brightly colored quilt are Andy and Eileen Kostreba of Cleveland, who stopped in Garrett County last week on their way to visit family members in the Baltimore area.

National Players Set Performance, Seminar At FSU

One of William Shakespeare's most beloved comedies, The Comedy of Errors, will be performed by the National Players at 8 p.m. Friday, March 30, in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre of Frostburg State University. This performance is open to the public. Tickets are $10 for adults, $5 for students. For more information interested persons may call 301-687-4145 on weekdays between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The National Players, the oldest classical touring company of its kind, is an educational acting troupe from the Olney Theatre Center for the Arts. Selected from among the most talented graduates of the country's top college and university theatre programs, the Players promote the concept of young actors engaging young audiences as they instill an appreciation for the theatre-going experience. Throughout its 51-year history, the troupe has appeared in a vast repertory including works by such playwrights as Shakespeare, O'Neill, Molière, Kafka, Sophocles, Aristophanes, Tom Stoppard, and Peter Shalfer. Since 1992 the Players have been the resident company of the Department of Theatre, University of Maryland at College Park.

In addition to Friday's performance of The Comedy of Errors, the National Players will lead several playwrighting and acting workshops for FSU theatre students, area middle and high school students, and members of the Department of Juvenile Justice's Meadow Mountain Youth Camp from Thursday through Saturday, March 29-31.

"Bach's Lunch" Will Host The Glade Players

The second offering of "Bach's Lunch," a series of musical concerts presented over the noon hour on Wednesdays during the season of Lent, will be by the Glade Players, an area hammered dulcimer ensemble. That concert will be presented next Wednesday at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland, beginning at 12:05 p.m.

Persons are invited to bring a boxed lunch, attend the half-hour concert, and then have their lunch in St. Matthew's parish hall. Admission is free; however, free-will donations are accepted.

Future programs are as follows: Thomas Simpson, trumpet, Gerald McGee, organ, March 28; Marsh Mountain Consort, April 4; and Susan Peterson, flute, and Gerald McGee, organ, April 25.

Latin Music Ensemble Sets FSU Concert

Boston-based Latin music ensemble Sol y Canto will bring its exuberant "sun and song" to the Loft, located in Frostburg State University's Lane Center, at 8 p.m. Friday, March 30. This Café Frostburg production is free and open to the public.

Leading the group are Rosi and Brian Amador, two founding members of the renowned Boston-based Latin band Flor de Cana, which was active from 1984 to 1994. The natural harmonies of Sol y Canto's sound are built upon a framework of Brian Amador's versatile Spanish guitar and Rosi Amador's expressive voice. Scott Alarik of the Boston Globe describes the group as "Boston's sublime ambassadors of the Pan-Latin tradition." The group has released three CDs to date: Sancocho, Sendero del Sol, and El Todo Momento.

With appearances at such diverse venues as the White House, the Kennedy Center's Millennium Stage, the Philadelphia Art Museum, and the Vancouver Folk Festival, Sol y Canto has established a reputation for its unique interpretations of Latin music and for making it accessible to non-Spanish and native speakers alike. For more information on the concert, interested persons may call the Lane Center information desk at 301-687-4411.

Brazilian Guitar Quartet Concert Slated At FSU

The Brazilian Guitar Quartet will come to Frostburg State University for a performance on Friday, April 6, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall. The concert is part of FSU's Cultural Events Series and is sponsored by the Center for International Education.

Coming from the land of the samba and the bossa nova, the quartet will present little-known works by Brazilian classical composers, whose music reflects native folk music traditions, in celebration of the 500th anniversary of the discovery of Brazil.

Along with pieces by Villa-Lobos, Mignone, Guarnieri, and Miranda, the quartet will observe the 250th anniversary of J.S. Bach's death by performing several of his most famous compositions.

The quartet's members are Paul Galbraith, Delton Gloeden, Everton Gloeden, and Tadeu do Amaral.

Local residents may recall Galbraith's solo performance at FSU in August 1999. Called "the best guitarist of his generation" by Classical Guitar magazine, Galbraith received public acclaim at the age of 17, when he won a Silver Medal at the Segovia Guitar Competition. Segovia, who was in attendance, praised Galbraith's performance as "magnificent." Since then, he has performed with some of Europe's finest orchestras and has been featured on National Public Radio's "All Things Considered" and "Performance Today."

Galbraith's 1998 double CD The Complete Solo Bach Violin Sonatas and Partitas was nominated for a Grammy Award, chosen as one of the two best CDs of 1998 by Gramophone magazine, received a four-star rating from Stereo Review, and was in the Top 10 Classical Charts in Billboard. The recording features his unique guitar, with custom features that allow Galbraith to extend its range through the addition of two strings and varied string lengths.

In praise of the Brazilian Quartet, the American Record Guide says, "Strong rhythmic articulation and clarity create much excitement [and] leaves the listener smiling."

A dinner theatre special in partnership with Giuseppe's Italian Restaurant is available with the performance. The special includes a five-course meal, with tax and tip included. Transportation is available.

For information, reservations, and menu selection for the dinner theatre, persons may contact the Lane Center Box Office at 301-687-4411, Monday through Friday, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Based on availability, tickets may also be purchased at the PAC box office one hour prior to curtain.

WESTERN MD. RESIDENTS CUT CD — These young ladies, 7-year-old Haylee Bolyard of Garrett County and 6-year-old Brandi Jenkins and her 10-year-old sister Bethany Jenkins, both of Allegany County, are shown singing into the microphone during a CD recording session recently. The girls are featured on Flow Thru Me, the latest release of western Maryland's Bolyard Family gospel music group, which was recorded in Cecilia, Ky. A first grader at Donnett Road Elementary School, Bolyard is the daughter of Dionne and Bobby Bolyard Jr. of Mtn. Lake Park, and the Jenkins sisters are daughters of Rhonda Jenkins of Cumberland and granddaughters of Bob Bolyard Sr. of MLP.

Writers Conf. Scheduled At Garrett CC

A writers' conference for all interest levels of writers will be held at Garrett Community College on Saturday, May 5, beginning at 8:30 a.m. and concluding by noon. The conference is open to the public.

There will be two sets of concurrent sessions so that each participant can attend two sessions, conference coordinator Joan B. Crawford said. "This will be an opportunity for anyone who likes to write to hear from and speak with professional writers," said Crawford. "Often, just attending a conference such as this can motivate would-be writers to develop their talents. We are fortunate to have some of our best local writers as our presenters."

The first two concurrent sessions will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 10:15 a.m. These will be "Writing and Illustrating Children's Books," presented by Esther Bender and Edna Bender, and "Fiction Writing," presented by Dr. Greg Jenkins. Following a 15-minute refreshment break, the second sessions will begin at 10:30 a.m. and conclude at 11:45 a.m. These will be "Writing Poetry," by Debra Wolf, and "Writing Publicity," by Peggy Santamaria.

Persons planning to attend the Fiction Writing session who would like to have a short story critiqued should send the manuscript to Dr. Jenkins two weeks before the conference. The mailing address is Dr. Greg Jenkins, c/o GCC, 687 Mosser Rd., McHenry, MD 21541.

A registration fee of $5 will be charged for the conference. GCC students and high school students will be admitted free of charge. For further information about the conference, interested persons may call Crawford at 301-387-3046.

Photography To Be Course Topic

The Continuing Education & Training Division at Garrett Community College is offering a series of introductory photography courses this spring for beginners.

The second in the series, Improving Your Photos, will be offered on two Thursdays, March 29 and April 5, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the McHenry campus. Topics to be covered during this two-session class include using the on-camera flash, giving pictures depth, choosing photo content, improving photo quality, avoiding parallax error, and deciding when to use a tripod.

For registration information persons may call 301-387-3080.

FSU Reschedules Concert By Ethos Percussion Group

The Ethos Percussion Group's performance at Frostburg State University has been rescheduled for 8 p.m. Sunday, April 1, in the Performing Arts Center's Pealer Recital Hall. Tickets issued for this FSU Cultural Events Series installment originally scheduled in March will be honored at the April concert. As part of the performance, FSU's Collegium Musicum will present the Missa Luba, a mass in Congolese (Zairean) style written for mixed chorus, with tenor solo and percussion accompaniment.

The Ethos Percussion Group uses a variety of instruments from around the world, including drums from several different countries, marimbas, Swiss cowbells, Brazilian scraped percussion, and Chinese opera gongs, as well as some plastic tubing thrown into the mix. The group's repertoire is as eclectic as its instruments, and includes compositions in traditional, contemporary, and global styles. With a decade of ensemble experience, the group has developed a distinctive sound that The Washington Post calls "spellbinding."

Dedicated to advancing the percussive arts on stage and in the classroom, the group has been much in demand around the country. Past venues include Lincoln Center's Alice Tully Hall, the Kennedy Center, and the Philadelphia Museum of Art. Individual members Joseph Gramley, Eric Phinney, Yousif Sheronick, and Michael Sgouros have performed or recorded with a variety of orchestras, including the American Symphony and the Manhattan Chamber Orchestra. Students at the Juilliard School, the Berklee College of Music, and the University of Maryland, among others, have benefited from the group's percussion expertise. Ethos also sponsors the popular "Bing! Bang! Boom" educational program for children, and has received an educational residency grant at the Children's Museum of Manhattan.

The ensemble's recordings include Ethos Percussion Group and The Persistence of Past Chemistries. They have also recorded arrangements of works by Georges Bizet and Franz Liszt with the Philadelphia Virtuosi Chamber Orchestra. In a review of the group's international debut at London's Wigmore Hall, England's Musical Opinion wrote that "in terms of programming, musicianship, and technical ability, Ethos is a winner."

This performance is presented in association with the FSU Department of Music; Yamaha Corporation, Band and Orchestral Division, and the Kauffman Music store of LaVale.

A dinner theatre special in partnership with Giuseppe's Italian Restaurant is available before the performance. The special includes a five-course meal, with tax and tip included. Transportation is available. For information, reservations, and menu selection for the dinner theatre option, persons may contact the Lane Center Box Office at 301-687-4411 weekdays between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Based on availability, tickets may also be purchased at the PAC box office one hour prior to curtain.

Complete Works Of Shakespeare To Be Performed

The Grant County Arts Council will present the comedy The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged) by Pete Regan Productions, at Petersburg High School, Petersburg, W.Va., on Sunday, March 25, at 7:30 p.m.

This play, which will be presented in audience participation style, is "an action-packed race" through all 37 of Shakespeare's plays. "The emphasis is on fun. If you sneeze, you may miss Caesar; if you hiccup, you may miss Hamlet. But, additionally, you may learn a few things about Shakespeare's plays that you didn't know before," stated Regan.

Regan, assistant professor for acting and directing at Davis and Elkins College, and his actors have been performing Shakespeare (Abridged) to acclaim around West Virginia. A recent appearance at Snowshoe Resort resulted in an invitation to return to do the play again.

Regan has been a professional actor, director, and producer since 1989. He has had numerous stage, television, and film roles. He holds a master of fine arts degree in acting and directing from Long Beach State. Most recently he served as the visiting professor for theatre arts at Nazareth College in Rochester, N.Y., before becoming an assistant professor at Davis and Elkins.

This program is presented by the Grant County Arts Council, with financial support from the West Virginia Commission on the Arts and the West Virginia Division of Culture and History. A small admission will be charged at the door.

Mary T. Lincoln Enactment Set

The Grant County (W.Va.) Arts Council will present an enactment of Mary Todd Lincoln by Charleston actress Arla Ralston on Monday, March 26, at 7:30 p.m., in the Main Street Methodist Church Fellowship hall in Petersburg. The enactment is free and open to the public, and adults and students interested in Civil War history are particularly invited.

This enactment is presented in cooperation with the West Virginia Humanities Council as part of its "History Alive" program, and is presented in "Chautauqua style," that is, with the enactor maintaining character for the first part of the program, answering questions in character. The enactor then breaks character and answers questions as him or herself.

Ralston's portrayal of Mary Todd Lincoln focuses on the political, military, and social context of her times, as well as on Abraham Lincoln and their family. Through her wealthy family, she knew many of the prominent people of her times, even before she married Abraham Lincoln and became involved in the national political scene. "Mrs. Lincoln was acknowledged to be a charming, intelligent woman and an invaluable asset to her husband's law and political careers," stated a program spokesperson.

Hospice Slates Training Class For Caregivers

Hospice of Garrett County Inc. will sponsor a three-day class for Hospice volunteer caregivers on April 7, April 21, and April 28.

Topics scheduled for Saturday, April 7, include the welcome and introduction and "Working With the Volunteer Coordinator," presented by Ida Maust, volunteer coordinator. A class on "Personal Care" will be led by Charee Reckner, R.S.N., M.B.A., director of clinical services. She will also teach "Universal Precautions," "Infection Control," "Documentation," "Confidentiality," "Safety," and "Signs & Symptoms of Approaching Death." An overview of hospice will be given by Brenda J. Butscher, executive director.

"Listening Skills," "Family Dynamics," and "Stress Management" will be led by Nancy Elizabeth Nimmich, M.S.W., hospice social worker. This is scheduled for Saturday, April 21. A class in "Spiritual Aspects" will be presented by Pastor Paul Yoder. Ida Maust will finish the day with a wrap up and questions.

The final session, scheduled for Saturday, April 28, will feature a variety of topics, such as "Legal & Financial Planning," tanght by Shirley Fitzwater, First United Bank & Trust. The class will visit Durst Funeral Home to learn funeral home skills. Audrey Kennedy, P.T., Garrett Rehab Services, will lead a class on "Transfer Skills." A class on "Grief Counseling Skills" will be presented by Jane Sealing, director of bereavement.

"Hospice extends an invitation to local residents to become part of the hospice team and to be a volunteer caregiver," Butscher said. "Volunteers will find working with the terminally ill and their families is very rewarding. Keep in mind that doing good for others is doing good for yourself."

To register for the training class, or to obtain more information, persons may call the Hospice office at 301-334-5151, Grantsville area at 800-521-5252, or TTY 800-735-2258.

MLP CHURCH HOSTING ALASKAN EVANGELIST FAMILY — The Mountain Lake Independent Baptist Church will host special speaker David Sommerdorf of Wasilla, Alaska, along with his wife Debra and their six children, during three special Family Day services this Sunday, March 18. Services are slated for 9:45 and 10:45 a.m., and 7 p.m., at the church, which is located at 1005 Broadford Road in Oakland. "Evangelist Sommerdorf is a powerful preacher with real insights into scriptural principles as they relate to the home and family," said Rev. Dennis Leatherman, pastor of the church. "He realizes that good, strong families are invaluable assets to the local community and churches." Along with Sommerdorf's three preaching services, the entire Sommerdorf family will provide special music throughout the day. The services are open to the public, and transportation and nursery services are available. For further information, interested persons may call Leatherman at 301-334-3234 or 301-334-4042.

Adventure Ed. Guide Service Offered By GCC

The Adventure Education Guide Service (AEGS) at Garrett Community College provides work experience for students in the Adventure Sports, Agricultural Management, and Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology programs. The service also provides opportunities for the public to participate in guided adventure programming.

Students in GCC's three land-based programs have organized and led programs for youth groups and other organizations, according to AVS program director Mike Logsdon. They have also contracted with various agencies to provide instruction and equipment in adventure skill development.

Students and instructors who serve as AEGS guides are trained in their particular skill areas, such as climbing, whitewater paddling, high and low ropes, orienteering, and biking, as well as in the appropriate level of emergency medical care.

Summer outings are planned from June through August, and although most of these activities are conducted in the summer, outings can be planned throughout the year. Persons interested in further information about contracting an adventure outing should contact the Adventure Sports Institute at 301-387-3330.

ESCAPING THE GARRETT COUNTY WINTER — Many residents from Garrett County spend the winter months in Florida to escape the cold weather and to experience a change of pace. Each year on the Monday after the Daytona 500 auto race, many of these residents get together for dinner. This Feb. 19, they met at Ryan's restaurant in Leesburg, Fla.

GCC Info Tech Program Adds E3 Offering

Garrett Community College and I/Tech Services, an educational services network, have unveiled E3, a new learning portal designed to supplement the college's expanding Information Technology training programs.

E3 is designed to function as an extended education environment. The portal will allow students to access career development tools, information technology resources, IT certification updates, live on-line workshops and seminars, and subject-matter experts. E3 also provides e-learning programs, including web-based IT curricula from a national e-learning company, KnowledgeNet.com.

"Garrett Community College has been successfully working with I/Tech since 1999 to offer top-notch certification programs from CompTIA and Microsoft," said Terry Norris, director of GCC's Business and Information Technologies Program. "The introduction of E3 will only make these programs more successful. Our students will have a real advantage in the booming marketplace thanks to the value-added services now available through this learning portal."

Garrett partnered with I/Tech in 1999 to bolster its advanced computer offerings. Since then the college has steadily enrolled students in the CompTIA A+ Computer Technician and Microsoft Certified Systems Engineer certification programs. GCC also offers the I/Tech programs for college credit and to area high school students through a special grant opportunity.

"Our programs have been very well-received in the Garrett County area," commented I/Tech chairman Andy Ruziska. "We feel strongly that E3 will strengthen Garrett's position as one of western Maryland's premier training providers."

For further information about I/Tech services, persons may visit the company's web site at www.itechtraining.com or call 1-800-819-0969.

911 Cell Phones Available For Loan To Seniors

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging reminds senior citizens that cellular telephones are available for loan to seniors who travel by car. The Easter holidays are rapidly approaching, and many seniors will be on the road to visit family and friends.

In the event the vehicle breaks down or there is a medical emergency, the traveler will be able to dial 911 for assistance. These phones are available for short- or long-term use and are free of charge. The agency is offering 911 cell phones for homebound seniors with no phone in the home.

Persons wanting further information may contact the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431, ext. 140, or toll free 1-888-877-8403 to reserve a cell phone.

GCC Announces Recent Survey's Winning Numbers

Winning numbers of the recent community-wide survey sponsored by Garrett Community College have been announced by Kris Miller, institutional research technician. First prize, a $250 gift certificate toward any GCC class, was won by number FRP-9754743. Second prize, a $50 gift certificate to Pizzeria Uno, was won by number OA7186933 571. Third prize, a GCC sweatshirt, was won by number OA4211719724.

Persons holding these winning numbers may call Miller at 301-387-3131 weekdays during business hours to claim their prizes.

Second Annual Egg Hunt Set; Sponsors Sought

WKHJ and WWHC radio stations are planning the second annual Easter Egg Hunt, scheduled for 11 a.m. on Saturday, April 7, at Broadford Lake Park. Both radio stations and Garrett County Community Action's Community & Emergency Services (AmeriCorps) are again teamed up after a successful first year, which attracted around 250 egg hunters.

Local businesses and organizations are being asked to contribute monetary, candy, or prize donations. "Manpower for the event would also be appreciated, and high school students needing service learning hours are welcome," stated Pam Trickett of WKHJ.

Last year's hunt included 2,000 hidden eggs, with each egg containing either candy or a prize. There were three $50 savings bonds, one per age category, donated by various local banks.

"We hope to build on the success of last year with just as many or more young people enjoying a fun and safe Easter egg hunt," said Trickett. "We would also like to have a few planned activities before the hunt begins this year. It will take more Easter eggs, more candy, prizes, and basically more money to make this event bigger."

WKHJ will broadcast from the event, and all businesses and organizations making financial donations will receive on-air sponsorship mentions on both 92.3 "The Train" and WKHJ (104.5). Checks should be made payable to WKHJ Radio, ref. Egg Hunt.

A rain date of Saturday, April 14 has been designated.

Members of the Laurel Run Church of God will be visiting the Goodwill Mennonite Home on Wednesday, March 28, at 6:30 p.m.

SAND SPRING CHURCH OF GOD

Sunday school at the Sand Spring Church of God begins at 9 a.m., with worship service following at 10:15. Interim pastor is Nevin Umbel.

Choir practice is held every Wednesday at 6 p.m. Bible study follows at 7 p.m.

Family Fun Night is scheduled for Friday, March 23, in the fellowship hall. A soup and salad dinner will be held from 6 to 7 p.m., followed by a variety of games and activities for all ages. This event is open to the public. Everyone is urged to invite their friends and neighbors.

Church camp forms are available for Camp Sonrise by contacting Nevin Umbel at 301-746-4084.

ASHER GLADE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Nevin Umbel will be the guest speaker during morning worship Sunday, March 23.

Asher Glade and the Sand Spring Church of God will hold a buckwheat cake supper to benefit Lee and Shirley Frantz on Saturday, March 31, at the Sand Spring Church of God fellowship hall beginning at 3 p.m. There will be a bake sale and silent auction. Anyone who wishes to donate crafts, baked goods, or other items is welcome to do so.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Windy Ridge will present a gospel sing at First Christian Church this Sunday, March 18, at 6 p.m. There will be a wild game supper following the sing.

The youth of the church will be going to Augusta on March 16 and 17 for a teen rally.

Chris Talley will provide special music during the morning service on Sunday, April 8.

The Sunday schedule at the First Christian Church is as follows. Sunday school is at 10 a.m., church begins at 11 a.m., and Sunday evening services begin at 6 p.m. The topic of discussion in the evening service is "Fundamentals of Faith."

SCHOOL NEWS

The Friendsville Elementary School is now selling cookbooks full of recipes from parents, teachers, and students. The hardback cookbook also contains helpful hints, a recipe index, cooking tips, a calorie counter, food quantities for serving 25-100 people, and more. The cost of the cookbook is $10, and it can be obtained by contacting a student or by calling the school at 301-746-5100.

The dedication of the Korean War Memorial Wall will be held this Friday, March 16, at 10 a.m. in the front foyer of the school. Among those present will be family members of the deceased men and the American Legion color guard.

OLD MILL GRILL REOPENS

The Old Mill Grill reopened as of March 1, under the management of Robin Bittinger of McHenry. The restaurant opened as the "home of the 25 cent cup of coffee" and has a change in menu and prices. Other improvements include new bathrooms and separate smoking and non-smoking dining areas. A banquet room is also offered for birthday parties, banquets, anniversaries, etc. Organizations are welcome to use the banqnet room also.

Robin has employed a staff of 19.

The Old Mill Grill is open every day from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., with hours subject to changes. The menu consists of all home cooking, including such items as turkey, roast beef, homemade soups, vegetarian foods, over-sized salads, sourdough buckwheat cakes, wraps, her signature salad on a platter, and more. It also offers daily lunch and dinner specials, as well as breakfast throughout the day.

There will be a special buffet offered on Easter, Mother's Day, and Father's Day, and there will soon be an "all-you-can-eat" buffet every Sunday.

Thursday is "Senior Citizen Day," offering senior citizens 15% off their meals all day long, including specials.

Baked goods, including breads, pies, and pastries, are baked on the premises daily.

To go menus and "kids' menus" are available also, with a "surprise" coming with every kid's meal. Take-out orders and deliveries are also available by calling the Old Mill Grill at 301-746-5900.

"The local people and others from the surrounding areas have supported the changes wonderfully," stated Robin Bittinger, "and I would like to thank them. I want everyone to think of the Old Mill Grill not just as a place to come and eat; it's a place to come and meet."

In hopes of decorating her walls with pictures and memorabilia of Friendsville, Robin would like to request of anyone who has such items to contact her at the Old Mill Grill.

SENIOR CITIZEN NEWS

On Monday, March 12, Bob Humberson, member of the Rescue Squad in Friendsville, was present and talked about the possible closing of the squad in Friendsville in the future. He urges everyone in the area to write a letter to the county commissioners or to the editor of the local newspapers to state their opinions. A petition is being circulated throughout Friendsville, and everyone is urged to sign it. One is available at S & S Market in Friendsville. A town meeting is being held on March 20 at the town hall at 6:30 p.m., with the county commissioners to be present to discuss the proposed closing.

PUBLIC MEETING SCHEDULED

A public meeting will be held Tuesday, March 20, at 6:30 p.m. at the town hall. The mayor and town council, Garrett County commissioners, and representatives of the Northern Garrett Co. Rescue Squad will be present.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the planned closing of the Friendsville Rescue Squad station. All interested persons are urged to attend.

TOWN NEWS

Beginning in April, the mayor and town council will hold their meetings on the first Monday and third Thursdays of each month beginning at 7 p.m.

DINNER THEATER

The Friendsville Elementary School sponsored its annual Dinner Theater, featuring many talented youth and adults from the area. This year's play was titled Comedy of Clowns and was presented on Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon. Each performance was sold out and was received with much laughter and applause from the audience.

The story dealt with clowns in search of the answer to the secret of being a clown. After asking the "Big Wheel" (who seemed to strike as much fear in them as the Wizard did to Dorothy), they were sent out on their own to discover the answer.

The play featured some talented singers and courageous actors, who didn't seem to make a single mistake. Some of the funniest times were when members of the audience, who were picked at random, got involved by showing off some dance steps in their tu-tus. Those who were picked to do so performed with great showmanship.

The hard work from all of those involved with such a production paid off. Everyone left with a smile on their face and the thought of money well spent. A good time was had by all, and it is with great enthusiasm that the Friendsville Dinner Theater Group is encouraged to do another play real soon.

NEARLY LOSING HIS LIFE when he was struck by a drunk driver in November was Melvin Leslie Beckman, a native of Garrett County who now resides in North Bloomfield, Ohio. Beckman was released just this past week after spending four months in hospitals and a rehabilitation center, recovering from numerous broken bones and various other injuries. According to his parents, Melvin and Dotty Beckman of Swanton, he is "doing well" and is working to regain the use of his arm and legs. A graduate of Southern High School, Beckman is married and has a 9-year-old son. His address is P.O. Box 171, North Bloomfield, OH, 44450.

RESIDENTIAL TRASH PICK-UP

Effective April 5, trash pick-up for the residents of Friendsville will change from Fridays to Thursday mornings beginning at 7:30 a.m. For more information, persons may contact Deep Creek Refuse at 301-746-5620.

BLOODMOBILE

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Friendsville fire hall on Friday, March 23, from noon to 6 p.m. for anyone interested in giving blood.

THE WISHING WELL

In the hopes of letting people in our area and out of town know when someone is ill or recovering from an accident or illness, I would like to be able to include names in "The Wishing Well" to give friends and loved ones the opportunity to send them a card, visit them, or call them. At times like these, every little bit of encouragement can speed up the recovery process and make the days a little brighter. If you know of anyone whom you would like to have included in "The Wishing Well," please contact me at 301-746-5933.

Roger "Fuzz" Detrick is recuperating at his sister's home after having surgery on a broken ankle.

Derek DeWitt, son of Ronnie and Donna DeWitt, is recovering at his home after being treated at the Mercy Hospital Burn Unit in Pittsburgh. He sustained burns to his hand following an accident at a maple sugar camp. His address is 414 Noah Frazee Road, Friendsville, MD 21531.

Doris Frazee is recuperating at her home after having a procedure to open her esophagus. Her address is 1506 Frazee Ridge Road, Friendsville, MD 21531.

Gene Sines is recuperating at home after undergoing surgery on his shoulder. His address is 2336 Friendsville Addison Road, Friendsville, MD 21531.

CUB SCOUT NEWS

The Cub Scout Pack 33 annual Father(or someone other than your mother)/Son Cake Bake will be held Tuesday, March 20, at the Friendsville Lutheran Church at 6:30 p.m. Cakes will be auctioned off that evening. The community is welcome to attend.

FRIENDSVILLE RAD GROUP

The RAD (Residents Against Drugs) Group is sponsoring a "Spring Fling" on Saturday, April 7, at the town park. The event will include an Easter egg hunt for the kids, a craft bazaar, food for sale, pictures with the Easter Bunny to purchase, and more.

Any churches, organizations, or individuals who are interested in setting up a table are welcome to do so. There is no cost to set up a table, but participants are responsible for getting their own tables. For more information, persons may contact Jennifer Schrover at 301-746-4527.

PERSONALS

Mary Jane and John Wisor of Bear Creek Road recently treated their daughter, Lou Ann Sines, and husband Doug to dinner at Bob Evans in Westover to celebrate Lou Ann's birthday.

ON A PERSONAL NOTE

This is in regard to the moving and consolidation of both the Friendsville and Accident rescue squads to the McHenry area. It has come to our attention that the decision has already been made, with no regard to public opinion.

The majority of the members of the rescue squad in Friendsville are against this move and were just informed of such a proposal at the February 10 meeting. The proposal was voted on by all members present at the meeting, and was passed, with Grantsville having the majority of members voting.

It has been brought to my attention by a reliable source that, without the knowledge of all squad members, property was purchased and plans have already been made for the new facility in McHenry, including plans for a pool table, foos-ball table, ping pong table, and a computer with Internet access. All of these things will be bought and paid for with taxpayers' money, and this enrages those who feel that patient care is the priority.

A main concern of those involved in the move, which includes EMTs and those in need of the services in the surrounding area, is the time it will take to respond to an emergency call. The Friendsville Road is not the best for traveling, even on a good day, and consideration must be given to tourist traffic, tractor trailers climbing or descending at a slow pace, and the treacherous winter weather.

If this is the new millennium, then why do we seem to be going back to 20 years ago when there was no rescue squad in Friendsville? I'm sure that McHenry would benefit from a rescue squad in that area, but should it be at the expense of others?

Is it true that Tri-Towns Rescue Squad was going to purchase a property in the lake area and that Northern Rescue had to make a move fast?

I'm sure the town meeting on Tuesday night will give us the answers that we search for. I urge everyone who is interested to attend, but let's please remember that finger pointing and harsh words will not get us anywhere.

Maryland Center For Agro-Ecology Funds Critical Mass Study Of Maryland Farmland

The Maryland Center for Agro-Ecology Inc. has awarded $89,000 to Dr. Lori Lynch of the University of Maryland to support a one-year analysis of the critical mass of farmland necessary to sustain Maryland's vital agricultural infrastructure and industry.

Fifty years ago, Maryland had more than 4 million acres of farmland and more than 36,000 working farms, said Russell Brinsfield, executive director of the center. By 1997, Maryland land in farms had decreased by nearly half, while the number of farms decreased by two-thirds. "Dr. Lynch's study, due to be completed in early 2002, will provide important regional and statewide clues as to whether there is a critical mass of farmland acres or farming activity needed to sustain an agricultural economy in Maryland."

Lynch, an assistant professor in the Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics, will pursue three principal objectives during the one-year study. First, Lynch will analyze whether there is a critical mass of farmland by determining whether the rate of farmland conversion is impacted by the number of farmland acres or economic activity per acre. Second, she will analyze the factors that affect farmland conversion in Maryland and the Mid-Atlantic region. Third, she will analyze whether an individual farmer's behavior changes as farmland acres decrease in his or her resident county.

"Farmland conversion raises a number of interesting economic and behavioral questions," said Lynch. As farmland acres decrease, there are fewer purchasers of farm inputs such as fertilizer or equipment. If these businesses exit a region because of farmland conversion, individual farmers may face higher prices for essential goods. This study will determine whether slipping below this "critical mass" accelerates the conversion of remaining farmland and open space.

The Maryland Center for Agro-Ecology was formed in 1999 by diverse Maryland leaders who share a common interest in stimulating new cooperative approaches for preserving Maryland's vital open spaces. For more information about the center or this project, those interested may contact Russell Brinsfield or Kevin Miller at 410-827-6202.

Farming In Maryland.....

USDA Conservation Spending Must Be Increased, Groups Say

Federal spending for USDA conservation programs must be increased to meet demand from farmers and ranchers for financial and technical assistance, and to address many of the nation's most pressing environmental challenges.

That's according to 32 conservation groups, which today urged House and Senate Budget Committee leaders to set aside more federal funding for over-subscribed USDA conservation programs like the Farmland Protection Program, the Wetlands Reserve Program, the Environmental Quality Incentive Program, the Wildlife Habitat Incentive Program and the Conservation Reserve Program. Although farm spending reached $32 billion in FY 2000, thousands of farmers and ranchers seeking financial and technical assistance from USDA conservation programs are turned away.

"Every day, thousands of farmers and ranchers seeking federal assistance to restore wildlife habitat, combat sprawl and reduce polluted runoff are being turned away due to inadequate funds," said Scott Faber, water resources specialist for the Environmental Defense Fund.

"Because farmland and ranchland covers 55 percent of the landscape, the way it is managed can have a dramatic impact on the natural resources and open spaces so important to all Americans," said American Farmland Trust president Ralph Grossi. "To address the overwhelming demand from farmers and the public for additional resources to improve land stewardship, Congress needs to act now. A significant budget increase is needed and would send the right signal.

Half of all farmers and ranchers seeking technical assistance to improve tillage practices or install streamside buffers are rejected due to inadequate funding, according to federal farm officials.

Three out of four farmers seeking federal financial assistance to restore lost wetlands and woodlands, use less water, or manage manure better are also rejected.

Thousands of farmers in the path of sprawl have offered to sell their development rights to state and local farmland protection programs, but have been turned away due to inadequate funding.

"In the next five years, farmers and ranchers who manage more than a billion acres of cropland, rangeland and forestland will need USDA assistance, but many will not get that help unless current funding levels are increased," said Ernie Shea, chief executive officer of National Association of Conservation Districts.

The 32 groups who cosigned the letter include American Farmland Trust, a national farmland conservation group, Environmental Defense Fund, a leading national nonprofit organization representing more than 300,000 members, and the National Association of Conservation Districts, the national voice of America's 3,000 local conservation districts.

American Farmland Trust is a private, nonprofit farmland conservation organization founded in 1980 to stop the loss of productive farmland and to promote farming practices that lead to a healthy environment. Its action-oriented programs include public education, technical assistance in policy development, and demonstration farmland protection projects. For more information, those interested may visit AFT's homepage at www.farmland.org.

Eggs Set To Produce Broilers Up 2 Percent

Commercial hatcheries in the 15 states weekly surveyed by the National Ag Statistics Service set 181 million eggs in incubators during the week ending February 10.

This was up 2% from the eggs set the corresponding week a year earlier. Average hatchability for chicks hatched during the week was 82%. Average hatchability is calculated by dividing chicks hatched during the week by eggs set three weeks earlier.

Broiler growers in the 15 states placed 143 million chicks for meat production during the week ending February 10. Placements were down 2% from the comparable week in 2000.

DHIA/Holstein Banquet Set For March 22

The annual DHIA/Holstein Association banquet will be held March 22 at the Pleasant Valley Community Center south of Oakland at 7 p.m. Reservations must be made by calling the Garrett County Extension office at 301-334-6960 by March 16. Those attending are invited to come early and enjoy appetizers and drinks while socializing.

Summer activities planned by the Holstein Club include:

- a fitting and showing class held at Carl Bender's on April 6 at 7 p.m. for youth and adults
- the Black and White Show, July 24 at the Garrett Co. Fairgrounds
- a county sale on July 27 at the Garrett Co. Fairgrounds
- the State Holstein picnic at the Grantsville Park in Grantsville on Sat., July 28
- the Dairy Show during fair week at the Garrett County Fairgrounds

Association officials ask members to mark their calendars and plan to attend these activities.

USDA Issues Foot & Mouth Alert In U.S.

As foot-and-mouth disease continues to ravage the livestock industry in Britain, the world has gone into a full-scale alert to try to arrest spread of the dreaded virus.

USDA has released a package of information about the identification and control of foot-and-mouth. Because the disease spreads widely and rapidly and because of its dramatic economic damage, "FMD is one of the animal diseases that livestock owners dread most," a USDA Veterinary Services report said.

Although the U.S. has been free of FMD since 1929, the disease is difficult to control, and because it occurs in many parts of the world, accidental introduction into the United States is possible, the report said.

Current information on foot-and-mouth disease is available at the USDA web site: http://www.USDA.gov.

USDA To Award $25 Million In Grants To Promote Value-Added Ventures

USDA Rural Development announced that $25 million in grants is available for the development of agricultural producer-owned processing businesses. The new Value-Added Agricultural Product Market Development Grants program is designed to encourage independent producers of agricultural commodities to process their raw products into marketable goods, thereby increasing farm income.

Of the total amount, $20 million will go to help associations of independent producers establish value-added business ventures. The remaining $5 million will be awarded to establish a pilot project known as the Agricultural Marketing Resource Center.

Ventures in which agricultural producers add value to their products by processing, packaging, or other means are eligible to apply for grants. Grants can be awarded for such activities as conducting feasibility analyses, developing business and marketing plans, or using as working capital while the venture develops cash flow.

Grant funds cannot be used for the development or acquisition of buildings or other facilities, or to purchase, rent, or install fixed equipment. The maximum allowable grant amount is $500,000, and grant recipients must provide 1-to-1 matching funds.

Grant applications for this purpose will be accepted in two rounds. Applications for the first round must be received by 4 p.m. Eastern Time, April 23. The deadline for the second round is 4 p.m. Eastern Time, June 27.

Nonprofit corporations and institutions of higher learning are eligible to apply to establish the Agricultural Marketing Resource Center. The center will collect and make available information on value-added processing to independent producers and processors. It will also develop a strategy to establish a nationwide market information and coordination system.

The recipient of the $5 million grant must supply an additional $5 million in matching funds. All applications for this grant must be received by 4 p.m. Eastern Time, April 30.

This program is administered by USDA's Rural Business Cooperative Service. Further information is available at USDA Rural Development state offices, or at the following Web address: www.rurdev.usda.gov/rbs/coops/vadg.htm.

Congressional Staff Urge Farm Bill Involvement

Key staffers from the U.S. House and Senate spoke to participants at the annual National Farmers Union (NFU) Convention about the importance of getting involved in the debate over the next federal farm bill. The blue ribbon panel warned that constraints on agricultural spending will make the battle over future farm bill priorities more difficult. Given the limited budget available for agriculture programs, farmers and ranchers were encouraged to vocally support their priorities to members of Congress.

"The key issue this year is baseline, baseline, baseline," said Ann Simmons, professional staff member on the House Agriculture Committee's minority staff. Simmons and other members of the panel emphasized that the baseline, or the annual budget for farm program spending, must be increased to adequately fund the next farm bill.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Economic Research Service (ERS) recently predicted that net farm income in 2001 will be at the lowest level since 1995. The panel agreed that future farm policy must aim to lift the agricultural economy out of the depression it has experienced over the last several years.

Keith Luse, majority staff director to the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry, acknowledged that farmers and ranchers face a complex set of challenges today. He and other members of the panel discussed a range of issues that affect farmers, including farm price, trade, agricultural consolidation, conservation, and food safety.

"As important as the farm bill is, we can't lose sight of the ongoing programs at USDA," added Roger Szemraj, chief of staff for Rep. Marcy Kaptur, D-Ohio. "We need to work for adequate funds for all of them."

Galen Fountain, clerk and counsel for the Senate Agriculture, Rural Development and Related Agencies Subcommittee, continued, "Major decisions will soon be made to determine the distribution of limited federal resources. Agriculture interests must make clear the need for direct farm support, but, also, research dollars, conservation programs, and rural development."

"Our top priorities for the next farm bill should be to establish a dependable system to restore farm income, expand conservation to include new voluntary programs, and reduce agriculture concentration," said Mark Halverson, minority staff director and chief counsel to the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry.

Scott Carlson, Senate minority budget committee staff, said, "We need your help to obtain increased resources for the farm bill, and to rewrite our emergency assistance policies."

Tom Sell, professional staff member for the House Agriculture Committee chairman Larry Combest, R-Texas, said, "As Congress goes further into policy and farm bill development, it is vital that organizations like Farmers Union provide honest, grassroots input. Agricultural leaders in the House and Senate will continue to seek input from farmers and ranchers to formulate new and innovative approaches to federal farm policy."

USDA Advises Farmers To Check Corn Seed Before Planting

John B. Rader, state executive director for the Farm Service Agency, has announced that USDA recommends farmers should not plant any corn unless they are certain that the seed has been tested and found free of the protein Cry9C, which has not been approved for human consumption.

According to Rader, farmers should insist that seed companies verify that the seed corn has been tested for the protein Cry9C to ensure that only tested seed is planted this spring.

StarLink is the trade name for corn genetically modified to be pest resistant by producing a protein called Cry9C. The protein acts as a pesticide and is able to protect the plant from pests, such as the European Corn Borer. The protein was developed by Aventis Crop Sciences, a subsidiary of the French company Aventis S.A. and sold through various U.S. seed companies.

Last week some seed companies reported finding isolated occurrences of extremely low levels of Cry9C in seed originally intended for sale this year. Based on aggregate information voluntarily provided by the American Seed Trade Association (ASTA), of those companies reporting, it is estimated that less than 1 percent of corn seeds for 2001 planting may contain Cry9C protein.

Companies involved have recovered and taken control of all lots of hybrid corn seed found to have this protein. Seed companies routinely test their products for impurities, and many took steps to detect Cry9C before USDA recommended testing procedures on Dec. 29, 2000. It is USDA's intent to continue following recommended testing procedures designed to detect Cry9C, and it will monitor this activity. In the event Cry9C is found, these companies will not sell the corn seed for planting.

USDA continues to work closely on this issue with the Food and Drug Administration, the Environmental Protection Agency, Iowa State University, National Corn Growers Association, American Seed Trade Association, and Aventis.

Wool And Mohair Signup Applications For 2000 Being Accepted

Signup for the Wool and Mohair Market Loss Assistance Program II (WAMLAP II) is in progress at the Preston County FSA Office. The final date to file WAMLAP II applications is close of business April 13, 2001. Payments are for producers who produced and sheared wool or mohair during the 2000 marketing year (Jan. 1, 2000, through Dec. 31, 2000). Late filed provisions do not apply, WAMLAP II.

The Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) will determine the national payment rate at the close of the application period based on $19.956 million allotted and the reported eligible wool and mohair. The payment rate per pound will be based on a factoring of available funds divided by total pounds of eligible wool and mohair reported on each approved application and shall not exceed $0.40 per pound of wool and mohair. Advance payments will not be issued for WAMLAP II.

Eligible wool or mohair must have been produced and sheared in the United States from livestock owned 30 calendar days or more by the producer at the time of shearing during the 2000 marketing year.

Only one CCC-1155 is required from each producer, unless the producer has both wool and mohair. In that case, a separate CCC-1155 would be required for each type produced and sheared. The wool and mohair does not have to be sold to be eligible for payment. A producer does not have to be currently producing wool or mohair; however, the producer must still be in the business of producing and marketing agricultural products.

For complete details, those interested may contact the Preston County FSA Office at 304-329-1923.

USDA Announces Third Program For Dairy Farmers

Eligible dairy farmers can receive new or additional payments under the third Dairy Market Loss Assistance program. Signup for this new "DMLA III" is limited to farmers with new dairy operations or to farmers whose operations received payments under DMLA II for less than 12 months' milk production. Generally, DMLA II program payment levels established the production levels for payments for operations under the DMLA III program. This additional signup, which started on Feb. 26, will allow dairy operations that did not have a full 12 months of DMLA II production to receive an additional payment under DMLA III.

Payment rates under this new signup will be $.6468 per hundredweight (cwt.). Total payment eligibility under DMLA II could not exceed 26,000 cwt. of milk, but under DMLA III, payments can now be made for production up to 39,000 cwt.

For those operations participating in the new signup that have already received DMLA III payments, additional payments can be made only to the extent that there is remaining eligibility for those dairy operations under the 39,000 cwt. production limitation.

Eligibility questions can be answered at the Preston County FSA Office located in the USDA Service Center at 300 Tunnelton Street in Kingwood. Interested producers may telephone FSA at 304-329-1923.

What is Foot-and-Mouth Disease (FMD) and Why is it Such a Big Deal?

Foot-and-mouth disease is the most highly infectious animal disease known. It is caused by a virus that can infect cattle, swine, sheep, goats and other cloven-hoofed animals. The disease is characterized by fever and blister-like lesions called vesicles on the tongue, lips, and inside of the mouth, on the teats; and on the tissue around the hooves. FMD is not usually fatal, but causes dramatic drop in milk yield in milking animals and a deterioration of physical condition and growth rate in all infected animals.

Where is FMD Found?

Foot-and-mouth disease is endemic in many countries in Asia, Africa, South America, and the Middle East. The United States has been free of FMD since 1929. The current outbreak in Great Britain is the first there since 1967. Tuesday morning, France joined the list.

How is FMD Spread?

The virus that causes foot-and-mouth disease is extremely hardy and can survive in dry fecal material for 14 days in the summer, in slurry up to 6 months in the winter, in urine for 39 days, and on the soil between 3 days (summer) and 28 days (winter). It exists in the saliva, milk, urine, feces, and exhaled air of infected animals. At the height of the disease, the virus is also present in the blood and all parts of the body. The virus can be spread when susceptible animals are exposed to contaminated food products, such as meat or cheese, from a country with FMD; susceptible animals are exposed to contaminated hay, feedstuffs, or hides; raw or improperly cooked garbage containing infected animal products is fed to susceptible animals; susceptible animals drink contaminated water; infected animals are introduced into susceptible herds; people wearing contaminated clothes or footwear come into contact with susceptible animals; contaminated facilities or vehicles are used to hold or transport susceptible animals; or a susceptible cow is inseminated by semen from an infected bull.

What is the Government Doing to Prevent a U.S. Outbreak?

The U.S. government has had regulations in place for years to protect against foreign animal diseases such as foot-and-mouth disease. These regulations are in place 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Port inspectors and customs officials conduct regular, random inspections of cargo and the possessions of individuals entering or returning to the United States. They are supported in their efforts by USDA's "beagle brigade" of dogs trained to sniff for forbidden food and plant items. USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service issued an interim rule, effective January 29, 2001, removing the United Kingdom from the list of FMD-free countries. This action prohibits the importation of all ruminants and swine and most products derived from ruminants and swine, unless those products were processed in such a manner as to inactivate the FMD virus. Inspections at ports and airports have been increased.

What Can I Do to Prevent a U.S. Outbreak?

If you travel to any country outside the United States, be sure to follow all USDA restrictions regarding importation of meats, cheeses, and other potentially hazardous products. If you travel to the United Kingdom, avoid rural areas. If this isn't possible, buy an inexpensive pair of comfortable shoes that you can leave behind before you fly home. Limit the clothes you wear on or near farms in such areas to one or two outfits that you can launder before your return flight or leave behind. If neither of these options is possible, launder or dry clean your clothes as soon as you return home. Avoid contact with susceptible animals for at least 7 days after visiting an infected farm.

How Can I Recognize FMD?

After an incubation period of 2 to 14 days, infected animals demonstrate a variety of clinical signs. These tend to be more severe in dairy cows and intensively reared pigs than in sheep and goats. The signs include vesicles on the tongue, dental pad, gums, lips, the cleft of the feet, and the teats and udder; a fever of up to 106F, which usually falls in 2 to 3 days; sticky, foamy, stringy saliva; reduced feed consumption caused by painful tongue and mouth lesions; lameness and reluctance to move; and reduced milk flow in milking animals. Some of the symptoms may be confused with other diseases, but don't take a chance. If you see any of these suspicious signs, immediately contact your local veterinarian or the office of Maryland's state vetcrinarian, Dr. James Fearer, at 301-334-2185.

In addition to reporting a suspected case of FMD, you can take the following steps to prevent the spread of the disease to your neighbors and protect U.S. agriculture: isolate all animals; lock your farm gates and post a "Keep Out" sign at the entrance; prohibit people or vehicles from leaving or entering your farm; and avoid moving stock, crops, dairy products, or anything else off the premises.

The Bottom Line...Although the chances of foot-and-mouth disease spreading to the United States are small, American producers should not become complacent, warns Dr. Will Hueston, associate dean of the Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Maryland's Avrum Gudelsky Center in College Park. "The risk of a U.S. outbreak is small, "says Hueston. "But given the potentially devastating economic impact of the disease, it only makes sense for Maryland producers—particularly those traveling to the United Kingdom—to take steps to reduce the risk even further."

USDA To Buy Back StarLink Seed Corn

USDA announced last Wednesday an offer to "buy back" seed corn contaminated with Cry9C, the protein found in the controversial StarLink variety, from small companies not affiliated with or licensed by Aventis.

The program will cost the Commodity Credit Corporation an estimated $15 to $20 million for the purchase of anywhere from 300,000 to 400,000 bags of contaminated seed corn, USDA says.

According to Agriculture Online, the buy-back comes after USDA requested a survey from the American Seed Trade Association that shows less than 1% of the 2001 corn seed in the U.S. is contaminated.

USDA says such low levels won't affect prices or availability of seed, but there is some indication it will have an effect on market prices come next fall. Joe Victor, Allendale Inc. told Agriculture Online, "The Japanese are telling us loud and clear, 'You have a tainted product of which we want no part.'"

Wool & Mohair 2000 Signup Being Accepted

Michael R. Kozier, executive director of the Garrett/Allegany Farm Service Agency (FSA), has announced that signup for the Wool and Mohair Market Loss Assistance Program II (WAMLAP II) is in progress at the county office.

Information on the program can be found in a separate article under the Preston County FSA heading on this page.

For local information, those interested may call Kozier at 301-334-6954.

THANK YOU

We would like to thank our children Mike, Becky, and Debbie, their spouses Kelli, Dave, and Danny, our grandchildren Marial, Ayla, Jaron, Justyce, Kaitlyn, Christopher, and Courtney, and our friends and family who helped us celebrate our 30th wedding anniversary (March 13) at a party on March 9, 2001. What stayed a surprise for months had to be told a few days before because of unforeseen circumstances out of town, but although the event was not a surprise, our children outdid themselves with all the special things they had planned for us. God has blessed us in so many ways, and one of the most precious was the gift of such wonderful children (and through them, our beautiful grandchildren.) We love you very much!

Southern High School Students Of The Month Selected

Amber Gregory, a senior, is the daughter of Lawrence and Crystal Gregory. She has received Minds in Motion awards and has been on the honor roll. She was nominated for Who's Who Among American High School Students and the National Honor Society. She attends the Loch Lynn Church of God, and has participated in the Relay for Life. She plans to major in elementary education at Frostburg State University.

Sarah McWilliams, junior, is the daughter of Rod McWilliams and Terri Winters. She received the Outstanding Art Student Certificate in the 10th grade, and as a junior she has illustrated the school newspaper. She is a member of the National Art Honor Society. Sarah also volunteered at the Yough Glades Elementary School library. She plans to attend an art school and major in the fine arts.

Christina Shafer, a junior, is the daughter of David and Lynne Shafer. Christine attends St. Mark's Lutheran Church and enjoys traveling. In the future, she hopes to become a lawyer.

Miriam Sincell, also a junior, is the daughter of Benjamin and Beverly Sincell. She was named Area Defensive Player of the Year in soccer, and has participated in track, and the stage and pep bands. Miriam has also been nominated for National Honor Society and is a Minds in Motion award winner. She has participated in several plays, including Oliver, Children of Eden, and Quilters. In the future, Miriam plans to major in computer engineering and computer programming.

Neil Cardiff, a sophomore, is the son of Leon and Wendy Cardiff. He has been on the honor roll, participates in Scouts, and competed in the Maryland History Day competition. In the future, he plans to attend a four-year college.

Lyndsie Rush, sophomore, is the daughter of Timothy and Kimberlie Rush. She is a Student Council representative, is a statistician for boys' basketball, and has been elected to attend the Hugh O'Brian Leadership Conference. She is also a member of the Pleasant View Baptist youth group, as well as the Pleasant View Baptist Church Puppet Team. Lyndsie hopes to become a teacher.

Christopher Rinker, freshman, is the son of Earl and Mary Rinker. He has won an award in the Lions International Peace Poster Contest and volunteers at the Gorman fire hall, serving tables at their buckwheat cake dinners. In the future, Christopher hopes to attend West Virginia University to work toward a degree in teaching.

COVE

The Cove Kids 4-H Club held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening. All members were asked to participate in public speaking. The top three winners of the junior, intermediate, and senior classes were: junior, first place — Megan Margroff, second place — Rachel Margroff, and third place — Ryan Evans; intermediate, first place — Michael Bender, and second place — Leah Biser; and seniors, first place — Michelle Bender, and second place — Beth Long. Clover Haley Margroff also did a speech. The 2001 officers will be meeting this coming week at the fellowship hall. The date and time will be announced to officers. Other events will be announced later. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, April 10, in the St. John's Lutheran Church fellowship hall. For more information, persons may contact leader Anita Funk at 301-746-8891.

"IT'S SO NICE TO HAVE A DAD AROUND THE HOUSE"

DADS are special people
No home should be without.
For every family will agree
They're "SO NICE TO HAVE ABOUT."
They are a happy mixture
Of a "SMALL BOY" and a "MAN."
And they're very necessary
In every "FAMILY PLAN."
Sometimes they're most demanding
And stern, and firm and tough,
But underneath they're "soft as silk"
For this is just a "BLUFF."
But in any kind of trouble
Dad reaches out his hand,
And you can always count on him
To help and understand.
And while we do not praise Dad
As often as we should,
We love him and admire him
And while that's understood,
It's only fair to emphasize
His importance and his worth.
For if there were no loving Dads
This would be a LOVELESS EARTH.

Observes Fifth Year At Salem

Beverly Wilt recently marked her fifth year on the staff of the Maryland Salem Children's Trust, Long Stretch.

A graduate of Northern Garrett High School and Garrett Community College, where she obtained an associate of arts degree in business, her tenure at Salem began in March of 1996 when she was hired as an assistant horsemanship instructor in the agency's therapeutic horse program. While at that position, she assisted in riding instruction for 32 children and in the care of eight horses.

In October of that same year, Wilt accepted the position of secretary/ receptionist in the agency's office where some of her responsibilities included setting up and maintaining the children's case records, scheduling dental and medical appointments for the children in residential care, and supervising a part-time secretary.

From November 1998 to September 2000, Wilt served as human resource manager at Salem and was responsible for personnel files, assisting in agency payroll, managing the referral process of children to Salem, and developing a monthly orientation schedule for all staff.

Currently, Wilt is employed as Salem's finance and personnel director and serves as the chief financial officer for the agency where, among some of her duties, she is responsible for developing annual operating and capital budgets, attending state budget meetings, developing budgets and funding proposals for submission to local, state, federal, and private entities, and planning and executing the recruitment program for all positions at Salem.

"Bev's organizational abilities and attention to detail enable her to accomplish numerous and diverse tasks, making her a very efficient employee," stated a Salem spokesperson

Her prior job experiences include positions held at Yoder-Hershberger Insurance, Grantsville, and Oakland offices of First United National Bank & Trust, West Marva District Church of the Brethren, Jackson Equipment, and Garrett Community College.

Wilt resides in Grantsville with her husband Ray and 7-year-old son Tyler.

NEW BOOK PRESENTED IN GRANTSVILLE - The mayor and council of Grantsville presented copies of the new book, Maryland's 157, The Incorporated Cities and Towns, to the Grantsville Elementary School and the Ruth Enlow Library in Grantsville. Grantsville is a member of the Maryland Municipal League, an association of cities and towns throughout Maryland that published the book with the input from each town. Included in the publication are pictures highlighting each community and a brief description of each town, explaining its type of government. Pictured above is Mayor Gerry Beachy presenting the book to Kim Lisha at the Ruth Enlow Library. Below, Linda Buckel, principal of Grantsville Elementary School, receives the book from Mayor Beachy.

HUSKY Notes

by Brandon Butler and Brandon J. Heover

- Any sophomore or junior interested in applying for the position of Garrett County student member on the board of education should see Mrs. Harman as soon as possible.
- The CTBS test was given to juniors at Northern this week.
- The school library is open Monday through Friday from 3:30 until 6:30 p.m. Stop in and see Mrs. Brennenman.
- Any student, staff, or administrator interested in bowling for Big Brothers Big Sisters should see Mrs. Harman in Room 224 for information. The bowling event is scheduled for March 31. Teams of four are eligible, and the teams may be mixed.
- Students are encouraged to take advantage of the breakfast program. Cafeteria workers are on hand from 8 until 8:40 a.m. each morning. Students must report to their respective homerooms at 8:35 a.m. for attendance purposes. No food is to be taken from the cafeteria.
- Congratulations to Pranav Patel and Landon Southerly, who were both selected to present their research at the Maryland Junior Science and Humanities Symposium on March 29 and 30 in Chevy Chase. Also, congratulations to Micah Plevyak, who was selected to attend as a junior delegate representing Garrett County.
- When you think of school, who do you think of? Who shares all of those wonderful times with you? Your friends. Now you can create your own yearbook space celebrating your friendships. For details stop by the lobby display case or see Mrs. Lewis, Room 216, or Miss Tichnell, Room 219. So gather your friends and buy your yearbook space today. If everyone chips in, you save. Sale ends Friday, April 13.

Reaching Goals Course Offered

The Continuing Education & Training Division at Garrett Community College is offering a course to assist individuals in reaching their personal and professional goals.

The course, Getting What You Want, will be offered on five consecutive Tuesdays, March 27 through April 24, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the McHenry campus. Motivational speaker Sandi Flockhart will facilitate the course, which will address the following topics: accepting success; establishing measuring tools; developing self-rewards; acknowledging barriers that are encountered; understanding the concept of self-sabotage; accepting accountability for one's life; and determining what one wants out of life.

For registration information, persons may call 301-387-3080.

New Activities, Sub-Committees

The Maryland Salem Children's Trust community relations committee has recently been developing new activities and new subcommittees.

One activity being planned is a biking event in conjunction with the 5k run/walk which takes place on Labor Day at the Savage River Lodge.

Among the new subcommittees are publicity, silent auctions, corporate sponsors, banquets and entertainment, and ticket sales. Volunteers are welcome in all areas.

Once a central location for Garrett and Allegany county residents is selected, a banquet will be held. This central location will also serve as a possible meeting place for any additional conferences.

Meetings will be held once a month, with the next one set for March 27 at 10:30 a.m. Interested persons may telephone Suzanne Lipscomb at 301-689-8176.

Infant Massage Workshop Set By Healthy Families

The Healthy Families program of the Garrett County Health Department will offer a free one-hour infant massage workshop at 7 p.m. this Monday, March 19, at the health department's G&W Plaza conference room. The workshop will be repeated at 7 p.m. Monday, March 26, at the Grantsville Senior Center; at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 12, at the G&W Plaza conference room; and at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 19, at the Grantsville Senior Center.

Parents should dress in comfortable clothing and bring a thick blanket and/or a changing pad to provide a comfortable surface to massage their baby. Expecting parents may bring a doll to practice the techniques.

"A lifelong relationship between parent and child can be enhanced by the bonding that occurs from giving the gift of massage to your baby," commented Allison Atkinson of the Nurturing Touch Massage Studio, who will conduct the workshop along with Debora Nichols, also of the Nurturing Touch. The workshops are designed for expecting parents or parents who have infants ranging from birth through pre-crawling. Discussion will focus on the importance and benefits of touch with infants and children, and parents will practice hands-on techniques with their infant while learning how touch helps at each developmental stage.

"These workshops support our program's efforts," said Healthy Families program director Earleen Beckman. Healthy Families provides home visiting services to all expecting parents and families with a newborn under 3 months of age who live in Garrett County to ensure that children are healthy and enter school ready to learn. Program staff provide support to help parents know what to expect as their baby grows and to help parents learn to teach while playing with their child.

To register for the workshops, or for further information, interested persons may call the Healthy Families program at 301-533-0001 or 301-895-5017.

BLOOMINGTON

RENEW WEDDING VOWS

Several couples renewed their marriage vows recently at the Bloomington United Methodist Church. The Rev. Donald Nelson performed the ceremony, sponsored by the United Methodist Women.

Some of the couples were married for 65 years, 54 years, and 50 years. Each couple walked down the aisle as "The Wedding March" was played. A tape of "Look At Us" by Vince Gill was played, and a song was sung by Kim Tichnell.

Renewing their wedding vows were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kooken, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rizer, Mr. and Mrs. David Boal, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Welsh, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Friend., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Green, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jones, and the Rev. Don and Janet Nelson.

Following the ceremony, refreshments were served in the social hall by Lillian Fazenbaker. A wedding cake was baked by Becky Moorehead, and the social hall was decorated in red and white for Valentine's Day.

The church also held a charge Valentine dinner, with Donnie Stephens and his mother Alice as guests. Following dinner, Stephens gave a concert.

PERSONAL MENTION

Janet Nelson and Ruth Streets are both recovering from back surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. David Boal and Judy Wilson have returned from spending time with Sue and Junior Crawford in Alva, Fla.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS DESIGN/BUILD CONSTRUCTION

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will accept sealed proposals to design/build a pre-engineered steel or cement block building on Lot 10 in the Northern Garrett Industrial Park. The manufacturing space will be 5,000 square feet expandable to 15,000 square feet. The proposed building will also require approximately 1,250 square feet of office space.

A Pre-Proposal Conference will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Friday, March 23, 2001, in the Economic Development Meeting Room 208 at the Garrett County Courthouse.

Proposal documents and specifications may be obtained in person from the Procurement Division of the Garrett County Administrative Office, 313 East Alder Street, Room 105, Oakland, Maryland 21550. The cost of the proposal documents and specifications is $25.00 per set. All out-of-town contractors must pre-pay for shipping and the cost of the plans. Inquiries may be made by calling 301-334-1928.

Sealed proposals must be submitted to the Procurement Division of the Garrett County Administrative Office, 313 East Alder Street, Room 105, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on or before Thursday, April 5, 2001, at 2:00 p.m. (local time). All proposals submitted should be enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be clearly marked "Request for Proposals-Design/Build Construction-Northern Garrett Industrial Park" on the outside of the envelope.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals and waive technicalities in any part deemed to be in the best interest of Garrett County.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE CONSISTING OF PROPERTY AND THOSE IMPROVEMENTS DESCRIBED AS 10.05 MORE OR LESS, 15625 NATIONAL HIGHWAY, GRANTSVILLE, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND.

Under, and by Virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage indebtedness in favor of West Virginia Farm Credit, ACA, pursuant to a Deed of Trust made by Christal Z. Warne, formerly Christal Z. Ferree, now deceased, and Tressia M. Ferree, dated June 2, 1998, and recorded in Liber 739, Folio 0729, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and then duly assigned to me for the purposes of foreclosure, default having been made under the agreements, covenants, and conditions of said Deed of Trust, the undersigned will offer for public sale, at public auction in front of the Courthouse, located at 203 South 4th Street, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, on the 5th day of April 2001 at 11:00 a.m. the following property:

ALL the following parcels of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 3, Garrett County, Maryland, to-wit:

FIRST: ALL that piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 3 of Garrett County, Maryland, being part of the same land which William L. Turner and Emma Turner obtained from William R. Offutt, et al Trustees, by deed dated November 1, 1938, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber No. 118, folio 213, and described as BEGINNING at a stake on the Northerly bank of the National Pike, 40 feet from the center thereof, at the end of a reference line drawn South 30 degrees 30 minutes West 72 feet from the Potomac Edison Electric Pole No. G6187, and also North 81 degrees West 48 feet from the center of a large maple tree on said bank, and running thence by the National Pike the following three courses: North 80 degrees 30 minutes West, 153 feet, North 72 degrees West, 70 feet, and North 67 degrees West 195 to a stake; thence by interior lines, North 24 degrees East 417.2 feet, thence South 79 degrees East, 417.2 feet to a stake in the edge of a field; thence South 15 degrees West 174 feet; and South 23 degrees West 268.3 feet to the place of BEGINNING, containing 4.3 acres, more or less.

SECOND: ALL that piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 3 of Garrett County, Maryland, BEGINNING for the same at a stake on the corner of the North right-of-way of U.S. Route 40, said corner being the Southeast corner of the property of John E. Ferree and Tressia M. Ferree; then to and along property line of John E. Ferree and Tressia M. Ferree, the following courses and distances: North 23 degrees East 268.3 feet to a stake and corner, thence North 15 degrees East 174 feet to a stake and corner, thence North 79 degrees West 417.2 feet to a stake and common corner of John E. Ferree and Tressia M. Ferree and Sara C. Blocher and Laura A. Blocher; thence through the residue the following courses and distances: North 24 degrees East 333 feet to a stake and corner, thence South 64 degrees East 494 feet to stake and corner; thence South 4 degrees 30 minutes West 639 feet to stake and corner on right-of-way of aforementioned U.S. Route 40; thence to and along said right-of-way North 86 degrees West 100 feet, North 80 degrees West 102 feet to the place of BEGINNING, containing 5.75 acres, more or less, all bearings being magnetic.

IT BEING the same property conveyed unto CHRISTAL Z. FERREE and TRESSIA M. FERREE, as Joint Tennants with right of survivorship, by deed from JOHN E. FERREE and TRESSIA M. FERREE, husband and wife, dated July 1, 1985, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Deed Liber No. 459, folio 730. Said CHRISTAL Z. FERREE, by marriage CHRISTAL Z. WARNE, having departed this life on August 12, 1998, thereby vesting title in the surviving tenant by operation of law.

The condition of the property being sold is in an as-is condition.

TERMS OF SALE: Twenty percent (20%) down on the day of sale with the balance upon ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, unless otherwise arranged with the Assignee prior to sale.

Costs of recordation, documentary stamps, and all transfer taxes will be paid by the purchaser.

All state and county real property taxes applicable, together with any public assessments and charges, will be adjusted to the date of sale.

Time is of the essence.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
KEYSER'S RIDGE SANITARY DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing of the County Commissioners of Garrett County is scheduled for Tuesday, March 20, 2001, at 9:10 a.m. in the Garrett County Commissioners' Public Meeting Room, located at the Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland, to consider creating boundaries for the service area of the Keyser's Ridge Sanitary District in Garrett County.

In a resolution adopted on February 12, 2001, the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, pursuant to Title 9, Subtitle 648. of the Environment Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1996 Volume), proposed to determine the boundaries for the purpose of providing sewer facilities to serve the area described in that Resolution and shown on the plat attached thereto. A copy of the Resolution of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission adopted on February 12, 2001, and the plat showing the boundaries of the proposed service area are on file in the offices of the Garrett County Sanitary District, 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland, and are available for public inspection during regular business hours.

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on March 20, 2001, to determine if the creation of the Keyser's Ridge Sanitary District is necessary for the public health, safety, and welfare of the residents of the proposed service area and if feasible financially and from an engineering standpoint.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION

Garrett County

Application for State Discharge Permit 00-DP-0765, NPDES Permit MD0023981:

Maryland Department of Natural Resources, c/o Maryland Environmental Service, 2011 Commerce Park Drive, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, has applied for a permit renewal to discharge an average of 16,000 gallons per day (GPD) of treated wastewater from the New Germany State Park Wastewater Treatment Plant, located on Route 2, Grantsville, Maryland 21536, to the Poplar Lick Run.

A Tentative Determination has been made to reissue the permit with the following effluent limitations. BOD5, 20 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean and 30 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean (May 1 to October 31), and 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic means and 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean (November 1 to April 30); total suspended solids, 30 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean and 45 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean; TKN 7.0 mg/l maximum monthly arithmetic mean and 10.5 mg/l maximum weekly arithmetic mean (May 1 to October 31); fecal coliform, 200 MPN/100 ml maximum monthly log mean value; dissolved oxygen, 5.0 mg/l minimum at any and 6.0 mg/l minimum daily average; and pH maintained between 6.5 and 8.5. The use of chlorine or any chlorine-containing compound is prohibited in treatment of the wastewater. In addition, the permittee shall take temperature measurements of the plant effluent and of the effluent receiving stream approximately 30' upstream of the discharge location. After completion of the temperature sampling for one year, the Department shall evaluate whether continued monitoring or a numerical permit limitation is needed.

Regular effluent monitoring and reporting are required. The effluent limits are set to maintain compliance with State water quality standards.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by March 28, 2001. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, Maryland 21224, Attn.: Stephen Luckman, and must include the name, address, and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request. the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by March 28, 2001 will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Luckman at the above address, on or before April 9, 2001. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mr. Luckman at 410-631-3671 or by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Luckman at the above telephone number to make and appointment or by written request to Mr. Luckman at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.30 per page.

INVITATION TO BID

Sealed bids marked "Bid for the Grantsville Housing Project Work" will be received by the Garrett County Maryland Community Action Committee Inc. and the Town of Grantsville (hereinafter referred to as Owner), at the office of Century Engineering Inc.. 10 North Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, until 4 p.m. on the 10th day of April 2001, and then and there the bids will be publicly opened and read.

This project is for construction of a housing project. The work consists of clearing ano grubbing, earthwork, stormwater management, road base and pavement, water and sewer lines, and reseeding.

A pre-bid conference will be held on the 28th day of March 2001, at 10:00 a.m. at the Senior Center, Durst Court. east off Pennsylvania Avenue in the Town of Grantsville, to answer any questions concerning the contract documents. All bidders are invited to attend.

Contract Documents will be available for inspection during regular working hours at the office of the engineer. Century Engineering Inc.. 10 North Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550. Contract Documents may be obtained from the Engineer upon written request and remittance of full payment of seventy-five dollars ($75.00) for each set. with checks made payable to Century Engineering Inc. Payment will not be refunded, said payment being retained by the Engineer to cover cost of printing, handling and shipping. Requests for Contract Documents shall be submitted to:

Morgan C. France, L.S., P.E.
Century Engineering Inc.
10 North Third Street

All bids must be made on the required Bid form. All blank spaces for Bid prices must be filled in, typewritten, or in ink, and the bid form must be fully completed and executed when submitted. The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or minor defects. or to reject any and all Bids. Any Bid may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of Bids or authorized postponement thereof. Any Bid received after the time and date specified will not be considered. No Bidder may withdraw a Bid within 30 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the Contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the Owner and the Bidder.

Bidders must satisfy themselves of the scope-of-work by examination of the site and a review of the Contract Documents including Addenda. After Bids have been submitted, the Bidder shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of work or of the nature of the work to be done.

The Contract Documents contain the provisions required for the work included in the Project. Information obtained from an officer, agent or employee of the Owner, or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the Contract.

An acceptable Bid Bond, payable to the Owner, in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid must accompany each Bid. A certified check in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid, drawn on a solvent bank chartered in the State of Maryland, and payable to the Owner, may be substituted for the Bid Bond.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign Bid Bonds, Performance Bonds, Payment Bonds, or Defective Materials, Workmanship and Equipment Bonds must file, with each Bond, a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The Bid Bonds of all bidders, except the bonds submitted with the three (3) lowest acceptable bids, will be returned within a fifteen (15) day period following the time of opening of the bids. Tshe Bid Bonds accompanying the three lowest acceptable bids will be returned after the Contract has been awarded to and executed by the successful bidder. Provided the Owner, for any reason whatsoever, determines that it is not in its best interest to award a Contract. the Contract award will not be made by the Owner and the Owner will not then be liable for any payments whatsoever to the Bidder. Extension of time beyond the thirty (30) day period of the award may be made only by mutual agreement between the Owner, the Bidder and the Bidder's Surety.

The party to whom the Contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement within ten (10) calendar days from the date when Notice of Award is delivered to the Bidder. The Notice of Award will be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and contract forms. In case of failure of the Bidder to execute the Agreement, the Owner may, at his option, consider the Bidder in default, in which case the Bid Bond accompanying the proposal shall become the property of the Owner.

The Owner within ten (10) days of receipt of an acceptable Agreement signed by the party to whom the Contract was awarded, will sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the Owner not execute the Agreement within such period, the Bidder may, by Written Notice. withdraw his signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of notice by the Owner.

A conditional or qualified Bid will not be accepted.

Award will be made by the Owner to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over the work shall apply to the Contract throughout.

The successful bidder will be required to fully complete all contract work within one hundred twenty (120) consecutive calendar days from and including the date of receipt from the Owner of formal notice to proceed.

The award of any contract will be made by the Owner.

Bidders are cautioned that bids that are deemed by the Owner to be obviously unbalanced may be rejected.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any proposal for failure to comply with all requirements of this notice or of any of the Contract Documents, however, it may waive any minor defects or informalities at its discretion.

The Owner further reserves the right to reject all proposals. or to award a contract or contracts, which in its judgment is in the best interest of the Owner. The Owner is an equal opportunity employer.

GCC Course To Deal With People With Illnesses

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College will offer Working with People with Catastrophic Illness on Saturday, April 7, from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. This one-day seminar is designed to introduce practitioners to the rewards and problems of working with the catastrophically ill client. Participants will explore ways to deal with the physical, emotional, and spiritual aspects of this work.

This course is open to massage therapy students, practicing massage therapists as continuing education, and concerned members of the community. Massage therapists will earn six Category A Continuing Education Units, and must provide proof of licensure at the time of registration. GCC is approved by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork (NCBTMB) as a continuing education provider under Category A.

Persons wanting more information may call 301-334-3088 or stop in at the Continuing Education and Training Division office, McHenry campus, Room 300.

DONATION GIVEN FOR HOSPICE WALK — Hospice of Garrett County recently received a donation from Beltzel Corporation to purchase a Sony Handycam vision camcorder. The camcorder, equipped with "night supershot," a full-function remote, and other features, will be among the top prizes for the sixth annual Walk for Hospice. The fundraising event will be held on April 21 at Deep Creek Lake State Park, beginning with registration at 9 a.m. For information on the walk, persons may contact the hospice office at 301-334-5151 or for the Grantsville area at 1-800-521-5252. Pictured at left is Olen Beltzel, president of Beltzel Corp., as he presents the check to Brenda Butscher, executive director of hospice.

FSU To Offer Lifeguarding Courses In April

The Frostburg State University Activities for Life Center, in conjunction with the American Red Cross, will offer a lifeguard certification course April 5 through 12 and a lifeguard instructor course April 3 through 12.

The lifeguard certification course will be held Thursday, April 5, from 6 to 9 p.m.; Friday, April 6, from 6 to 10 p.m.; Saturday, April 7, from 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 10 p.m.; Sunday, April 8, from 8 a.m. until noon, 1 to 5 p.m., and 6 to 9 p.m.; Tuesday, April 10, from 6 to 10 p.m.; and Thursday, April 12, starting at 6 p.m.

The lifeguard instructor class will run at the same times, but with one additional day, Saturday, April 3, from 5:30 to 10 p.m.

The classes will be held in Room 110-1 and the swimming pool of the Cordts PE center. Participants in the instructor course must be registered by Wednesday, March 28; those planning to participate in the lifeguard course must register by Monday, April 2. Persons wanting further information may call center coordinator Amy Nazelrod at 301-687-7934.

County Native Named Middle School Supervisor

The Dorchester County Board of Education approved the appointment of Susan (Wildman) Piavis to the position of middle school supervisor. She is the daughter of Kenny and Cathy Wildman, Swanton.

Mrs. Piavis's prior experience is with Caroline County Public Schools, where she served as a science teacher at Lockerman Middle School from 1988 to 1993. She has been an elementary and middle school assistant principal, and was appointed to the principalship at Ridgely Elementary School, where she served from 1997 to 2000. Most recently, Piavis served as a curriculum specialist at the Caroline County Public Schools Central Office. She led the district work on design and implementation of a new middle school science curriculum.

Piavis replaces Ruth Clendaniel, who retired in December. Her new job responsibilities include working with the middle school principals and teachers on school improvement, assisting with professional development, school organization, and curricula. She will also oversee any state and federal grant programs in Dorchester County middle schools.

Piavis completed her bachelor of science degree in biology at Frostburg State University, where she graduated first in her class. She received her master of education degree from Salisbury State University in 1994, and is currently working on her dissertation for her doctorate with the University of Maryland, College Park. She holds a Maryland Advanced Professional Certificate in administration and supervision. She began her new duties in Dorchester County on March 1.

Piavis received her early education at Bloomington School and graduated from Bruce High School, Westernport. She resides in Denton with her husband Paul.

Northern GOP Women To Meet

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club will meet at Hill Top Inn in Grantsville (weather permitting) on Tuesday, March 27, at 7 p.m. This will be a planning meeting. Responsible for the fruit basket, the club's fund-raising item, are Twila Mae Fike, Lois Rowe, and Sheila Baker. All members, as well as those interested in membership, are welcome to attend.

Charges Against Messenger Raised By Grand Jury

Michael Todd Messenger, 34, was indicted this week by the Garrett County March Term Grand Jury on charges of first degree murder, four counts of attempted first degree murder, and four counts of first degree assault, according to a report from the Garrett Bureau of Investigation (GBI). These charges are more severe than original counts of second degree murder and attempted murder.

Messenger, of Davis, W.Va., appeared before Judge James Sherbin for arraignment and a bond hearing yesterday. Sherbin allowed the existing bond on an earlier charge of second degree murder to be transferred to this case. The defendant was then released from incarceration, according to the report.

The defendant is accused of the Feb. 12 shooting death of Sharyn Jane Burch, 21, Mtn. Lake Park. The investigation into the shooting is continuing, according to reports. Previous reports indicated that following an altercation at Shorty's Bar and Grill where the victim was employed, the defendant is alleged to have shot a 9mm handgun into a group of individuals. He was apparently seated in his truck as he shot the gun, and Burch was hit in the abdomen by a bullet. She died an hour later during emergency surgery, according to reports. She was the mother of one child.

Messenger has also been charged with one count of using a handgun in the commission of a felony or crime of violence and one count of malicious destruction of property. Shortly

A SPECIAL CEREMONY was held at Friendsville Elementary School on Friday to dedicate a section of wall in the main lobby of the school in honor and memory of the veterans of the Korean War. The event was held in observance of the 50th anniversary of that conflict (1950-53), often referred to as "the forgotten war." A similar dedication was held a few years ago at the school in memory and honor of the veterans of the Vietnam War, in which the town of Friendsville had the highest number of war dead per capita of all towns/cities in the entire nation. Friendsville soldiers who gave their lives in the Korean War were Sgt. Robert Umbel and Pfc. William B. Friend Jr. In the photo above, school principal Doug Gaither, right, welcomes those who gathered for the event and presents the family members of the Korean War veterans, who were special guests. An American Legion color guard presented colors, music was provided by third-grade students and the entire student body, and "hero poems" were shared by fifth-grade students Ricky Cosner and Steven Taylor. The dedication of the wall was led by Justin Rosenberger.

Thursday Blaze Guts $225,000 House At Lake

A fire believed to have been caused by an electrical problem destroyed a three-story log house just off Glendale Road at Deep Creek Lake last Thursday night, with the loss of the house and most of the contents being estimated at $225,000.

Firefighters from the Deep Creek, Accident, Deer Park, Oakland, and Bittinger volunteer fire departments were summoned to the 648 Paradise Heights summer residence of Richard and Kathleen Franz, Westminster, at 9:25 p.m. after Mr. Franz returned home from a meeting and found his house on fire. Heavy smoke and flames were coming from the structure upon the arrival of the first fire units, according to Mike Phillippi, chief of the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company.

Phillippi said that the approximately two dozen

March Grand Jury Convenes, Submits Report

The March Term Grand Jury for Garrett County convened this week and visited various county offices. The jurors made recommendations chiefly concerning the county jail and the sheriff's office. The jury heard reports from Sheriff P. Richard Sanders, Treasurer Patty L. Glover, and the Board of Garrett County Commissioners.

Three indictments were returned by the grand jury. The report of one appears in today's issue. The remaining will be reported as they are announced.

Courthouse and Jail

The jurors toured the jail and courthouse and reported that the facility "seems to be in good repair." Captain Larry Gnegy of the sheriff's office gave a tour of the detention center. The control room is the only way to access the holding cell and inmate area. Concerning security, the jury

Pa. Man To Face Several Charges In Maryland

A Pennsylvania man faces various charges, including attempted second degree murder, after Garrett County Sheriff's Office and Oakland City Police responded to the CVS parking lot off Weber Road for a reported domestic assault on Saturday, March 17.

Witnesses at the scene advised the deputies that Earl Edward Streets, 51, of Belle Vernon, Pa., became involved in a physical altercation with another individual. The altercation escalated when Streets's estranged wife tried to protect the individual.

According to the report, Streets retrieved a handgun from the vehicle he was operating and put the barrel of the gun against his estranged wife's head, allegedly advising her that he was going to kill her.

She was able to wrestle the firearm away from her head before it discharged. The other individual attempted to assist her, but Streets allegedly pointed the firearm at him and advised him that he would be shot next. Deputies stated that the individual fled across the street to the Amoco station, where he phoned law enforcement, meanwhile, Streets fled the scene.

Officers from the Garrett Bureau of Investigation obtained an arrest warrant for Streets and contacted the Westmoreland County, Pa., law enforcement officers, who apprehended Streets without incident.

Streets is being held in Pennsylvania without bond, pending an extradition hearing.

When Streets returns to Maryland he will be facing one count of attempted second degree murder, two counts of first degree assault, two counts of second degree assault, two counts of reckless endangerment, and one count of the use of a handgun in the commission of a violent crime.

His estranged wife suffered only superficial injuries resulting from the physical altercation.

Sanitary District Creation Approved For Keyser's Ridge

A mandatory public hearing concerning the creation of a sanitary district in the Keyser's Ridge area was held Tuesday, hosted by the Garrett County commissioners. The record on the issue will be held open for public comment until March 30.

Approval for the district has already been given by the commissioners, as its creation will allow county officials to supply water and sewer services to the area. The location is at the intersection of Rts. 219 and 40, on the north side on Inter-

Sherbin Orders Jail Terms For Four Defendants

Four individuals were sentenced to varying lengths of jail time by Judge James Sherbin, who presides over the Circuit Court of Garrett County. The individuals received sentencings in proceedings last week.

Chad Allen Judy, 25, formerly of the Crellin area, was given two years in the Department of Corrections for two counts of third degree sexual offense. Sherbin suspended 18 months of the term and ordered that Judy serve the remainder of the sentence in the Garrett County Jail. Upon his release, the defendant will be on supervised probation for 18 months and will be required to register as a sexually violent offender.

Judy was arrested following a joint investigation of protective service workers from the Department of Social Services and officers of the Garrett Bureau of Investigation (GBI). He was accused of being involved in a sexual relationship with a minor last August.

Amy Lynn Baker, 27, and Thomas Dean Sharpless, 24, both of Oakland, were each sentenced to one year in the local jail after pleading guilty to manufacturing a controlled dangerous substance (marijuana). A fine of $500 was also imposed for each.

The two were arrested on Oct. 24, 2000, when officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force and the GBI executed a search and seizure warrant at the Baker-Sharpless residence located along Mayhew Inn Road. Officers reportedly found 100 marijuana plants ranging in size from 6 inches to 4 feet, potting mix, heat lamps, scales, marijuana seeds, other related paraphernalia, and smaller quantities of the illegal drug. Charges of possession of marijuana and paraphernalia were dismissed after each pleaded guilty to the felony charge, according to a report from the state's attorney.

In a separate case, John Mark McKenzie Sr., 49, Frostburg, was sentenced to six months in the local jail for driving under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol. He was also fined $1,000 for a charge of marijuana possession.

McKenzie was arrested by officers of the Maryland State Police who investigat-

Town Meeting Protests Rescue Squad Move From Friendsville

NGCRS To Vote On Issue At Its April 10 Meeting

The Friendsville fire hall was filled with more than 200 local residents Tuesday night who voiced concern over Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad's planned consolidation of NGCRS's Friendsville and Accident stations into a single McHenry rescue squad station. Over two dozen individuals approached the microphone to protest the move directly to NGCRS board chairman Danny Durst and several squad board members who were also on hand.

Friendsville mayor Spencer Schlosnagle and several members of the town council also expressed personal opposition to the move. Schlosnagle read several letters from local residents and accepted a petition signed by 1,191 persons that protested the rescue squad's decision. The board of county commissioners, in attendance because of a previously scheduled commitment, expressed sympathy with the citizens without sharing a formal opinion on the squad's decision, over which the commissioners have no authority.

The meeting did not change the rescue squad's decision to obtain a four-acre site with existing buildings along Friendsville Road just north of Garrett Highway and endeavor to base a McHenry squad there. The site was purchased after a 24-7 vote, with four abstentions, of the general members on hand for a Feb. 10 general monthly meeting of the approximately 100-member squad. David Vitez and Skip Barnard were paid $440,000 for the property, a purchase price that includes all renovations that need to be carried out to make the site suitable for housing an ambulance and its crew.

Durst and his fellow board members did, however, offer to hold a vote of the general membership regarding the relocation of the Friendsville NGCRS presence to McHenry at the next general monthly meeting, set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 10, at the Grantsville fire hall. Squad regulations require that members who desire to participate in any vote of the general membership must have been in attendance at a minimum of six of the previous 12 monthly NGCRS meetings.

Two points were repeatedly stressed by town residents and town officials during the evening, namely, that there was no opposition to locating a NGRS unit in McHenry, but, on the other hand, they viewed the cessation of the squad's Friendsville presence as unacceptable. Speakers kept pointing to the hilly terrain of Rt. 42 between McHenry and Friendsville, which they said is difficult to navigate during the winter and which carries heavy,' slow-moving truck traffic throughout the year.

"Elder Hill is one of the most terrible places around for blowing and drifting snow and truck traffic," area resident Bernadine Friend said of the two-lane state

Man Sought For Reported Child Abuse Complaint

The Garrett Bureau of Investigation has issued a felony arrest warrant for a male suspect in an alledged child abuse case reported by Mount Savage Elementary School.

An investigation by GBI and the Garrett County Child Protective Services revealed a 12-year-old female was assaulted by the suspect, Anthony David Grant, 45, Frostburg, the evening of March 19. According to the report, this assault left bruising on the child's face, as well as other abrasions and bruises.

GBI is charging the suspect with one count of child abuse and one count of second degree assault. The suspect's live-in girlfriend was informed by investigators that a felony warrant was placed on Grant.

The child was removed from the home by a Child Protective Service caseworker, then she was placed in foster care until she could be safely placed with relatives.

The suspect is described as a white male, 6-2, approximately 250 pounds. According to investigators, the suspect has failed to turn himself into authorities, and it is assumed by investigators that he is attempting to avoid apprehension.

Any person with knowledge of Grant's whereabouts is urged to contact GBI at 301-334-1909 or the Maryland State Police at 301-387-1101.

THEY DON'T LOOK LIKE FOOLS, and they generally don't behave like fools, at least not in public, but these young high schoolers will change that in about two weeks as they present a play titled Fools, A Comic Fable. Described by director/teacher Jane Avery as a "ridiculous farce," the play was written by the well-known playwright Neil Simon. The presentation will be this year's Southern High School Department of Theatre's main stage production. All performances will be given at Our Town Theatre in Oakland. Shows during school time are scheduled for the first week of April. In order to buy a ticket for a daytime performance, students must submit a permission slip signed by one of their parents. In addition to the school performances, the play will be presented to the public on Friday, April 6, and Saturday, April 7, at 8 p.m., and again on Sunday, April 8, at 2 p.m. Reservations are strongly encouraged and can be made by calling the theatre at 301-334-6640. Elkins Man Arrested For 4-Wheeler Theft

An Elkins, W.Va., man was extradited back to the state of Maryland on March 20 from Randolph County, W.Va., and was charged with second degree burglary and felony theft, according to the Garrett Bureau of Investigation.

Jason Wayne Strawderman, 25, was charged with the October 31, 2000, burglary of a garage at the Lucas Turf farm located along Garrett Highway south of Oakland. He is also charged with stealing a 1998 Honda 4-wheeler valued at $5,200 from the garage.

Adam Lucas reported to the deputies that the vehicle was taken from a detached garage and the garage door was closed, but not locked.

Strawderman was released from the Garrett County Jail on $5,000 bond.

An Elkridge resident reported to the sheriff's office that his residence along Snaggy Mountain Road, which is currently under construction, was broken into and two items were stolen.

Kenneth Michael Johns told deputies that when he returned to his Oakland residence March 16, after being in Elkridge for two weeks, he discovered that a Yamaha generator, valued at $2,000, and a two-wheel dolly, valued at $75, were missing.

He stated that the front door was locked, but the back door was not. According to the report, the residence cannot be seen from the road and has no nearby neighbors.

Johns told deputies that the generator is blue and has the word "Brack" written on it with a black marker.

A Pittsburgh man was contacted when someone called deputies reporting that the man's McHenry residence had been broken into and skis, with a total value of $2,550, were missing.

Deputies investigated the residence of Mark Victor Russell and found the door leading to the garage to be damaged. According to the report, a rock smaller than a man's fist, pieces of wood, and shattered glass were found inside the garage. Neither the door leading into the garage nor leading from the garage to the house were locked.

According to the report, three pair of Dynastar snow skis, each with bindings, were missing.

An Oakland business reported a theft of $259 Saturday night when an employee noticed the front doors were unlocked when he arrived at work Sunday morning.

According the deputies John Joseph Burns Jr., an employee of Garrett Mine Supply, stated he found two cash drawers forced open with a screwdriver, and as far as he could tell, only cash was missing. Deputies reported that they found a screwdriver taken from the display just inside the unlocked door lying on the counter.

Burns stated that $100 was kept in each drawer, and receipts showed that an additional $59 was in one drawer from Saturday's sales.

He also told deputies he left around 12:30 p.m. Saturday and had to leave by a side door because another employee had locked the front door. He also stated that he saw no footprints in the snow outside the door.

According to deputies, no fingerprints were found, and the case is suspended pending further investigation.

P.O. Will No Longer Accept Passport Apps.

Applications for U.S. passports will no longer be accepted by the Oakland post office, effective April 1, according to Ken Perrin, postmaster.

"This is not part of our core business function, and with our budget reductions, we can no longer provide this service," Perrin said. "I apologize for any inconvenience this may cause our customers."

Perrin added that passport applications are currently processed at the Swanton and Accident post offices.

Sarbanes Urges Bush To Support Rivers Initiative

Senator Paul S. Sarbanes has joined in a bi-partisan Senate and House effort in urging the Bush administration to continue to support the American Heritage Rivers Initiative. Sarbanes has been a strong supporter of the American Heritage Rivers Initiative since it was first announced by President Clinton in his 1997 State of the Union Address, and has worked closely with the "Friends of the Potomac" and the local communities along the Potomac River to successfully have the Potomac River designated as one of 14 American Heritage Rivers in 1998.

In their letter to President George Bush, 32 Senate and House members wrote, "Of the 14 river systems included in the initiative, a diverse array of the nation's urban and rural environments, river habitats, and waterfront communities are represented. American Heritage Rivers are found in 24 states and represent some of the nation's most beautiful and historically significant rivers. The AHRI represents a true collaboration between local communities, federal, state, and local governments; and the private industry sector, who have joined together to celebrate the proud history and culture of our nation's river systems."

During the selection process in 1998, Sarbanes noted that all eight Maryland counties located along the shores of the Potomac River, as well as many local communities, supported the nomination for the American Heritage River designation. They were: Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Montgomery, Prince George's, Charles, and St. Mary's; as well as the cities of Brunswick, Cumberland, Hagerstown, and Hancock.

"By leveraging existing federal services and resources with local, state, and private dollars," the letter added, "the initiative has revitalized local economies, and encouraged communities to once again herald rivers as the focus of cultural and recreational opportunities. We urge you to continue the American Heritage Rivers Initiative and to support federal programs that allow for the continued economic revitalization, environmental protection, and historic and cultural preservation of our nation's American Heritage Rivers."

Sarbanes's efforts to have the Potomac River designated an American Heritage River began in September 1997 when he wrote President Clinton saying that the "Potomac River and its communities are intimately tied with 350 years of American history, commerce, recreation, and culture."

Single Vehicle Mishap Injures Two Saturday

Two persons were injured slightly when their vehicle skidded and overturned on a snow-covered Interstate 68 near Grantsville Saturday evening, according to the Maryland State Police, McHenry barrack. The driver was cited in the accident.

At approximately 6:40 p.m., a 1996 Mercury Cougar operated by Sandra Knight Webb, 55, Bel Alton, went out of control on the westbound interstate near the Chestnut Ridge Road exit. The car rolled over onto its top, and Webb and her passenger, 17-year-old Patrick Cox of Bel Alton, were both injured and subsequently transported by the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad to Cumberland Memorial Hospital. Both subjects were treated in the emergency room and released. The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

Webb was charged in the mishap, although the exact charge was not available.

In other state police traffic accident investigations, a Pennsylvania tractor-trailer driver escaped injury early yesterday morning when his rig ran off eastbound I-68 at Grantsville and overturned.

Guy L. Tressler Jr., 30, was pulling a trailer with a 1999 Mack truck cab when he lost control at 4 a.m. just east of Bittinger Road, reportedly because he was traveling too fast for the snow-covered road conditions. His rig traveled off the road, up an embankment, and overturned. The Grantsville VFD responded to the scene along with police.

Tressler was charged with failing to reduce speed in dangerous weather and road conditions.

Census Figures Show 10.8% Pop. Rise In State, 6.1% In County

by Kate Alexander
Capital News Service

COLLEGE PARK — Maryland's population ebbed further outward from its central cities over the last decade, as the outer suburbs registered the greatest growth rates in the state and Baltimore continued to "bleed" people, according to census numbers released Monday.

Overall, the state population grew 10.8 percent from 1990 to 2000, when it hit 5,296,486 people, according to Census 2000, the official decennial head count of the nation.

Garrett County's population grew 6.1 percent from 1990 to 2000, with an increase of 1,708 residents (28,138 to 29,846). Neighboring Allegany County was the only county that had a decrease in population, by 16 persons (74,946 to 74,930).

Calvert County's population has grown 45.1 percent since 1990, far outstripping the overall state growth and topping all other counties' growth rate in the decennial head count, while Baltimore lost more than 11 percent of its population.

But while Calvert was growing the fastest, the inner suburbs of Washington, D.C., were growing the most. The Washington suburbs continued to be the center of the state's population, with Montgomery and Prince George's counties combining for more than 30 percent of the state's total 5.2 million population.

Montgomery County retained its position as the state's largest county with its 15.4 percent growth rate, an increase of 116,314 people to its 2000 population of 873,341.

Prince George's County grew by 72,247 to 801,515, a growth rate of 9.9 percent. The county overtook Baltimore City as the second-largest jurisdiction in the state.

That these inner suburbs continued their growth is "good news for Smart Growth," said Elizabeth Humphrey, spokeswoman for the state's planning office. "It means these already urbanized areas are strong and attracting new people."

Montgomery County's chief demographer, Drew Dedrick, attributed that strength to an influx of Latino immigrants. He also noted that the county's growing minority population has not come at the expense of diversity, as the white population has held steady at over 60 percent.

In Calvert, the state's fastest-growing county, the welcomed rapid expansion is bringing new trials as well, said Greg Bowen, the county's deputy director of planning and zoning.

The new people moving to Calvert County are drawn by the rural character, quality schools, low crime rates, and low taxes, Bowen said. But he noted that much of the rural charm that has attracted people in the first place is being consumed by subdivisions that are springing up to handle that growth.

The rest of southern Maryland also experienced a surge in population. Charles County, for instance, grew 19.2 percent since 1990.

Steve Magoom, Charles County planning director, said that in the past the region has gone virtually "undiscovered, but that's changing."

The biggest victim of the decade's population change in Maryland was Baltimore, which was projected to experience one of the country's biggest population drains. It saw its population fall from 736,014 in 1990 to 651,154 in 2000. The city also fell from second place in size to fourth place among state jurisdictions, behind Baltimore, Montgomery, and Prince George's counties.

But the good news was that the loss, an 11.5 percent drop, was less than the 13 percent the state had anticipated, Humphrey said.

University of Maryland professor Charles Christian does not believe that difference represents a turning of the tides for Baltimore, because the conditions in housing, education, and crime have not changed enough to attract new people into the city.

Tuesday's numbers, which include population figures by race, Hispanic ethnicity, and voting age, will be used by the General Assembly to draw new legislative and congressional districts for the election in 2002.

Public Works Gives $1.4 Mil. To Rocky Gap

Governor Parris Glendening announced this week that the Board of Public Works has approved a $1.395 million allotment for the design and construction of an 8,000-seat amphitheater and parking lot at Rocky Gap State Park in Allegany County.

"The Rocky Gap Lodge and Golf Resort is a jewel in Allegany County's economic development crown," said Glendening. "The new amphitheater and additional parking will further enhance recreational opportunities and encourage job growth in western Maryland."

Speaker of the House Casper Taylor Jr. lauded the board's approval and called the theater a "great addition to our cultural and economic life in Allegany County."

The funding will be provided through a memorandum of understanding between the Department of Natural Resources and the Maryland Economic Development Corporation (MEDCO). MEDCO will administer the design and construction of the project, which will consist of clearing and upgrading the site, constructing two bridges, expanding the existing parking lot, and placing site utilities.

The amphitheater is to feature a temporary stage, runway, mixing tower, and lawn-style seats. Phase one of the project is to begin in June and be completed by November.

The second phase will include the construction of a permanent stage, fixed seating, restrooms, and a concession area. Time tables were not announced for this portion of construction.

An outdoor amphitheater has long been planned in Garrett County, originally to be built at Deep Creek State Park. However, with the proposed development of the adventure sports complex on Marsh Mountain, organizers are working to possibly locate the facility there, and have currently placed the project on hold as the planning continues.

Our Thanks
To all the family, friends and neighbors of Harland Beckman:
We have been overwhelmed by the love and support you have given us in our loss of Harland. The flowers sent, food cooked, cards delivered, stories shared, phone calls, and visits made to us have been a tremendous comfort, and a beautiful tribute to him. We also thank you for the generous donations made to the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company and Southern Rescue Squad. Your kindness has been remarkable and truly touches our hearts.
We offer special thanks to the Stewart Funeral Home and to Pastor Pat Puttsnogle of St. John's Lutheran Church for her love, comfort and support during this time.
We will remember everyone's support always...

Hobby House Outgrows Name; New Title Reflects Company's Success

by Mary Sincell McEwen

Hobby House Press, the longest-standing business at the Northern Garrett Industrial Park, has been renamed in light of its continuing success in business services. President Gary R. Ruddell has announced that his company will now be known as "Total Biz Fulfillment."

"Hobby House has come of age," Ruddell said. "That's why we wanted to change our name. The company has created its own identity and its own market. We truly believe that it is going to become much larger."

Total Biz Fulfillment is a unique organization, providing business services to 10 international companies. These companies are located in the United States, England, France, Germany, and the Philippines. The services offered by Total Biz Fulfillment are designed to provide business solutions to companies that wish to market and distribute their products in North America. The company handles customer service, data management, credit and collection, warehousing, and shipping.

Hobby House came to Garrett County in January of 1994. At that time, there were 20 employees. Now the company's payroll includes 35 workers, and Ruddell said that number will grow. While the company handled nearly $17 million in products last year, the president said he expects the client base to double this year.

The business services area of Hobby House was not its largest field back in '94. But as the company became more efficient in its business solutions service, it became evident that this could be its cornerstone.

"The first year business services became the larger part of the company was 1999," Ruddell said. "Last year, that area constituted two thirds of the company, and this year it has reached three quarters. This is good news."

The company avoids dealing with commodities (steel, oil, etc.) or perishable items, such as food or beverages.

"We work mostly with toy products, children's games, dolls, and magic companies," Ruddell said. "Frankly, we could take care of almost anything."

One of Total Biz Fulfillment's clients is Corolle, a toy company from France.

"So say you purchased a doll somewhere in the United States from a Corolle salesman," Ruddell said. "You take it home and find that you are not satisfied for one reason or another. So you get in touch with the salesman again to discuss it. He can contact us and in just a few moments we can provide the answers or find the answers to the problem. We are extremely good at this, very fast. We have a very sophisticated software program to handle the process. But, of course, you have to have good people to operate the system, and we certainly have them here."

The company has been hugely successful in its shipping services. The employees work to locate and pack products so that they arrive safely at the lowest cost.

"We make sure that they get into the right delivery system, whether it be UPS, RPS, or someone else. We are the largest United Parcel Service customer in a five-county region, including Garrett and Allegany," Ruddell noted. He also mentioned that the company has been fruitful in Canada. "We have shipped a product worth about three quarters of a million dollars into Canada. We've found that we can ship items cheaper by UPS from Grantsville to British Columbia than they can ship items from Toronto to British Columbia."

THE SIGN STILL SAYS HOBBY HOUSE, but before long it will sport the Grantsville company's new title, Total Biz Fulfillment, which better describes the kind of thriving business that takes place there. Gary Ruddell has grown the business into an international success, with clients relying on him from as far away as England and the Philippines, among others. See story.

At a recent trade show attended by Total Biz representatives, the growth of the local company was evident. "We usually develop one to three hot prospects at these shows," the president said. "This time, about 12 companies showed strong interest."

To keep up with the projected growth, the company has planned to add about 35,000 square feet in the form of a new warehouse. Construction is to begin in April, with the completion date projected for July. The company has also hired a sales manager whose sole duty is to seek out, attract, and work with new clients. Ruddell said the company's equipment has expanded this year as well. "We have a new computer system that is six times larger than the last one," he said. "We upgrade every three years. Right now we can run over 200,000 general ledgers on the system."

Jim Hinebaugh, the director of the Garrett County Economic Development Department, has nothing but praise for Ruddell and his success.

"We're all pleased to see Gary do well. You like to see nice people do well," Hinebaugh said, who commended Ruddell's service to the community in addition to his business expertise. "You don't often meet a person like Gary Ruddell. He not only has established a very exciting and growing company, but he has become actively involved in a number of important community efforts."

Hinebaugh cited Ruddell's assistance in the quest for a new library in Grantsville and his service as the chairman of the Western Maryland Economic Strategies Task Force's technology committee. He also pointed out that Ruddell has been a key player in drawing other companies to Garrett County.

"We've used him on a number of occasions in courting businesses to the county. We arrange visits to his company and he is very willing to talk with other CEOs to help convince them to move here. He has been a big help in marketing the county, even when he knew it could have an adverse impact on his own company. When companies move in, he has to compete for employees. But he wants what's best for the whole community. I wish we had more people like Gary," Hinebaugh said.

Hinebaugh said Ruddell has grown the company almost completely on his own and has not taken advantage of the various economic development aids available locally. Even so, Ruddell praised the county planners, as well as Delegate George Edwards, who he said is "so good to Garrett County."

Ruddell noted that while Total Biz Fulfillment is not hiring at this time, the company is accepting applications.

"We have a habit of growing from within first. New positions are always posted for our current staff. But I know we will be hiring soon, so it's good to have applications on hand," Ruddell said. The areas of potential growth include customer service, warehouse work, and logistics (people who track what's been sent and make determinations concerning the freight costs, packing methods, etc.). Supervisors and managers will also be needed, he said.

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce will hold its "after-hours" get-together at Total Biz Fulfillment next month. The social event is slated for April 11 from 6 until 8 p.m. Tours of the facility are to be given to all interested guests. (More information will be published about this chamber function.)

"When people visit here, they almost always are intrigued by what we do," Ruddell said. "They rarely leave without saying how exciting and interesting the company is."

County officials often state that the economic vision for the mountaintop is the creation of successful, medium-sized businesses that have the potential to grow. Total Biz Fulfillment appears to be a perfect fit.

Westernport Man Charged With Drug Possession

A Westernport man was arrested on drug charges in Bloomington Tuesday morning by the Maryland State Police when suspected marijuana was located in his vehicle.

Trevor Ritchie Lewis, 20, was stopped at 10:51 a.m. along westbound Route 135 at Hamill Avenue when a state trooper noticed that he was not wearing a seatbelt behind the wheel of his Chevrolet Cavalier. In speaking to Lewis, Tpr. Lucas Broadwater noticed an odor of suspected burnt marijuana, and an ensuing vehicle search uncovered 19 small plastic bags of suspected marijuana, a handheld weighing scale, and a water-filter smoking device commonly known as a bong.

Lewis was charged with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia, and, because the arrest took place within the designated drug-free zone surrounding Bloomington Elementary School, possession of marijuana in a school zone.

Lewis was processed at McHenry MSP Barrack W, before being taken before a district court commissioner. The result of that bond hearing was not available.

ed a motor vehicle accident that occurred on Sept. 22, 2000, along Finzel Road. The defendant was driving a pickup truck when he pulled into the path of an oncoming car operated by Bonnie Langan, Frostburg. On the scene of the accident, officers apparently detected signs that McKenzie was under the influence. They arrested him. Witnesses at the scene then reported that the defendant had discarded an item in a nearby field. Officers found a baggy of marijuana in the field and charged McKenzie accordingly.

The defendant entered guilty pleas to the charges in proceedings last month, with sentencing postponed until last week.

Protests Move

highway. "I used to teach in Oakland and drive it daily. I'm not opposed to putting an ambulance in McHenry, but keep one in Friendsville."

Speakers were also quick to point out their frustration that the NGCRS had taken the Feb. 10 general membership vote to pursue a site in McHenry without informing Friendsville officials or residents ahead of time that such a move would entail the closure of the Friendsville station. The lack of communication was brought up repeatedly.

"I was one of the squad members at the February meeting who voted against the proposal," said Terry Spear, who also serves as Friendsville's fire chief. "I did so because it was the first I had heard of the idea." Spear acknowledged that it's been difficult to get squad volunteers for Friendsville, but expressed his feeling that area residents were willing do what they had to in order to increase the staffing levels.

"I'd like to see McHenry earn an ambulance of their own the way Friendsville and Accident did. We earned ours by getting people to take the training and volunteer," Spear said.

"If McHenry does have the manpower to staff an ambulance, send one from Grantsville to run out of McHenry and keep one in Friendsville," stated a letter from Lester Lewis, which was read at the meeting's outset by Mayor Schlosnagle. "Why should we spend the money on a new center in McHenry when we now have a spare unit and could rent a building to house it in McHenry?" asked 17-year NGCRS member Bob Humberson, who volunteers out of the Friendsville station.

While Humberson and many other speakers brought up the subject of finances as possibly playing a role in the decision, the NGCRS board members stressed over and over that their decision was based not on funding issues but on manpower concerns, which they said compromise the organization's goal of providing the most effective service to the largest number of residents over its entire call area.

"We have the numbers from Garrett Central showing a 50 percent delay and lost call response from the Friendsville station over December, and a 37 percent figure for the same period for the Accident station," Durst told the crowd. "If you have an ambulance sitting in the bay that can't get out because there isn't the staffing to run it, there's a problem."

County Emergency Management director Brad Frantz, while stressing that his office served as a data resource only and does not play a part in the decisions of the rescue squad, underscored Durst's statement. "I'm afraid there might be a false sense of security here just because there is an ambulance in the station," Frantz said. "If the calls are being delayed or lost because of a manpower shortage, the best service is not being provided."

Getting a first due ambulance out of McHenry at much higher rates of timely response would serve all residents, including those in Friendsville, better than having to work through a first-due alarm list to a second-due squad crew, added Durst.

Consolidating the two stations into one would serve all three locations, McHenry, Friendsville, and Unduly Harsh?...

"Unduly harsh" is how Maryland Delegate Joseph Vallario Jr. (D-Prince George's) described a bill that would have stiffened the penalty for repeat drunk drivers. That was Tuesday, just after he and 10 other members of the 19-member Maryland House Judiciary Committee, of which Vallario is chairperson, voted to kill the measure that would have given a one-year license suspension, up to 30 days of community service, and up to five days in jail after being convicted of a second drunk driving offense. A third offense under the measure could result in 60 days of community service or 10 days in jail.

The same committee earlier killed a measure that would have prohibited open beverage containers of alcohol in automobiles. The only piece of the three-bill DWI package that will apparently be signed into law is the one lowering the blood alcohol limit for DWI from .1 to .08.

Delegate John A. Giannetti Jr. (D-Prince George's), who also voted against the bill, said that he figured the habitual drunk driver would not obey the one-year license suspension and just drive anyway. Ergo, what's the point of enacting the law?

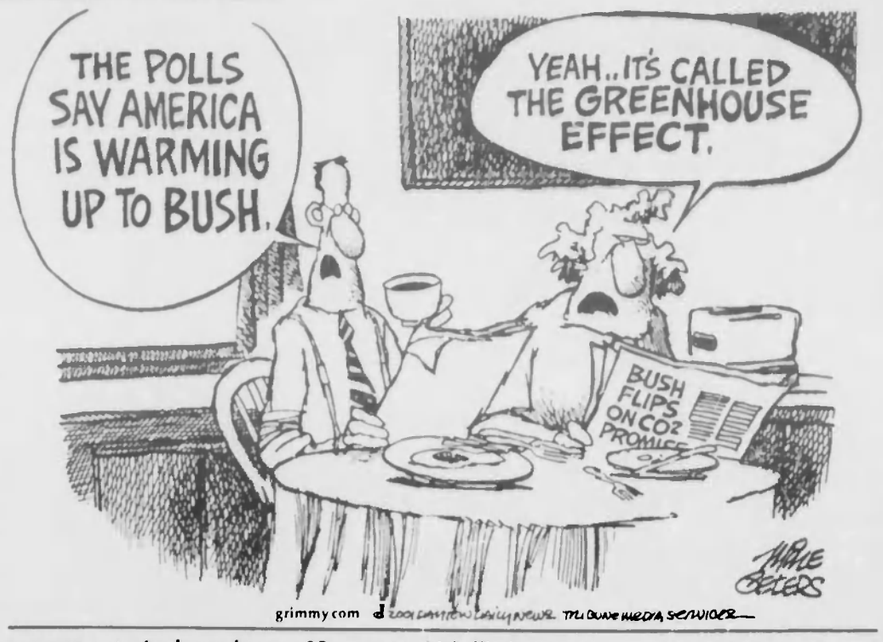
We wonder if Del. Vallario would still label this penalty "unduly harsh" if one of his loved ones were killed by a repeat drunk driver.

And as for Del. Giannetti's logic, we might as well get rid of all laws that are difficult to enforce. There are laws against speeding, burglary, illegal narcotics use, and assault and battery, but some people are going to do these things anyway, so why have laws against such activities?

The passage of stricter DWI repeat-offender laws is basically being mandated by the federal government, which will cut from Maryland some $140 million in highway aid over the next seven years if such laws are not enacted. But Giannetti said that the reduction in federal highway monies does not take effect for two more years. Therefore, the committee is primarily granting repeat offenders two more years to continue to be repeat offenders, with relatively minimal consequences. This is a victory for the drunk drivers, and a resounding defeat for innocent citizens who continue to be maimed and/or killed by drunk drivers.

It is outrageous and incomprehensible to us that some of our lawmakers continue, essentially, to defend the practice of driving while intoxicated. Perhaps the aforementioned punishment in these bills would be somewhat harsh for a first offense, but they are in no way close to being unduly harsh for a second or third offense. In fact, they are probably not harsh enough. As we have written in this column on numerous occasions, driving is not a God-given, or government-guaranteed, right. It is simply a privilege, and when one abuses privileges, he should lose them.

We totally agree with the statement of Douglas Gansler, state's attorney for Montgomery County, who was highly displeased with the committee's vote. He said that this legislation "shouldn't be offensive to anybody but drunk drivers, or the lawyers who represent them."



HOLDING OUT FOR A WARMER NOSE

by Mary Sincell McEwen

I'm tired of hard butter. Seems like every day, we try to fix the boys' bagels and the butter is like stone. I'm tired of my fingers being so cold that when I try to play the piano, I mess up stuff I've practiced over and over. Basically, I, a staunch defender of the seasons in Garrett County, am tired of winter. The boring and frustrating part of the year is upon us, when winter is unwilling to relinquish command to spring. Winter seems to assume it can just stay if it wants to, and spring is too wimpy to put up a good fight. The snow keeps coming, getting wetter and wetter, piling up on the daffodils that insist on coming up anyhow. My kids declare it's getting warmer even when it isn't. They have already dragged their bikes out of the basement and ride them in between snow squalls. They refuse to wear coats even when the temperature isn't 40. Maybe somewhere in their heads they believe they can force spring to happen.

So here we are, knowing that warmth is far away even though the butter has been hard for months. But I must admit, even as the grayness starts to get me down, I still love living in Garrett County. Even at its worst, this place is better than nearly everywhere else. When they put the national weather map up on the news, I like seeing that our little corner of the world usually has some "weather" going on. It always has some life to it. Even as I write this column, the snow is falling. Blowing, actually. But it's not like a bleak January snow. It's melty and fat. Temporary.

When we got that two-footer earlier this month, I made the comment to someone that "I can't believe all this snow." He indignantly retorted: "Why can't you believe it? This is Garrett County and it's the first week of March." Very true. I should have chosen my words better. March here on the mountain is always unpredictable, often much more snowy than springy. But I like it. I grew up with it. It's part of me and part of you if you live here. After college, I lived in North Carolina for about four years. A beautiful state, N.C. And so warm this time of year. Spring is spectacular there. It starts in late February, and by mid-March is in full swing. Azaleas, dogwood, daffodils, tulips — all brilliant. It's wonderful. But it comes after a few months of cold rain, an occasional wet snow fall, and ice. Blech. I always missed the grainy, powdery snow of Garrett County. I missed those bright, frigid days; the crystal blue skies and blankets of white. I didn't feel like we had earned such a spring of splendor. Here, when spring comes, we generally have been put through the paces. We have worn our boots on a regular basis (one of mine is currently being held together with duct tape) and we've become one with our fireplace inserts. We shovel snow efficiently and are experts at kindling selection. It's every day, the cold, so we are adjusted to it, albeit tired of it. When the air is truly warm against our skin and the flowers fold open, we've earned it.

We do have each other to gripe to — we're all in the same frosty boat. That makes things better. We can crab about the cost of natural gas or about wet socks. We know how each other feels. In every conversation about our weather, there is always hope. It's always there because underneath the drifts and mounds of anti-skid, we know spring is coming. We know summer will follow, green warm summer, with swimming and basking and cooking out. With biking and sweating and tanning. The boys' hair will all go white again, bleached in the sun and by pool water. We'll plan a vacation and have an adventure. The cat will go outside at last, flop over on the deck, and make herself flat. Her paws will knead the air. Shorts and T-shirts will constitute the laundry while all those little jeans hibernate. The evenings will be long and slow, dotted with lightning bugs and cricket songs. And the butter will go on smooth as silk.

It will come, we know. The hope is real and it will be met. What if we were too ignorant to realize that summer is inevitable? What if we had no hope? We probably wouldn't last very long. But hope makes us live, helps us see. We can hold on as the snow comes down and our noses get cold. We're earning spring.

To the Editor:

I am not opposed to having a rescue squad in McHenry, but I am very opposed to taking the squad from Friendsville and Accident.

It has been said it is only 6-8 minutes from McHenry to Friendsville. I do not live in Friendsville. I do have a Friendsville address, but I live between Friendsville and Markleysburg, which is about 6-8 minutes from the town. If the weather is inclement, and with the lake traffic on weekends, it takes longer. I have seen the time when it has taken me 5 minutes to get out of my driveway on Friday evenings due to the lake traffic. The people of Frazee Ridge, Asher Glade, Squire Pike Road, White Rock, Mill Run, and Bear Creek are also farther than the town.

As people get older, anything can happen, and we need someone close just in case.

We have an excellent crew in the Friendsville area, and I would not be surprised if they would refuse to drive to McHenry. In the winter months the Elder Hill area can be treacherous driving; much blowing and drifting snow could also add extra time to get to the Friendsville area.

If there is a desire to centralize, then why don't we rename McHenry "Central Garrett County," and move the fire companies, Health Dept., courthouse, libraries, etc., there? Why take away an emergency department from the area where it already is and is needed?

Add to? Yes. Take away? No!

SPRING AND LADY DAY

On Tuesday morning at 8:31, spring began. That is to say, the sun crossed the equator then, whatever that means. I understand what it means that a ship crosses the equator, but getting an image into my brain of the sun crossing the equator is a harder thing. It has to do with the tilting of planet Earth toward and away from the sun.

We shall probably never know when our ancestors figured out the regularity of the seasons, even without knowing about the mechanics that made that regularity work. We can be fairly sure, though, that whenever it was, they celebrated the discovery with a party of some kind. That conclusion is based on the connection of having parties with the changing of seasons which we find in our history until recently.

Somehow explaining things, even such things as equinoxes and solstices, feels like having explained them away. If someone stops to explain the physics of the seasons, we try to be polite, and not to yawn. Isn't it odd that anything as awesome as modern mathematics and physics could prove so awe-depriving in terms of how we experience the world that is our home?

The Church, embracing various peoples across the ages, offered them substitute, Christian parties in place of the old pagan parties which the Church asked them to give up. At the spring equinox was the Annunciation to St. Mary (March 25), at the summer solstice, the Feast of St. John the Baptist (June 24), at the autumnal equinox, the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel (September 29), and at the winter solstice, the Feast of the Nativity — a.k.a. Christmas (December 25).

A much more difficult thing is to interest people who yawn through the equinoxes and solstices. There are neo-pagans who have tried to revive the pre-Christian parties. Though they have more following than I like, the fact is that they do not woo too many from their stupor in front of the television or some other screen.

In our time it is hard to imagine the frolicking that once transpired in every village and town, whether pagan or Christian. In between our stupors we dash about frenetically. We are too tired or too busy for a spontaneous, if annual, community rising to greet the spring.

Though I was reared in the kind of Protestantism in which the Blessed Virgin Mary was an embarrassing necessity to be spoken of as little as possible, I have grown in personal devotion to the mother of our Lord. I am devoted to her in fashion that is as Calvinistic as it is Catholic: I am devoted to her because God chose her.

The Feast of the Annunciation marks the day when the Archangel Gabriel announced to Mary that God was giving her a baby without her having to do anything to get it except to say "yes." Somehow, we Protestants, despite all our commitment to read the Bible and among our most conservative brothers and sisters to read the Bible as a book in which there is no error whatsoever, have missed St. Luke 1:26-38.

One of my favorite titles for the Blessed Virgin Mary is "Our Lady." It is a medieval sort of a title, and I am a medieval sort of a person. I was taught how to bow when I was in first grade, and I have always liked the habit. I will gladly bow to any lady (and often do), but I take special pleasure in bowing to Our Lady, the mother of Our Lord.

The affectionate name for the Feast of the Annunciation is "Lady Day," a rather revolutionary title for a day in our feminist era. But then, why shouldn't a feast have a revolutionary title when it is tied to the revolution of the sun?

We have these few days between the beginning of spring — the beginning of new growth in a new year — and the beginning of Christianity as a secret in the womb of a lady, Our Lady. I am not sure enough of having a party on March 25 to say "Come on over!" but I am thinking about it.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

As you and many of your readers know, March is Women's History Month. Over the past few years local women's organizations, classroom teachers, and our public library have celebrated this month in a variety of ways. Examples include the GC Women's Hall of Fame, poetry and history readings, public service announcements, materials and supplies donated to local schools, essay contests and, of course, letters to The Republican.

According to the National Women's History Project, "By walking history's pathways, we learn to step forward with confidence. The legacy of how others shaped society sparks our own longings to contribute." According to the project's organizers, everyone needs role models — footsteps enough like our own to inspire us. Yet in 1992, a national study found that history texts devote only 2-3 percent of their total content to women. History must tell the whole story. For girls, knowing women's achievements expands their sense of what is possible. For all of us, knowledge of women's strengths and contributions builds respect and nourishes self-esteem, crucial to all children and adults, now and in the years to come.

The importance of celebrating women's history is very clear. Yet, even in the 21st century, we continue to encounter counterproductive, even illegal, instances where ignorance and injustice directed toward women continue to exist despite laws against such behavior. We have the Equal Pay Act of 1963, yet we continue to hear instances where women earn less for the same work than their male counterparts. We have Title II of the Civil Rights Act of 1991, yet we see instances where women are less likely than men to be promoted and considered for top posts in business and in government. And, we have Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1963 and yet we could list a handful of instances where there appear to be blatant violations of labor and civil rights law, even in Garrett County.

There were two perfect examples of what we are referring to in recent classified ads that have run in The Republican during the past few months. The latest, Wanted: A few good men, appeared in the March 15, 2001, edition. We understand that there are instances when gender may play a role in suitable qualifications, however, that would be specific to each individual and not generalized to an entire population. Surely each of us knows many women who are faster, stronger, smarter, and more educated than many men.

The purpose of this letter is to heighten awareness and to be as cognizant as we can of the impact our actions have upon others. The ad in last week's edition would likely not meet the bona fide occupation qualification in EEOC Title 29, nor would it likely muster compliance with Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1963. According to CRA it is a violation of Title VII for a help-wanted advertisement to indicate a preference, limitation, specification, or discrimination based on sex. The placement of an advertisement on the basis of sex, such as the identification of "male" or female," is considered an expression of a preference, limitation, specification, or discrimination based on sex.

To the company that placed the most recent ad, we know women who can drive "big rigs" (even 10-ton tow trucks), who can paint, who can use tools efficiently and, yes, are smart enough to manage in today's computerized world.

We understand that it takes some people a long time, if ever, to find enlightenment, and we also realize that even in the best of circumstances it will never be a completely fair and perfect world. It is, however, each individual's responsibility to speak up and make an obvious wrong right. So to the employers who post such advertisements, please stop, if not for the population of women you are discriminating against, for your own livelihood. It could certainly keep you out of federal court on an EEOC or DOL violation. If an audit of your business were to be conducted, you could likely face very stiff fines, especially if your business benefits funds from local, state, or federal government contracts.

To consumers, please don't conduct your business with businesses that violate civil rights laws and the protections that were fought so hard for by hundreds of labor and civil rights leaders. Please do not condone business that offers employees promotions based solely upon gender. Please turn away from business that pays higher wages to men than women for the same work. And, please watch out for business that typically stereotypes women to certain low-paying job classifications, such as secretary, administrative assistant, and nurse's aide, while assigning to the men titles like office manager, special assistant, or medical technician.

As we move into the 21st century, let's try to make the future a little better by learning the lessons of history — a history rich with examples of the rights and liberties fought for by our foremothers and forefathers.

Sincerely,
GC Women's Presidents Council

Garrett County Commissioners:

We just don't count!

How can your office possibly say that the ambulance will only take the time to run seven miles from McHenry to Friendsville to our citizens who need it? That is your excuse to further service the tourists and new retirees that are retiring at McHenry. If your need more service there, get a new truck and people to run it. Let the new retirees support them like we have supported our rescue squad here for as long as it has existed — years and years and years!

Our family is among at least 200 that reside on the northern side of Friendsville. Heretofore it has taken the rescue squad between 15 and 20 minutes to come to our aid because of the county roads not being paved. Now add the winding, single-lane, log-truck-traveled, steep-grade Elder Hill Friendsville Road to the time, and you will have people expiring before they can receive any help.

For years and years, our town and surrounding area has supported the rescue squad. Now that we are getting older and need their services more, we just don't count.

Our town will even help you get a new truck, and man it. Please don't take our lifeline away from us. Those added minutes are the difference between life and death.

This is not some political move one makes to entice more business to come here. This is your commission playing God. You can't say "Oops" and bring back life at the next meeting, saying we didn't realize how many people would die before the rescue squad could get to them. You are messing with our lives.

Get a new rescue squad for McHenry to service the tourists and new retirees, and leave our squad here where it is needed.

To the Editor:

I only know what I read in The Republican concerning the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad's recent decision for changes. I can only say what a tragedy for us consumers of their services!

Having had at various periods for 20-plus years four persons (never more than one extra person at a time) disabled, living at my address, needing emergency service many times, I know the service which the rescue squad delivers. I could not have lived here without them. They are exceptionally dedicated, superior and compassionate, and I don't see how they could possibly be any more effective than they are. After all, they are human beings.

To say they are slow responding or not at all at times is foreign to me. They have had to be here over and over in the last 20-plus years, the latest being in September during M.O. Harvey's fatal illness. I was in shock, literally, and a Friendsville Rescue Squad member walked into M.O.'s trailer five minutes after I called 911 and immediately began working on M.O. Who in the world could do better than that?

When we were living at our Green Glade Rd. lake property (rural Swanton mail address) we had many calls for the Southern Rescue Squad, and they were excellent also. We really have had the reality use of the rescue squads, and we know how valuable and marvelous the volunteers are and how difficult the work really is. This is equally true with the fire departments. We have had, unfortunately, to have the services of the fire dept. as well, and they are all very exceptional people.

I believe volunteers are exceptional, superior type human beings. I have tremendous respect for them all!

I believe, instead of closing down the Friendsville and Accident stations, the county population should rise to the challenge of giving the volunteer rescue squads and the fire depts. the financial assistance they need for the proper conduct of their work and their health, as well as the proper care of our year-round, permanent citizens!

It's time our governing bodies — local, state, and federal — realized that permanent citizens, elderly, young, or whatever, are here 24 hours a day, for a lifetime, and they need care and protection from birth to death. These important aspects of "living and surviving" should not be up to only volunteers.

Read Pig just newly out this year to see where the "pork" millions go by the favorite big shots elected to represent all of us people. Don't tell me we can't afford it!

This is my opinion,
Mrs. Louise V. Harvey
Friendsville

P.S. Where is the passing lane for trucks on Rte. 42, Elder Hill? I have pleaded for years for it. Is it like the 24-hour supervised housing for the mentally ill, which we still don't have after 20 years of trying? Why? Selective discrimination?

To the Editor:

This is in response to the Northern Rescue Squad being closed in Friendsville. This shows poor consideration for people who reside in the Friendsville community. In our opinion, wouldn't it have been considerate to the people of Friendsville and surrounding area who have been faithful and paid our dues to support the squad to have called a meeting and explained to us the reasons for the move? Is there some reason we weren't told about it until we read about the closing of the squad in Friendsville, in the Allegany paper, The Cumberland Times-News? To get the news that we are losing our services by an out-of-area newspaper is really a hard blow, especially to a group of senior citizens who rely on volunteers and friends. To think that this is the way we find out about decisions affecting us and our future.

To Mr. Durst, how are you going to get from McHenry to Friendsville in 6 or 7 minutes if you are behind some big trucks on that road? There are two legal and safe passing zones. In the summertime you have plenty of cars on the road and you drive with a lot of caution in the winter time because of blowing and drifting snow, which makes it very treacherous.

All in all, this bad news is very upsetting to the people of our community. Many of us are descendants of the community. Our fathers and forefathers were raised here. It is a good community, and we are a proud and caring group. We want to be able to take care of ourselves as long as possible, but at times we have to call on our neighbors and friends. Right now, at this time, we feel we are losing a big supporter — by having our squad moved out of Friendsville.

We had no preparation, no knowledge that this was ever thought about until it appeared in the paper. The stories going around are very scary to an elderly person. How many are true? What is the true story? Will the move help or hinder care to us?

According to the Times-News 3/12/01), Mr. Durst advises "there is nothing formal yet." Another comment in the Times-News (3/14/01) was, "A site near the intersection of U.S. Route 219 and Friendsville Road was obtained recently and will be ready for occupancy soon." Also, this means that the Friendsville and Accident portion of the Northern Rescue Squad will be moved closer to the service area of the Southern Rescue Squad, thus leaving a void in the Friendsville and Accident area. How quickly this decision was made and acted on! No doubt we are all very upset and worried about our future when decisions as important as this are made so fast.

In consideration of knowledge, time, reasons, or whatever may be the case, we are very upset this has been done to us without letting us know it is happening. We would have liked to have known and been told about the move in advance instead of hearing many, many kinds of stories. Why such a secret?

We have heard that many tourists visiting the area have been serviced by our squads; however, no monies have been paid to the squad.

There is a lot of negative publicity in our area because no one has bothered to set the story straight. Tell us what to expect. Thank you.

Editor's note: the writer of the following letter to the mayor and town council of Friendsville requested that it be published in this column.

Mayor and Town Council:

I know you've probably received tons of letters on the closing of the Northern Rescue Squad in town; however, I would like to voice my concerns about the closing.

My father is not in the best of health, and has needed the rescue squad several times within the past year, I have always felt that the response times were pretty good. We live 6.3 miles from town, which takes between 10-15 minutes (double that in the winter). With the closure of the NGRS in Friendsville, we will be 15 miles from the ambulance location, and a half-hour minimum response time, plus an additional half to one hour to get to the hospital. They certainly will not meet their "Golden Hour" requirement to get a patient to the hospital.

It should be noted that the squad would actually be closer to downtown Oakland than to our location or those farther north, near the Pennsylvania line.

I know first-hand that Maryland Route 42 is a very dangerous road to take during a snowstorm. I certainly hope if the consolidation continues that the NGCRS can get an SHA truck stationed there during the winter. Not only will response times significantly increase in the winter, but the lives of the volunteers will also be put at stake.

According to the Garrett County Emergency Management web site, Station 3 of the NGRS responded to 259 calls in year 2000. In February 2001 they responded to 21. The math I have done says that the Friendsville station will respond to 274 calls in 2001, or a 6% increase over year 2000.

The articles and editorial in the March 15 Republican raised some interesting pieces of information.

While the paper understands the concerns of our citizens, I'm sure their opinion would be different if the SGRS considered moving out of Oakland to the lake area. Friendsville has a problem that Oakland, McHenry, Grantsville, and even Accident don't have.

The paper said in its editorial "30 or 40 able-bodied residents of the town should volunteer to get EMT training and become members of the NGCRS. If that were to happen, then surely an ambulance unit could remain or be re-established in the town.

While the paper made a great suggestion, and while all of our volunteer companies could use more manpower, I'm not sure it would really make a big difference. The problem I alluded to two paragraphs back is that a majority of our able-bodied residents have to leave town during the day to go to work. There is no place in town that employs more than a handful of people at one time.

You could have 100 volunteers and you would be in the same boat of problems if they all had to be out of town during the day.

Also, Mr. Daniel Durst of the NGCRS stated that members of the fire department are trained as first responders. My question is this: What if those firefighters were at or en route to a structure fire, and at the same time a medical call comes in? Do they leave the fire and go to the medical, or do they stay at the fire and forget about the medical?

This move will result in some very experienced and dedicated men and women, some who have served for a very long time, not being able to help.

Also, in the Friendsville News section of the paper, it was stated that this decision was made on February 10. I don't recall seeing a notice of such a meeting or decision in any of the papers or flyers announcing such a meeting. Isn't there supposed to be advanced notice of such an event happening? Shouldn't the NGCRS have held a public hearing before proceeding with this?

I am tired of all of the attention and focus this county is placing on the lake area. Certainly they need ambulance coverage, but not at the expense of our ambulance or that of Accident. If McHenry has the manpower to staff an ambulance, then the logical thing to do is transfer a vehicle from Grantsville to the Deep Creek fire hall. If they already have the property, then just use the new location as the Deep Creek Fire Company.

This is phase one toward a relocation of everything this town has to the lake. First our ambulance, next our fire department. Later on the Friendsville and Accident libraries will be consolidated at the lake, then Friendsville and Accident elementary schools will be consolidated at the lake. Our trash and refuse location will be closed, meaning a trip to the lake to dispose of our garbage, for those of us who don't live in town. Then a consolidated Northern/Southern High School at the lake will become a reality. And after all of that, they may even consider moving the county seat from Oakland to the lake (after all, the lake is more centrally located).

I urge the mayor and town council to do every thing in its power to keep an ambulance stationed in Friendsville, and if it involves legal action, by all means, take it.

Sincerely,
Lester Lewis
Friendsville

To the Editor:

President Bush likes to talk about accountability in education and tax breaks for "workin' folks."

Early in this century, economic philosophers said that in bad times, the central government should lower interest rates to stimulate private investment and create jobs and consumer spending through public debt. (Over time, interest rate adjustments have proven far more effective than consumer spending.) In good times, the theory continues, government should repay the debt with tax surpluses.

American politicians have embraced the first part of this theory ever since. Thus, we now give little more thought to public debt than we do to public water.

Mr. Bush says that workin' folks are entitled to some of the tax surplus in the form of a tax reduction. Common sense and economic theory suggest that as long as a huge national debt exists, the surplus isn't ours.

There is another problem with the president's tax cut proposal. It assumes a growth rate of 3% annually for the next 10 years. The growth rate is currently 1.4%. In the late 1990s, ".coms" were paying huge bonuses and investors were making eye-popping profits in the stock market. The result was, in part, unexpected tax revenue inflows. In 2000, these profits and the associated tax revenue began to dry up. Also in the late '90s, then-Governor Bush proposed a tax reduction in Texas. The reduction was sold on the basis of revenue projections that were wrong. As a result of this "fuzzy math," the Texas legislature will spend much this year dealing with a billion dollar debt.

Where is the logic in reducing revenue before the budget is approved? Is President Bush's concern for accountability confined to educational policy? How much can workin' folks expect from Mr. Bush's tax cut, and when?

One estimate is $450 per year, sometime. The wealthiest 1% of Americans would reap around $46,000 annually in tax reductions from the plan. That's more than most workin' folks make all year!

On the other hand, paying off the national debt, thus eliminating debt service expense, would reduce the federal budget by 11%.

So, if the country is still hugely in debt, Congress has yet to approve a budget, and revenues are anything but certain, why is Mr. Bush betting the farm on his tax cut proposal? First, the Republican Party needs to rebuild its ranks. Whether it passes or not, the tax cut proposal will win points with potential supporters. Then, too, a sizable tax reduction for wealthy campaign contributors is a way to pay them back for underwriting the $3 billion spent on Election 2000. This may explain the bi-partisan support for a tax cut.

A special thanks to the nurses and aides, Rev. Donald Matthews, Rev. Warren Friend, Newman Funeral Home, and all who sent flowers and food. Your concern and generosity helped us through a time of sorrow. Thank you and God Bless.

Thank you to the faithful community of Garrett County of North Carolina, passed over to Glory with her Lord on Tuesday, March 13, 2001. During her illness of breast cancer for 4½ years, your people of the greater Garrett County area had her in your prayers and that is one awesome expression of your faith. God's will has been done. Vicki's family wants you to know that your prayers and those of the family have been answered. No more cancer, no more pain. Our daughter will spend eternity with her Creator, God, and Savior, walking the streets of gold and basking in the light. Vicki fought the good fight (James 1:12) and her reward is in heaven (Isaiah 62: 1-5).

Victoria A. Plyler

God loves you. Rejoice!

NELLIE V. WINEBRENNER

Nellie Virginia Winebrenner, 89, Frostburg (Garrett County), died Wednesday, March 21, 2001, at the Devlin Manor Nursing Home, Cumberland.

Born Aug. 18, 1911, in Garrett County, she was a daughter of the late James and Laura (Layton) Winebrenner. She was also preceded in death by two sisters, Alice Hetz and Myrtle Winebrenner, and eight brothers, Howard, James, Harry, Clayton, Gurnie, Leonard, Francis, and Roy Winebrenner.

She was a retired seamstress for Flushing Shirt Factory, Grantsville, and was a member of the Mount Zion United Methodist Church.

Survivors include one brother, Grant Winebrenner, Grantsville.

Friends will be received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. on Friday. A service will be conducted at the funeral home on Saturday, March 24, with the Rev. Steven Lightner officiating. Interment will be in the Mount Zion Cemetery.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to the American Cancer Society.

GARLAND YEAGER

Garland Yeager, 94, Thomas, W.Va., died Thursday, March 15, 2001, at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland.

Born April 5, 1906, at Thomas, he was a son of the late John and Cora (Ulrich) Yeager. He was also preceded in death by two daughters, three brothers, and two sisters.

He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church in Davis, W.Va. He worked for 50 years with Western Maryland Railroad. He retired as a car inspector. At the age of 92, he walked to the top of the Seneca Rocks with his granddaughter.

Adorable Adoptables

"THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME — Any home," says Dorothy the German Shepherd, who is available for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. The 1-year-old, big-eared dog has a stout body and is very friendly and independent. The black Labrador mixed puppy shown below is 10 weeks old, very loving and playful, and not done growing yet. Also available, but not shown, is Cooper, a spunky 6-month-old male Lab mix who loves to play with four-legged and two-legged critters. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road just north of the Oakland Golf Club, the animal shelter is open every day but Sunday. Persons may call 301-334-3553 for information.

Survivors include his wife, of 71 years, Mary Elizabeth (Davis) Yeager, whom he married Jan. 5, 1930; one son, Robert D. Yeager, Port Charlotte, Fla.; one brother, John Yeager, Weirton, W.Va.; one sister, Susan Unger, Oakland; nine grandchildren; and 15 great-grandchildren.

At the deceased's request, his remains were cremated. A memorial service, under the direction of the Hinkle Funeral Home, Davis, will be conducted at a later date.

SHEILA J. HETRICK

Sheila Joyce Hetrick, 54, Oakland, died Monday, March 19, 2001, at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland.

Born Aug. 18, 1946, in Oakland, she was a daughter of Dewey and Hazel (Ream) Mahoney, Sarasota, Fla.

She was a lifelong member of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, where she was active in the women's fellowship. She was a member and past president of the Mountain Laurel Garden Club. At one time she was the owner and operator of Herbal Treasures, a small craft and herb shop in Oakland.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by her husband, John Hetrick; two sons, J. Dana Hetrick, Salisbury, Pa., and Todd C. Hetrick at home; two brothers, David Mahoney and John Mahoney, both of Sarasota; and two sisters, Debbie Eskew and Bonnie Potts, both of Sarasota.

Friends were received at the Durst Funeral Home, Oakland. A service was conducted earlier today, March 22, at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, with the Rev. Mel Menker officiating. Interment was in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

The family requests that memorials take the form of contributions to Hospice of Garrett County, P.O. Box 271, Oakland, MD 21550.

Born Aug. 25, 1924, in Thayerville, she was a daughter of the late Ralph M. and Grace M. (Bowman) Romesburg. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Lawrence E. "Chub" Skipper, in 1999; one son, Robert E. Skipper, three brothers, Ralph M. Romesburg Jr., Richard W. Romesburg, and Darvin D. Romesburg; one grandson; and one great-grandson.

She attended the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren, Mellenry.

Survivors include two daughters, Beverly A. Sisler, Oakland, and Kimberly O'Brien, Swanton; [illegible] sisters, Betty J. Reckart, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., and Barbara A. Uphold, Oakland; four grandchildren, and three great-grandsons.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland. A service was conducted at the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren on Monday, March 19, with the Rev. Donald Matthews officiating. Interment was in the Oak Grove Cemetery, McHenry.

The family requests that memorials take the form of contributions to the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren's "Relay for Life" Team, the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren Cemetery Fund, P.O. Box 599, McHenry, MD 21541; Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 378, Oakland, MD 21550; or the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department, P.O. Box 3152, Deer Park, MD 21550.

REAFORD B. PURBAUGH

Reaford B. Purbaugh, 94, Oakland, died Wednesday, March 21, 2001, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

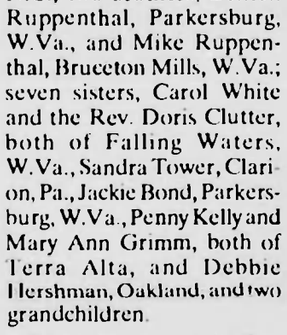
A longtime resident of Oakland, he was born July 6, 1906, in Mount Savage, a son of the late Henry W. and Emma (Hutzel) Purbaugh. He was also preceded in death by his wife, Anna (Lohr) Purbaugh, in 1985; his son, Reaford John "Jack" Purbaugh; and his eight siblings, including his twin brother, Roy.

He and his family moved to Oakland from Meyersdale, Pa., in 1940, to open the Western Auto Store, which he operated until 1968. He was a member and past leader in St. Paul's United Methodist Church, along with a number of fraternal and community organizations, including Oakland Lodge #192, AF&AM, of which he was a past master and a member for over 50 years. He was also a member and leader in the Oakland Rotary Club, the Eastern Star, the Ali Ghan Shrine, and the Knights of Pythias. He was a founding member of the Oakland Golf Club, which he belonged to for over 50 years, and won the club championship in 1962.

Survivors include two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. on Friday. A service will be conducted at the funeral home on Saturday, March 24, at 11 a.m., with the Rev. Dr. Lawrence Sherwood officiating. Interment will be in the Union Cemetery, Meyersdale.

Oakland Lodge #192 will conduct a memorial service at the funeral home at 7:30 p.m. on Friday.



ROBIN E. GNEGY

Robin E. (Ruppenthal) Gnegy, 54, Upper St. Clair, Pa., formerly of Terra Alta, W.Va., died Saturday, March 17, 2001, at Upper St. Clair Hospital.

Born March 27, 1946, in Buckhannon, W.Va., she was a daughter of the late Rev. Vernon and Opal Ruppenthal.

She attended St. Mary's School of Nursing, Huntington, W.Va., and received her degree in August 1967. She was a member of the St. Agatha Catholic Church, Bridgeville, Pa.

Survivors include her husband of 33 years, Dr. Richard Gnegy, a former Oakland resident; two daughters, Elizabeth Ann Bean, Clarendon Hills, Ill., and Heather Renee Gnegy, Wilmington, N.C.; two brothers, Benton Ruppenthal, Parkersburg, W.Va., and Mike Ruppenthal, Bruceton Mills, W.Va.; seven sisters, Carol White and the Rev. Doris Clutter, both of Falling Waters, W.Va., Sandra Tower, Clarion, Pa., Jackie Bond, Parkersburg, W.Va., Penny Kelly and Mary Ann Grimm, both of Terra Alta, and Debbie Hershman, Oakland, and two grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Bogan-Wolf Funeral Home, Bridgeville. A service was conducted at the St. Agatha Catholic Church on Tuesday, March 20. Interment was in the church cemetery.

The family requests memorials take the form of contributions to hospice.

IVA B. JENKINS

Iva B. Jenkins, 86, Glen Ridge, N.J., formerly of Swanton, died Tuesday, March 13, 2001, at the Mountainside Hospital, Montclair, N.J.

Born Nov. 8, 1914, in Swanton, she was a daughter of the late Archibald R. and Ida F. (Lohr) Bernard. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Ervin W. "Bud" Jenkins, in 1986; two sisters, Leona Moon and Dana Bernard; three brothers, Elmer Bernard, Wade Bernard, and Lambert Bernard; and one grandson.

She was a member of the Glendale Assembly of God Church, Swanton.

In Loving Memory of
Joyce V. Sisler
March 22, 1944 - March 19, 1993
If roses grow in heaven
Lord, please pick a bunch for us;
Place them in our mother's arms and tell her they are from us.
Tell her that we love her and when she turns to smile,
Place a kiss upon her cheek from all who loved her best.
Forever loved and missed.
Husband, Children & Grandchildren

In loving memory of Vera B. Sherwood (Brady)
9/7/27 - 3/13/99
In spring I wait for roses red, when fades the lilacs blue.
In early fall when brown leaves fall,
I catch a glimpse of you.
You've gone first now I remain,
for battles to be fought
Each thing you touched along the way, is now a hollowed spot.
I hear your voice, I see your smile,
though blindly I may go.
The memory of your helping hand,
holds me up with hope.
We had so much happiness,
we had our cup of joy.
And memory is one gift of God,
that death cannot destroy.
You've gone first now I remain,
this thing I have you do.
Walk slowly down that long, long path,
for soon I'll follow you.
I want to know each step you take,
that I may walk the same.
For someday down that long, long road,
Mom!!! You'll hear me call your name.

GRANTSVILLE

The town meeting was held on Monday, March 19.

Two guests, Jess Carey and Jared Resh, attended the meeting in order to earn Boy Scout badges.

The town accepted a truck bid from Diehl's Ford for a new dump truck.

The sidewalk program will get into full swing this summer when the sidewalks will be replaced along Main Street.

The district court commissioner will be at the town office every Wednesday, beginning April 18, from noon to 4 p.m.

The council adopted a storm water management resolution to coincide with Garrett County's storm water ordinance.

Sometime in the near future, the town will conduct smoke tests for the town's sewer systems, during which down spouts must be removed.

The next meeting will be Monday, April 2, at 6 p.m.

FRIENDSVILLE

The town meeting was held Tuesday, March 20.

A public informational meeting was hosted by the mayor and town council at the Friendsville fire hall prior to the regularly scheduled council meeting. The subject of this meeting was the proposed closing of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad's Station #3 in Friendsville for the purpose of consolidating the Accident and Friendsville stations in the McHenry area. The Garrett County commissioners, representatives of the NGCRS, and the mayor and town council, as well as a large number of concerned citizens, attended the meeting. Overwhelming opposition to this closing was expressed.

The mayor and town council will host another public informational meeting at the fire hall on April 19 to further discuss the issue of Station #3 closing. More information will follow.

In lieu of a tax differential, the mayor and town council requested assistance from the county with the installation of a paved walkway along Second Avenue from the Maple Street intersection to the entrance of the Friendsville Community Park. Additionally, assistance was requested with the development of the new soccer field at the park.

Adelphia Cable has approved the mayor and council's previous request for cable services for the Community Center at no charge.

The Garrett County Traffic Advisory Committee will be requested to assist the town in resolving several traffic and parking-related matters.

Several damaged and dead trees will be either trimmed or taken down throughout the town in preparation for the planting of new, healthy, young trees later this spring.

The addition of another restroom facility and a small concession stand in the current changing room at the park will be undertaken through a $25,000 Waterway Improvements grant, which the town received previously.

The next meeting will be Monday, April 2, starting at 7 p.m. at Town Hall. Effective in April, the new schedule for meetings of the Friendsville mayor and town council is the first Monday and the third Tuesday of each month, starting at 7 p.m.

MTN. LAKE PARK

The town meeting was held Wednesday, March 14.

The council approved and adopted a new ordinance that prohibits open burning in Mtn. Lake Park.

The council received a letter from Gov. Glendening stating that the POS grant money for the Allegheny playground had been approved.

Jim Simms announced that studies show that gypsy moths should not be a problem this year.

The budget for 2001-2002 and a submission for the Historical Committee to continue its program were discussed.

The council received complaints about town dogs barking and chasing people.

Councilman Lou DiCarlo reported on Crime Watch.

The MML convention in Ocean City this summer was discussed. Mayor Shockey and Councilman DiCarlo will both attend.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, March 28.

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

GRANTSVILLE 4-H

Members of the Grantsville 4-H Club are reminded the next meeting will be held Monday, April 2, beginning at 7 p.m. The monthly meetings for the club are held at the Casselman Valley Sportsman's Club along Route 40 near Grantsville.

GRANTSVILLE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Woodman of the World representatives will be at the Grantsville school on April 4 at 9 a.m. to fingerprint the kindergarten students. Permission forms have been sent home with the students and must be signed and returned before the child can be fingerprinted.

Gary Ruddell, honorary library chairperson of Hobby House Press, spoke to the students at the school for an official campaign kickoff of "Dime Days." Dime Days is being sponsored by the Character Education Action Team as a school/community project to benefit Grantsville's new town library. Students have been asked to donate two dimes and each staff member, $2. On the 10th of April and May, donations will be accepted again. The school PTO has agreed to support this project and match up to $250 raised for the fund.

During the assembly, Mr. Ruddell spoke to children about the plans for the new library and explained how each student can help make a difference. He shared the story of how school students collected money back in the 1930s to help save Mt. Vernon. Mr. Ruddell noted, "I was impressed by the enthusiasm and overwhelming commitment of the students for helping with such a worthwhile project."

GGBA TO MEET

The GGBA will hold its monthly meeting on Wednesday, March 28, beginning at 8:30 a.m. at Penn Alps in Grantsville. Sandi Flockhart, speaker for the meeting, will discuss customer service.

Nominations are now being accepted for new board members. Interested persona may contact president, Phyllis Finzel at 301-895-5051 with additional questions or nominations.

New members are always welcome and encouraged to attend.

YFC BIBLE QUIZ TEAMS

EGLON MOUNTAINEERS
by Sara Lewis

Devotions taken from Ideals were presented by the Music Committee, composed of Tracy Teets, Ashley Bachtel, and Katelyn Harsh, at the March 12 meeting of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club at the Eglon Memorial Building. Sara Lewis led in the pledges.

Photos submitted to county competition by Kari Harsh, Maria Harsh, and Sara Lewis, went on to state competition. Tracy Teets distributed an updated list of names of Cortland Acres patients to be remembered. Maria Harsh, Ashley Bachtel, Josh Mullenax, and Bridgette Strawser volunteered to participate in the Preston County 4-H Day to be held April 28 at Preston High School.

A county event is planned for May 11 or 12, when the IFYE student, Windsong Bergman, will be visiting Preston County. There was a discussion of a summer tour and workshop, with no conclusion being made.

Announcements included the March 31 and April 7 Bee Keepers' School in Garrett County, State Conservation Camp at Webster Springs in June, 4-H resumés due April 20 at Preston County Extension Office; and a meeting of Preston County All-Stars, set for April 26 at 6 p.m. at the extension office.

The next meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at the Farmers' Wildlife Park, Horse Shoe Run, to clean the park. The Citizenship and Community Service Committee will be in charge of the program.

Traditional 4-H songs were sung, including West Virginia Boys and Girls, Rhododendron Song, 4-H Hymn, Dreaming, and Ploughing. A donation of $50 was made to Hospice Care in memory of 4-H leader Debbie Shaffer.

Talks were by Caitlin Roth on "This Is 4-H"; Debbie Collins on "West Virginia 4-H Camping." Ashley Bachtel, "Tips for Taking a Good Picture"; Tyler Harsh, "Why Show Angus Cattle?"; and Jon Junkins, "How to Make This Is 4-H Exhibit." Kari Harsh told about "The Food Pyramid" and "Serving Size." She then demonstrated how to properly fold a garment. Sara Lewis gave a demonstration on beading, and Dana Feather told how to tie a broken bale. Lindsey Teets told how to collect leaves for the project, then he and Craig Rembold took the group outside, where they demonstrated a paint ball battle.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Nick (Betty) Stemple is reportedly in critical condition at a Pittsburgh hospital, since her surgery last week. Pastor and Mrs. Steinple reside at Brownsville, Pa., and are former pastors of Maple Grove Assembly at Horse Shoe Run.

Arlene Kight Brandenburg underwent surgery at a Fort Myers, Fla., hospital on March 15. She is a sister of Orville Kight, Mt. Grove.

Richard Huffman, 83, Dry Fork, died March 14. He was a son of the late Earl and Edna Henline Huffman, and a relative of several residents in this area. His funeral and burial were on Saturday.

Janice Arnold Loughrie of Grantsville has been a patient in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, Md., since undergoing colon surgery there March 12.

Paul Stemple of Aurora was admitted Sunday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and is undergoing tests there.

Floyd Knapp of Amboy is also a patient at Garrett County Memorial.

Meghan Durst and three friends from Shenandoah University in Winchester visited Friday overnight with her parents, Brad and Lori Durst, and siblings Kendra and Eric. Kendra was appearing in a play at Preston High, which they all attended.

The Potomac Highlands District United Methodist Women will hold their spring district meeting at the First United Methodist Church in Keyser on Saturday, March 31. Registration and coffee will be at 9:30 a.m. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m.

The theme is "Sewing Seeds of Promise." Guest speakers are Betty Logsdon and Delores Dick. They will be giving a report on their trip to Russian orphanages.

The offering will be divided between Volunteers in Mission for Russia and Helping Hands in Keyser.

A nursery will be provided. Members should bring a sack lunch, Campbell labels, and canned goods. The canned items will go to Faith and Action in Keyser.

Program books and other useful literature will be available in the resource room.

The UMW notes the following dates to remember: Day Apart Service, May 10, at the First United Methodist Church in Terra Alta; Spiritual Growth Retreat, April 19-20, and April 2122, at Jackson's Mill; C.O.M.E. Event, April 28, at the Suncrest United Methodist Church, Morgantown; and School of Christian Mission, July 18-21, at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon.

firefighters who responded to the scene were able to save only an attached garage and its contents. He said that the fire was apparently started by a short-circuit in the wiring in the dining room.

Phillippi added that the couple had insurance on the property.

Also responding to the scene were the county air cascade vehicle, the Southern Rescue Squad, and personnel from Allegheny Power Company. There were no injuries reported.

Fire personnel remained on the scene for several hours.

Charges Raised

after the shooting, Messenger was arrested by the GBI on second degree murder and attempted murder charges.

The grand jury's first degree charge carries a heavier penalty. If Messenger is found guilty of the murder charge or the four counts of attempted murder, he faces the possibility of life in prison.

Footprints on the Heart

Some people come into our lives and quickly go.
Some people move our souls to dance.
They awaken us to new understanding with the passing whisper of their wisdom.
Some people make the sky more beautiful to gaze upon.
They stay in our lives for a while,
leave footprints on our hearts.
And we are never, ever the same.

Kitzmiller Church Sets Service With N.D. Missionary

North Dakota resident Rev. Mel Erickson, nationally appointed Assemblies of God home missionary to American Indians, will speak at the 11 a.m. service this Sunday, March 25, at the Hiway Assembly of God Church. The church is located three miles north of Kitzmiller along Kitzmiller Road.

A resident of Minot, N.D., Erickson currently serves as coordinator of Indian Ministries for the Assemblies of God in North Dakota. He and his wife Corliss served as missionaries to the Devils Lake Sioux Tribe in North Dakota for 20 years, and have a family that includes three adopted Indian children and many foster children.

Erickson supervises pastors of American Indian churches and oversees many activities, including the annual Conquest Outreach Program, which trains teams from across the nation to perform a number of outreach activities on reservations. He has coordinated construction of six new church buildings in four states of the Upper Plains by raising funds and recruiting volunteer labor.

For further information persons may call Rev. G.K. Hixon at 301-387-9417.

GGBA Schedules March Meeting

The Greater Grantsville Business Association will hold its monthly meeting next Wednesday, March 28, beginning at 8:30 a.m. at Penn Alps in Grantsville. The speaker will be Sandi Flockhart, whose topic will be customer service nominations, now being accepted for new board members.

Potential new members are invited to attend the meetings, and interested persons may contact Phyllis Finzel, GGBA president, for more information.

JWCC HELPS HOSPICE — The Junior Woman's Civic Club recently made its annual donation to Hospice of Garrett County. JWCC has offered its support to Hospice for several years, along with a number of other local charities. Pictured at right is JWCC member Heather Miller as she presents a check to Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice.

JWCC Holds March Meeting

The Junior Woman's Civic Club of Garrett County held its March meeting at the home of Elizabeth Huxford. Members each brought a dish of something green in the spirit of St. Patrick's Day. Following dinner, Pam Holloway of Craig Ingram Associates presented some information regarding will and estate planning.

Checks were written to the Garrett County Humane Society, Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company, and the GCC Scholarship Fund. Angela Flanigan, Sandy Zakaluzny, and Judy Hudson were present as guests. Elizabeth Huxford won the door prize.

The Junior Woman's Civic Club meets the first Thursday of every month. Anyone interested in joining the club may contact Beverly Haines at 301-387-9629 or Carm Swift at 301-387-8123.

Student Exchange Program Needs Representative

The American Intercultural Student Exchange program, which annually sponsors thousands of exchange students between the ages of 15 and 18 in programs that involve living with American families, attending local schools and participating in community life, is in need of a new representative for Garrett County and the surrounding area. The present area representative, William Fintzell, Alpine Lake, W.Va., announced recently that he is retiring from the position.

The AISE representatives supervise the screening and selection of the host families with whom the students reside. The representative then works closely with the students, families, and schools throughout the year. There is some compensation for serving as an AISE representative.

Area persons interested in applying for the position and/or obtaining more information may telephone Fintzell at 304-789-6669.

Bittinger 4-H To Serve Meal

A buckwheat cake dinner will be served by the Bittinger 4-H Club from 4 to 7 p.m. on Saturday, March 31, at the Bittinger fire hall. The "all-you-can-eat" meal will include buckwheat cakes, pancakes, sausage, and beverages. The cost is $4.50 for adults, $2.50 for children, and free for those under age 5.

"READY FOR SOME BASEBALL" are the members of the Southern High School varsity team, which lost seven starters from its state-semifinal squad last season, but returns with a host of talented recruits from last year's undefeated junior varsity team. The Rams are scheduled to open their campaign next Tuesday at Keyser. Coach Jim Bosley enters his 22nd year as head coach of the Rams and will most likely get his 300th victory this season, as he currently has 294. Team members in the above photo are, from left, kneeling: Bryan Hauser, Steve Skipper, Chris Remley, Chad Panther, Ryan Ewing, Justin DiSimone, J.J. Bolyard, and Ricky Reams. Standing, same order, are: Josh Fitzwater, Steve Elswert, Brad Palmer, Bryson Meyers, Jared Fike, Joel Helbig, Kevin Goralski, and Tobi Stoner.

Rams Anticipate Success Despite Loss Of Seven Senior Starters

Losing seven of nine starters to graduation would get most high school baseball teams, but most area fans know that it is rare that the Southern High School varsity must endure a rebuilding — often losing season. Year after year, Coach Jim Bosley and his staff, as well as the members of the junior varsity coaching staff, are successful in grooming quality underclassmen to step in and take the places of graduating seniors to keep the Rams' winning tradition intact.

The Rams have belonged to the Western Maryland Interscholastic League for only five seasons and have won the league title four of those five years. They have also won the area championship seven times in the 14 years that the honor has been awarded by a ballot of area coaches.

Bosley is beginning his 22nd year as mentor of the Southern varsity, and will undoubtedly record his 300th victory early in the season. His career record is 294-104, for a winning percentage of 73.8. The Rams finished with a 17-4 overall mark last year, and won the Western Maryland Interscholastic League title and the West Region 1A championship before falling in a state semifinal game to St. Michael's, 5-2.

The two most outstanding of the seven seniors lost to graduation were Josh Bosley, the All-Area Player of the Year, and Mike Shahan, a second-team All-Area pick, both of whom are now playing for the Garrett Community College Lakers. Bosley pitched for seven victories last year and hit an incredible .530, with nine home runs and 34 RBI.

The only two returning starters are senior Ryan Ewing, who hit .333 and was named first-team All-Area, and senior Justin DiSimone, who was 3-1 on the mound and batted an outstanding .493.

However, the Southern junior varsity, under Jim's brother, Tom Bosley, completed the 2000 season with a perfect 18-0 mark, giving the varsity coach a number of top prospects to complete his starting nine.

Vying for the first base spot are senior Jared Fike and juniors Bryson Meyers and Joel Helbig.

Junior Tobi Stoner, who is described by Bosley as "an outstanding defender and improved hitter," will get the nod at second base, along with DiSimone when he is not pitching.

Junior Ricky Reams will start at short stop, with Stoner as a back-up. "I believe Ricky could be one of the best short stops in the area," Bosley said. "He plays exceptional defense, and is also an outstanding hitter."

Junior Steve Eiswert looks to be the top candidate for the third base position, with junior Kevin Goralski as a back-up.

There is plenty of depth at the catcher spot, with junior Brad Palmer, Helbig, and Fike all skilled at that position.

Ewing will be among the outfielders, along with senior Chris Remley and one of several from last season's unbeaten jayvee team. "Chad Panther, Steven Skipper, and J.J. Bolyard (all juniors) give us plenty of flexibility in our line-up," Bosley said.

The number-one pitcher will be DiSimone, with Bryson Meyers, a 6-3 left-hander, as the number-two starter. Seniors Josh Fitzwater and Fike will also see considerable time on the mound, and juniors with plenty of potential include Bryan Hauser, Reams, and Stoner.

"As always, pitching is the name of the game, and I feel that, in time, this could be one of our real strengths," Bosley said.

As is also customary for the Rams in mid-November, they have yet to even be on a baseball diamond for a single practice session because of the weather, and they are slated to open their season next Tuesday at Keyser.

"The weather leading up to our opener always makes it difficult for us, but at least we anticipate it and are used to practicing inside for the first few weeks," Bosley said.

In a general outlook for the 2001 campaign, Bosley said, "I'm not big on setting goals, but we've talked as staff and team, and are certainly setting our eyes on a return trip to the state tournament. Of course, on the way, it would be nice to win the WMIL and area championships again."

Bosley is again being assisted this year by Dan Holler, who is in his eighth year as a member of the varsity Ram staff, and Steve Weaver, who is beginning his fifth season with the program.

RAMS SOFTBALL SQUAD GOING FOR THE CROWN — After coming within a hair's breadth of Maryland's 1A softball title last year, the Southern High School varsity softball team has one goal in mind for the 2001 season — to get back to the state tournament and bring home the crown. Kneeling from the left are Jenna Rush, Katie Richter, Amber Bernard, and Gina Reeves. Second row: Holly Sauder, Stacy Scripp, Kristen Oxford, and Autumn Uphold. Third row: Megan Bernard, Erica Green, Jennifer Bosley, Ashley Liller, and Megan Burner. The varsity Rams are coached by Dave Bosley, and Christy Eyler coaches the junior varsity squad.

Rams Hope To Pick Up Tourney Trail This Afternoon In Keyser

At the outset of last season, Southern High School varsity baseball coach Dave Bosley stated in no uncertain terms, "Our main goal is, simply, to win a state championship." Those Rams then embarked on a 20-3 season, including a 19-game winning streak, that took them to within a hair's breadth of their goal in an extra-inning 2-1 loss in the title contest to Rising Sun.

This year's Southern squad knows there's nothing that whets the appetite for winning more than coming oh-so close to taking it all. The Rams' title quest resumes this afternoon at Keyser in a 4:30 p.m. match-up.

Bosley's team has lost an important trio of starters, catcher Jennifer Sanders, first baseman Nicole Kitzmiller, and second baseman/pitcher Jennifer Teagarden, but the program returns one senior and an impressive seven juniors and three sophomores, while two freshmen will be joining the varsity ranks.

Key to the Rams' fortunes, and key to the misery of opponents across the region, is two-time Area Player of the Year Jennifer Bosley. Only a junior this season, Bosley is coming off a year in which she dominated every opposing lineup she faced from the pitcher's mound while notching a .368 average of her own at the plate.

The mainstay of the Southern infield will be junior shortstop Ashley Liller, who will also share pitching duties with Bosley. Liller batted .347 last season and provided some excellent defensive work. The other side of the infield's mid-section will be held down by sophomore Amber Bernard at second base.

Junior third baseman Autumn Uphold, one of the area's best fielders, brings her gold glove back to start at the hot corner for another season. The team's lone senior, Stacy Scripp, is returning to claim her starting position in the outfield, as is junior outfielder Megan Burner.

Erica Green, another junior, will take up a position in the infield and share the backup pitching assignments with Liller. Junior Gina Reeves will be tested as a catcher and a first baseman until she finds her niche at those important slots, and will be battling sophomore Kristen Oxford and freshman Jenna Rush for the backstop position, and sophomore Megan Bernard for the first baseman assignment. Freshman Holly Sauder will also be looking to gain valuable varsity experience.

Last year's area and region champs won't be resting on their laurels, Coach Bosley said, as every team in western Maryland will be looking to knock them off. The Rams' skipper has upped the ante even more, however, by toughening the already formidable schedule with Maryland 4A state runnerup Eleanor Roosevelt of Greenbelt, and Patuxtent, a 3A powerhouse located in Calvert County. Also on the slate are tough West Virginia 3A teams Martinsburg of Jefferson County, and University High of Morgantown.

One of Southern's main opponents will be much closer to home. After the Rams open at Keyser this afternoon, they will travel to Fort Hill on Saturday. The Sentinels "are favored to win the WMIL," accord-

Young Huskies Hope To Season On Diamond As Season Unfolds

Decimated by last June's graduation ceremonies when 12 seniors of its 14-player squad walked off the dais with diplomas in hand, the Northern High School varsity baseball team will be in a rebuilding mode for the first part of the 2001 season. The inexperienced Huskies will have some big spikes to fill, as last year's unit recorded a 13-5 regular season record in making their mark as one of the area's top teams.

Wet weather delayed yesterday's season opener at Allegany, and that contest has been rescheduled for Tuesday, April 3, in Cumberland. NHS is slated to take on Westmar in Lonaconing this coming Monday, and Northern head coach Phil Carr will be reminding his troops that Westmar bounced the Huskies from the 1A regional playoffs last year. The week rounds out with a Wednesday road trip to Hancock, and the Huskies' home opener is set for Saturday, March 31, when Mapletown (Pa.) visits for a noon doubleheader.

"It was nice having all those seniors we had last year, but it always hurts a little the next season when they are gone," Carr reflected recently. "We lost a lot of key players, including offensive leader Adam Brenneman and defensive standouts Tim Umbel and Levi Schmuck, as well as a solid pitching staff of P.J. Workman, Nathan Sleeman, and Justin Sleeman, who is now playing at Frostburg State University. This year's players are working real hard to fill the void."

An interesting aspect of Carr's current roster is the depth in right-handed athletes — magnified by the complete lack of southpaws. Every single player bats and throws from the right side, which could make bunting for basehits a challenge, and will also necessitate some finely tuned coaching strategies when the squad is going up against a tough right-handed pitcher.

Carr will be relying on returning seniors Mark Wolf and Jeremy Frazee for on-field leadership this year. The proven multi-sport athletes will anchor the left side of the infield, as Wolf returns to third base and Frazee will man the shortstop position.

Wolf started at the hot corner last year, and recorded a .295 average (13-44) while scoring 15 runs. He also belted two home runs and six doubles, stole eight bases, and notched a .568 slugging percentage. His home run tally tied for team lead, and his doubles and slugging percentage figures were second on the squad. Frazee, who started some games at shortstop last season, will take over the job outright. He hit .200 (3-15) and scored eight runs over last year.

The Huskies' young pitching staff, all righties, will include seniors Speicher and Frazee, and underclassmen Whittemore, Lenhart, Everett, Vagnetti, Mitchell, and Brantner. Those moundsmen will be hard pressed to top last year's rotation, which recorded a mind-boggling 1.89 team earned run average.

"The keys for this season will be to gain as much experience as fast as we can," Carr commented. "We will need to be fundamentally sound defensively behind our young pitchers and try to make things happen offensively with aggressive baserunning. We do have some speed if we can get to first base.

"Our kids have been working hard, even though our time outdoors has been very, very limited. That usually puts us behind a little, but we're looking to improve each and every game and be competitive within our schedule. Southern and Westmar should be two of the strongest teams on our schedule."

Northern's assistant coaching staff is composed of Jon Houser, Ed Carr, Jamie Workman, Daymond Schmuck, and John Helmick. Head coach Phil Carr brings a 111-94 varsity record into his 13th year at the Huskies' helm.

NHS Softball Program Fields Young Squad In Tough Region

The Northern High School varsity softball team is in much the same situation as its NHS baseball counterpart, only more so, for the Huskies lost every single one of their seniors to graduation last year. First-year head coach Tom Riley's program is composed of four juniors, eight sophomores, and one freshman.

"We need to get out on the field and start playing," Riley commented of his 2001 squad. "The weather has been cutting our scrimmage time short, and that slows us up. We open with a tough week, at Allegany Monday, Beall Tuesday, and we'll host Southern on Thursday, March 29, at 4:30 p.m. It will make for an early test in region play.

"We'll be making adjustments throughout the first half of the season, and we hope to begin peaking in the second half of the season. That's been my coaching pattern in the past; I tend to move and interchange players early in the year in an effort to find the best combination; then by the time the playoff run rolls around, the team is usually ready to go."

The Huskies will be looking for the right combination to replace the starting foursome from last year's 10-10 squad of Mimi Harvey, Heidi Frazee, Heather Nugent, and Jen Murray, who has joined the Bobcats softball program at Frostburg State University. Topping Northern's hopes this season is the junior co-captain trio of Brooke Butler, Bridget Frazee, and Jolene Brenneman.

A starter at first base last season, Butler is moving to second base for the coming campaign. "Brooke is a fine all-around athlete, and has an excellent glove," Riley commented. A force at the plate as well, Butler tied Harvey for NHS's highest batting average last year as both girls hit .397 and each went 27 for 67 at the plate. She also led the unit with 24 runs scored.

"Our whole infield will be controlled by the second baseman and shortstop, so they have to be our best athletes," said Riley, noting that he has assigned Frazee to the other keystone position at short. Frazee played third base last year, but Riley expressed full confidence in her ability to make the transition. A power hitter on offense, Frazee recorded five doubles and three triples last season, along with a .288 batting average.

Brenneman, another power hitter, hit .304 last year while playing outfield. Yet another Husky on the move, Brenneman is being shifted to the pitcher's mound, where Riley is counting on her to become the mainstay of Northern's rotation.

Catching for Brenneman and the other Husky hurlers will be sophomore backstop Amanda Frantz, who is en-

SMC Grapplers All Place At District Event

Seventeen members of the Southern Mat Club competed in the Mid-Atlantic Wrestling Association's District qualifier on Saturday. The tournament was held in Parkersburg, W.Va. All 17 local wrestlers finished in third place or higher, thus earning a trip to the MAWA Regional tournament in Millersville, Pa., in April.

District champions, who will now be top-seeded wrestlers in the regional tournament, include: Jakob Scheffel, Justin Ratliff, Jeremy Gregory, Scott Wildesen, Colin McCaffrey, Lex Ozias, Justin Fitzwater, high school wrestler Justin Gregory, and Coach Nick Dolan. Placing second at the districts were Brutus Scheffel, Jeffrey Gregory, Gavin Murphy, Ryan Fitzwater, and Zach McCaffrey. Those SMC wrestlers finishing in third place were Nicholas Brant, Coty Rasel, and Coach Dan Clark.

"It was a great weekend of wrestling," stated SMC coach Dave Taylor. "We chose Parkersburg for our District because we knew it would be tough. These guys performed extremely well against such a high level of competition. Not only did the kids step it up and wrestle so well, they also had the opportunity to watch coaches Clark and Dolan compete. It was a lot of fun, and now we look forward to the next level."

Two other SMC team members competed at Fort Hill High School on Saturday. Dillon and Ryan Bennett, along with their older brother Keith, attended the tournament in Cumberland. Dillon Bennett completed a perfect 13-0 season by defeating both of his opponents at Fort Hill and claiming the first-place award. Ryan Bennett won his only bout of the day and also finished in first place. Keith Bennett, a high school senior and member of the 2000-2001 Ram wrestling team, won three of four matches to place third.

"These two Bennett boys have a bright future with the SMC," said Coach Chris Todd. "It is their first year and they have both put together great seasons. An undefeated season is quite an accomplishment for any wrestler, especially one who just started in the sport."

The regional tournament will be held in Millersville on April 7 and 8. The top four place winners there will qualify for the Eastern National Championships, which will be held in East Stroudsburg, Pa., on April 21 and 22. For more information on the Southern Mat Club, persons may contact any team member or visit the team's web site at www.smcwrestling.org.

ing to Bosley, and field a squad that lost only two players last year while gaining the retinue from the former Flintstone High. Fort Hill handed SHS one of its three one-run losses last year by virtue of a 1-0 margin. The week rounds out with a Wednesday visit to Preston.

tering her second year of softball play. Frantz played in the outfield throughout last season and intermittently spelled starting catcher Heidi Frazee behind the plate. She will also be used at first base this season.

Another multi-purpose player will be freshman Lyndsi Butler, who will see action behind the plate, in the outfield, and at first base. A fleet-footed runner, Butler is expected to shine on the basepaths, along with speedy sophomore Autumn Kitchen. An outstanding bunter, Kitchen will prowl the outfield on defense along with classmate Tabitha Beitzel, another speed demon.

Sophomore Brandi Perez will take over third base and is expected to serve as the top backup pitcher. Perez played right field last season.

Coach Riley's chess game of moving his players around the defense comes through his personal knowledge of the athletes, as he served as NHS's assistant coach for the past two seasons. He brings a strong track record to the Huskies' program, as he finished his 34-year career as a high school teacher and coach in Fairfax County, Va., with a superlative 12-year run as a softball coach at the Triple-A level. A five-year stretch at Vienna's James Madison High resulted in three Virginia state championships. Riley then departed to inaugurate a brand-new softball program at Centreville High, where his teams amassed a 112-50 record and claimed the 1998 Virginia state crown.

Riley's greatest pride, however, is in the accomplishments of the 15 members of his Centreville program who earned college scholarships.

Wolf Awarded All-Academic Squad Honor

Mark Wolf, a state champion wrestler for Northern High School, was among nine high school grapplers in the state of Maryland who received honorable mention status on the 2001 Maryland State Wrestling Association's All-Academic Team.

Wolf, a senior, finished the 2001 season with a perfect 37-0 record and the state title in the 171-pound division. He also set a school record for total career victories of 114 against just 20 defeats in four years of competition.

Wolf's teammate, Blake Huber, was named one of the 13 members of the 112-pound division member of the All-Academic Team, having earned the title in the 112-pound division (announced in this newspaper last week).

The members of the team are selected from among over 2,600 Maryland high school wrestlers in all public divisions (1A-4A), as well as private schools. Criteria for selection includes their success in wrestling, as well as in their academic endeavors.

Lakers Enjoy Success On Spring-Break Trip To The Carolinas

The annual spring-break "baseball marathon" of the Garrett Community College Lakers this week has been highly successful so far for Coach Ed Wildeman and the members of his team, who have won five of six encounters so far played in North and South Carolina. The Lakers whipped Quinsigamond CC, 9-2, on Saturday at Greenville, N.C., walloped both Broome CC, 14-4, and Herkemer County CC, 13-0, on Sunday at Myrtle Beach, S.C., and then split a doubleheader with Broome on Monday, dropping the opener, 8-5, and winning the second game, 6-1, also at Myrtle Beach.

Garrett was slated to play another doubleheader Tuesday at Myrtle Beach against Baltimore City Community College, and meet Hudson Valley yesterday, but those contests had to be called off because of rain. They were scheduled to play a doubleheader this morning against Hudson Valley at Coastal Carolina University.

The Lakers ripped the cover off the ball in their first three games of the week, as they amassed a total of 49 hits in their victories over Quinsigamond, Broome, and Herkemer County on Saturday and Sunday.

They took a 2-0 lead over Quinsigamond in the top of the first inning on Saturday and never trailed, adding two more runs in the second, one each in the third and sixth frames, and three insurance runs in the seventh. They finished with 14 hits, while Jason DiAngelo went the distance on the mound for the Lakers and allowed only four hits.

Craig Barkey, Matt Mills, and Adam Skocik each finished with three hits, and Barkey scored twice. DiAngelo fanned 10 batters in earning the win.

Nathan Gayman went the distance and allowed only five hits in Sunday's first game against Broome CC, while the Laker offense erupted for 19 hits.

Garrett trailed 2-1 after two innings and 4-3 after four frames, but ripped the Broome defense for six runs in the fifth and four more in the sixth to secure the win.

Ryan Wetzel, who went 4-for-5 at the plate, smacked a three-run homer in the sixth to go with a double and two singles. He also scored three runs.

Matt Mills rapped a solo homer in the first inning, hit two singles, and scored three times, while former Southern High School standout Josh Bosley had four singles and Craig Barkey recorded three.

Greg Mapes hit a two-run homer for Broome.

Bosley earned the shutout victory against Herkemer County in Sunday's second game, as he pitched the first five innings and struck out eight, and then got relief from Dave Tranquilli, who recorded four strike-outs in the final two innings. The pair allowed only three hits, while the Lakers tagged three Herkemer pitchers for 16 hits.

Skocik finished with a three-run homer, a double, and a single for the Lakers, Chad Cooper stroked a solo home run and a single, plus scored three times, and Mills and Wetzel each hit a double and a single. Jeremy Gayman added a double and a single, and DiAngelo and Brandon Stewart each contributed two singles. Wetzel and DiAngelo also each scored twice.

The second encounter with Broome on Monday was far more even than Sunday's game, as the Lakers dropped the first game and won the second.

Broome scored three runs in the top of the second inning in game one, the Lakers tied it at 3-3 with one in the second and two in the third, and Broome took the lead for good with three more runs in the fourth.

DiAngelo had two of the Lakers' eight hits, both singles, while Dan Kochenderfer had a double.

Chris Fisher took the loss on the mound.

Jeff Early fired a one-hitter for the Lakers in the second game, while Brandon Stewart led a seven-hit effort by GCC by going 2-for-3.

Broome's only run was recorded in the sixth and was unearned.

The Lakers are scheduled to meet the Methodist College junior varsity this Friday, play a doubleheader at Allegany College of Maryland in Cumberland on Saturday, and host the Frostburg State University junior varsity in a twinbill next Tuesday.

state 68, and includes about 25 users, including several commercial businesses.

A $1.4 million construction project designed to provide water to this area is under way, with funding already secured in the form of grants and loans from the USDA. Additional money is expected to be given by the Appalachian Regional Commission, the Maryland Department of the Environment, and the State Highway Administration.

While no one spoke out against the development at Tuesday's hearing, several people were in attendance to ask about properties south of Interstate 68, which in this plan are not going to be able to hook into the new system. Complaints about water quality were voiced. Residents in the entire area, including those south of the interstate, have apparently acquired salt in their water supplies, and assert that this is a result of the construction of I-68.

When the road was cut, the commissioners explained, the water table was disturbed, and now salt additives used on the road in winter have apparently contaminated the water supply. The SHA has compensated some residents by hauling water and helping to dig new wells, but the problem persists.

Ron Petrella, administrator of the Garrett County Sanitary District, said this initial district creation will only serve those north of I-68, but that as interest grows among the residents north of the highway, the addition of those 25 properties will be considered.

Persons who wish to comment on the sanitary district creation or who have questions may contact the county commissioners at 301-334-8970 or Petrella's office at 301-334-1980.

To the Editor:

Imagine stacks of cats and dogs, one lying on top of the other, lifeless, just after being euthanized. Euthanasia means to be killed, for anyone who does not know the word. This is the image that thousands of Humane Society volunteers and animal shelter staff see every week because of pet overpopulation.

I am so frustrated with people not realizing how important it is to spay or neuter their pet. And, pet overpopulation is only one of many reasons to have their pet spayed or neutered. A true pet owner and lover would already know these reasons.

So the next time a pet owner decides he wants his animal bred, for whatever reason, I hope this image comes to mind.

Sincerely,
Candy Virts
Humane Society Volunteer

To the Editor

With regard to the issue of moving the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad out of Friendsville and Accident, let's consider the first sentence of the last paragraph of The Republican's editorial last week (3/15/01): "This is evidently not a money issue, but a staffing issue."

That is likely true, but money issues worth reporting include the purchase price for the property and a description of the property. If the deal was done in secret, then the public might be curious to know how long the property was for sale and the list prices during that period. Last and probably least some may be curious about how much tax the property paid a year the last few years, and how recent tax valuation matches up to the sale price.

In last week's page 1 article there was no mention of the "delayed response" rates of any squads but those of Accident and Friendsville. Their delayed response rates were provided for December only. Listing the mean "delayed response" rate for every county rescue squad location for the previous 12 months tells the tale of comparative response rates. What happened at two locations one month may be typical, but we don't know that until we have valid data to compare.

Without question, volunteers who staff rescue squads provide a great and desirable public service; however, even saints can disagree, and considering the scope of the changes, the timeline and processes leading up to the announcement are legitimate public issues.

The purpose of this letter is to ask for public reportage of the timeline, and reportage about public and private processes involved instituting the proposed changes. If every NGCRS member knew about this months in advance, then well done. If it was, as some claim, an ambush, well, that would seem to raise some questions.

The final sentence in The Republican's editorial last week offers hope: "If (Friendsville provides adequate personnel), then surely an ambulance unit could remain or be re-established in the town." One hopes to see the issue resolved in public and fairly.

Sincerely,
W.L. Welch
Gortner

To the Editor:

First of all let me make it clear that those of us who are members of NGCRS who are working to keep our ambulance in the town of Friendsville are not against a station in McHenry, but would welcome it, although not at the expense of losing ours. When we received our last new ambulance it was suggested that we not trade one in but take it to McHenry. We were told they had no room for it and did not want to run ambulance calls.

We may be a small group of [illegible] are able to cover our area with a crew seven nights a week 6 to 12 and from 6 to 12 midnight on Sundays. We do not have a full daytime crew every day, Monday through Saturday, or in the early morning hours when it nears time for people to go to work. Approximately 12 of us have been able to cover our area more than 50% of the time as you stated in your editorial. I pull 56 hours of scheduled duty each month plus the times I cover when I am not working and no one is scheduled. Some give more than that. One member pulls 50 hours straight on the third weekend of each month. I have never yet felt I was deserving of sainthood. I retired in 1990 and still do substitute teaching three and four days each week, walk three miles each day, and have never felt that burnout was taking a toll on me or that the quality of care I give has been affected. My husband is a driver on Wednesday night and is maintenance officer for Station #3. I feel we are holding up pretty well.

It does seem unreasonable to us that we should have three ambulances in the Grantsville station, two in McHenry and none in Friendsville, when we can cover as many hours as we do. Our area covers all the way to the Pa. and W.Va. lines. The statement that we respond to only 50% of our calls is definitely a false statement. This may have occurred once or twice at the most. If this was occurring so often, why then has our chief at some monthly meetings stated that Station 3 had the best stats for the month? Our worse months' stats were the only ones printed in your paper. Check our minutes if you're interested in the truth.

As you stated in your editorial, money is not an issue, with hundreds of thousands of dollars at our disposal. Is $1,800 a year too much to pay in order to keep our ambulance here? Let us cover our area, take two ambulances to Grantsville and two to McHenry but leave us one.

I have to wonder what Mrs. Boone, our benefactor, might be thinking. What would Brenda Hawkins say? The ambulance we currently are running is in excellent condition with only 40 thousand-plus miles, and is to be stationed in Grantsville to be used as a spare. Why can it not be left here for us? Is it a matter of $1,800? If we can afford $22,000 for coveralls that will hang somewhere, when does patient care come in? Isn't that supposed to be our main concern? We are not an ambulance service to rent halls for weddings, play bingo, or search the Internet.

Sir, have you tried coming from McHenry to Friendsville on Rt. 42 in good weather in 6 or 7 minutes as printed in your paper? I challenge you. Have you heard you must drive 60 miles per hour to go 1 mile in a minute? It is 7 miles to Friendsville and the posted mileage for Elder Hill is 35 miles per hour.

At the March meeting, those of us who oppose the removing of our ambulance were accused of trying to "stir up the seniors" for our own selfish reasons. This allegation came from one of our members who lives in our area, but pulls his six hours each week in the Accident station, and voted yes to abolishing our station. I took this as an insult to our seniors. Does he think they are so senile they would not figure out on their own that is was better to have an ambulance here in town with people covering as much as we have than to have the closest one in McHenry? I think not. We have a group of very intelligent citizens who are very knowledgeable.

For 27 years I have served this squad to the very best of my ability, asking nothing in return but the smile on a patient's face or the squeeze of a hand when someone says, "I am so glad to see you." No, I don't want to qualify for sainthood, just let us keep our ambulance and do what we can for our people, the best we can. How many people have you heard complaining about the job we have been doing? Have you had any complaints that our service is suffering because we are overworked? We appreciate your kind remarks, but take offense to some of them.

Thanking you,
Mary Friend EMT-B

Dear Ms. Friend,

For the record, nowhere in our newspaper was it stated that one could travel from McHenry to Friendsville on Rt. 42 in "6 or 7 minutes."

Friendsville fanior member Mary Friend, adding that she routinely covers the midnight shift. "Let us cover what we can cover. We know we have trouble from 4 a.m. on throughout the workday because people have to work, but let us work on getting more volunteers before you close our station."

"It's important to remember that we're not leaving you high and dry," a NGCRS board member said. "There is a fully staffed volunteer fire department here, and they will have people on hand to respond to call and start work until the squad arrives from McHenry. That's the way it works for towns like Bittinger, and what the southern folks do for places like Gorman. It's what McHenry's been doing all along; we're just moving the location there because we know that area is growing, and we feel we can get plenty of volunteers to man a station there, more so than we have here."

When the crowd continued to voice its objections to the rescue squad board's statements that Friendsville didn't have enough volunteers to properly staff a station, they asked for a show of hands of how many in the hall were willing to sign up for the training needed to volunteer for squad duty. Out of more than 200 persons present, no more than a dozen raised their hands.

Emotions ran high at times during Tuesday evening, a fact addressed outright by resident Jane Fox toward the conclusion of the three-hour meeting.

"A lot of what's been said tonight is based on emotion, but we thank the town council and commissioners for being here. These are the people (NGCRS members) who have picked our loved ones off the floor. We want to thank them, but also let them know we are upset. I want you (the NGCRS board) to assure us that you will get your membership together and re-consider your decision," to move from Friendsville, she asked.

"We will," promised Durst, adding that the matter will go to a re-vote by the squad's general membership at the April 10 meeting in Grantsville.

Jury Convenes

members felt another entrance to bring in inmates is needed.

The jurors found that the kitchen is small with limited storage. They suggested that inmates should have more physical activity and fresh air outdoors. They said they found the facility "well-maintained and efficiently operated."

The jury recommended that the county commissioners continue to plan for a larger facility. The jurors said they were pleased to learn of the inclusion of such a facility in the current fiscal year 5-year capital plan, as recommended by a prior grand jury.

Sheriff's Office

Sheriff Sanders met with the grand jury and explained the operations of his agency. The jurors learned that officers do road patrol, criminal investigations, drug task force investigations, paper service, court room security, accident investigations, and other duties as available.

The jury members said they were pleased to learn that officers participate in other programs in the community, such as the safety program for senior citizens (SALT), DARE, and the Reality Program.

Sanders also described the selection process for officers. As recommended by state auditors and because of the crowded conditions, the sheriff said he is continuing to seek additional correctional officers for the jail. The grand jury members commended the commissioners' approval of one additional correctional position for the last fiscal year, as recommended by prior jury panels. The current jury encouraged Sanders to continue his efforts in adding to the correctional staff.

Treasurer's Office

Treasurer Patty Glover spoke to the grand jury members, explaining the duties of her office. In addition to collecting all county taxes, the office collects current taxes for Mtn. Lake Park, delinquent taxes for all municipalities, trailer park taxes, personal property taxes and Sanitary District taxes.

She explained next year's tax bills will reflect full cash values and a lower tax rate so the final result will be a revenue-neutral change. With the semi-annual payment option being the default, over 1,000 tax bills are being paid in this fashion. A small fee is included to recoup the lost interest to the county.

Glover explained the process for selling properties for delinquent taxes, noting that approximately 60% of owners redeem their properties.

The assessable tax base is now $1.62 billion, with District 18 at Deep Creek Lake making up 50% of that total.

Glover commented on the proposed legislation to remove the treasurer's position from those that are elected. She reported the commissioners consulted with her first, indicating they would not submit the legislation if she objected. The job will become a county classified position, titled "supervisor of tax collections."

The jurors reported that the treasurer's office records were properly maintained. Glover and her staff of five were commended by the jury for "efficiently handling a large amount of tax revenues and other financial matters."

County Commissioners

The county commissioners met with the grand jury members. They stated they are pleased with the arrangement that allows the purchase of administrative offices for the Garrett County Board of Education to be accomplished at a minimum cost to the county, as the former owner of the property will lease part of the space back.

The commissioners discussed their continued emphasis on economic development, which they said includes attracting moderately sized businesses and assisting existing businesses to maintain or grow in size. They explained the regressive nature of the personal property tax, the rate of which they reduced this year.

Discussion included the need for an expanded jail facility and a variety of options that could be considered. The grand jury members suggested that the planning move forward before a crisis arises.

The jury recommended that the commissioners fund a professional evaluation of the existing jail facility to determine future detention needs.

Additional comments were exchanged with the fiscal authority concerning education, economic development, tourism, the decreased debt service, and the process of balancing increased funding requests with revenues.

The grand jury extended thanks to Judge James L. Sherbin, State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch, Court Bailiff Bill Graham, Circuit Court Clerk David Martin, Deputy Clerk Brian Schlossnagle, jury commissioner Ruth M. Warnick, court stenographer Margaret Fulk Doyle, Kim Becker (secretary to Welch), foreman Dan L. Daniels, clerks Donna S. Bittinger and Billie Jo Kitzmiller, doorman Elmer V. Redinger, and all other officials involved in this week's tour.

DO YOU REMEMBER THE LAST TIME YOU SLEPT . . .

LIKE A BABY.

Trouble sleeping drastically diminishes your quality of life. A Gallup survey reported that one out of eight people sleep poorly at least four nights a week. Improper support to the neck, back and knees causes discomfort, which can result in fragmented sleep. Fragmented sleep can cause: loss of memory, irritability, auto accidents, slower reaction time, stress and high blood pressure contributing to loss of life.

Rest more soundly with a low-pressure Kingsdown sleep system. A Kingsdown sleep system can help you relax and go to sleep more quickly just like you did when you were a baby.

EXIT WOUNDS

Rated R - Running Time 1:37 - Released 3/16/01

The fact that stuntman Chris Lamou was killed on the set of Exit Wounds is a terrible tragedy. What makes it even more of a shame is that the man was killed making such a second-rate movie. This film, which stars a bored looking Steven Seagal as a good cop figbting the bad cops in a corrupt system, is the most shallow, disposable action fare currently available to the undiscriminating teen boy market. The low-key, heavily physical Seagal, in the kind of role he always has and always will play, is clearly more comfortable shooting, kicking, and breaking stuff than he is interacting with human beings. Of course, no one should ever die making a movie, but Exit Wounds really adds insult to fatality.

Written by the inexperienced team of Ed Horowitz and Richard D'Ovidio, based on the novel by John Westermann, the screenplay for Exit Wounds is so formulaic and trite its a wonder the producers could convince longtime cinematographer Andrzej Bartkowiak (Thirteen Days) to direct it. Bartkowiak's only other directorial effort has been last year's Romeo Must Die, another entry in the kung fu vs. bullets category, and a much better film in many ways. In this case Bartkowiak is hard pressed to bring life off the page. Luckily, the film does have its saving graces, mainly in the form of rap star DMX, convincing in a pivotal role opposite Seagal, and Anthony Anderson, who seems to bring vitality to every role he plays. An unfortunate counterpoint is the presence of Tom Arnold, whose comic style, intended to lighten the film's violent nature, merely seems out of place. It must be said, however, that perhaps the best part of the film is an ad-libbed scene between Anderson and Arnold which appears during the end credits.

Seagal plays Detroit detective Orin Boyd, whose lone-wolf style and disrespect for authority, displayed while single-handedly and superhumanly saving the U.S. vice president from a major assassination attempt, gets him reassigned from the 21st precinct to the 15th, in one of the city's most dangerous neighborhoods. Although under strict orders to toe the line from his new boss, Cmdr. Mulcahy (the Barbie-dollish Jill Hennessy, who does not resemble a cop in any way, shape, or form), Boyd soon begins his usual habit of investigating things he's not assigned to, including the suspicious activity of a local man named Latrell Walker (DMX) and his night club-owning friend T.K. (Anderson). Soon Boyd discovers their connection to a major heroin operation, along with that of his very own colleagues in the Detroit P.D. Working with Mulcahy, his new partner George (Isaiah Washington), and a friend he met at an anger management class (Arnold), Boyd goes to war against a whole bunch of guys who can't shoot as well as he can kick.

If it were left up to Seagal and his writers, this film would be a total flop. But thanks to some supporting performers, it is merely tolerable. ★★½

THE PLEDGE

Rated R - Running Time 2:04 - Released 1/19/01

In a way, Sean Penn's The Pledge is a Crossing Guard reunion. It reunites director Penn with two main actors from his 1995 film (Jack Nicholson and Penn's wife, Robin Wright), and more importantly, it seems to share theme, tone, and even some plot elements with the previous opus, featuring Nicholson as a man whose obsession with bringing justice to a child murderer destroys him and wrecks all his relationships. Unfortunately, it also shares some of the film's flaws, including a tendency toward digression and a lack of focus. Penn is a sensitive filmmaker with an ability to craft attractive images, but sometimes this gets in the way of his storytelling, bogging the story down, if you will, in art.

In a story based on the novel by Swiss playwright/novelist Friedrich Durrenmatt, adapted for the screen by Jerzy Kromolowski and Mary Olson-Kromolowski, Nicholson plays Jerry Black, a Nevada detective leaving the force after a long and distinguished career. However, on the eve of his retirement, an 8-year-old girl is raped and murdered. After breaking the news to Ginny's parents, Jerry makes a solemn promise to her grief-stricken mother that he will find the killer. When the prime suspect (a dim-witted Indian played briefly but effectively by Benicio Del Toro) kills himself, Jerry's colleagues think the case is over. But there are some things that don't sit right with him, and in order to keep his pledge, he feels the need to pursue the matter even though he is supposed to be retired. He interviews Ginny's grandmother and her best friend at school, but soon runs out of viable leads.

Jerry moves to a remote fishing village and buys a small gas station/convenience store where he plans to spend the remainder of his life. He meets up with a single mother named Lori (Wright), who runs the small town's only watering hole. After Lori has a violent run-in with her ex-husband, Jerry convinces her to stay with him for a while. He becomes very close to Lori and her young daughter Chrissy (Pauline Roberts), but he still can't get the thought of Ginny's murder and his pledge out of his mind, especially since Chrissy resembles Ginny in many ways. Eventually his obsession with the old case sends him over the edge into dementia and alcoholism, causing his new relationship to crumble.

Although Nicholson, Wright, and Roberts are all quite convincing in their roles (and, in fact, the cast list is peppered with impressive names like Helen Mirren, Vanessa Redgrave, and Sam Shepard in supporting roles), Penn's direction sometimes gets too caught up in imagery and atmosphere for its own good. There is an ever-present sense of building tension during most of the movie, but there comes a point when this simply becomes tiring to the viewer, especially since the film, loaded with red herrings, offers little in the way of a real payoff. The ending is empty and anticlimactic, leaving us with a sense of having lost a major investment. Though Penn's artwork is scenic and emotionally resonant, aided greatly by talented cinematographer Chris Menges (The Boxer), the story is in the end disappointing. ★★★½

Adopt-A-Road To Begin; Nine Groups To Help

The Garrett County "Adopt-A-Road" program will begin in April, with nine volunteer groups having chosen roadways to keep clean. The program, approved by the county commissioners last fall, will allow the general public to assist in cleaning up various county roads.

There will be four clean-up periods throughout the year, held in April, June, August, and October. The nine groups and the roads they will attend to are as follows:

Four Hoophole South volunteers, Boy Scout Road; the Miller family, Foxtown Rd.; Wendy Bauer, Cranesville Rd.; Elizabeth Dooling, Stockslager Rd.; Asher Glade Church of the Brethren, Asher Glade Rd.; Emmanuel United Methodist Women, Pocahontas Rd.; George C. Myers, Lower New Germany Rd.; Lindy Moebs, New Germany Rd.; and Allen Wilhelm, Avilton-Lonaconing Rd.

Adopt-A-Road signs recognizing the nine volunteer groups will be installed soon on the sections of road these persons will clean, according to a press release from the commissioners' office.

The volunteers are reminded to contact a county roads representative at least five days in advance of a scheduled clean-up. The representatives are as follows: Joe Tichinel, Oakland rep., 301-334-3988; Larry Lewis, Accident rep., 301-746-8156; and Bill Klotz, Grantsville rep., 301-895-5631.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Army Pfc. John T. Johnson has graduated from the light-wheel vehicle mechanic advanced individual training (AIT) course at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

During the course, the student was trained to perform maintenance on vehicle power assisted brake systems, wheel vehicle suspension systems, wheel-hub assemblies, mechanical and hydraulic steering systems, and wheel vehicle crane, hoist, and winch assemblies.

Johnson is the son of Henry A. and Sue Johnson, Wallman Road, Oakland.

Oakland Men Jailed After Drug Sales

Two Oakland men were arrested Friday afternoon on drug charges, according to Garrett County Narcotics Task Force spokesperson and state's attorney Lisa Thayer Welch. Both suspects allegedly sold suspected marijuana to police informants working in conjunction with the task force.

Brandon Ford, 19, was taken into custody at approximately 1 p.m. in the McHenry area on two counts each of distribution of marijuana and possession of marijuana. The arrest warrant was obtained after a two-month investigation during which Ford reportedly sold marijuana to a police informant.

John S. Peterson, 20, Oakland, was apprehended approximately 45 minutes later in the McHenry area and served with an arrest warrant stemming from a three-month investigation. Peterson was initially charged with three counts each of distribution of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, and a search that followed his arrest resulted in additional charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Both Ford and Peterson were subsequently released from the Garrett County Detention Center after each posted a $1,500 bond, as set by a district court commissioner.

The Narcotics Task Force is composed of investigators from the Maryland State Police McHenry barrack and the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Persons with information regarding any suspected drug activity in the county are encouraged to contact the unit at 301-387-9566 or 301-895-5889. Anonymity is guaranteed.

Are You "Ostrich-ized"?

Indeed, there are days when this ostrich appears to have the best solution to the endless challenges of life. We may feel discouraged... ostracized from the pleasures of daily living. Should we "stick our head in the sand"?

No, the "ostrich method" just doesn't work. It only prolongs our problems, as we bury deeper and deeper within ourselves. Unearth your head from that proverbial sand!

Shake off despair and look into the sun...it's still there. Hold your head high as those bright beams beseech you.

"Sure," you're thinking, "that's easy for you to say!"

God said it first. "For God, who said, 'Let light shine out of darkness,' made his light shine in our hearts to give us the light of the knowledge of the glory of God..."

(2 Cor. 4:6)

Worship God each week, discovering the light for your life through His word. No longer will you feel "ostrich-ized".

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

IS THIS ANY WAY TO RUN ANYTHING?

March 25, 2001

Background Scripture: Acts 5:12-42
Devotional Reading: Psalms 103:15-18

It is fascinating to me how, on the one hand we can so applaud biblical heroes, and on the other we condemn those who emulate them.

From early times to the present, the Church has not had a very good record in its responses to reformers. The Pope did not write Martin Luther a letter saying, Martin, you've got some good ideas here. The Anglican hierarchy did not present John Wesley with any Evangelist-Of-The-Year awards. Those of us who on grounds of Christian conscience opposed segregation and the Viet Nam war were usually regarded as an embarrassment to our church hierarchies and an affront to our communities.

That's just the way things are in our society. We swear nominal allegiance to God, but it is the secular and ecclesiastical structures that claim our first, highest loyalty and obedience. It is not easy for a Christian to say "No" to either his or her government or church when faith seems to require it.

We don't know how many months or years marked the intervals between Peter's sermon at Pentecost and his second and third arrests, but it would appear that Peter and John got themselves into trouble in no time at all and repeatedly at that. The first time (Acts 4:5-23), Peter laid down his unyielding position: "Whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you rather than to God, you must judge; for we cannot but speak of what we have seen and heard." Because they had no case against them, the authorities threatened them and released them.

Touched By An Angel?

The high priest, jealous because of their success among the people, had Peter and John arrested again. But, assisted by an angel, Peter and John escaped from prison. (Can you imagine the ruckus that would arise from a jailed Christian today claiming the help of an angel to escape from prison?)

A third time Peter and John are arrested and this time brought to the council. "We strictly charged you," said the high priest, "not to teach in his name, but here you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching and you intend to bring this man's (Jesus') blood upon us" (5:28). How can we afford to let people defy our precise and specific orders? That's no way to run anything. Conscience is all well and good so long as it doesn't get in the way of loyalty and obedience.

Once again, however, Peter sounds the same note he did in their previous encounter: "We must obey God rather than men." Understandably, the council members were enraged at this effrontery and we are told that the members of the council wanted to kill them. That is also a common human reaction: dead men and women cannot object or obstruct us. How many of our disputes and problems do we attempt to 'solve' in this manner? Too many.

Take Care What You Do!

It is at this point that help for Peter and John comes from an unexpected source – a man named Gamaliel. A teacher of the law and obviously a member of the council, Gamaliel attempts to bring some reason and order into this crisis with a plan so pragmatic and rational that the enraged council cools down and agrees with him. "Men of Israel," he advises, "take care what you do with these men" (5:33). This well respected teacher of Hebrew law appeals to the council members' own self interests: Don't make a terrible mistake, he counsels. Citing two previous insurgents, Theudas and Judas the Galilean, whose movements failed, Gamaliel reminds them of a principle that his fellow council members – and the whole world – tend to forget: "...if this plan or this undertaking is of men it will fail, but if it is of God, you will not be able to overthrow them. You might even be found opposing God" (5:38,39).

Sound advice, is it not? Let God sort it out, for if it is God's will, we cannot defeat it in the long run. So why oppose it in the short run? But still we can't help wondering: is this the way to run anything? A church? A business? A community? A country? A world?

Why don't we give it a try?

Revival Services Set At McHenry Methodist Church

Guest evangelist Rev. Charles Legg will lead a series of revival services set for 7 p.m. each evening, Sunday through Wednesday, March 25-28, at the McHenry United Methodist Church. There will be special music each evening, and refreshments will be served following each service.

Legg has served in the pastorate since 1989, first in the West Virginia Annual Conference and then in the Central Florida District Church of the Nazarene, where he is an ordained elder. He attended Duke Divinity School, Durham, N.C., and graduated from the Nazarene Bible Institute. He earned associate's and bachelor's degrees from West Virginia State College, Institute, and is in the process of earning his master's degree in Christian psychology from the Logos Bible College and Graduate School.

Joining Legg during his visit to Garrett County will be his wife Laurie and their children, Rachael, Steven, and Aaron. The Legg family currently resides in Florida.

The church is located at the intersections of Mosser and Bumble Bee roads. For further information persons may call Pastor Warren Friend at 301-387-9059 or 304-789-2203.

GED Reminder

The Maryland State Department of Education is offering the GED exam at Garrett Community College on May 5. The application deadline for the exam is April 5. For further information, persons may call Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304.

Oakland Church Sets Clothing Sale

A benefit wardrobe sale is set for Thursday and Friday, April 5-6, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church. Clothing and accessories for men, women, children, and infants will be available. All proceeds will benefit various mission projects of the United Methodist Women of St. Paul's.

The church is located at the corner of Oak and Fourth streets in Oakland. For further information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2391.

GCC Offering Basic Boating Safety Courses

Maryland Basic Boating courses will be offered throughout April, May, June, July, and August by the Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College. According to Tom Kierstead, program director, individuals wishing to operate a boat in Maryland waters who were born after July 1, 1972, are required to complete an approved boating safety course. GCC's offering is the curriculum approved by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

The boating safety course topics include types of boats, legal requirements, navigation rules, getting under way, accidents, and special topics of importance. Instructors have boating experience and have all completed the basic boating course, plus a boating safety instructor course.

All classes meet on selected Saturdays, for one day, between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Students are asked to bring a bagged lunch. The class is open to students age 12 and over. Registration must be made at least one week before the class meets in order to receive materials and complete assignments. Students must bring texts and completed assignments to class. No student will be admitted late for class. There is limited seating available, and registrations are taken on a first-come, first-served basis.

Prospective students may obtain course dates and location, or register by mail, phone, fax, or in person at the Continuing Education and Training office. For more details, persons may call 301-387-3069.

Military graveside serviees were conducted at the cemetery by the combined veterans organizations.

PARTY AWARDED TO GRANTSVILLE READERS - Recently at Grantsville Elementary School, the Literacy Action Team used the Accelerated Reading Computer Program to encourage students to read more. During the months of January and February, the students tead 2,727 books, with over 86% of them passing with an 80% or better on each test. The reward for that two months was a personal pizza, which each child made, and a drink, plus a movie. Each child who reads five books is awarded a book to add to their book chain. Out of 298 students, only nine still need to earn their chains. The school also has two bulletin boards, which are updated every month, to display their reading progress and the top reader in each class. Each book that a student reads is worth a certain number of points, depending on length and reading level. The total number of points for the months of January and February was 1861.3. Parent volunteers play a major role with this program by coming in and reading to younger students and helping with the testing of older students. Parents also help with bi-monthly activities. Pictured above are the winners from the pizza day activities.

REALTORS BOARD INDUCTS NEW MEMBERS — The Garrett County Board of Realtors inducted several new members who completed the organization's orientation clasa recently. Shown from the left in the front row are orientation instructor Nancy Trotta, and new members Eleanor Harvey, Lillian Steele, and Jay Ferguson. J. PAUL KENNEY

J. Paul Kenney, 90, Frostburg, died Thursday, March 15, 2001, at St. Vincent de Paul Nursing Center, Frostburg.

Born June 24, 1910, in Frostburg, he was a son of the late James and Mary Elizabeth (Counihan) Kenney. He was also preceded in death by four brothers, Loyola "Chris" Kenney, James Kenney, Francis Kenney, and Bernard Kenney; and one sister, Mary Catherine Snyder.

He was retired from the Celanese Corp., after 45 years in the spinning department. He was a member of the American Legion, Post 24, Frostburg, and served with the U.S. Army Air Force in India during World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Eleanor (Jenkins) Kenney; four daughters, Judith Jackson Stott, Cumberland, Mary Beth Broome, Mount Savage, Susan Haslacker, Frostburg, and Mary Louise Weaver, Oakland; two sons, William Roger Jackson, Frostburg, and John P. Kenney, Hagerstown; 11 grandchildren; 15 great-grandchildren; 20 foster children; one sister, Rita Kenney, Frostburg; and two brothers, Raymond Kenney, Billings, Mont., and Joseph Eagan Kenney, Frostburg.

Friends were received at the Sowers Funeral Home, Frostburg. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at St. Michael's Catholic Church on Monday, March 19, with the Rev. Fr. William Moody as celebrant and the Rev. Richard Broome Jr. officiating. Interment was in Frostburg Memorial Park.

Military honors were accorded at the cemetery by members of Farrady Post 24 Honor Guard.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. Michael's School, 56 E. Main St., Frostburg, MD 21532.

NOTICE
GARRETT COUNTY TAXPAYERS!

According to the laws governing my office (Section 14-808/Tax Property), the Treasurer must advise and sell properties for delinquent County, State, Town and/or taxes due other taxing agencies.

Delinquent notices were mailed March 2, 2001. We have included all taxes on the property as required by law. However, only delinquent taxes (1999-2000 and prior years) must be paid to avoid a tax sale on the property. (If you are involved in a bankruptcy proceeding, please contact our office as soon as possible.) TAX BILLS MAILED LAST JULY ARE NOT DELINQUENT! Also, personal property taxes for 1999-2000 and prior years are delinquent and become a lien on the real estate (Section 14-808).

According to legislation (Annotated Code 14-809), the county collector shall proceed to advertise and sell any real property located in any municipal corporation in the county on which municipal corporation taxes are delinquent. Unpaid amounts for municipalities or other taxing agencies are shown at the bottom of the notices. Please contact these taxing agencies for information about these amounts.

Effective July 1, 2000, Mtn. Lake Park taxes were included on the County tax bill. (You will not be able to pay just Town taxes or just County taxes.) Due to this change, the County Treasurer's Office is the collection point for these taxes. The option of annual or semi-annual payment will be available for all owner-occupied properties.

The figures on the delinquent notices will be effective through April 2, 2001. After April 2, 2001, all delinquent accounts will be given to the attorney for preparation for tax sale. Failure to pay before this deadline will result in assessment of attorney fees and other expenses of sale as provided by law.

If you should have questions or our office can be of asistance to you, please don't hesitate to call anytime between the hours of 8:30 am. and 4:30 p.m.

Patty L. Glover, Treasurer

COVER STORY

Pacific quickly goes south, despite all good intentions

By John Crook
cTVData Features Syndicate

Glenn Close

It took Glenn Close several years to bring South Pacific to the small screen.

Alas, the TV movie, which premieres Monday, March 26, on ABC, takes only a few minutes to begin sinking without a trace.

The problem isn't with the source material itself. In a theater, this Tony- and Pulitzer Prize-winning musical by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II still has an evergreen power to move and thrill an audience.

And however flawed this new adaptation is, it's still miles ahead of Joshua Logan's botched 1958 movie version, virtually unwatchable today because of Logan's ill-considered experimentation with colored filters during the musical numbers.

By contrast, the ABC production — which top-bills executive producer Close as Ensign Nellie Forbush — adopts a naturalistic, even underplayed approach that ultimately works against the very material it tries to honor.

Adapted from stories in an acclaimed book by James L. Michener, South Pacific must have felt revolutionary at the time of its 1949 premiere, chronicling World War II events that may have been startling for audiences and attacking racism on two fronts: Nellie's discomfort that her suitor, French plantation owner Emile de Becque (here, European singer-actor Rade Sherbedgia), has fathered two children by a native woman, and Lt. Joe Cable's (Harry Connick Jr.) tender affair with another native girl, Liat (Natalie Mendoza).

Those love stories are juxtaposed with bawdy scenes for Luther Billis (Robert Pastorelli, Murphy Brown) and his fellow Seabees and Liat's mother, the raucous Bloody Mary (Lori Tan Chinn, Micky Blue Eyes).

The biggest problem isn't the one most viewers may be expecting: Yes, the 54-year-old Close is too old and too ferociously intelligent and sophisticated to pass as the "little hick" Nellie, yet one could make the argument that racism from a more mature woman is even more unsettling.

No, the biggest problem is simply that this South Pacific makes the loving but obvious mistake of taking a towering masterpiece and trying to shoehorn it into a format for mass consumption.

Never mind that Connick, whose laconic charm has worked in other movies, sleepwalks through his role, or that Chinn's Bloody Mary is a politically incorrect nightmare when seen in a jarringly real context.

What matters is that this attempt to play the show as realistic drama robs the work of some of its stature. The scenes of military strategy are painfully flat. Musical numbers teeter uncertainly on a thin line between reality and full-blown song-and-dance pieces.

More unforgivable is a musical omission right before "Some Enchanted Evening." Nellie and Emile have exchanged "Twin Soliloquies" as they quietly grow attracted to each other, and in the stage production, the music then soars ecstatically into the most rapturous pages Rodgers ever composed, the sound of two human beings falling in love. It's nothing less than a quintessential moment in American musical theater.

In the ABC movie, the soliloquies are followed by some pretty musical canoodling until Sherbedgia launches into his big number. That sums up this production: too much pretty canoodling, not enough rapture.

Obviously, some viewers will disagree. But many will find that this Pacific is at least a sadly missed opportunity.

IN FOCUS

Bill Moyers digs up some dirt on the chemical industry in Trade Secrets: A Moyers Report, airing Monday, March 26, on PBS (check local listings).

Based on some recently uncovered industry documents, the program reveals that, for a variety of reasons, thousands of man-made chemicals have been released into the environment without having been tested for safety.

The two hour special includes interviews with scientists, historians and doctors, who discuss the health risks of some of these chemicals.

IN FOCUS

Kurt Russell stars as David Grant, an intelligence expert on a dangerous midair mission in Executive Decision, airing Sunday, March 25, on CBS.

Grant deduces that a hijacked airliner is carrying a stolen nerve gas, which the hijackers plan to drop on Washington D.C., killing people along the East Coast.

Troops are sent up in an experimental aircraft to take out the terrorists, but the president wonders if it might not be a better idea to blow up the plane altogether.

State Park Programs

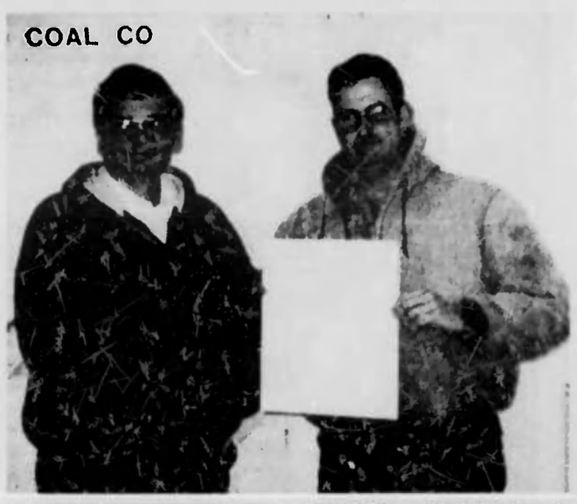
DEEP CREEK LAKE

The following activities have been scheduled at Deep Creek Lake State Park for this coming weekend, Saturday and Sunday, March 24-25. All programs will take place at or depart from the Discovery Center, and further information on all activities can be obtained by calling the center at 301-387-7067.

Saturday's activities will get under way with a 10 a.m. winter birding hike, a 45-minute guided outing during which participants will learn how to identify many different winter birds by sight and call. Thirty-minute horse-drawn hayrides will be offered on both days each hour on the hour beginning with the 11 a.m. ride and concluding with the 3 p.m. ride. Reservations are required and may be made by contacting the Discovery Center. The nature film Eyewitness Reptiles will be shown at 1 p.m. A 30-minute children's scavenger hunt will begin at 3 p.m.

Sunday's schedule begins with a 10 a.m. lakeshore history hike, a one-hour hike covering ½ mile. "Snakes Alive," a 30-minute nature program featuring live snakes, will be presented at 1 p.m. Out of the Egg will be shown at 3 p.m.

AREA MINES EARN SAFETY AWARDS — Several area coal mining operations, Buffalo Coal Company of Bayard, W.Va., Tri-Star Mining Inc. of Barton, G&S Coal Company of Bloomington, and Beryl Coal Company of Beryl, W.Va., were honored recently with safety awards bestowed by government and industry organizations. The Joseph A. Holmes Association Certificate of Honor recognizes numerous manhours worked without a lost time accident, while the Mine Safety and Health Administration notes numerous manhours worked without a lost time injury with its Sentinel of Safety Certificate. In the above left photo, Buffalo Coal A34 Preparation Plant foreman David Bell accepts an MSHA certificate from Barry Ryan of the U.S. Labor Department's Mine Safety and Health Administration. Shown above right, MSHA inspector Carol Enaminger presents John Rapp, supervisor for Buffalo Coal's Davis Site, with an MSHA certificate, which the site earned along with a Holmes Association certificate. Enaminger is shown in the below left photo presenting Buffalo Coal's John Geroski, right, with an MSHA certificate earned by the company's Wilson Strip #6. Below right, Tri-Star Job 3 is recognized as Enaminger presents Tri-Star safety director Ralph Mongold with an MSHA certificate. At the bottom is Tim Schwinabart, vice president of G&S Coal and Beryl Coal, who accepted two Holmes Association certificates on behalf of G&S Coal and one Holmes Association certificate for Beryl Coal Tipple Holmes Association Certificate of Honor.



Baptist Church Organization Sets Area Conference

The Western Baptist Association will hold its annual Prayer and Evangelism Conference and banquet from 2 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 3, at Second Baptist Church in Cumberland. The association is composed of the 19 Southern Baptist churches in Garrett and Allegany counties, and Mineral County, W.Va.

The conference's theme is "How God is Reaching People," and the teacher and keynote speaker will be Dr. Randy C. Millwood, consultant with the Baptist Convention of Maryland/Delaware. Millwood specializes in new church congregational development, small group churches, and strategic disciple-making.

Banquet reservations must be made by Friday, March 30. For further information persons may call the WBA office in LaVale at 301-729-6966.

Randolph Lake Facilities Will Open March 31

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has announced the opening of Jennings Randolph Lake for the 2001 recreation season. Both the corps boat launch on the West Virginia shore and the boat launch on the Maryland shore managed by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will open on March 31 at 7:30 a.m.

The corps facility has parking for 60 cars and trailers, and the Maryland facility can park 50 cars and trailers. The corps boat launch is alongside Howell Run just off West Virginia State Route 46, three miles north of Elk Garden. The Maryland launch is on Mt. Zion Road off Maryland State Route 135 near the salt shed on Backbone Mountain.

Both facilities will charge a $2 fee for launching a boat. An annual pass that will allow an unlimited number of launches at the corps and Maryland launch is on sale for $25 at the corps park office. Golden Age Passports (senior citizen) cost $10 and Golden Access Passports (physically challenged) are free, and will allow visitors to purchase the annual pass for half-price or pay $1 per launch at the corps boat launch only.

For more information, persons may call the corps park office at 304-355-2346 or 301-359-3861 Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. For information on the Maryland DNR boat launch, persons may call the Potomac-Garrett State Forest at 301-334-2038 Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

SUPPORT FOR HOSPICE of Garrett County was received recently in the form of a monetary contribution from Frank and Linda Lancelotta, owner of Garrett County Self Storage, McHenry. Mrs. Lancelotta is pictured above right presenting a check to Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice of Garrett County. "Mr. and Mrs. Lancelotta have been supporting Hospice for many years," Butscher said. "Besides their financial support, they donated the use of a storage shed in 1993 that is used to store medical equipment for the northern area of the county. We appreciate their assistance in helping us to care for the terminally ill in Garrett County."

Garrett County Job Fair Set At GCC Gym

The tenth annual Garrett County Job Fair will be held in the Garrett Community College gymnasium from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, April 7. Approximately 40-50 employers are expected to be on hand. Door prizes will be awarded every 15 minutes, and refreshments will be served.

The Job Fair will provide an opportunity for employers to meet with prospective workers, and for persons seeking employment to obtain information about part-time, full-time, and summer jobs, according to Career Services coordinator Stacie Upole. Persons seeking employment should bring resumés and "dress for success," she recommended. "They will have a chance to network and to make potential job contacts."

In conjunction with the event, two job fair preparation workshops will be presented for GCC students in the Career Services Office. The first workshop is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. this Tuesday, March 27, while the second workshop is slated for noon on Wednesday, April 4.

The Job Fair is being sponsored by Garrett Community College, with the cooperation of the Western Maryland Consortium and the Oakland Job Service. For further information interested persons may call Upole at 301-387-3132.

Paugh Promoted By 84 Lumber

84 Lumber Company, one of the nation's largest lumber and building materials retailers, announces the promotion of Jay Paugh to co-manager at the Keyser, W.Va., location.

Paugh is native of Oakland and a 1992 graduate of Southern Garrett High School. He currently resides in Red House with his wife Jessica and their child Karrington.

As co-manager, Paugh will be responsible for sales, estimating and material takeoffs, performing in-store merchandising, developing a trade relations program, and maintaining store and yard appearance.

Founded in 1956 by Joseph A. Hardy Sr., 84 Lumber has grown from a single store in the town of Eighty Four, Pa., to a chain of 414 stores in 30 states from coast to coast.

Salisbury VFD Slates Dinner

An all-you-can-eat roast beef dinner is set for 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. this Saturday, March 25, at the Salisbury (Pa.) fire hall, located along Ord Street. The menu consists of roast beef, mashed potatoes and gravy, noodles, vegetables, cole slaw, choice of beverage, and dessert. The cost is $6 for adults, $3 for children under 12, and free for children under 5. Takeouts are available. Proceeds benefit the Salisbury Volunteer Fire Department and Ambulance Service.

Numerous DWI Arrests Noted Across State

The Pikesville headquarters of the Maryland State Police have reported numerous arrests for driving while intoxicated and drug offenses across Maryland over the recent St. Patrick's Day weekend. Troopers arrested 159 drivers who had allegedly consumed alcohol and were behind the wheel on the state's roadways, and 29 individuals suspected of being under the influence of drugs and driving a motor vehicle.

Troopers focused enforcement activities to identify and apprehend drivers that may have consumed alcohol and/or drugs and then got behind the wheel. Seven of the DWI arrests occurred at a sobriety checkpoint in Frederick County, and two additional drivers were arrested by saturation patrols in the area of the same checkpoint.

The need for such enforcement activities was underscored during the weekend when a single-vehicle accident in Dorchester County, attributed to alcohol, killed three young persons.

The stepped-up enforcement program will be repeated several times over the course of the year, targeting speeding, drunken driving, and the use of safety restraints. State police will continue similar initiatives throughout the year during regular patrols and through specially funded educational programs.

Mining Company Offers Reward For Unsolved Crime

Tri Star Mining, Barton, is offering a $30,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the culprit(s) who ruined heavy equipment used to strip mine for coal between March 11 and March 14.

The mining company reported that a person or persons poured dirt, coal, and rock into the crank shafts of the heavy equipment used to strip mine the ground for coal. At this time the damages are estimated at $1 million.

Crime Solvers is offering a reward, in addition to the reward offered by Tri Star.

Persons with information pertaining to this investigation may call Tfc. G.B. Lindner at 301-777-0326.

Antiques

by Ralph and Terry Kovel

American art pottery has been going up in price for the past 15 years. One of the most popular types is Weller pottery, first made in 1872 in Fultonham, Ohio. The company moved to Zanesville, Ohio, in 1882 and began making art pottery in 1893. The factory closed in 1948. Some pieces sell today for thousands of dollars, but many pieces made in the 1920s-40s still sell for reasonable prices.

Collectors have selected several types of Weller as the "stars" that command high prices. The iridescent glazed Sicardo ware; the early Dickens and Eoceau pieces decorated by artists with figures, animals or birds; and pieces made with incised designs sell best. Coppertone, (a green and copper glazed ware), garden figures and large jardinieres are also expensive. But molded pieces with raised flowers or branches are still affordable. Weller is almost always marked with its name, so it is easy to spot at garage sales. Look for a bargain.

Q: My antique sewing machine has an inverted-U-shaped top and a crank handle. The brass label on the base reads "Willcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine Co., New York." Can you tell the age and value?

A: Willcox & Gibbs was founded in 1857 and made the first practical single-thread chain-stitch machine for household use. The style of your machine dates it to sometime between the 1850s and 1900, but the brass label was used near the end of the century. The machine is worth about $500.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On March 31, 1492, in Spain, a royal edict is issued by the nation's Catholic rulers declaring that all Jews who refuse to convert to Christianity will be expelled from the country.

• On March 30, 1867, U.S. Secretary of State William Seward signs a treaty with Russia for the purchase of Alaska for $7 million. The purchase was ridiculed in Congress and in the press as "Seward's folly," "Seward's icebox" and President Andrew Johnson's "polar bear garden."

A Furry Problem

Q: My long haired cat is pulling his hair out on the back of his tail and also from the back of his hind legs, following the tail. The vet gave him a cortisone shot and a dose of flea drops (although there is no evidence of fleas). We did not change his diet or the environment. The cat is 7 years old. What is my next step?

A: Compulsive grooming (alopecia nervosa) can be a baffling problem for cat owners. Your veterinarian apparently found nothing wrong with your cat — other than, perhaps, some inflammation in the areas your cat is "grooming," which is one reason he administered a cortisone shot. The flea drops were preventative; your cat might not have fleas, but a few might be hiding around your home.

Since illness has been ruled out, allergy or anxiety (or a combination of each) are the two remaining causes.

Your cat may be very sensitive to flea bites; a food allergy may also be the cause his compulsive action. How much milk or fish does he get each week? Too much of either can cause problems. Check the ingredients on his bag of cat food, as well.

Anxiety can also be a factor. A cat's behavior can change swiftly, even in a stable environment. There may be a new source of stress in the house that you haven't noticed yet, or he may simply be bored.

Distracting your cat from his compulsive behavior is important. As soon as he starts licking his tail or hind legs, get his attention with a toy or by petting and praising him.

Combat boredom by playing with him regularly or by bringing visitors over — a well socialized dog or cat, for example.

Provide a "sanctuary" for your cat — a large crate or cardboard box, with several toys inside — and lead or carry him to it whenever he shows signs of anxiety. He should recognize it as a safe place to hide during stressful events.

Try supplementing his diet with brewer's yeast and wheat germ — add about 1/4 teaspoon of each to his food, or give him tablets.

If these steps don't help, return to the vet. Your cat may need additional tests to rule out a more serious problem or drug therapy to reduce his reaction to stress.

At-Risk Youth Academy Staff Trained By GCC

Garrett Community College recently provided three days of training for administrators, counselors, staff, and cadre of the Freestate ChalleNGe Academy as requested by the Maryland National Guard. The Academy is a residential facility in Aberdeen where 16- to 18-year-old at-risk youths who are high school dropouts receive training for the GED and further education. Cadets are recommended for admission to the academy and enrollment is voluntary.

Tom Kierstead, program director of the Continuing Education Division, and Michael P. Lewis, principal of the Maryland Department of Juvenile Justice Youth Centers, conducted the training at the Donaldson Brown Center in eastern Maryland. Lewis is also an instructor in GCC's new program of Juvenile Justice, that prepares students to become youth supervisors at residential facilities.

Kierstead and Lewis designed the training program to develop and strengthen teamwork within the administration and staff of the Academy. Activities were planned to fulfill predetermined objectives, with an emphasis on team building. The course covered a broad range of subject matter pertaining to staff, cadet, and Academy issues as a whole. Plans of action were developed that addressed prospective issues up to five years in the future. At the conclusion of the training, participants gave high evaluations to the trainers and the content of the sessions.

"First and foremost, the Juvenile Justice program will provide a forum to explore the multitude of different programs ranging from retributive justice to restorative justice to redemptive justice," Lewis commented on the college's new program. "Thus, the program will provide a much broader experience for Garrett Community College Juvenile Justice graduates, which can only serve to enhance their appeal to prospective employers."

Persons interested in obtaining further information about the Juvenile Justice program at GCC may call the Student Assistance Center at 301-387-3044.

LIONS HONOR STUDENT VOLUNTEERS - Students from Northern, Southern, and Beall high schools, plus some area adults, who volunteered their services for the 2001 Blind Skier Program were special guests of the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club recently. The club, which sponsors the program, wanted to show its appreciation to the volunteers, and also give them a chance to share their experiences and stories in working with the blind skiers. Pictured above are the Northern High volunteers. In the front row, from left, are: Andrew Clark, Eric McFadden, Michaela Pullil, Scott Buckingham, and Martin Scholse. In the second row are: Danny Ellis, Darcey Branthoover, Annie Winter, Diana Miller, Micah Plevak, and Rachael Bruch. In the third row are: Zach Bruch, Robbie Glotfelty, Travis Green, Elliott Perfetti, and Jeff Wilson. Above right are Southern High volunteers. In the front are Annie Becker and Meika Schaal. Standing are Tasha Sellhamor and Chris Miller. State Considers Bill To Penalize Unsafe Trucking Maryland Transportation Secretary John D. Porcari is supporting the passage of a tougher law that would make truck drivers and company owners "pay the price" for putting unsafe trucks on state roads.

House Bill 987 was introduced in response to fatal accidents in which truck drivers operating unsafe trucks were determined to be a fault. The legislation would sharply increase penalties for the drivers and trucking companies responsible for accidents that seriously injure of kill others on Maryland roads.

One crash being used as an example occurred in June 1999 on the Baltimore Beltway. A truck carrying a heavy piece of equipment that exceeded both height and weight requirements slammed into a pedestrian overhead walkway in Arbutus, knocking it onto the highway. The walkway fell on top of three vehicles, killing one driver and seriously injuring three other people.

"The tragedy of the Baltimore Beltway bridge accident continues to this day," said Porcari. "This accident took a heavy toll on the victims and family members of the deceased. Yet, under current Maryland law, the driver at fault received only $880 in fines. His company could not even be charged. This is a slap in the face to the victims, their families, and every Maryland citizen."

In another accident last year in Rockville, a school bus driver was killed and three students were seriously injured when an unsafe truck lost its load. The truck jackknifed in front of the bus, sending a 5,000-pound piece of equipment through the windshield of the bus, which killed the driver instantly. Investigators later determined faulty brakes and an overweight load caused the accident.

"The vast majority of truck drivers and trucking companies are professionals, who put safety first and abide by the law," Porcari said. "This legislation gives us a tool to go after the few who blatantly disregard basic safety regulations and endanger the lives of everyone else on the road. We need to make Maryland a national leader and do more to penalize those truck drivers and their companies for not making safety a top priority."

HB 987 calls for increasing fines for drivers and adding fines for motor carriers for violations such as driving a truck that is overweight, over-long, or over-wide, carrying an unsecured load, driving a truck with known mechanical problems, driving without a proper license, and driving an excessive number of hours without rest.

Current law does contain fines and some jail time for at-fault drivers, and fines for motor carriers. HB 987 would increase the penalties in the specific instances where the driver or the motor carrier is found to be at fault in an accident caused by an unsafe truck resulting in serious injuries or fatalities. Under the proposed legislation, a driver found responsible such an accident could fa up to $10,000 in fines a 10 years in prison. T motor carrier could fined up to $50,000.

Estonian Groups Support Their Own At GCC

Two Estonian-American Foundations, the Estonian-Revelia Fund and the Estonian World Council Inc. (EWCI), have expanded their scholarship gifts to Garrett Community College, according to GCC president Dr. Steve Herman. The foundations, which collaborated in order to help fund jobs for four Estonian students studying at GCC last fall, have awarded scholarships of $500 each to five newly arrived Estonian students while continuing to support the original students who began studying in the fall.

Established in 1952, the EWCI is an umbrella organization representing the interests of Estonians in the member countries of the United States, Canada, Australia, Germany, Sweden, France, Belgium, Latvia, Lithuania, the Ukraine, and Russia. Its purpose is to educate those respective governments and legislatures concerning issues and problems of Estonia and its scattered people. Over the last 10 years the EWCI has provided over $300,000 in scholarship funds to over 250 Estonian students studying in Estonia and overseas.

The Estonian-Revelia Academic Fund was established in 1994 by Harold Raudsepp, long-time editor of the Estonia language weekly newspaper Vaba Esti Sona (Free Estonian Word). The Fund is registered in the state of Maryland as a charitable, tax-exempt private foundation. In his last will and testament Raudsepp left his entire estate to the fund, with instructions that the investment income be used for scholarships for worthy students seeking a higher education in Estonia.

GCC's special relationship with the Republic of Estonia is an outgrowth of a larger initiative between Estonia and Maryland. This initiative resulted in the formation of the Maryland-Estonian Educational Consortium, consisting of 22 Maryland institutions and nine Estonian counterparts. The Consortium is sponsoring various projects, including cultural and arts exchanges. Western Maryland now boasts five partner city relationships between western Maryland communities and counterpart communities in Estonia.

Through Herman's efforts and the newly established office of Global Education at GCC, nine Estonian students are now enrolled at GCC and are living with volunteer host Garrett County families. Herman has expressed his gratitude to these families for their hospitality, and added that persons interested in hosting an Estonian student for the next academic year (beginning in September) should contact the Global Education Office at 301-387-3010.

ESTONIAN STUDENTS STUDYING AT GCC — Among the students currently studying at Garrett Community College this semester are these natives of Estonia, who by all reports are adjusting quite well to the mountaintop, although our winters are rather tame compared to what they're used to. From the left in the front row are Tatjana Kravtsuk, Ave Kikas, and Terje Kaur. In the second row are Kalle Rattasepp, Mart Reimann, Marina Kruvtsuk, and Reeda Tuula. Not pictured is fellow Estonian student Haiku Siska. Among the sources of support for these scholars are two Estonian-American organizations that provide funding and volunteer host families who open their homes to the students. See story for details.

Accident Along Route 39 Leads To DWI Arrest

A West Virginia man was arrested for driving while intoxicated (DWI) and failing to remain at the scene of an accident Saturday evening when his vehicle struck another vehicle along state Route 39 near the West Virginia state line.

David Roy Dixon, 53, Terra Alta, W.Va., was operating a 1977 Chevrolet truck when he struck the rear of a 1995 Dodge Neon operated by Zackariah Leigh Stemple, 20, Oakland, as it was slowing for traffic in the roadway. According to deputies, Dixon left the scene, but was located a short time later.

Dixon was charged with DWI, failing to remain at the scene of an accident, and failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision. No injuries were reported.

He was released from the Garrett County Jail on a $500 bond.

Another DWI arrest was made when Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to Loch Lynn in reference to a report of a driver causing a disturbance with his truck on Saturday, March 17, at 3:55 a.m.

While investigating the report that the truck was spinning its tires and the driver was talking loudly, the deputy found the driver passed out behind the wheel. Bradley Wayne Beckman, 25, Mtn. Lake Park, admitted to driving the truck and failed the field sobriety tests that were administered.

Beckman was charged with DWI and is waiting a trial.

A motor vehicle accident at the intersection of Sand Flat Road and Pysell Crosscut Road on Friday resulted in an Oakland man being charged.

Eric Franklin Lapp, 24, Oakland, was charged with failing to yield the right of way as he accelerated from a posted stop traveling east on Pysell Crosscut in a 1994 Ford Ranger, according to sheriff deputies.

Christopher Allen Bittinger, 21, Oakland, was operating a 1994 Dodge Dakota traveling north on Sand Flat Road at a constant speed when he collided with Lapp, disabling both vehicles.

No injuries were reported.

A Loch Lynn woman was charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies for a motor vehicle accident along Garrett Highway on Friday at 12:50 p.m.

Joseph Albert Peck, 81, Oakland, was the injured passenger in a 1986 Chrysler New Yorker operated by Edward Alvin Bateman, 57, of Oakland. Bateman was stopped in the northbound lane attempting to make a left turn into a private drive, when Brandy Lee Vansickle, 27, Loch Lynn, struck them from behind in her 1997 Plymouth Breeze.

Peck was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. Vansickle and her passenger, Jackie Marvin Vansickle, 28, Loch Lynn, were not injured.

Vansickle was charged by the deputies with failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

Two people were sent to Garrett Memorial Hospital Friday as a result of a motor vehicle accident involving a deer.

Alicia Dawn Shaffer told investigators she was driving a 1997 Hyundai along Blue Ribbon Road around 9:15 p.m. when a deer ran in front of her vehicle, causing her to skid on the loose gravel and into a tree.

Shaffer and a passenger were transported in a private vehicle to the hospital, where they were treated and released.

In another incident, Jeffrey Charles Reiter, 39, Mt. Airy, was operating a Honda 4-wheeler on private property in the Yough Mountain Club Saturday around 10 p.m. when he struck an unknown object and was ejected.

Reiter was transported to GCMH and is listed in stable condition.

No charges were filed in

Miss Livengood Becomes Bride Of Mr. Pirolozzi In Sept. Event

Valerie Lynne Livengood and Keith Matthew Pirolozzi were united in marriage September 16, 2000. The double ring ceremony took place at the Springs Mennonite Church, Springs, Pa., with Pastor Ken Livengood, uncle of the bride, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Terry and Sharon Livengood of Springs. She is the granddaughter of Warren and Josephine Oester of Salisbury, Pa., and Willard and Alvina Livengood of Springs. Mr. Pirolozzi is the son of Frank Pirolozzi and Mary Beth Pirolozzi, both of Cumberland.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a white matte satin gown from the Michelangelo collection that featured a scoop neckline with delicate swirls of pearls, crystals and bugle beads covered the bodice, which gave way to a skirt and chapel train with pearls, crystals, and bugle bead appliqués.

The bride's headpiece was a bun wrap covered with white satin and enhanced with pearls, crystals, and bugle bead appliqués. Completing the headpiece was a two-tired fingertip veil with a hand-rolled edge, dotted with tiny seed pearls. The bride's jewelry consisted of a diamond and pearl necklace with matching earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride carried a bouquet of white roses, calla lilies, and burgundy wax flowers, with a "Magic Hanky" inserted as something old. The bride also wore a garter, as something blue, made especially for her by Irene Grabenstein of Cumberland. PharmaCare Floral designed the bridal bouquet and wedding party flowers. Flowers for the church and wedding reception were designed by Flower Garden. M. Irene Spataro was decorator and wedding coordinator.

Serving as maid of honor was Heather Livengood, sister of the bride, Syracuse, N.Y. Bridesmaids were Sandra Cline, Harrisonburg, Va.; Kari Young, Manassas, Va.; Dana Nyce, Perkasie, Pa.; and Bonita Byler, Mexico, all college friends of the bride.

The court of groomsmen included best man Frank Pirolozzi, father of the bridegroom, Cumberland; John "Jack" Dishong, uncle of the bridegroom, Frostburg; and Robert Kidd, Winchester, Va., Chris Bolling, Maryville, Tenn., and Larry Webb, Bel Air, all friends of the bridegroom.

The church was decorated in a garden setting of ferns, mixed greens, and fresh flowers. Grapevine wreaths, English topiary trees, and white tulle were also used.

Byron Miller of Grantsville and harpist Lynne Barnes of Cumberland provided music for the ceremony. Vocalist was Douglas Root, friend of the bride. Cory Livengood, cousin of the bride, and Derrick Pirolozzi, brother of the bridegroom, distributed programs. Hannah Livengood, cousin of the bride, and Tiffany Pirolozzi, sister of the bridegroom, attended the guest book. Kristina and Allie Giovanis, friends of the bride and bridegroom, served as bubble carriers.

After the ceremony, the couple and wedding party were chauffeured by Platinum Limousine to a reception at the Maplehurst Country Club, Frostburg, where a candlelight dinner was served. The best man honored the bride and bridegroom with a toast. The cake, made by Linda Barry of Frostburg, consisted of a five-tier cascade arranged with fresh flowers and greens.

Entertainment was provided by disc jockey Valerie Frazee of CJ's Music Masters. Beitzel Photography photographed the wedding. Videotaping was done by Doug Beitzel.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a candlelight dinner following the rehearsal at the Shaw Mansion. The mansion was decorated with pedestal hurricanes and candles, fresh ivy, and calla lilies. A groom's cake made by Cathy Miller was decorated in burgundy with white flowers.

The bride was the guest of honor at three bridal showers hosted by her bridal attendants, Mary Jane and Colleen O'Rourke, and her co-workers.

The bride is a graduate of Salisbury Elk-Lick High School and Eastern Mennonite University, with a bachelor of science degree in nursing. She is employed as a registered nurse with the Western Maryland Health System at the Sacred Heart campus, Cumberland.

Mr. Pirolozzi is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and Shenandoah University School of Pharmacy, with a doctor of pharmacy degree. He is employed as a registered pharmacist with PharmaCare of Cumberland.

The couple honeymooned on a trip to Martha's Vineyard, Mass. Upon their return, they established residence in Midlothian.

Out-of-town guests attended from Indiana, West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Delaware, Colorado, and North Carolina.

Ms. Trenum To Wed Mr. Stefan

Vicky Trenum, daughter of Robert and Eleanor Trenum, Westernport, and Michael Raymond Stefan, son of Rose Marie Stefan, Baltimore, and the late Raymond Edward Stefan Sr., announce their engagement and forthcoming wedding.

Ms. Trenum is a 1975 graduate of Bruce High School and is employed by the Western Maryland Health System, Sacred Heart campus.

Mr. Stefan, originally of Baltimore, resides in Friendsville and is employed by Rinker Construction, Oakland.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Aug. 11, at the Piedmont (W.Va.) Church of God, beginning at 2 p.m. A reception will immediately follow the ceremony at the Lonaconing VFW in the social hall.

Invitations are being sent.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Four couples applied for their marriage licenses this week, according to David Martin, clerk of Garrett County Circuit Court. One couple requested that their names not be published.

Jason Glenn Rosenberger, 26, and Chastity Elizabeth Campbell, 18, both of Bruceton Mills, W.Va.

Fredolen Lee Wolf III, 37, and Susan Marie Sharpless, 44, both of Swanton.

EARLY HEAD START GIVES EARLY JUMP — Early Head Start, an extension of the Garrett County Community Action Committee Head Start Program, helps infants and toddlers get a jump on learning and, as this photo shows, a jump on jumping under the supervision of center teacher Rhonda Finch, foreground, and assistant teacher Courtney Keeys. Movement and play activities are among the methods utilized by program staff to facilitate the children's learning and development. Early Head Start is a developmentally appropriate program for expectant mothers and children 6 to 36 weeks old. The program uses the Parents as Teachers and the Hawaii Early Learning Profile curricula to meet the age and developmental needs of the infants and toddlers. The program operates under the direction of GCCAC, and applications are being accepted for both the center- and home-based Early Head Start options. Persons interested in obtaining an application may visit the center at 360 West Liberty Street, Oakland, or call 301-533-0270. Not pictured is assistant teacher Sue Myers.

DEDICATION HELD

A dedication ceremony was held at the Friendsville Elementary School on Friday, March 16, to honor the two men from the Friendsville area who lost their lives in the Korean War. Pfc. William Blaine Friend Jr. and Sgt. Robert Umbel were honored with a ceremony of poems, music, and the unveiling of the Memorial Wall.

Pictures of the two men, along with a brief summary of their time in combat, grace the wall of the front foyer, as well as a portion of the original wooden honor roll that was found at the Friend Museum.

Family members of the fallen men were given a keepsake from the school to remember this day as a small token for what they gave.

The American Legion Color Guard was present, with three of the members also veterans of the Korean War. The third graders sang "God Bless the USA," and Principal Doug Gaither presented the gifts to family members.

The Virtue of the Month was "Courage" and the theme was "Heroes," so two students read poems of courage to the audience.

Justin Rosenberger read the dedication of the Korean War Memorial Wall, and the students formed a human American flag during the playing of "America the Beautiful."

The secretary of defense has designated the Friendsville Elementary School as a Commemorative Community, for which the school agrees to develop three or more educational programs, community activities, or events annually to honor the Korean War veterans and their families.

The dedication narrative was as follows: "Today we honor Korean War Veterans, their family members, and especially families who lost loved ones. We wish to recognize the contributions and sacrifices made by these modern day heroes. Every American needs to be educated on the historical impact of the Korean War in saving a nation from enslavement and preserving peace, freedom, and democracy throughout the world. In honor of those Friendsville citizens who lost their lives in the Korean War we dedicate this wall at our school. When members of this community and others walk into this building they will be reminded each time of the cost to preserve democracy in the world. To Private William Blaine Friend Jr. and Sergeant Robert E. Umbel, we dedicate this Wall."

Pfc. William Blaine Friend Jr. was born May 27, 1931, to Mr. and Mrs. William Blaine Friend Sr. of Sang Run. He enlisted in the United States Army in July of 1949 and was stationed in Fort Knox, Ky., prior to being sent to Korea in July of 1950. He saw action continually from then until January 5, when he was killed near Tanggak while serving with Company D in the 38th Infantry. He was 19 years old.

Sgt. Robert E. Umbel served in the Army during WWII in Germany. After his discharge, he studied brick laying at a trade school. When he was recalled to the army, he went to Fort Campbell, Ky., where he stayed 30 days before being sent to Camp Stoneman, Calif., and then overseas. He arrived in Korea on Dec. 15, 1950 and was assigned to the 35th Infantry Regiment of the 25th Division. He was killed in action after serving a total of eight years in the Army's regular and reserve components.

At the time of his death, he was married to the former Miss Betty VanSickle and was the father of two children: 3-year-old Aletta Jane Umbel (Hinebaugh) and 1-year-old Dana Earl Umbel.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED

Broyles Piano Recital Slated

Dr. Joan Dixon Broyles of the Frostburg State University Department of Music will present a piano recital on Sunday, April 1, at 3 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Pealer Recital Hall. Her performance, which is free and open to the public, is presented in conjunction with FSU's Spring Piano Festival.

Titled "100 Years of American Music," selections include Scott Joplin's "Maple Leaf Rag," "The Easy Winners," and "The Entertainer;" "Rhapsody in Blue" by George Gershwin; George Rochberg's "Nach Bach," "Rhythms from the North Country" by Gwneth Walker; and the "Piano Sonata" by Emma Lou Diemer. Dr. Ellen Grolman Schlegal, also of the FSU Department of Music, will join Dr. Broyles in the Maryland premieres of "Improvisations for Cello and Piano" by Diemer.

A concert artist on both piano and organ, Broyles has presented concerts throughout Europe, the United States, and Japan. Her seven compact discs on the RBW label have been featured on "Pipedreams" and numerous National Public Radio broadcasts. An associate professor at FSU, Broyles teaches piano, organ, and music theory.

For more information, persons may call 301-687-4109.

Award-Winning Playwright To Speak at FSU

A presentation by playwright and Cumberland native Kia Corthron, "one of the most adventurous young women now writing," according to The Village Voice, is set for 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 27, in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre of Frostburg State University. Corthron's plays have been produced in New York and London, and she has received many awards for her work.

Corthron is known for plays that "give voice to a segment of society that she finds to be voiceless," the reviewer for The Village Voice wrote. American Theatre magazine said her characters "are men, women, and children whom, for whatever reason, society would like to forget, and Corthron is determined to put them on stage and let them tell their stories."

"I consider myself a political writer with a political point of view," Corthron told The New York Times recently. "I think the point gets across much stronger if the audience feels something rather than being told something intellectually. But every play of mine starts from a socio-political issue."

Among her honors are a 1996 Kennedy Center Fund Award for New American Plays for Seeking the Genesis, a 1994 Young Playwrights Inc. Joe A. Callaway Playwriting Award for Come Down Burning, and her selection as the first minority female recipient of the Van Lier Playwriting Fellowship in 1992. One of her latest plays, which is receiving much acclaim, is Force Continuum, about an African American family of police officers — three generations — living in Harlem.

A 1979 graduate of Allegany High School, Corthron attended FSU before transferring to the University of Maryland, College Park, where she earned a communications degree. She later earned a master of fine arts degree at Columbia University, New York. She is the daughter of Shirley E. Corthron and the late James L. Corthron.

The presentation is free and open to the public. For more information, persons may contact Carmen Jackson of the FSU Diversity Center at 301-687-4050. Event sponsors include the FSU Black Student Alliance, the Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity Office, the Diversity Center, the Division of Performing Arts, and FSU's NAACP chapter.

Spruce Forest Seeks Musicians

Spruce Forest Artisan Village, located along the Old National Road east of Grantsville, is seeking musicians to perform during the "Musicians' Showcases" the first Saturday of each month, June-October.

"Musicians will perform outdoors amidst the 80-year-old spruce forest as hundreds of visitors stroll through the village, enjoying the casual, peaceful ambiance of the colonial log cabin village," stated Trish Morgan, village administrator. Musicians' Showcases will be held from noon to 1 p.m., and on occasion, until 2 p.m. The dates available are June 2, July 7, August 4, September 1, and October 6.

Musicians who confirm any of these dates will receive Penn Alps Restaurant gift certificates following their performances. For more information, persons may contact Morgan at 301-359-9245 or tmorgan@spruceforest.org.

Noted Children's Author To Speak At Frostburg St.

The Children's Literature Centre at Frostburg State University will host children's author Priscilla Cummings at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, April 3, in Dunkle Hall, Room 218. This FSU Spring Author program is free and open to the public.

Cummings is known for her books featuring characters from the Chesapeake Bay. Her first book, Chadwick the Crab, was published in 1986. A later book, Autumn Journey, was selected as the Maryland Black-Eyed Susan Book in 1999-2000. Cummings will discuss those books during her FSU presentation, along with Chadwick Forever, Meet Chadwick and his Chesapeake Bay Friends, and Toulouse, the Story of a Canada Goose.

A former newspaper reporter, magazine writer, and editor, Cummings lives in Annapolis with her husband and two children. She grew up on a dairy farm in western Massachusetts and graduated from the University of New Hampshire, Durham, with a degree in English literature.

For more information persons may contact the FSU Children's Literature Centre at 301-687-4294 or visit the web site at www.frostburg.edu/projects/clc.

"Bach's Lunch" Will Feature Simpson, McGee

The third offering in the "Bach's Lunch" musical series, presented each Wednesday during the Christian season of Lent, will feature trumpeter Thomas Simpson and organist Gerald McGee. The half-hour concert will be presented next Wednesday, March 28, at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland, beginning at 12:05 p.m.

All are invited to attend the concert and, if desired, bring a packed lunch for a brief time of fellowship in St. Matthew's fellowship hall immediately following the program. Admission is free; however, persons are invited to make a donation to help defray the expenses of the series.

First Lady To Read To Children At Ruth Enlow

Frances Hughes Glendening, Maryland's first lady, will be in Oakland this Saturday, March 24, to read to local children at the Ruth Enlow Library during a 2 p.m. storytime program. All interested parents and children are invited to take part in this program, and refreshments will be served.

Glendening's visit will inaugurate Maryland's new statewide reading campaign, "15 for the Future," which encourages parents of young children to spend at least 15 minutes a day reading to their youngsters. During Saturday's program, the first lady, a Cumberland native, will read her favorite children's books, make recommendations of other children's books, and distribute stickers and calendars to help parents and children record and celebrate reading accomplishments. For more information, interested persons may call the library at 301-334-3996.

FSU To Again Host Children's Lit. Festival

The 18th annual Spring Festival of Children's Literature at Frostburg State University, featuring a line-up of award-winning authors and illustrators, will be Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28.

"Each year, a crowd of librarians, educators, parents, and students come to the FSU campus to share their love of children's literature and to learn more about the successful ways to share that love with children," stated an FSU spokesperson.

"Reading ability, so important to success, can be proportionately related to desire and enjoyment. The more children enjoy reading, the more they read, and the better readers they become. In the 'share and learn' atmosphere of the Literature Festival, adults, who direct children's learning, interact firsthand with authors and illustrators who bring characters to life, and inspire children to read," the spokesperson added.

The agenda includes small group sessions and large group presentations offered in a personal and relaxed environment. Topics range from particular applications, such as using literacy centers in the school curriculum to enhance instruction, to the more tangible, like providing positive gender role models in children's literature.

The program offers diversity, with large and small group presentations and many opportunities for one-to-one interaction with colleagues and the featured authors and illustrators. An extensive book selection is available for purchase, and there will be opportunities to get books autographed.

Event headliners are Henry Cole, Pamela Edwards, Robert Sabuda, and Susan Wojciechowski. The theme for the 2001 Festival weekend will be "The Magic of Paper, Pictures, and Words."

Cole is an illustrator who started his career while studying forestry at Virginia Tech. He says that his love of the outdoors and the observations that were required for his major have helped him to better visualize and illustrate the characters within his books. He has been working with Pamela Edwards since 1993. He has been an illustrator for such books as Moosetache, Barefoot, and Some Smug Slug, which was selected as one of the top books of 1996 by the School Library Journal and Children's Literature.

Edwards says her love of reading, combined with her interest in children, has propelled her into writing. Always encouraged by her father as a child to read, Edwards first began writing after attending a children's literature conference with Cole, her future colleague. Her books, which include Some Smug Slug, Roar! and Four Famished Foxes and Fosdyke, illustrate her humorous writing style and incorporate lessons with each story.

Sabuda is an award-winning author-illustrator, best known for his pop-up books, which include The Paper Dragon, The Christmas Alphabet, Tutankhamane's Gift, and Kwanzaa Celebration. His outlook on life is much different from that of many other people, he said, including the question of his career choice. "Other authors feel that they are fulfilling a need for self-expression while enriching the experience of future generations, while Sabuda is simply fulfilling the need to eat," the spokesperson said.

Wojciechowski, award-winning author, mother and wife, incorporates her family into her writing. Picture books such as The Miracle of Jonathan Toomey have captured the Kate Greenaway Medal and ALA Notable Book of the Year Award. "Her chapter books appeal to young adolescents and incorporate a writing style that is heart-warming and enlightening," said the spokesperson.

In addition to the adult activities, the R. Margaret Hamilton Children's Hour for children ages 4 to 13 will be Friday, April 27, beginning at 4 p.m. Age-specific workshops will be presented by the authors, in which they will share their work with children, as well as the process of writing, illustrating, and the enjoyment it can bring. Registration is required for the sessions and can be arranged by contacting Andy or Bruce at 301-687-4420.

"The festival was the brainchild of FSU professor William Bingman as he looked for a way to honor two colleagues, both of whom held children's literature as a number one love. Now in its 19th year, what began as a small gathering of children's literature enthusiasts has blossomed to over 350 eager participants. With a reputation as a premier event, the festival has become a testament to those who care about the art of children's literature and the passing on of this legacy," the spokesperson said.

Admission to the festival is by registration only, and space is limited. Advance registration is required, and pre-orders are available for books that will be featured at the festival. The festival is administered by the FSU Foundation Inc. and sponsored by the FSU Department of Educational Professions and the Children's Literature Centre. For more information, persons may contact Bingman at 301-687-4420.

SGCRW CLUB DONATES TO RUTH ENLOW — Representatives of the Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club recently presented the Ruth Enlow Library with the book Season's Greetings from the White House in memory of Cora Bowser, former member of the Northern Republican Women's Club. Library branch manager Ann Leighton is pictured at center accepting the donation from SGCRW Club vice president Ann Rebele, left, and publicity chair Nita Roberts. "Cora was a leader who contributed her talent, time, and energy to her club and to her community," said Roberts. Written by Mary Evans Seeley, the book reproduces a collection of Christmas cards sent by former occupants of the White House. Interested persons can obtain further information on SGCRW Club activities and membership by calling 301-334-9213.

clude blood in or on the stool, a change in bowel habits, stools that are narrower than usual, general stomach discomfort, or weight loss. Persons with these symptoms are urged to discuss them with their doctor.

A family history of colorectal cancer or colorectal polyps increases the risk of developing colorectal cancer. Diets high in animal fat and low in vegetables may also put people at a higher risk. Regular physical activity and a healthy body weight may lower the risk of colorectal cancer, according to the cancer institute.

The American Cancer Society recommends the following guidelines for early detection of colorectal cancer for people age 50 and over: a fecal occult blood test every year and flexible sigmoidoscopy every five years; colonoscopy every 10 years; or a double-contrast barium enema every five to 10 years.

According to the cancer society, an estimated 56,700 deaths for the year 2001 could be cut in half if persons over the age of 50 had regular screenings. Colorectal cancer is the third most commonly diagnosed cancer in America and affects both men and women.

People whose colorectal cancers are found at an early stage through testing have a 5-year survival rate of 90 percent, while those whose cancers are found at a late stage have survival rates of only 8 percent.

According to a report by the cancer institute, Maryland has the third highest mortality rate in the United States for colorectal cancer. The report also stated that only 1/3 of the people in Maryland over the age of 50 have had a colonoscopy screening test.

In the past couple of years, the media coverage on colorectal cancer has increased the visibility of it through some high-profile people whose lives have been touched by the disease. These public figures include major league baseball player Eric Davis, actress Barbara Barrie, cartoonist Charles Schulz, and TV personality Katie Couric.

The health department has added colorectal screening to the cancer screening program and is encouraging all men and women over the age of 50 to be tested. See related story for more details.

Local Resident Joins Doctor's Office Staff

Local resident and nurse practitioner Laurel R. Grant, CRNP, MNEd, is joining the Oakland Family Medicine Practice of Dr. Donald Richter. She is leaving long-time employment with Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she most recently held the position of clinical education coordinator.

Grant holds a bachelor's degree in nursing from West Virginia Wesleyan College in Buckhannon and a master's degree in nursing education from the University of Pittsburgh, and is a graduate of the Post-Master's Family Nurse Practitioner Program at the University of Maryland, Baltimore campus.

Family nurse practitioners in Maryland are registered nurses with advanced practice degrees and national certification, and are licensed to provide primary care to patients of all ages. Maryland nurse practitioners can order lab work and X-rays, perform health exams, educate patients, and prescribe medications for their patients.

Grant resides in Oakland with her husband, William B. Grant, and two children, Jennifer and Andrew.

Local Elected Officials Experience How Early Detection Can Save Lives

by Beth Bowers

Colorectal cancer can put anyone at risk, but if detected early it can be successfully treated, as seen firsthand by people in the local community. Clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court David Martin and Garrett County Commissioner Ernie Gregg, owner of Gregg's Pharmacy, and their families have come face to face with the second-leading cause of cancer-related deaths in the United States.

March is colorectal cancer awareness month, and the Garrett County Health Department is encouraging men and women over the age of 50 to get a colonoscopy screening every 10 years. Screening tests can find tiny growths, known as polyps, that can be removed before they become cancerous. Dave Martin discovered how screening tests can detect colorectal cancer early, when there may not be any symptoms and when treatment is most effective.

After battling ulcerative colitis, inflammation of the bowels, for some time, Martin's doctor suggested that he have a colonoscopy every three months. "I am one of the lucky ones," said Martin, who was 34 years old when one of the tests showed a change in the cells. "The colon was removed and the cancer had not spread outside the colon," he said. "If it hadn't been caught early, things would be very different."

Martin considers himself to be very fortunate to have come through the whole ordeal relatively easily.

Ernie Gregg also considers himself lucky to have survived this cancer because of early detection. After his brother, who ran the Gregg's Pharmacy in Terra Alta, W.Va., died suddenly of a heart attack, he started working at that pharmacy and the one in Oakland. He noticed he felt very tired and was losing weight.

He didn't think much of it, but because it had been a little over a year since his last physical, he called the doctor. After the exam, the doctor wanted him immediately sent to a surgeon for a colonoscopy. As a result of that test, Gregg was referred to Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, for surgery, which is the most common form of therapy for colorectal cancer. In December 1997, two surgeons worked for 5½ hours to remove six inches of his colon and were able to reattach it.

"I am extremely grateful that they found it and treated it early," Gregg said. "This is a cancer that, if found early, is totally treatable. Technology is so advanced that with early detection, we can prevent this. People think that it is better to not know if you have something wrong. We, as a society, have to overcome that. Not knowing is not the answer."

"I feel I was spared for a reason. I know not everything has a cause and effect, but since my illness I have tried to find parallels, and I think I was spared to try and help as many people as possible. I try and help my (pharmacy) patients and let them know that they can ask me anything because I have been through this."

After the surgery, Gregg was able to take radiation and chemotherapy treatments at the same time, which amazed many people. He said he was lucky that he was never sick and was able to continue walking and working daily.

He laughed and said that at least he didn't have to worry about hair loss. He added that humor can help people get through something like this.

He took the radiation treatments five days a week for six weeks and continued the chemotherapy for a total of 50 weeks. Luckily, ever since the surgery in 1997, he has received a clean bill of health from his doctors.

Young Survivor Ready For Relay For Life At SHS

CODY SULLIVAN

Preparations are afoot for this spring's Garrett County Relay for Life, set for June 8-9 at the Southern High School track, and the next meeting of team captains and all others interested in forming teams will take place at the track beginning at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 17. (See end of article for details.)

Among the walkers slated to take part in the annual American Cancer Society fund-raiser are a number of cancer survivors of all ages, including 8-year-old Cody Sullivan of Mtn. Lake Park. Now a healthy second-grader at Dennett Road Elementary School, Sullivan was diagnosed with non-Hodgkins lymphoma at the age of 5.

"Shortly before his fifth birthday Cody developed a lump on his neck, along with a bad cough that wouldn't go away," said his mother Sharon. "After he was diagnosed with the fastest-growing cancer possible, he underwent 10 days of chemotherapy. By the time the 10 days were up, the lump had doubled to the size of an orange. He then had nine more weeks of chemotherapy, but is doing fine now."

Sullivan, his mother, and his father Dean will be walking with the State Highway Snow Fighters relay team, composed of workers, family, and friends of the Maryland State Highway Administration Roads Department garage in Oakland, where Dean works. The family encourages all former and current cancer patients, their families and friends, and the general public to form teams and take part in the relay.

The funds raised by the Relay for Life will enable the local chapter of the American Cancer Society to expand its services to cancer patients and their families, to offer more programs that will teach people to reduce their risk of getting cancer, and to expand its cancer research programs.

"Relay for Life is as much an awareness raiser about the progress against cancer as it is a fund-raiser," said Terry Riley, one of the event's volunteer organizers. "Many of the participants will be people who have been cured of cancer themselves. Their involvement is proof of the progress that has been made, not only in cancer cure rates, but in the quality of life following cancer treatment."

The April 17 team captain meeting at the SHS track will include a tailgate party, with hotdogs and hamburgers provided. Each person planning to attend is asked to bring a covered dish to share. Further information may be obtained by calling Riley at 301-334-5684.

Summer Health Career Programs Set For Students

Three programs for secondary and post-secondary students in allied health fields will be made available this summer at two area universities by the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center.

The Health Careers Opportunity Program (HCOP) consists of three summer enrichment programs: Preliminary Education, Facilitating Entry, and Retention.

Qualified West Virginia and western Maryland high school seniors interested in a health profession career can participate in the Preliminary Education program. A stipend is paid to all selected participants to cover expenses. Students live in a residence hall, take classes, go on field trips, and visit health sites.

This portion of the program runs from June 17 through July 27. Students pursuing a career in dentistry, medicine, or pharmacy will participate at West Virginia University (WVU), and students pursuing a career in an allied health field will participate at Frostburg State University (FSU).

The six-week Facilitating Entry program is designed to meet the needs of college students preparing to apply for a health professions school, including review for the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT), the Pharmacy College Admissions Test (PCAT), Allied Health Professions Admissions Test (AHPAT), or the Dental Admissions Test (DAT). Other program activities include mock interviews and shadowing health professionals. A stipend is paid to all selected participants. The program will be held at WVU from May 21 through June 29.

The Retention program is for the college students already accepted into a school of medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, or allied health. Retention is designed to prepare them for their first semester in a health professions school or an allied health program. No stipend support will be given for selected participants. This program will be at WVU from June 4 through June 29.

The application deadline is April 15. Persons wanting more information and an application may call Amy Lynn Shimko, WMAHEC coordinator of health personnel development, at 301-777-9150, ext. 106.

THE DANGERS OF SMOKING were demonstrated for Accident Elementary School fifth graders recently by staff of the Community Outreach Program of the Garrett County Health Department. The hands-on program involved a pair of pig lungs. First, a healthy pig lung was inflated and deflated to simulate the breathing process, giving the students the opportunity to observe its elasticity and healthy pink color. Then a cancerous pig lung was used in the same way to show its blackened tissue, lumps from tumors, and lack of elasticity. Students were allowed to feel both sets of lungs and note the tumors in the cancer-ridden lung. The students also played Healthquest, a smoking awareness game styled on the Jeopardy! television program, as they solved a smoking puzzle, and they were shown a quart jar that contained the black tar given off when cigarettes are smoked. Pictured from the left are Sharon Custer and Brenda Frazee of the Health Department's Community Outreach Program, and Accident students Emily Rosser, Tricia Wiley, David Coffren, Jeffrey Smith, and Brent Butler.

GC Health Dept. Offers Additional Cancer Screenings

The Garrett County Health department has added colorectal, prostate, oral, and skin cancer screenings to its cancer screening program for eligible participants.

The Garrett County Cancer Task Force, organized by the health department with money from the cigarette restitution fund, chose to focus the screening diagnosis and coordination of care of this plan on cancers that are curable when detected early. The plan also includes preventive strategies aimed at addressing cancers that may be prevented through lifestyle changes.

The health department already screens for breast and cervical cancer, but now can offer these new screenings to men and women.

Eligible participants must meet these requirements: be age 50 to 64, be uninsured or underinsured, and meet income guidelines. The 2001 federal guidelines are: family of one, $21,475; family of two, $29,025; family of three, $36,575; family of four, $44,125; family of five, $51,675; family of six, $59,225; family of seven, $66,775; family of eight, $74,325; and families with more than eight members, add $7,550 for each additional person.

The health department can perform the preliminary tests and then will refer the patient to a participating physician for the additional tests. An eligible patient can be screened for all different cancers at the same time.

The tests offered for colorectal cancer are a fecal occult blood test and a colonoscopy, if indicated by the blood test. For prostate cancer the tests are a digital rectal exam and a PSA blood test, and for oral and skin cancer the exam is given by a physician.

Persons wanting further information or to sign up for the screenings may contact Cindy Kutchman, R.N., or Rebecca Parks, R.N., at 301-334-8111.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

If it was a spring thaw, it was short-lived and a weak one. Anyway, the warmish sunny weather came, which Dot Teets called the spring thaw. But only one week later, the parking lot at the church on Sunday morning was not as filled up as on the previous Sunday.

One car that was missing was mine. I couldn't face the freezing rain and the cold wind. But at least the snow cover has gone away, which caused me to call Cindy Stanton to ask whether she had any princess pine (or crowfeet) while the ground was pretty clear. Unfortunately, I was involved with making a doll that really needed that nice curly greenery. I never intended to make her go out in the cold sleet storm which was going on, but she did anyway, and she appeared at my door, wet and shivering, but bearing a nice big bag of princess pine and another new item, ground pine, plus a couple dried out yellow roses left over from her birthday. So I am pretty well supplied for the next few weeks.

I can't wait for the spring flowers like the daffodils, tulips, irises, etc. But that will have to wait at least for a few weeks until they start blooming.

What a surprise! Here it is a mild Monday afternoon and the sun is shining!

A small birthday party for Pastor Pat was held Friday morning when she was celebrating another anniversary of her 39th birthday. Afterward I served her one "dessert delight" from a stash of goodies from Claire's fund-raising for the big trip. She got the reason for dropping by, which was my present for her, one of my little dolls dressed in natural materials. Her robe was made from bleached corn leaves and a green vestment of poinsettia leaf. Her vestment had a gold chain between the two sides that I made from some goldish stick from Sally Poholsky's border, which I picked when I dropped by her house to give her a birthday present. Then the final detail was a silver cross made from dead gray pine needles, plus a bit of cheating — a coating of silver nail polish.

Patty and Steve Diehlman and family had a sad trip to Baltimore for Patty's 95-year-old grandmother's funeral. Patty was lucky enough to have had a visit with her just last week before her death.

A bunch of kids from Bittinger are excited as can be since tonight has finally arrived when they will depart for the Northern High School Band trip to the Southwest. Besides performing in Las Vegas in a music festival, they will also visit some best natural wonders in the Southwest, such as the Grand Canyon, the Painted Desert, Petrified Forest, Meteor Crater, Mohave Desert, and non-natural wonderlands like Las Vegas and the Hoover Dam.

I am worried sick when my girls are far away. I am very glad that among the chaperons are Claire's aunt and uncle, Marci and Rodney Glotfelty, and Holly Hare's mother, Mary Ann Hare, who is a former student of mine. Robbie Glotfelty, and Claire and Holly Hare will have no chance to get into trouble, which is all right with me. They also will watch out for their well being. I will have to get along without my big girl, Claire, for a whole week.

Margaret Hershberger spent a few days this week in Frederick with her daughter, Ann McLister, and her grandchildren, Natalie, Coleen, and Paul.

Brent Housley and Eric Garlitz had an adventure last weekend, since the spring thaw created high water in Cherry Creek. They took their new kayak down Cherry Creek. I never heard of anyone else who made that run down that little river. Then the next day, Greg Whittemore joined them on the Casselman River. I hope they took care of their shoulders, because paddlers take a serious toll on their shoulders. Two good friends of mine had to have surgery for just that. In fact, Walter Haydel got his second rotator cuff surgery on his second shoulder this week. He is recuperating at home now. It is hard to tell whether he will go on any river explorations this spring.

The Rock Lodge Road "Terp Boosters" (the gang of Maryland alumni), which consists of the Housley household, the Rodney Glotfeltys, Carol Bass household, and myself, were well pleased at the performance of our team in the first and second rounds of the NCAA tournament. I watched the second game with brother Barry and cousin Courtney. This may be the year for the Terrapins to go to the final four, or maybe beyond. Who knows...

Kim Collins and Linda Buckel spent two days last week at an educational seminar in Towson. It was bad enough for Linda to leave Pete home alone, but Kim missed her two little ones at home. But I knew that Doug couldn't be beat to care for them while she was away. They certainly have a precious little boy and girl.

Leonard Poholsky's daughter Pam from Murrayville, Pa., visited Lenny, Sally, and Torrey Poholsky over the weekend.

Kathryn Bowser returned home after recently visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bowser, Harrisonburg, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gomer in Hagerstown.

Abigail Estelle Gray, daughter of Jeffrey and Sheli Gray of Hanover, was baptized during the Sunday morning worship service at Glen Mar United Methodist Church, Ellicott City. Many relatives attended, and were lunch guests of the Grays following the service.

Word was received recently by relatives here that Leo "Boots" Reckner is seriously ill at his home in Jamestown, Pa.

THE WISHING WELL

In the hopes of letting people in our area and out of town know when someone is ill or recovering from an accident or illness, I would like to be able to include names in "The Wishing Well" to give friends and loved ones the opportunity to send them a card, visit them, or even call them. At times like these, every little bit of encouragement can speed up the recovery process and make the days a little brighter. If you know of anyone you would like to have included in The Wishing Well please contact me at 301-746-5933.

ON A PERSONAL NOTE

I, along with approximately 200 other concerned citizens, attended the much anticipated public meeting to get some answers to why it seems feasible to remove our rescue squad station and relocate it in McHenry.

The mayor and town council, the county commissioners, the Northern Garrett Co. Rescue Squad board, and Brad Frantz of the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management were on hand to answer questions.

Letters were read by Mayor Schlosnagle addressing the pleas from citizens not to risk the lives and welfare of our community. Cheryl MacLane presented a petition with 1,091 signatures of those who are opposing the move. (One petition mysteriously disappeared.)

It was very apparent that the proposal by the board of the Northern Rescue Squad is not acceptable to the citizens of Friendsville. Bob Humberson spoke on behalf of Station 3 to say that the members were not even notified of the decision of the board and ORC members until the Feb. 10 meeting when it was brought forth and voted on. He stressed that this is an outrage to even consider the idea of traveling Friendsville Road from McHenry in the time it would take to save the life of a citizen in the community.

Many facts came out of the meeting. There is no dispute that McHenry needs an ambulance, but not at the expense of Station 3 in Friendsville.

It was stressed more than once that the volunteer manpower is worse in Friendsville than in the other communities, and that the statistics on delayed or missed calls are greater than elsewhere. We definitely need more volunteers to maintain squad shifts in our area, but those who would become EMTs will also be working jobs out of the area during the day when emergency calls come through. The Station 3 members that we have do the best that they can, and I feel that they should be commended for what they get accomplished instead of condemned. What about the awards that members of Station 3 have received?

Other points that were made were:

- It costs only $1,800 to house a squad at the fire dept. in Friendsville, so money is not the question.
- The fire dept. has never asked or even considered the idea of wanting the squad to move out of the building. Members of the fire dept, many who are also EMTs, totally support the squad and have done their best to accommodate them.
- Brad Frantz provided the stats to the board of the Northern Rescue Squad of delayed or missed calls and provided a pin map, but he did not conclude to close Stations 2 and 3.
- The commissioners do not have a say in the way that the rescue squad spends money, and they didn't take a stand in support of either side.
- Tri-Towns is looking into putting services in the Garrett Co. area, preferably McHenry, and this will take some of the 508 money that is allotted to both the Northern and Southern Rescue Squads.
- There are no definite plans to pay a squad in the McHenry area. When asked if there was a study on paper to prove that the closing of Stations 2 and 3 is the best move, the answer was no. The only thing that is down on paper are the stats of missed or delayed calls. The chairman of the board of the NGC Rescue Squad stated that the study is in his head and not down on paper for everyone to see. What?!

Before the meeting was over, Danny Durst did promise to get his board members together again to consider what they have done and to address the concerns of the people. This put a lot of people's minds to rest.

It has become apparent from the meeting that maybe the decision to consolidate the squad was made in haste with very little research or consideration for the citizens in the outlying area. I hope that those involved will take a deeper look into the situation and admit that they made a wrong decision. Let us keep our squad. Put a squad in McHenry — they need one — but don't play with the lives of so many who surround the Friendsville area.

Farm Numbers & Land In Farms Reported Down

The number of farms and ranches in the United States in 2000 is estimated at 2.17 million, down 0.9% from 1999, according to the National Ag Statistics Service (NASS).

The decline in farms and ranches occurred primarily in agricultural operations with less than $10,000 in sales. This is the largest yearly decline in farms and ranches since 1991 when just over 29,000 operations were lost.

Total land in farms, at 943 million acres, declined 0.5% or 4.4 million acres, from last year. The average size of a farm increased 2 acres from 432 acres in 1999 to 434 acres in 2000.

Deadline For Scholarships Extended

The application deadline for Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board Scholarship has been extended to June 1, 2001, in order to give as many students as possible a chance to apply. Now in its fourth year, the program awards two deserving students with $2,500 scholarships.

Applicants must be a Maryland resident, enrolled or accepted in a four-year institution, and working toward a bachelor of science degree.

Students enrolled or accepted in a two-year institution may also be eligible. Winners will be selected based on the student's agricultural background, family farm involvement, financial need, grade point average, agricultural related studies, career goals, and extra-curricular activities. For an application, those interested may call Lynne Hoot at 410-956-5771.

NFU Commends USDA On Temp. EU Meat Ban

The National Farmers Union (NFU) has praised the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) for its temporary prohibition of the importation of animals and animal products from the European Union (EU) into the United States. The ban is in reaction to the discovery of foot and mouth disease in several European countries. Additionally, Farmers Union urges the department to review other products, including Milk Protein Concentrate (MPC), in the current ban and to increase monitoring of other countries for the presence of the devastating livestock disease.

"We commend USDA for this decisive action that will help protect the health of U.S. livestock and maintain the utmost confidence Americans have in the food they provide to their families," said Leland Swenson, president of NFU. "With the discovery of foot and mouth in Europe and the continuing crisis with 'mad cow disease,' it is imperative that we protect consumers and farmers' herds from the devastating effects of these public health and agricultural emergencies."

The temporary ban announced yesterday applies to animals and animal products from the European Union. It prohibits travelers from carrying any agricultural products into the U.S. USDA will also send experts to study the European crisis, heighten security at ports of entry and embark on a public education campaign.

In addition to its support for this recent action by USDA, Farmers Union is calling for agricultural and trade authorities to monitor other countries where practices in raising livestock put them at risk for foot and mouth and bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE), also know as "mad cow disease." In light of this current crisis, the family farmer and rancher organization urges early passage of the Consumer Right to Know Act, sponsored by Sens. Tim Johnson (D-S.D.), and Michael Enzi, (R-Wy). This legislation would require a country-of-origin label on all meat, fruits, and vegetables sold at the retail level in the U.S. and require meat be from animals born and raised in the U.S. before receiving a label denoting it as a product of the United States. NFU also supports Sen. Tom Daschle's, (D-S.D.), call for a moratorium on all animal and animal product imports until the U.S. can assure proper regulation and oversight concerning the spread of disease.

"This step taken by Agriculture Secretary Ann Veneman, along with other precautionary measures, will prevent the U.S. from experiencing the same economic and health hardships faced by people in other parts of the world," said Swenson.

February Shows Another Farm Price Decline

Farm operators saw another decline in prices they receive for their commodities during February, said a report from National Ag Statistics Service (NASS).

Only calf and poultry prices gained during February. Compared to a year ago, only cattle, broiler and egg prices were higher.

For as low as Maryland corn, soybean and egg prices have fallen, Maryland prices for those products were above the U.S. average during February.

SSCC Meeting Set For April 19

The State Soil Conservation Committee has announced that its next meeting will be held Thurs., April 19, at 9:30 a.m. at the Maryland Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis.

The meeting is open to the public and will focus on soil conservation and water quality program implementation and policy development.

Established in 1938, the State Soil Conservation Committee coordinates the activities of Maryland's 24 soil conservation districts, while advising the Secretary of Agriculture on matters relating to soil and water conservation. For more information, those interested may call Louise Lawrence, executive secretary, at 410-841-5863.

Crop Values In Maryland Are Reported

The 2000 marketing year average prices for crops in Maryland were up for only tobacco and potatoes. Corn was down 36 cents a bushel, as record yields produced an abundance of grain. The value of the grain produced was over 125 million dollars, nearly 60% more valuable than the smaller 1999 crop.

The soybean crop was also large, but prices were only 6 cents below the smaller 1999 crop. The soybean year average price for 2000 was $4.60 per bushel, and this level made the value of the crop almost $102 million, compared to only $72 million for the 1999 crop.

The values of the wheat and barley crops in 2000 were very close to their 1999 values.

The alfalfa hay price was down $8 per ton, while other hay generated an average of $2 per ton more than in 1999.

The value of what will most likely be the final major tobacco harvest in Maryland was slightly more than $15 million, comparable to 1999 and 1998.

Potato growers were encouraged by an increase of $1 per hundred pounds, a 13% boost.

On a national level, the total value of production for field and misc. crops was $2.9 billion higher than in 1999 but $3.5 billion less than in 1998.

United States year average prices for most crops are computed by weighing state year average prices by the estimated quantity sold in each state. The exceptions are corn, oats, barley, wheat, and soybeans, which are computed by weighing U.S. monthly prices by monthly marketings for the U.S. marketing year.

State year average prices for these monthly crops are computed by weighing monthly prices by the monthly percentages of total sales during their marketing year.

Travelers Can Help Prevent U.S. Foot-And-Mouth Disease Outbreak

Most Americans have read about the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease (FMD) that is currently devastating the United Kingdom's animal agriculture industry. But they may think this viral disease has nothing to do with them.

Actually, if their plans include travel to the United Kingdom in the coming months, nothing could be further from the truth.

"The U.S. government has regulatory strategies in place that have kept this country free of foot-and-mouth disease since 1929," says Dr. Will Hueston, associate dean of the Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine's (VMRCVM) University of Maryland campus. "And with the recent outbreak in the United Kingdom, those strategies have been beefed up.

"However," he adds, "given today's global economy and the frequency of travel between the United States and the United Kingdom, the possibility of trans-Atlantic transportation of the virus exists."

So what can American travelers — especially those who live in a rural or agricultural area — do to avoid carrying home a virus that could cost billions of dollars in lost agricultural production and trade? Dr. Robert Heckert, former chief of foreign animal disease diagnosis for the Canadian Food Inspection Agency and current faculty member at the VMRCVM, urges following a couple of simple precautions.

First, follow established U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) regulations that prohibit travelers from bringing meats, meat products, cheeses, plants, and various other potentially hazardous products into the United States. Airlines provide complete information on these restrictions to passengers.

One might think everyone already obeys these rules, but that would be wrong. USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service sampled 20,515 passengers traveling to the United States from the United Kingdom in 1999 as part of its Agriculture Quarantine Inspection Monitoring program. Of those passengers, 462 were carrying potentially hazardous items, such as meat, cheese, or hides, with them. Twenty-two of these individuals reported plans to visit or work on a farm or ranch while in the United States — six of them in Maryland.

"That's a very small percentage of travelers," Hueston admits, "but all it takes is one person to start an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease."

Second, if traveling to the United Kingdom, avoid rural areas. Many parts of England, Scotland, Wales, and Northern Ireland are already off limits to locals and tourists alike as part of an effort to prevent the spread of foot-and-mouth disease. If visiting the countryside, take an inexpensive pair of comfortable shoes that can be left behind before flying home. The foot-and-mouth disease virus can survive in dry fecal material for 14 days in the summer, which means one could inadvertently track home the disease.

Limit the clothes to be worn on or near farms to one or two outfits that can be laundered before the return flight or left behind. If neither of these options is possible, launder or dry clean the clothes upon returning home. And most importantly, says Heckert, avoid contact with susceptible animals, such as cattle, sheep, and goats, for at least 7 days.

Hueston says he believes the risk of a foot-and-mouth disease outbreak in the United States is small. "But," he says, "given the potentially devastating economic impact of the disease, it only makes sense for Americans traveling to the United Kingdom to take steps to reduce the risk even further."

Foot And Mouth Safety Alert

Due to the increasing concern over foot and mouth disease (FMD) outbreaks worldwide, travelers to the United States from infected regions are asked to be especially vigilant to help prevent the accidental spread of the disease.

While FMD is not considered a human health risk, humans can easily carry the virus on their clothing, shoes, body and personal items. The disease is extremely contagious and spreads easily among cloven-hoofed animals (cattle, sheep, pigs, goats, and deer.

We are helping inform the public on how to prevent the disease from spreading to the U.S. and how to recognize the signs of the disease in livestock. There has not been a case in the United States since 1929; however, this highly infectious disease of cloven hooved animals could cross the Atlantic Ocean.

USDA, APHIS, Veterinary Services is trying to raise the awareness of practicing veterinarians and the livestock industry about the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in the United Kingdom (England) and Europe. The following information and guidelines are from USDA Veterinary Services.

Travelers to the U.S. from FMD infected countries should:

1. Avoid farms, sale barns, stockyards, animal laboratories, packing houses, zoos, fairs or other animal facilities for 5 days prior to travel.

2. Before traveling to the U.S., all clothing and outerwear should be laundered or dry-cleaned. All dirt and soil should be removed from shoes by thorough cleaning prior to wiping with cloth dampened with a bleach solution (5 teaspoons of household bleach in 1 gallon of water). Luggage and personal items (including watches, cameras, laptops, CD players and cell phones), if soiled, should be wiped with a cloth dampened with a bleach solution.

3. Avoid contact with livestock or wildlife for 5 days after arrival in the U.S. Extra precaution should be taken by people traveling from farms in infected areas to visit or work on farms in the U.S. It is advisable that employers or sponsors provide arriving travelers with a clean set of clothes that can be worn alter the visitor showers and shampoos thoroughly. Visitors' clothes should be laundered or dry cleaned immediately. Off-farm activities should be scheduled for a visitor's first days in the country, the contact with livestock or wildlife strictly avoided.

Sightings of animals with signs of FMD should be reported to the USDA Veterinary Services in Richmond, phone 804-771-2774, or a Regional State Laboratory for follow-up investigation. Signs are vesicles (blisters) followed by erosions in the mouth, on the tongue or lips, and/or around the top of the feet or udder. These may be accompanied by lameness or excessive slobbering. Consumption of feed is reduced due to pain of lesions in the mouth. Milk flow in lactating animals abruptly drops. Abortions may occur. Conception rates drop.

Pruning Fruit Trees

Now is the best time of the year to prune fruit trees. Proper yearly pruning will increase fruit quality and size. If you need instructions on how to prune fruit trees there is an excellent slide show on the Web from Penn State University. The web address is http://tfpg.cas.psu.edu/pruning/slide1.htm. For those without web access you may contact my office for fact sheets on pruning.

Honey Bee Management Workshops

Where have all the honeybees gone? The honeybee is a very important insect that not only furnishes honey, but also is extremely important as a pollinator of our fruits and vegetables. In recent years the honey bee populations have been severely reduced mainly due to mite infestations. However, with proper management practice, honeybees can be maintained as a healthy population.

The Appalachian Beekeepers Association, in cooperation with Garrett and Preston Counties Cooperative Extension, is offering honeybee management courses for beginner and experienced beekeepers. The Beginners workshops will be held on Saturdays, March 31 and April 7, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Advanced workshops will be on Saturdays, April 21 and 28, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All of the workshops will be held at the Garrett County Extension office.

There are plenty of honeybee experts on the program including Dr. James Amrine from West Virginia University, who is one of the most knowledgeable and interesting bee specialists that I have ever listened too. For additional information and registration forms contact my office at 301-334-6960.

MDIA Urges Monitoring To Guard Against Foot And Mouth Disease

The Maryland Dairy Industry Association (MDIA) is urging government and business leaders to take all necessary precautions to guard against the spread of highly contagious foot and mouth disease (FMD) onto American soil. This includes farmers, processors, and food distributors, according to association leaders. Widespread outbreaks of the disease have been reported among livestock in Europe, resulting in millions of dollars of losses to agricultural producers.

MDIA represents Maryland's 800 dairy producers, as well as the suppliers that support them. It cautions that recent developments overseas are requiring immediate attention for all those involved with U.S. agriculture. Recurrence of foot and mouth disease, last seen in Europe over 30 years ago, and not present in the U.S. since 1929, has cost livestock and dairy producers billions of dollars throughout the United Kingdom (England, Scotland, and Wales), as well as farmers in Germany and France.

Foot and mouth disease is the most highly infectious animal disease currently known. It is caused by a virus that affects cattle, swine, goats, and other cloven-hooved animals. FMD is usually not fatal, but does lead to drastic reductions in milk yield and deteriorating physical conditions of the affected animals. According to Maryland Cooperative Extension, increased international travel and trade could heighten the transfer of FMD to livestock and processed foods in North America.

"Top-notch veterinary oversight and strict adherence to sanitary practices have kept FMD away from our shores," says MDIA president Myron Wilhide of Detour (Carroll County). "But the re-emergence of this contagious and costly disease in Europe reminds us never to let our guard down. In the months ahead, the U.S. must redouble its monitoring efforts at all points of entry — land and harbor-port terminals as well as airports — to ensure that food shipments, cargo, and persons entering this country are free from any type of animal-borne virus. These mitigation procedures will help ensure the continued safety and quality of U.S. agricultural products for domestic and international consumers."

On March 13, U.S. Department of Agriculture proposed several measures to combat the spread of FMD. Among those are a temporary ban on the importation of animals from the European Union, information hotlines and public service announcements to increase public awareness of FMD, and heightened alerts for federal and state inspectors at all U.S. points-of-entry, as well as inspection sites abroad. For additional information on these measures, persons may contact USDA's communication's office at 202-720-4623, or check its web site at www.usda.gov. USDA also has a toll-free FMD call line at 800-601-9327. For information on MDIA's actions regarding this issue, persons may contact their executive office in Washington, D.C., at 202-293-0476.

Organic Workshop Scheduled For 4/4

The Maryland Nutrient Management Program will host a one-day workshop on April 4 on how to develop a nutrient management plan for organic fruit, vegetable, and animal operations. The workshop will take place at the Maryland Department of Agriculture's headquarters in Annapolis.

Soil testing, living mulch covers, and mineralization of organic nutrient sources such as rock phosphate will be covered. Additionally, the Food and Drug Administration will provide guidance on food safety when using organic nutrient sources.

The registration fee for the workshop is $15 and covers lunch and breaks. Certified nutrient management consultants attending the workshop will receive six hour credits toward the program's continuing education requirement. To register, those interested may contact Mike Webster at 410-841-5959.

2000 Nutrient Management Report Available

The Maryland Nutrient Management Program has released its 2000 annual report on the state's efforts to protect local waterways by helping farmers manage crop and animal nutrients more efficiently.

According to the report, the amount of farmland enrolled in the 10-year voluntary Nutrient Management Program now exceeds 1.3 million acres. The report further highlights efforts to develop programs and regulations necessary to implement the mandatory nutrient management plan requirements of the Water Quality Improvement Act of 1998. For a copy of the report, those interested may contact the staff at the Nutrient Management Program at 410-841-5959.

February Milk Production Down 4.3%

Milk production in the 20 major dairy states in the United States during February totaled 11.2 billion pounds, down 4.3% from February 2000. Most of the decline is due to an extra day of production in February 2000, because of leap year. Adjusting production for the additional day would put February 2001 milk production down 0.9% from last year.

The January revised production, at 12.1 billion pounds, was down 1.6% from January 2000. The January revision represented a decrease of 0.1%, or 11 million pounds, from last month's preliminary production estimate.

Production per cow in the 20 major states averaged 1,440 pounds for February, 66 pounds below February 2000.

The number of cows on farms in the 20 major states was 7.77 million head, 7,000 head more than February 2000, but 10,000 head less than January 2001.

Beef Grooming Workshop Set For Saturday

A beef grooming workshop will be held Sat., March 24, at the Western Trails arena, Mayhue Inn Road, beginning at 1 p.m.

A groomer will show all 4-H/FFA members interested in beef grooming what is new for this year in grooming and fitting steers. The groomer has just recently returned from New Mexico and Texas after attending judging and workshops. Beef judging will take place at 3 p.m.

There will be no charge, and the workshop is open to anyone interested in attending. Anyone having questions may contact any Red House 4-H member or call 301-334-5978.

U.S. Cattle On Feed Up 3%

Cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market in the United States for feedlots with capacity of 1,000 or more head totaled 11.70 million head on March 1, 2001. The inventory was up 3% from the 11.33 million head on March 1, 2000, and 12% above March 1, 1999.

Placements in feedlots during February totaled 1.58 million, 16% below 2000 and 13% below 1999. Net placements were 1.50 million.

During February, placements of cattle and calves weighing less than 600 pounds were 336,000, 600-699 pounds were 402,000, 700-799 pounds were 517,000, and 800 pounds and greater were 325,000.

Marketings of fed cattle during February totaled 1.75 million, 15% below 2000 and 5% below 1999.

Cattle on feed March 1, 2001, in the 7 states surveyed for feedlots with capacity of 1,000 or more head totaled 10.01 million, up 3% from the previous year and 13% above March 1, 1999.

Placements in feedlots during February totaled 1.33 million, 17% below 2000 and 15% below 1999.

Marketings during February totaled 1.48 million, 16% below 2000 and 5% below 1999.

PREKINDERGARTEN REGISTRATION INFORMATION

Beginning March 1, 2001, and ending May 1, 2001, the Garrett County Board of Education will be accepting applications for its Extended Elementary Education Program, or prekindergarten. To be eligible for this program a child must be four years of age on or before December 31, 2001.

There is a two-step application process.

1. Interested parents should obtain a copy of the Notification of Interest for Prekindergarten Program documents. (These documents can be obtained from the nearest elementary school or from the Office of Pupil Services at the Board of Education office in Oakland.) The fust document explains the enrollment and selection process for the prekindergarten program. The second document is an information sheet. This information sheet should be completed and forwarded to the Office of Pupil Services, Garrett County Board of Education, 40 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland. The form can also be taken to the closest elementary school.

2. Upon receipt of the Notification of Interest for Prekindergarten Program information sheet, the parents will be given or sent a second set of documents. This second set includes a parent letter, a photocopy of the Board of Education's guidelines for determining the eligibility and selection of prekindergarten students, and a Garrett County Program Questionnaire. This questionnaire will need to be completed and returned as soon as possible to the Office of Pupil Services. The information provided by parents on this questionnaire will be used to determine which children are enrolled in the prekindergarten program. The Office of Pupil Services will date and log in all questionnaires.

Any questions about this enrollment process should be directed to Mrs. Liz Lewis, administrative secretary, Office of Pupil Services, at 301-334-8939.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS DESIGN/BUILD CONSTRUCTION

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will accept sealed proposals to design/build a pre-engineered steel or cement block building on Lot 10 in the Northern Garrett Industrial Park. The manufacturing space will be 5,000 square feet expandable to 15,000 square feet. The proposed building will also require approximately 1,250 square feet of office space.

A Pre-Proposal Conference will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Friday, March 23, 2001, in the Economic Development Meeting Room 208 at the Garrett County Courthouse.

Proposal documents and specifications may be obtained in person from the Procurement Division of the Garrett County Administrative Office, 313 East Alder Street, Room 105, Oakland, Maryland 21550. The cost of the proposal documents and specifications is $25.00 per set. All out-of-town contractors must pre-pay for shipping and the cost of the plans. Inquiries may be made by calling 301-334-1928.

Sealed proposals must be submitted to the Procurement Division of the Garrett County Administrative Office, 313 East Alder Street, Room 105, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on or before Thursday, April 5, 2001, at 2:00 p.m. (local time). All proposals submitted should be enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be clearly marked "Request for Proposals-Design/Build Construction-Northern Garrett Industrial Park" on the outside of the envelope.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners reserves the right to accept or reject any or all proposals and waive technicalities in any part deemed to be in the best interest of Garrett County.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

McHenry Water Service District

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing of the County Commissioners of Garrett County is scheduled for Tuesday, April 3, 2001, at 10:00 a.m. in the Garrett County Commissioners' Public Meeting Room, located at the Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland, to consider creating boundaries for the service area of the McHenry Water Service District in Garrett County.

in a Resolution adopted on February 12, 2001, the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, pursuant to Title 9, Subtitle 648, of the Environment Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1996 Volume), proposed to determine the boundaries for the purpose of providing sewer facilities to serve the area described in that Resolution and shown on the plat attached thereto. A copy of the Resolution of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission adopted on February 12, 2001, and the plat showing the boundaries of the proposed service area are on file in the offices of the Garrett County Sanitary District, 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland, and are available for public inspection during regular business hours.

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on April 3, 2001, to determine if the creation of the McHenry Water Service District is necessary for the public health, safety, and welfare of the residents of the proposed service area and if feasible financially and from an engineering standpoint.

MORTGAGE ASSIGNEE'S SALE
Case No. C-01-6684

Of Valuable Improved Real Estate located in Garrett County, Maryland, improved by premises located at 573 Dry Run Road, Swanton, Maryland 21522

Under and by virtue of a power of Sale contained in a certain Mortgage from George W. Greenville to Sandy Spring National Bank Of Maryland, dated the 22nd day of January 1990 and duly recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 544, at Folio 169, docketed for foreclosure in Civil No. C-01-6684, the holder of the indebtedness secured by the Mortgage having assigned the Mortgage to Martin L. Goozman, as Mortgage Assignee, by instrument duly executed, acknowledged and recorded among the Land Records of the said County, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the holder of the Note secured thereby, the undersigned Mortgage Assignee will offer for sale in "AS IS" condition at public auction in front of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, Courthouse, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on

at 2:00 p.m.

all that property described in the said Mortgage as follows:

PARCEL 1: All that piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 12, Garrett County, Maryland, which is particularly described as follows, to-wit:

BEGINNING for the part thereof hereby intended to be conveyed at a bounded double chestnut tree standing at the end of the fifth line of the second parcel of land described in the said deed from Edward Pritts and wife to Arthur Pritts and Peter Bickford and running thence reversing said fifth and part of the fourth line thereof, North 28 1/4 degrees West 66 perches, South 61 3/4 degrees West 66 1/2 perches to the end of the fourth line of Arthur Pritts part of said second parcel of land, then with the fifth line thereof South 43 1/2 degrees East 74 1/2 perches, to the sixth line of the aforesaid second parcel of land thence reversing said sixth line North 54 1/2 degrees East 48 perches to the beginning, containing 25 acres.

EXCEPTING, however, one acre 104 perches conveyed by Peter Bickford, et ux., to Carl D. Perrin, et ux., by deed dated March 25, 1946, and recorded in Liber No. 139, folio 186, one of the said Land Records.

TOGETHER WITH a right of way from the property hereby conveyed to the Dry Run Country Road which was granted to the parties of the first part by the First National Bank Of Oakland, et al., by instrument dated September 17, 1977, and to be recorded among said Land Records.

PARCEL 2: All of that lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 2, Garrett County, Maryland, and is more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING for the same at a 3/8 inch rebar set in the northwestern limits of Dry Run Road said rebar marks the northern most corner of lands of Donald Richard King Jr., thence from said beginning, South 36 degrees 58 minutes 55 seconds West, 314.34 feet along the northwestern limits of Dry Run Road to a 3/8 inch rebar set, thence North 53 degrees 01 minutes 05 seconds West, 102.04 feet through the lands of Donald Richard King Jr. to a 3/8 inch rebar set, then North 54 degrees 58 minutes East, 330.48 feet along the lands of George W. Greenville and Esther M. Greenville to the beginning, containing 0.37 acres of land, more or less.

Said property is improved by contemporary style family home with 4BR, 2B, F, LR, and K on first level, with 1BR, 1B on basement level, attached 2 car garage.

The property will be sold subject to all conditions, restrictions, easements, covenants, rights-of-way and agreements of record affecting the property, and subject to whatever an accurate survey or inspection of the property would disclose, in "AS IS" condition, without any express or implied warranty as to suitability, quality, condition or description, including any contained herein.

A deposit of $10,000.00 cash, certified or cashier's check, payable to the undersigned Mortgage assignee, shall be required at the time and place of sale. The balance of the purchase price shall bear interest at the rate of 10% per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement. No deposit shall be required of the noteholder where the noteholder bids on the property at sale, and payment of the purchase price by the noteholder shall be made by crediting the purchase price against the foreclosure costs and expenses and the indebtedness secured by said Mortgage.

Adjustment on all taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments, annual front foot benefit charges and deferred connection fees, homeowner's association fees and condominium association fees, if any, shall be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, transfer tax, recordation tax and all other costs incident to settlement shall be paid by the purchaser.

The premises are sold subject to the right of any persons in possession of all or any part of the premises under recorded or unrecorded leases or rights of occupancy, if any. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the premises.

Compliance with the terms of sale shall be made within ten (10) days after final ratification of the sale unless said time is extended by the undersigned Mortgage Assignee in his sole discretion for good cause shown, time being of the essence, otherwise the deposit shall be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser.

The Mortgage Assignee is not liable, individually or otherwise, for any reason. If title to the property is not or cannot be transferred consistent with the terms hereof for any reason, the Mortgage Assignee's liability is limited, at its sole discretion, to return any deposit, thereby rescinding the sale, and there is no other right or remedy against the Mortgage Assignee at law or in equity.

All bids must be made on the required Bid form. All blank spaces for Bid prices must be filled in, typewritten, or in ink, and the bid form must be fully completed and executed when submitted. The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or minor defects, or to reject any and all Bids. Any Bid may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of Bids or authorized postponement thereof. Any Bid received after the time and date specified will not be considered. No Bidder may withdraw a Bid within 30 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the Contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the Owner and the Bidder.

Bidders must satisfy themselves of the scope-of-work by examination of the site and a review of the Contract Documents including Addenda. After Bids have been submitted, the Bidder shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of work or of the nature of the work to be done.

The Contract Documents contain the provisions required for the work included in the Project. Information obtained from an officer, agent or employee of the Owner, or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the Contract.

An acceptable Bid Bond, payable to the Owner, in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid must accompany each Bid. A certified check in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid, drawn on a solvent bank chartered in the State of Maryland, and payable to the Owner, may be substituted for the Bid Bond.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign Bid Bonds, Performance Bonds, Payment Bonds, or Defective Materials, Workmanship and Equipment Bonds must file, with each Bond, a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The Bid Bonds of all bidders, except the bonds submitted with the three (3) lowest acceptable bids, will be returned within a fifteen (15) day period following the time of opening of the bids. Tshe Bid Bonds accompanying the three lowest acceptable bids will be returned after the Contract has been awarded to and executed by the successful bidder. Provided the Owner, for any reason whatsoever, determines that it is not in its best interest to award a Contract, the Contract award will not be made by the Owner and the Owner will not then be liable for any payments whatsoever to the Bidder. Extension of time beyond the thirty (30) day period of the award may be made only by mutual agreement between the Owner, the Bidder and the Bidder's Surety.

The party to whom the Contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement within ten (10) calendar days from the date when Notice of Award is delivered to the Bidder. The Notice of Award will be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and contract forms. In case of failure of the Bidder to execute the Agreement, the Owner may, at his option, consider the Bidder in default, in which case the Bid Bond accompanying the proposal shall become the property of the Owner.

The Owner within ten (10) days of receipt of an acceptable Agreement signed by the party to whom the Contract was awarded, will sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the Owner not execute the Agreement within such period, the Bidder may, by Written Notice, withdraw his signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of notice by the Owner.

A conditional or qualified Bid will not be accepted.

Award will be made by the Owner to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over the work shall apply to the Contract throughout.

The successful bidder will be required to fully complete all contract work within one hundred twenty (120) consecutive calendar days from and including the date of receipt from the Owner of formal notice to proceed.

The award of any contract will be made by the Owner.

Bidders are cautioned that bids that are deemed by the Owner to be obviously unbalanced may be rejected.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any proposal for failure to comply with all requirements of this notice or of any of the Contract Documents, however, it may waive any minor defects or informalities at its discretion.

The Owner further reserves the right to reject all proposals, or to award a contract or contracts, which in its judgment is in the best interest of the Owner. The Owner is an equal opportunity employer.

SWANTON NEWS

OTTERBEIN UM CHURCH

United Methodist Women met at Otterbein on Wednesday, March 14, at 10 a.m. for " A Quiet Day Service for a Call to Prayer and Self Denial" Louise Beckman was the program leader. She had been assisted by Shirley Lipscomb. The theme for the day was "Seeing the Harvest in the Seed Time." Those attending were: Wanda Manhis, Mary June Harvey, Amy, Artie, Carol Sweitzer, June and Joseph McCloskey, Luella Baker, Joan Riley, Freda Teets, Alverta Sweitzer, Doris Howell, Sandy Friend, Maxine and Rev Ball, and Clara Ellen Coddington. After the program a covered-dish luncheon was shared.

A hymn sing was held here last Saturday evening. Groups that participated were: Fountain Valley Blue Grass; The Melody Boys; The Gospel Five; Mt. Top Gospelaires; and Jim Lohr and Linda Fleming. Carol Sweitzer was in charge of the program.

The evening Lenten services will continue through the Lenten season, each Wednesday at 7 p.m. Everyone is welcome. Pastor Ball is in charge of these services.

SENIORS HOT MEAL SITE

Sandy Sutton of the health department monitored blood pressures, and Linda Weeks of the Area Agency on Aging spoke to the group about reverse mortgages.

Dr. Jim Jones will speak to the group about cataract awareness next Tuesday, March 27.

PERSONALS

A.J. Fleming was in Boston the weekend of March 10 and 11 with the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. A.J. won first place in the World Fly-Fishing Qwik-Tie competition. He is the son of Linda and John Fleming and will graduate from Frostburg State University in May.

John Furr and his wife Shirley, Oakland, visited his mother, Ireta Sweitzer.

Ellisa and Michael Woodbrey of Shepherdstown, W.Va., were weekend guests of Mary June Harvey. On Saturday morning, Rosella Haught, who recently returned from England, joined them for breakfast. Rosella and her husband Steve, who had worked in Oxford, England, for several years, will be relocating to Blue Belle, Pa.

Zach and Hannah Virts, Chestnut Grove, were Sunday guests of their grandparents, Linda and John Fleming.

Orval Teets attended the National Association of Retired and Veteran Railroaders meeting of Unit 103, last Wednesday at the Ponderosa restaurant in LaVale.

Orval Teets attended the breakfast for retired railroaders at the Shrine Club in Cumberland on Thursday, March 15.

On Dean's List

Among the students who were named to the dean's list at Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, Va., for outstanding academic achievement during the fall 2000 semester was a Garrett County resident.

Eric Tressler, son of Steve and Jean Tressler, Deer Park, earned a grade point average that met the requirements to be included on the list. Tressler, a 2000 graduate of Southern High School, is a freshman at Virginia Tech, majoring in computer science.

THE 40% MARK has been reached on the United Way goal "thermometer" at McHenry, as $32,000 of a goal of $81,000 has been attained. Pointing out that fact in the above photo is Garrett County Commissioner Ernie Gregg. The campaign will continue until the end of April. "Already the drive has exceeded last year's campaign by about 15 times, but there is still a long way to go to reach our goal by the end of April," stated Tom Myers, local United Way board member. Myers said that the area United Way provides supplemental funding to 15 different non-profit agencies and programs. Persons may send their tax-deductible contributions to United Way of Garrett County, P.O. Box 394, Oakland, MD 21550.

Quiz Slated For HOPE Service At St. Paul's

The program for the HOPE (Hour Of Praise for Everyone) service at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, on Tuesday, March 27, will be a Bible quiz, which has been planned by Debby Green. The quiz is open to all ages and will be held in the fellowship hall of the church from 7 to 7:45 p.m.

HOPE services are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month and are planned by the laity of the church. Andy Damon serves as the coordinator.

These HOPE gatherings are informal and are offered in addition to the Sunday worship services. It provides an opportunity for those who attend the 8:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. Sunday services to be together in Christian fellowship.

Pastors at the church are Rev. Roger A. Harrison Sr. and Rev. Ann W. Harrison. St. Paul's United Methodist Church is located on the corner of Fourth and Oak streets.

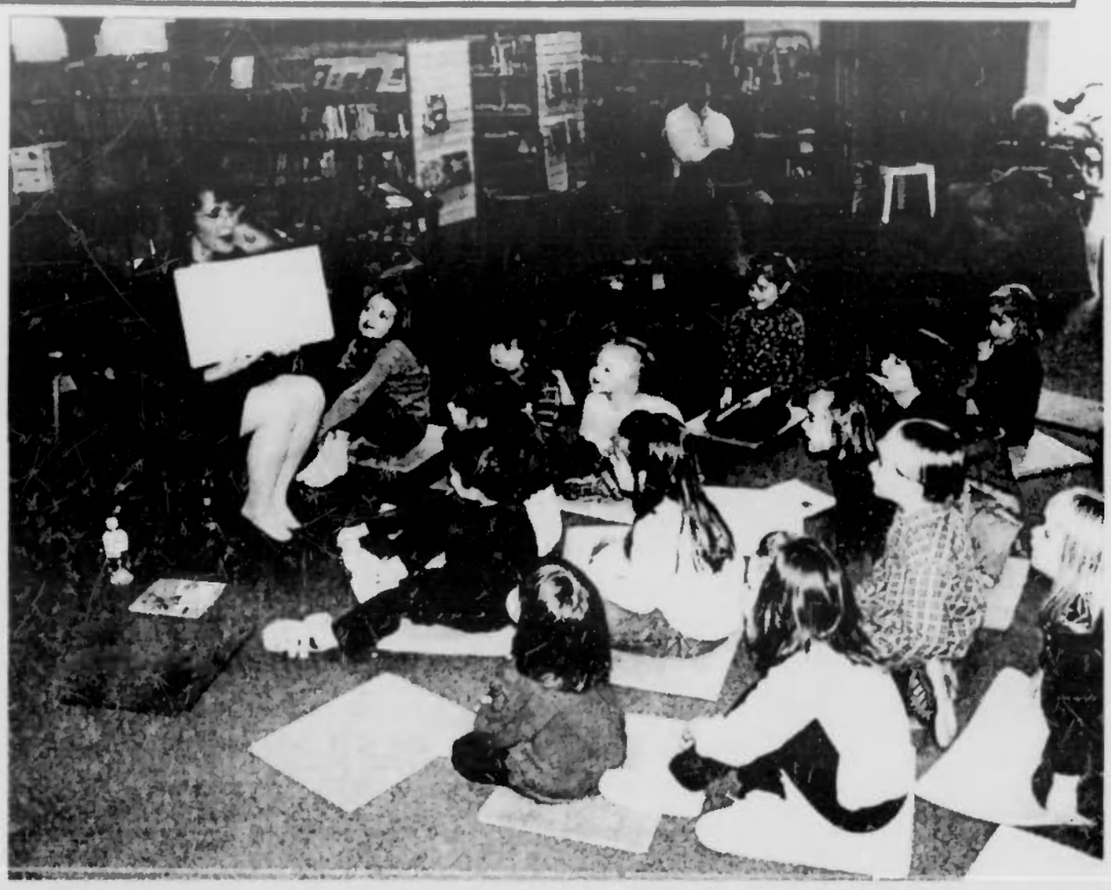
Tire Amnesty Day Slated For April 21

The Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling will conduct Scrap Tire Amnesty Day on Saturday, April 21, from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. During this one-day event, Garrett County residents may bring up to 10 tires per vehicle, free of charge, to the Garrett County Fairgrounds for disposal. No commercial tires will be accepted.

Gary Love, director of the county's solid waste and recycling office, said persons should remember the following guidelines: Tire Amnesty Day is for Garrett County residents only. Tires must be free of dirt, mud, and water. No refuse permit is required to participate. No commercial vehicles will be allowed. No more than 10 tires per vehicle will be accepted. (Multiple trips per vehicle will not be permitted.) Tires may have rims.

The 10-tire per vehicle rule will be waived for roadside, stream, or community tire clean-up projects. Interested organizations, municipalities, or community groups must call 301-387-0322 prior to the event to receive an application form and advance approval for this event.

The event, sponsored by the Garrett County commissioners and the Maryland Environmental Service, will be funded through the Maryland Department of the Environment's Tire Fund. The fund was established by the General Assembly in 1991 as part of the Scrap Tire Recycling Act. It is funded by the collection of a $0.40 per tire



MARYLAND'S FIRST LADY GIVES 15 — Several local children enjoyed a visit Saturday from Maryland's first lady, Frances Glendening, who took time to read to the youngsters at the Ruth Enlow Library. She was promoting a program titled "15 for the Future," which encourages parents to read to their children at least 15 minutes each day. The educational benefits of reading to young people are far-reaching, she said, and the time spent reading together also helps strengthen family bonds. Stories read by Mrs. Glendening included A Giraffe and a Half by Shel Silverstein and If You Give a Mouse a Cookie by Laura Joffe Numeroff. Photo by John McEwen

Tipping Fees To Be Waived For Town Clean-Ups

The Garrett County commissioners and the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling have announced a community clean-up event. This service is being offered to Garrett County municipalities in order to assist their residents with spring clean-up activi-

Garrett Comm. Band Concert To Be April 7

"Strike Up the Band!" is the name selected for the next concert of the Garrett Community Concert Band, scheduled for Saturday, April 7, in the Garrett Community College auditorium, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The band was formed in May of last year from a nucleus of musicians who were members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department Oktoberfest Band, which performs annually during the Autumn Glory Festival. The first concert, presented outdoors at GCC as part of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's 2000 4th of July celebration, was attended by nearly 600 people.

The band became affiliated with Garrett Community College last fall and is now part of the curriculum. It consists entirely of volunteers, including the music director and conductor, Jerry McGee. "Our group includes professional musicians, as well as instrumentalists from all walks of life, including business and pro-

Perrier Announces Closing Of Deer Park Water Bottling Plant

The 30 employees of the Deer Park Water bottling plant, which bottles local spring water for worldwide distribution, were told last week that their plant is closing. The decision by the Perrier Corporation came as a surprise to many local plant employees, who had been laying the groundwork for a plant upgrade projected to lower production costs, which local sources claim was already one of the lowest in the Perrier line at 38 cents per five-gallon bottle or case of six one-gallon bottles.

Perrier attributes the decision to global trends in the water bottling industry that have rippled to Garrett County. "The Deer Park plant is quite a small plant, and this is a very fast-growing business," Perrier spokesperson Jane Lazgin said from her Greenwich, Conn., office this week.

"We need to achieve the lowest cost of production possible. We've averaged 8 to 10 percent sales growth per year recently, and this requires large bottling facilities to meet that demand. Deer Park produces a very limited amount of bottled water," Lazgin contended.

The displacement of the local workforce does not mean that the Deer Park and Tyler Mountain labels will disappear from the store shelves, nor that Per-

Grantsville Community Choir To Observe 25th With Two Concerts

by Jeremy Carr

The Grantsville Community Choir is observing its 25th anniversary this year, and will present a special Easter concert twice on Sunday, April 8. One performance will be held at the Salisbury (Pa.) Church of the Brethren at 2 p.m., and the other will be at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Grantsville at 7:30 p.m.

My Faith Still Holds, a cantata that is among the favorites of the members of the choir, will be included in this year's program, along with various other favorite pieces that have been performed over the past 25 years.

The choir was formed in 1976 with 13 original members. Sadie Triplett was pastor of St. Paul's at the time and, according to current director Gloria Martin was instrumental in getting the choir started. A number of volunteers, from a variety of denominations, have assisted with the choir over the years, Martin said.

Presently there are six denominations represented, and three of the original members of the choir are

Parole Hearing Set For Ferrell At Huttonsville

A parole hearing for Paul William Ferrell has been scheduled at the Huttonsville (W.Va.) Correctional Facility on Tuesday, April 17, at 11 a.m. Ferrell was convicted by a Garrett County jury and given a life sentence for his alleged connection to the disappearance of Catherine Denise Ford of Gorman, who has not been seen since Feb. 17, 1988.

As former West Virginia governor Cecil Underwood exited his office in January, he commuted Ferrell's minimum sentence from 16 years to 10 years. The executive order, signed on Jan. 12, changed Ferrell's sentences from consecutive to concurrent. This effectively reduced his parole eligibility to 10 years. Because he has already served 12 years in prison, he is now eligible for parole.

Persons who wish to either contest or support parole for Ferrell may write letters to this address: West Virginia Parole Board, 112 California Ave., Room 307, Charleston, WV 25305-0700. Persons should also write the following on the envelope: Re: Paul Ferrell DOC #16243.

Commissioners Asked To Help Fund Emergency Care Coordinator Position

Several representatives of the Region I Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Advisory Council met with the Garrett County commissioners Tuesday for purposes of updating the local fiscal authority on the county's rescue squads, as well as making a request for funding. The money requested is to go toward the retention of the "pre-hospital care coordinator" position, a key component in the success of area emergency care, the representatives said.

The Region I EMS Advisory council is a 27-member group appointed by the Garrett and Allegany county commissioners. The members are all directly involved with emergency care, and their purpose as the council is to provide advice, assistance, and EMS coordination in the two-county area, and to advise and update the Maryland Institute of Emergency Medical Service Systems (MIEMSS).

In the first part of the report, David Ramsey, Region I director and MIEMSS coordinator, gave an overview of the range of care provided by the area rescue squads and fire departments. All of the EMS providers in Allegany and Garrett counties offer advanced life support (ALS) to patients. Additionally, all ambulance services in Region I have monitor defibrillator capability. This is the highest percentage per capita in the state for this service.

Nearly 3,000 calls were handled by the Garrett County rescue squads last year, with Northern Garrett logging 1,411 and Southern Garrett, 1,490. There are 96 volunteers countywide trained as first responders, which requires 45 hours of instruction. Emergency medical technicians, who must complete 130 hours of training, number 170, and there are 10 cardiac rescue technicians, who must complete 300 hours. Twelve Garrett Countians are paramedics, who have over 600 hours of training. These numbers, combined with the volunteers in Allegany County, account for 846 people trained to provide emergency services in both counties.

Bill Hardy has served as the pre-hospital care coordinator since 1986. Headquartered at Cumberland Memorial Hospital, Hardy has the responsibility of managing the training for all Region I volunteers, keeping the records on all calls handled in the area, troubleshooting for volunteers, and fielding patient complaints. His presence and work have been critical to the success of Region I emergency services, Ramsey said. Many others in attendance at Tuesday's meeting echoed that sentiment, asserting that the loss of Hardy would be catastroph-

Senator John Hafer's Finzel-Area House Destroyed By Fire Monday

The investigation is continuing into the cause of a fire that gutted the Finzel-area home of Maryland Senator John Hafer Sr. Monday afternoon. The multi-alarm blaze, which apparently started in a second-floor wall of Senator Hafer's office, is not believed to be suspicious or incendiary in nature, according to Chief Deputy State Fire Marshal Robert B. Thomas Jr.

Hafer and his wife Lorene were in Annapolis when the fire was discovered just before 4 p.m. and reported by another family member. Hafer had just left the house, located at 467 Happy Hills Lane, that morning to head back to Annapolis for the final days of the Maryland 2001 legislative session. Some 80 firefighters from the Eastern Garrett, Grantsville, Frostburg, Shaft, Clarysville, La-Vale, and Salisbury volunteer fire departments responded to the scene and found the rear of the 2½-story, wood-frame farmhouse engulfed in flames and heavy smoke.

Firefighters attacked the fire through the front of the house to try to push the flames, heat, and smoke out the back and protect the contents inside. While most of the furniture, family heirlooms, landscape paintings by Mrs. Hafer, and other belongings on the first floor were saved, everything on the second floor was destroyed. The overall loss has been estimated by investigators to be $400,000.

It took about two hours to bring the fire under control, and personnel from the Eastern Garrett VFD were summoned back twice after flames rekindled. Also responding to the scene were the Allegany County air cascade unit and Frostburg Ambulance Service. There were no injuries reported.

Chamber Makes FY 2002 Budget Pitch To County

Representatives of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce met with the county commissioners Tuesday evening to make their budget pitch for fiscal year 2002. The chamber request is up by $45,936 over last year's allotment, and the fiscal authority of the county is being asked to increase its share by 11 percent.

The total budget for the chamber last year was $887,633, with $400,000 of that amount as county funds. The chamber is asking for $530,000 from the county this year. A number of added costs, chiefly in increased postage fees and marketing endeavors, were denoted as "core elements" of the needed increase.

A detailed report on the request and the discussion will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

House Tamps Metropolitan Areas For Land Preservation Programs

by Paul Schuler
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Wary of giving the administration unlimited power to purchase land across the state, the Maryland House of Delegates passed a bill Monday placing limits on the governor's new anti-sprawl, land preservation program.

If the bill passes the Senate, the General Assembly would gain some control over what properties are purchased under GreenPrint, Gov. Parris N. Glendening's $145 million new program aimed at preserving a network of environmentally sensitive areas. Any large acquisitions will have to come under its review.

Western Maryland delegates won a requirement that the Department of Natural Resources give priority to purchasing land in metropolitan areas instead of rural counties. The delegates were worried the program could disproportionately restrict their counties from developing.

"They buy out land in the rural areas because it is cheap and they can say we preserved 10 percent of the land," said Delegate George C. Edwards, R-Garrett. "Some of the land they preserved in Allegany and Garrett is the best land for development purposes."

Edwards pushed hard for the stipulation in the bill requiring the Department of Natural Resources to give priority to preserving land in counties where it owns less than 9 percent of the area.

Most of the land proposed for preservation under GreenPrint would be in Garrett, Allegany, and other rural counties, where the department already owns a large amount of land. The state currently owns 19.9 percent of the land in Garrett County, placing it third on the list. In Allegany County, the state owns 24.9 percent, and in Somerset, 22.7 percent. In Worcester and Dorchester counties, 11.3 percent is state-owned. The remaining counties' state-owned percentages are in the single digits or less, with Talbot's percentage coming in at 0.1 percent.

"If you have all those people in the metropolitan areas concerned with open area, let's create some open space in those areas," Edwards said. "Let's buy some of this land so they don't have to drive three hours to get out in the woods."

The bill will probably clear the Senate because the House, earlier in the session, required that funding for the program be contingent on its passage, said Sen. Thomas McLain Middleton, D-Charles.

The House and the senate still have to iron out differences on how much to cut from the $40 million the governor proposed for the program next year. The senate cut half, concerned that the department would not be able to spend all the money in one year. The House only cut $5 million.

The bill has the support of the key state environmental agency, the Chesapeake Bay Commission. Creating more green space in suburban areas could encourage people to live in more densely populated areas, said Ann Swanson, the commission's executive director.

"People would be willing to live in a more clustered condition if there was a guarantee that there was open space near by," Swanson said.

The drawback is that land is more expensive in suburban areas, and encouraging the state to purchase land there could make it harder for it to meet its pledge in the Chesapeake 2000 agreement to protect 20 percent of its land from development by 2010. So far, the state has only protected 14.7 percent of its land.

"It just means that the price tag of achieving the 20 percent might go up," she said. "We'll have to do more with more, rather than more with less."

Environmental groups support targeting suburban areas because it could actually help slow sprawl, instead of simply setting aside land that would likely go undeveloped anyway.

Maryland is developing at a rate of 35,560 acres a year, which would make the state over 20 percent developed by 2010.

"I think there are two ways of looking at it," said Theresa Pierno, Chesapeake Bay Foundation director. "Clearly we support protecting land most threatened by development."

The Chesapeake 2000 agreement was an accord between Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D.C., to decrease pollution flow into the Chesapeake Bay and prevent another environmental crisis such as the pfiesteria outbreak in 1997.

Environmental groups say curbing sprawl and preserving green space is important in protecting the bay from excess nutrients and sediment, which can cloud the water and kill the underwater wildlife.

SHS TEACHER OF YEAR - A member of the teaching staff of Southern High School was honored this past week by being named the school's 2000-01 Teacher of the Year. Steve Coaner was selected for this award, and is pictured above with school principal Lynn Bell. Besides fulfilling his teaching duties, Coaner is involved in numerous school-related programs and activities. According to Bell, he has been instrumental in developing and implementing a school-wide vision, he assisted implementing a school-wide change in disciplinary procedures, he is a sponsor of the VICA program, he serves as track and field coach, he monitors the CoNect grant, he has served as athletic director, he has served as a technology resource teacher, he coordinates and conducts staff development, and he has "exceptional" teaching abilities.

NGCRS Move To Be Discussed In Accident

The mayor and town council of Accident have scheduled a public meeting for 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 3, at the Accident Town Hall to discuss the relocation of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad station from Accident to McHenry. An NGCRS representative will be on hand to provide information and answer questions.

Head Start Parents Benefit From Grant

Garrett County Community Action Head Start entered into a parent training partnership with Garrett County Health Department's Community Outreach last school year. Two strategically located parenting skills workshop series were offered as well as a "Random Acts of Love Incentive Training" for the Month of the Young Child. The health department's Alcohol, Tobacco, and Other Drugs (ATOD) prevention grant provided financial support for the parent training.

When Head Start received the state supplemental funding which made the Oakland extended year classroom possible, Community Outreach extended the parent training into June 2000. A summer safety training picnic was held for enrolled children, as well as their siblings and extended families. Community Outreach also donated bike helmets to all Head Start centers as a result of this parent training.

The parent training partnership was again financially supported by the ATOD grant and expanded for the 2000/2001 school year. Community Outreach is providing training at six of the nine parent meetings at each center, home-based option, and the family day care option. All topics are directly related to parenting and include family literacy, holiday safety, substance abuse prevention, domestic violence prevention, child abuse/neglect prevention, and family nutrition.

The training is followed by an activity related to the month's topic. In addition to the training presented at parent meetings, the same topic is reinforced through the use of storyboards in all the centers. Thus, parents who are unable to attend parent meetings may receive training as well. Parents have the opportunity to review the material and complete a storyboard questionnaire at any time during the month.

Utilizing the "I Am Amazing" curriculum, Outreach is taking the parent training topic into the classroom and introducing it to the Head Start children. Parents are then able to share with their children at home, thereby enhancing their parenting skills.

Outreach and Head Start will again offer family training for the Oakland extended year classroom. "Bike Safety" is slated as the topic for the month of June. If additional supplemental funds are granted to extend the classroom through July and August, the parent training partnership will be expanded once more. Family training topics planned are "Summer and Sun Safety" and "Physical Fitness for the Whole Family."

For more information about the ATOD Parent Training Partnership or other Head Start parent training and parent involvement activities, persons may call 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403 (toll free), ext. 126.

Leads Sought In Dec. Burglary Of Englander's

Crime Solvers of Garrett County is seeking information concerning the Dec. 19 burglary of the Englander's soda fountain and antique mall building in Oakland. The perpetrator(s) entered the building through the roof and removed over $900 in cash and personal checks, plus a quantity of figurines. Footprints at the scene indicated two individuals were involved, and officers were able to follow those prints onto the railroad tracks and east toward the Mtn. Lake Park area. A snow storm covered the footprints as they approached the Garrett Highway overpass.

Persons with information regarding the burglary are asked to call Crime Solvers at 301-334-1975. Anonymity is guaranteed.

NGCRS Meeting Location Noted

Last week's coverage of the March 20 Friendsville town meeting concerning the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad incorrectly stated the location of the squad's upcoming general membership meeting. That meeting will take place at the Grantsville NGCRS hall, located along Church Street, beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 10. The meeting will not take place at the town's fire hall.

The agenda will include a vote by eligible NGCRS members on hand concerning the proposed relocation of its Friendsville squad to McHenry, where it would be combined with the relocated Accident squad.

Autumn Glory "Royal Family" Changes Noted

An Autumn Glory Festival task force, chaired by Mayor Asa McCain Jr. of Oakland, was appointed by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce several months ago to suggest improvements to the county's trademark fall festival. Although work continues, some changes regarding the Autumn Glory Court were deemed of such significance that the chamber's board of directors has already put them in place.

One change is to limit the "royal family" to four individuals — one each of king, queen, prince, and princess. Selections will continue to coordinate and alternate between both Northern and Southern high schools. Last year, there were two princes and two princesses.

Beginning in 2001, the chamber will provide all required dress attire for the royal court. Gowns will be color-coordinated and custom made for the queen and princess. The king and prince will continue to have their rental tuxedos provided. The chamber noted appreciation of the donation of the tuxedos used during Autumn Glory 2000 by Blair Glass of Marvin Men's Wear.

An additional change is that members of the royal court will each be given a scholarship. The amount of the stipend will be determined by sponsorship funds to be raised by the chamber.

These changes are "very important," according to chamber board member and task force chair McCain. "The selection process for the royal family should be more sensitive to the quality of a student's character than how much money his or her family can invest in the upscale festival clothing. The addition of scholarship monies will add one more reason why our best and brightest students will strive for this honor," he said.

For the 2001 festival, Southern High School will select the king and princess, and Northern High School will choose the queen and prince.

GCC Open House Set To Showcase College's Variety

A new feature has been added to this year's annual spring Open House at Garrett Community College scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 28, in the college auditorium.

This year's event will actually feature two open houses, one for GCC's three outdoor programs and one for the other academic programs, according to Joan Crawford, director of enrollment development.

"We want our guests to see the facilities that support the programs in which they are interested, and to meet the appropriate faculty and program directors," Crawford said. "Following the opening session in the auditorium, those interested in Agricultural Management, Adventure Sports, or Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology will go to the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies, while those interested in other career and transfer programs will stay in the Fine Arts building."

At the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies prospective students will be able to speak with Mike Logsdon, director of the Adventure Sports program, Willie Lantz, instructor of Agriculture Management, and Kevin Dodge director of the Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology program. They will also be able to tour the alternative agriculture building where goats and rabbits are penned, the aquaculture building with the 10,000-gallon fish tank, the new horticulture building, and the adventure sports equipment rental shop and ropes course.

Prospective students interested in GCC's other programs will be able to speak with Dr. Terry Norris about the Business and Information Technology programs, Ben Sincell about the Fine and Performing Arts program, Carolyn Deniker about allied health, Dr. Mitchell about transfer programs, and Joan Crawford about the Juvenile Justice and Human Services certificate programs.

During the opening session in the auditorium guests will be welcomed by Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic and student affairs. They will also hear briefly from Pat Bennett about financial aid, Stacie Upole about career and job services, and Darlene Reed about admissions and registration procedures. These individuals will then be available to answer questions and to speak with anyone who desires further information.

Another feature of this year's open house will be the possibility of "instant admission" for students who have completed an application and know that they plan to enroll at GCC. Crawford emphasized the importance of attending the open house for anyone who is investigating colleges and has not yet made a decision. "There are many wonderful educational opportunities here," she said, "and many financial advantages."

Students and their parents may register for the open house by calling the GCC Admissions office at 301-387-3010.

UNITED WAY SUPPORTS SALEM - The United Way of Garrett County recently provided money to assist the Shelter Care program at the Maryland Salem Children's Trust, located along Lower New Germany Road near Grantsville, and also to upgrade the computer lab at Salem School where shelter children, Salem residents, and day students attend school. The United Way identifies and supports local agencies that make an impact on the residents of the county. The 60-day Shelter Program at Salem provides a safe, highly structured environment for children between the ages of 8 and 15 who are in transition to other programs or who are in crisis. Of 36 children served since its opening in February 2000, the Salem Shelter has provided care and services for four children from Garrett County. The goal of the shelter is to assist children in crisis or transition to move to a long-term placement in a prepared manner with the basic skills needed to succeed. In the photo above, a ninth grade student at Salem School works at a computer. Also in the photo are Tom Myers, chairperson of the Community Response Committee of United Way of Garrett County, and Vicki Knotts, teacher's aide at Salem School.

Vehicle Destroyed By Fire, Oakland Woman Injured

An Oakland woman was injured and her vehicle was completely burned Monday night along Swanton Hill Road, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Melissa Dawn Alexander, 24, was traveling west in her 1989 Ford Bronco II down Swanton Hill Road around 10:30 p.m. when, she stated, she tried to avoid a deer that crossed her path. According to the report, the vehicle skidded and overturned onto the west bank and caught fire.

There were no passengers in the vehicle, and the fire was extinguished by Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department.

Alexander was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released.

A juvenile was charged by deputies Monday for failing to reduce speed after the driver lost control of the vehicle at the intersection of Broadford Road and Pysell Crosscut Road.

According to the report, the juvenile, operating a 1983 Ford Thunderbird, was traveling north on Broadford Road and failed to reduce speed in the curve, which caused the driver to lose control and strike an embankment along the southbound lane. The vehicle overturned four times before coming to a stop in a ditch around 3:45 p.m.

Both occupants were transported to GCMH by Southern Rescue Squad. Deer Park VFD also responded to the scene.

Local Residents Recognized At Estonian Embassy

A number of Garrett County residents traveled to the Estonian Embassy in Washington, D.C., recently to attend a luncheon and program sponsored by the American Association of University Women (AAUW) of Maryland. The luncheon was held as a benefit for the Bina Roy Project in Estonia, which works to help women improve their computer skills in order to obtain better jobs. It is a project of the Estonian Association of University Women. Included in the buffet luncheon was the Estonian dish mulgikapsas, made of sauerkraut, pork, and barley. Guests had an opportunity to sample Estonian beer.

Following the luncheon, Adjutant General James Fretterd of the Maryland National Guard spoke about the Maryland-Estonia connection and thanked Garrett Community College president Dr. Steve Herman and Garrett County AAUW president Dr. Gail Herman for their efforts in promoting the relationships between the peoples of Maryland and Estonia. He also thanked members of the Maryland AAUW for their roles in furthering these relationships through education. Guests were then entertained by a group of Estonian dancers, who performed traditional dances dressed in native costume, and watched a film about Tallinn, the capital city of Estonia.

The embassy building where the luncheon was held was built in 1905 as a doctor's residence. It served as the Peruvian embassy and as a home for the Landon School for Boys before it was purchased by the Republica of Estonia in 1994. Since the re-establishment of Estonian independence in 1991, the embassy has provided the United States and Canada full-scale diplomatic representation in Washington.

In addition to the Hermans, five of the Estonian students attending GCC and one who attends Frostburg State University, host families, members of the Garrett County AAUW, and their guests attended the luncheon. GCC students from Estonia were Tatjana and Marina Kravtsuk, Haiku Siska, Ave Kikas, and Kalle Rattasepp. FSU student Katri Liis Lepik also attended.

Several local host families who are providing homes for Estonian students were in attendance. They are Anna and Richard Buckingham and their son Scott, Randi and Mark Craig and their children, and Virginia Grove. Other members of the Garrett County AAUW and their guests who attended were Chrissie and George Bezak, Joan Crawford and Susan Crawford, and Virginia Broaddus. In addition to those who supported the benefit through their attendance, three AAUW members, Edith Brock, Elizabeth McComas, and Janice Hutchinson, contributed monetary donations.

DCL Board Sets April Meetings

The Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board has scheduled two meetings for next month to address several issues regarding the future operation of the lake. As with all DCL Policy and Review Board meetings, both of these sessions will be open to the public and the board will accept input and public comments during each meeting.

The first meeting, set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 10, in Room 314 of the Continuing Education building at Garrett Community College, will be devoted to the ongoing project of developing the lake's Recreation and Land Use Plan. This regular monthly meeting will continue the March 19 meeting discussion.

The board will also meet at 6 p.m. Friday, April 20, at the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park to continue discussion on the proposal to allow for the operation of larger tour boats on the lake. A board vote on the matter is included on the meeting agenda, according to DCL Recreation Area manager Paul Durham.

That session will serve as a follow-up to a March 17 meeting which was attended by some 80 persons, mainly lake area property owners. Approximately 20 of those in attendance spoke at the meeting, with the majority weighing in against the proposal. Durham added that a show of hands of the gathering appeared to indicate that 60 percent of those present opposed the proposal.

The allowance for larger tour boats was requested by local marina operator Bob Browning, who has been operating a 30-foot tour boat on the lake for 13 years without incident. He purchased a 62-foot tour boat over a year ago with the tentative approval of the Policy and Review Board, but his request was tabled because of the issues surrounding the sale of the lake.

The Department of Natural Resources has formulated a draft plan concerning larger tour boats that the board has been reviewing, and which has generated public comment from interested citizens. The draft proposal would allow for three tour boats with a maximum length of 70 feet to operate on the lake, and outlines proposed times of operation, safety and operator requirements, program administration, environmental considerations, and enforcement policies.

Of the concerns raised by proposal opponents at the recent meeting, most were related to safety and environmental issues on the water, and congestion and crowding issues both on the water and in the parking facilities around the McHenry Cove. The proposal has the support of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, which was represented at the meeting by Jerry Geisler, and the board of county commissioners and the local delegation to the Maryland General Assembly.

The DCL Policy and Review Board could make one of three recommendations when it votes at the April 20 meeting, Durham said: to move the proposal forward as written; to move it forward with modifications stipulated by the board; or to turn down the request.

Further information on these meetings and the DCL Policy and Review Board may be obtained by calling Durham at 301-387-4111.

Feldstein Will Be Speaker For Historical Soc.

Regional historian and author Al Feldstein, Cumberland, will once again be the featured speaker at the annual dinner of the Garrett County Historical Society, scheduled for Thursday, April 26, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Tickets for that fund-raising program are now on sale at the Garrett County Historical Museum, Gonder Insurance Agency, and Gregg's Pharmacy in Oakland, and Hershberger Insurance Agency in Grantsville.

The focus of Feldstein's program will be the history of the Baltimore and Ohio (B&O) Railroad from Cumberland to Oakland (1842-1851). The narrated slide show will provide a historical and visual overview of the development and route of the B&O between these two towns. The presentation will portray many of the scenes and historic sites visible along the route, including the towns, vistas, depots, bridges, and other railroad-related structures. There will also be references to the Civil War, the development of the resort towns, and other relevant points of interest.

Also incorporated in the presentation will be an overview of the historic B&O Railroad locomotives and trains, from the "J.C. Davis" to "Old Maud" to the "Cincinnatian," which serviced the B&O route across the Alleghenies.

According to Robert Boal, president of the society, funds raised from the dinner this year will be used to finance continuance of the projects in historic Dailey Park in downtown Oakland.

His Job is Crucial...

The recent decision to consolidate the Friendsville and Accident stations of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad into one station at McHenry, which is under reconsideration and further study, generated an emotional upheaval last week at a special meeting of the Friendsville mayor and town council. For the most part, the concerns expressed by Friendsville area residents were justifiable and understandable, and it remains to be seen how this will ultimately play out.

In the meantime, however, we hope that this controversy does not have a negative effect on the attitudes and efforts of the volunteer emergency service personnel that we currently have in Garrett County. Statistics revealed this week, along with a variety of comments, indicate that we are blessed with an absolutely outstanding group of dedicated volunteers, whose emergency care is second to none.

In EMS terminology, a "priority-one" patient is one whose life is in great danger, either from illness or injury. In 1998, 79% of the priority-one patients in Garrett and Allegany counties survived transport to the hospital. In just two years, that number of surviving priority-one patients swelled to 91% for calendar year 2000. Few other areas, particularly rural ones, can boast such impressive figures.

Dr. Richard Perry, who is president of the Region 1 EMS Advisory Council, medical director of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, and an emergency room physician at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, stated this week that most Garrett County residents really don't realize how fortunate they are to have this caliber of emergency medical care. Having practiced medicine in other locations, Dr. Perry is qualified to give a comparative, objective assessment of such care.

Perry's comments were made to the Garrett County commissioners, who have been asked to place a new line item in the county budget that would allocate about $7,700 to help cover the salary of William Hardy, the pre-hospital care coordinator for Region 1 (Garrett and Allegany counties). To date, Hardy's salary has been covered by the Western Maryland Health System (basically, Memorial and Sacred Heart hospitals in Cumberland), but because of the tight budget conditions that are being faced by nearly every hospital in the country, this compensation is being eliminated from the WMHS budget.

While volunteers are the life blood of the EMS system, Hardy's job is crucial to its smooth operation, as he works directly with the rescue squads and physicians in solving problems, scheduling training, helping the volunteers maintain their certification, and dealing with complaints.

As we stated in a previous editorial about the squad consolidation proposal, the major problem that created the crisis is a lack of volunteers. Losing a coordinator like Hardy would be a severe blow to the effort to recruit new volunteers and to maintain those already in the system. We certainly hope our county commissioners will see their way clear to allocating the $7,700 — a proverbial drop in the bucket -- for something so vitally important to the health and well being of each and every one of our county residents and visitors.

THE THURSDAY BIRDS
by Beth Bowers

Thursday, known as Press Day, is a day of short deadlines and even shorter tempers here at The Republican. We try to get the paper out on time, or as close as possible, for all the eagerly awaiting townspeople. Sometimes it goes smoothly, others times that is not the case. But there is always one thing we can count on as we are busily typing our final copy, and that is the joyful, yet loud, song of the birds outside the newsroom's window.

We have come to the conclusion that the birds are increasingly noisier on Thursday because our dear friend and former fellow newsie, Pam Ashby, sends them here. Pam, who worked in this newsroom for many years, was tragically killed in a motor vehicle accident along with her brother Paul in Jan. 1994. Pam loved to hear those birds sing.

We often take time out on Thursday to laugh at the fact that Pam is still with us, trying to lighten our minds on the ever-hectic morning. This has been a great comfort to me, since Pam was my mentor when I did my internship here in the summer of 1993. Now that I am now a full-time reporter here, hearing those birds takes me back seven years to all the laughs and good times we had together.

I hope that hearing these birds sing will help everyone remember that spring truly is on its way, to lift our spirits and clear our minds. No matter what deadlines we may have, what problems we are dealing with, or what people are missing from our lives, there will always be spring and those birds will always be singing.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing to inform the public that the West Virginia Parole Board has scheduled a parole hearing for convicted murderer Paul William Ferrell. It is set for April 17 at 11 a.m. at the Huttonsville Correctional Center.

Any parole board members who will hear his plea for freedom must also know the facts, which I surely hope they will have before them. Ferrell's victim, Cathy Ford, was senselessly murdered by him in February 1988. He has never taken responsibility for his crimes and refuses to tell authorities what he did with her body. His attorneys keep trying to play the smoke and mirrors game with the facts and distort the truth with the media.

Paul Ferrell must never be released from prison unless he comes clean with this case. The West Virginia Parole Board must not consider his release until he does so.

Anyone who wishes to contact the Parole Board may do so at the following address: West Virginia Parole Board, 112 California Avenue, Room 307, Charleston, WV 25305-0700, Re: Paul Ferrell, DOC #16243.

Thank you.

Donald W. Tucker
Captain (Retired)
Garrett Co. Sheriff's Office

To the Editor:

Information is being sought in the vandalism, breaking and entering, and destruction of property of two vehicles last Thursday, March 22, in the Southern Garrett High School parking lot along Dennett Road. Personal possessions were taken when the windows were broken out of both vehicles. This was done in broad daylight, sometime between 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. The vehicles were parked diagonal from each other, with no other car to either side of them. Perhaps a passer-by saw something, or a friendly neighbor heard the sound of breaking glass. Please, if you have any information, contact the Sheriff's Department at 301-334-1911. A list of possible suspects was given to the Sheriff's Department in hopes of finding the person(s) involved in this senseless act of violence.

If you do not want to be the next victim, we urge you to come together as a community and help each other by reporting any suspicious activity or wrong-doing to the police or sheriff's departments.

To the person(s) involved, we say this: Once we have your names, we will contact our lawyers, and every possible charge will be pressed against you. Restitution will be made, and justice will be served!

Sincerely,
Lawrence and Crystal Gregory

To the Editor:

This is to thank you for the excellent coverage you gave us concerning our plight here in Friendsville about the removal of our ambulance. The article I referred to concerning the statement of Mr. Durst, "There will be a place for the crew to stay in the station so they can be on the scene within six or seven minutes," was written by Jo Donaldson, Times-News staff writer. Please accept my apology. This was not printed in your paper, but in the Cumberland Times-News.

Your reporter did such an excellent job covering the meeting, I hate to complain, but I do not cover midnights as stated. My assigned shift is 6-12 Thursdays, 6-12 Saturdays, and 6 to 6 on Sundays. Considering everything he was trying to cover, your reporter did an excellent job. This was an emotional meeting, coming from the heart of everyone. I just did not want other squad members to think I was taking credit for something I did not deserve.

I will take this opportunity to get in a plug for the staff of the Garrett Memorial Hospital emergency room. We service hospitals in Cumberland and in Morgantown, and they in no way can compete with this group of people. They meet you with a smile and sometimes a hug, and treat you like you are "real people." I realize they are not always as busy as other hospitals, and know us by name, but they work overtime to put us at ease and be friendly. Great people, doing a great job!

Thanking you for your time and patience,
Mary Friend

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to thank the Oakland Fire Department and Southern Rescue Squad for saving my son, his grandmother, and his aide.

On Sunday, March 4, my son, Wayne Lewis, his grandmother, Mary Lewis, and his aide Valerie fell into a root cellar eight feet straight down. He always visits his grandmother on Sundays and holidays. On this fateful day he was getting ready to enter her house when the porch fell inward and they fell about eight feet.

My mother always told me that one day God would show me why my son was confined to a wheelchair. On that day, I got my answer. His wheelchair was the only thing that saved them. His chair kept a 300-pound piece of cement from crushing them all. I have a picture of this.

I don't know how Valerie (his aide) crawled out from under them, but she did, and she called the rescue squad. I thank God every night for Valerie, my son, his grandmother, and their guardian angels, and for the miracle I call my son.

The only one seriously injured was his grandmother. Wayne and Valerie were just badly bruised and are healing. Thank you, everyone, who were there and helped.

Thank you,
A grateful mother

To the Editor:

Take a minute and ask yourselves — Who are the people who respond to a medical emergency when you dial 911? They are people like you. They volunteer their time and skills to help others in time of need, sometimes putting their own lives at risk for the sake of others or the community. They are neighbors helping neighbors. These men and women give of themselves day in and day out, and ask nothing in return.

As a member of the Northern Rescue Squad and a Friendsville resident, I am proud of these men and women, and am proud to serve with them. However, I am ashamed of the lack of support the rescue squad receives from the Friendsville and Accident communities. We are relocating our stations to serve the people of three communities — Accident, Friendsville, and McHenry — not because we favor one community over another. We are here to provide a service to the residents of northern Garrett County.

But often times our units are unable to respond due to the lack of personnel needed to man an ambulance. These communities ask for our help, and we want to provide it, but you must help us help you. We need volunteers. Everyone should have the right to top-quality EMS service, but it can't be provided without support. It's for your communities' sake.

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to the Garrett County commissioners requested that it be published in this column.

Dear Commissioners:

I would like to thank you for your recent decision to continue the progress toward eliminating the Garrett County business personal property tax on Garrett County businesses. Your tax reduction for 2001-2002 has helped to accelerate the pace toward eliminating this regressive tax. Taxing the value of equipment used by a business in the performance of their livelihood is regressive and does not reward business investment in new equipment. What compounds the problem is that the business personal property tax continues on the equipment at the G.C. tax rate per hundred dollars of valuation on a yearly depreciating basis. The equipment is taxed until the equipment is scrapped. When you will totally eliminate this tax, you will improve the competitive position to equal footing of West Virginia and Pennsylvania businesses that do not have this tax.

The Garrett County commissioners are to be commended for another step toward their goal of eliminating the GC portion of the business personal property tax. And the tax abatement is for ALL business in Garrett County, not just those in the GC economic enterprise zones. Hobby House Press, also doing business as Total Biz Fulfillment, is reinvesting these tax savings into purchasing additional equipment in support of growing our company and providing more professional opportunities for our valued associates.

Sincerely yours,
Gary R. Ruddell
President

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to the Friendsville, McHenry, and Accident rescue squads. I attended the town meeting on March 20 at the Friendsville fire hall. At that meeting it was stated that they are wanting to relocate the Friendsville and Accident rescue squads to the McHenry area because of a shortage of people running the areas. They stated that they are looking for ways to bring people to these areas, and if they could do so, then they should not have to relocate these areas to McHenry. They said that they have courses in school that the kids can take to be trained to be an EMT (emergency medical technician). These courses are, in fact, in the public schools, however, the kids do not take them seriously. It was also brought up about how much money the Northern Rescue Squad has.

Here is one way we may be able to get some more people. If they have all of this money, why can't they award college grants for the kids in school who take this course? The kids who put in so many hours, say 1,000 active hours (on the squad, not just in the station), would be eligible for the grant. Maybe they could give grants of $1,500 or so toward college tuition. I know that they could not do this for all of the kids, but they could for one or two a year, or maybe for one kid from each area. It might bring more people into the squads, and could help some young people go to college.

Just think, we keep our ambulance, the squads get people to run calls, and another kid can get another college education. From the information that we received last night, you really haven't viewed all of your options. Well, here is one for you. Just let our squad alone. We have worked very hard for what we have. Don't take it away from us.

Thank you,
Debria Fearer
Friendsville

To the Editor:

I would like to thank the members of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad for the time they put in and all they do. They put their lives on the line to help others. As a mother of a licensed EMT, I know that you have to be special people to do the fine jobs that you do.

When reading the letters to the editor about the relocation of the rescue squad, I would like to address some of my thoughts on that issue. When I first heard about the rescue squad moving to McHenry, I was shocked to think that no thought was given to all the people who live in northern Garrett County.

Even though I do not live in Garrett County anymore, I still have family and friends who do. My father lives along Friendsville-Addison Road (that road is in the northern part of the county that goes to the Pennsylvania border). There are other people who live on that road. If the rescue squad has to come from McHenry to Friendsville and then go through Friendsville to get to where my dad lives, it would take at least 25 minutes to get there. Route 42 (Elder Hill Road) has many no passing zones, with hills and curves. For a rescue squad vehicle to travel faster than the speed limit posted would put the lives of the EMTs in danger.

Time is an important factor in saving lives and putting out fires. According to what I recall, it could take up to an hour to get someone the help that is needed. McHenry is at least 7 miles away from Friendsville, 2 more miles to Selbysport, and then at least 20 miles more to the nearest hospital.

I am having trouble seeing how moving the rescue squad to McHenry would be a benefit. I have

SPRING LABORS

It is with more than a little relief that I announce the chickens are now all in the chicken house. Shoveling manure from the chicken house took all morning, to the enrichment of the rhubarb and asparagus beds with 10 wheelbarrow loads leftover for the compost pile. A good dusting of hydrated lime on as many surfaces as I could reach in the chicken house will do for disinfecting the place (so far, so good, anyway).

I also performed one of the great no-no's of poultry. I blended the young chickens with the old hens. That is something I would not attempt if I had hundreds or thousands. There are five old hens left, most or all of whom will be soup before the year is out. For the moment they are laying, and it is still months before the pullets will start to do the same.

The way I blend flocks is to place the new chickens on the roost at night. Waking up together reduces, without quite eliminating, their predatory tendencies toward newcomers. Each day as I go to the chicken house it seems that the young have had a growth spurt over night.

These Buff Orpingtons will be huge chickens. They will be as beautiful as they are large, as golden — the catalogue says — as a gold watch. In my mind's eye I see them strutting across the emerald green grass a month from now.

For a fortnight too long they were in the cellar. All barriers had become merely a gentlemen's agreement. They kept to the bargain, for the most part, unless I or someone else went to the cellar, an experience which they found so disrupting that they forgot themselves.

They are in their own house now, having negotiated a certain peace with their elders. So much on the chicken front.

In the beeyard, the honey bees are drinking sugar syrup like 10-year-olds drinking soft drinks on a July afternoon. I lost a hive of bees one year during March because they ran out of food. I have been careful not to let that happen this year. It won't be long now before they will actually find something on their foraging forays.

Early April, before the honey flow, is one of the occasions for precautionary antibiotic treatment of bees. I'll mix the antibiotic with powdered sugar, and then give the thousands of bees in the hive a bath in the mixture. As they lick off the sugar they will ingest the medicine, which will fortify them against the many ills that await them.

I even have a little garden planted. Most of my potato patch is under ground. There are rows of onions, spinach, and other hearty greens planted. My grandmother tells me that, as a child, they planted early garden, come what may, on St. Patrick's Day. Nothing worse can happen than having to plant it again.

The job that should be finished, but is only begun, is pruning apple trees. There is another week's grace before they start sprouting all over. The prunings will make good wildlife cover down along the creek. Once the trees have leafed out, another routine will commence, that of spraying. The more exact early spraying is done, the less there is a need for late spraying. I try to get the first four sprays accomplished in good order.

As much as I look forward to the greening of the world, I dread the necessity of that "rrrr..rrr" of the lawnmower. Part of my emotion arises from the relentlessness of grass once it starts growing. Another part of it is that I am so terrible with machines. Technology is great in its way, but somehow my brain never quite gets wrapped around any technology more complicated than a spade.

That is how things look here as we face April with winter squarely behind us. One part of this little hometarm feeds the other, but the feeding requires movement by a human agent. For the most part, I am that agent. To see the chickens feeding the garden and the garden feeding me, and me feeding the chickens is a circle of life worth the trouble. The labors of spring continue, but then, so do the joys.

Hike in Car Registration Fees To Boost Emergency Services Approved

by Megan Scott
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Starting July 1, registering a car in Maryland could cost $3 more in motor vehicle registration fees per year to pay for emergency medical services.

With approval from the Maryland Senate Wednesday, 39-5, the bill needs only Gov. Parris N. Glendening's signature to become law.

Under the measure, drivers will pay an $11 surcharge, up from $8, in addition to regular motor vehicle registration fees, which are $70, $83.50, and $97, depending on a car's weight.

The House of Delegates passed the bill March 23, 112-25.

The governor has not made any decisions on bills he will sign, said Raquel Guillory, Glendening's spokeswoman.

"The citizens in all parts of the state benefit because we have an Emergency Medical System Operations Fund," said Sen. Barbara Hoffman, D-Baltimore. "I hope none of us ever need it, but if we do, we have it."

The fund provides emergency services to Marylanders, including medical helicopter flights from accident scenes, through the cooperation of police, volunteer and career firefighters, and emergency medical service providers, such as doctors, nurses, and hospital administrators.

"I have no problem voting for this increase," said Sen. Larry Haines, R-Carroll. "I'm voting for a small insurance premium — less than a penny a day."

Opponents argued the surcharge unfairly taxes people when there is a government surplus. They also said Glendening should have included the fund in his budget.

"The appropriate way to fund this is general revenue," said Sen. Andrew Harris, R-Baltimore County. "The executive made us play chicken on this. And maybe our backs are against the wall. This is a tax."

Harris unsuccessfully offered a floor amendment Tuesday to increase fines on traffic violations by $15, instead of adding the surcharge.

Sen. Alex Mooney, R-Frederick, said Maryland vehicle owners should not have to pay for the governor's irresponsibility.

"This is wrong," said Mooney. "It's typical of what (the governor) does."

While Sen. Walter Baker, D-Cecil, voted for the surcharge, he said it unfairly targets those who own cars. He pointed out that it would not affect people who ride the Metro.

"This is a targeted tax, and targeted taxes are wrong," Baker said.

The fund has not been increased in 10 years, said Hoffman. Bill sponsor Sen. Thomas Middleton, D-Charles, said the expansion of several emergency services programs constituted the increase.

"It was the best way to fund this thing," said Sen. Jennie Forehand, D-Montgomery. "We're lucky to have a really good emergency system. For $3, that insurance is always there."

HEAVY SMOKE AND FLAMES filled the air above the Finzel-area house of Senator John Hafer on Monday afternoon. Most of the 2½-story, wood-frame structure was gutted by the blaze, although firefighters were able to salvage many of the contents of the house, including a number of pieces of antique furniture. It took nearly two hours to bring the fire under control. There were no injuries reported. See front-page story for details. Photo courtesy of the Eastern Garrett Fire and Rescue Department.

Plumbing Work Rules Modified By Commissioners

In response to a request made in late January by the Garrett County Electrical and Mechanical Association concerning plumbing work requirements, the county commissioners this week announced a modification to plumbing inspection policies.

Association members met with the commissioners two weeks ago and urged them to require all plumbing work installed in Garrett County, including work completed by the homeowner, to be inspected to assure compliance with the quality and safety requirements of the State Plumbing Code. At the time of the meeting, the policy did not require a homeowner to have the plumbing inspected.

Upon consideration of this recommendation and after further discussion with association members, the commissioners decided to modify the plumbing inspection policies currently implemented by the county planning and zoning office. Specifically, the board's action modifies the inspection policy of the planning and zoning office as it applies to the practice of an individual doing plumbing work in his own residence.

The new policy will continue to allow homeowners to do their own plumbing work. However, it will require the homeowner applying for a building permit and intending to perform plumbing work on his own home to have all plumbing work inspected. The MDIA (Middle Department Inspection Agency), a local inspection company, performs all such inspections, Nelson said. MDIA has been contracted to do such work by the county since the inception of the permitting process.

The inspection will assure the work is in compliance with the Maryland State Plumbing Code, according to John Nelson, director of the planning office. The previous policy specified that plumbing work completed by the homeowner must be installed in compliance with the code, but certified inspection was not mandatory.

The commissioners and Nelson said they believe this change in policy to require inspections will provide uniform code compliance and enhance the overall quality of construction in the county. The change in policy will take effect immediately, Nelson added.

Hardesty, Collins Indicted By March Term Grand Jury

Two Oakland men were arrested this week on Grand Jury indictments. Bushrod Kenneth Hardesty, 20, and Scott David Collins, 17, were both arrested last week, according to State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch.

Hardesty was charged with distribution and possession of marijuana. The charges stemmed from an incident in January that was investigated by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

Hardesty was arraigned in the Circuit Court of Garrett County. Judge James Sherbin set bond for the defendant at $5,000. Hardesty is in the Garrett County Jail serving a sentence for probation violation in a prior case, Welch noted. A trial date has not yet been set.

Collins has been charged with underage possession of a regulated firearm and selling a regulated firearm without undergoing the statutory procedures. The charges are misdemeanors, Welch said, and each carries a maximum sentence of five years in jail and a fine up to $10,000. At the defendant's arraignment, Sherbin set bond at $5,000.

The case was investigated in January by the narcotics task force.

Oakland Man Sentenced For Escape, Burglary

An Oakland man pleaded guilty to first degree escape and third degree burglary in Garrett County Circuit Court this week.

Ricky Alan Vecchioni, 20, was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Jim Sherbin to eight years in the Department of Corrections on the escape charge and to a concurrent one year on the burglary charge. These sentences will run consecutively to a sentence Vecchioni is currently serving.

According to State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch, Vecchioni was committed to the Garrett County Jail last June, awaiting transport to the Department of Corrections to serve a two-year sentence for violation of probation. Vecchioni escaped from the jail the morning of June 22, 2000, and was captured in Bruceton Mills, W.Va., the following day.

During the course of the investigation, officers with the Garrett Bureau of Investigation determined Vecchioni had escaped through a window that he broke out after a grate was pried loose. The burglary charge was added after it was also determined that Vecchioni had entered into an Oakland-area residence looking for keys to vehicles to effect his escape from the area.

Charges of attempted motor vehicle theft and destruction of property for the jail window were dismissed when he entered his plea, according to the state's attorney.

In another Circuit Court case, a former McHenry resident pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana.

Keith Andrew Loetz, 35, was charged last fall with distribution of a marijuana cigarette to a police informant in December 1999. Although a jury trial had begun, Loetz changed his plea after discussions with the state's attorney during a court recess.

Judge Sherbin accepted Loetz's plea, then sentenced him to 60 days in jail, with all but 10 days suspended. Loetz will then be on six months of probation, during which he must pay a $500 fine that the judge imposed.

fessional people, homemakers, retirees, and students from local high schools and the college," McGee said.

"We have three goals: to play together for the participants' own enjoyment and to enhance their music skills; to perform for the enjoyment of local residents and visitors to the area; and to provide encouragement, experience, and support for student musicians," he said.

The band practices weekly under the direction of McGee, who holds music degrees from Westminster College and Union Theological Seminary, with special interest in conducting, organ performance, and sacred music. He has taught in private schools and universities, and has presented concerts in many communities in the United States and Europe. He is presently the music director for St. Matthew's and St. John's Episcopal churches, a piper with Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums, and organizer of the "Bach's Lunch" programs presented during Lent at St. Matthew's Church. In business, he is a realtor with Long and Foster.

The April 7 concert will include famous marches, Broadway hits, and classical concert band repertoire, featuring various sections of the band. Admission will be by donation, with a suggested donation of $5 for adults. The concert is funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and Maryland State Arts Council.

SPAY/NEUTER MONTH A SUCCESS — Over 100 spay/neuter discount certificates have been issued to Garrett County pet owners during this month's Spay/Neuter Awareness Drive, a joint effort of the local Humane Society and animal shelter that concludes Saturday. These pet owners have ensured that their animals will not be contributing to the problem of pet overpopulation. The $25 discount certificates will continue to accompany all animals adopted from the animal shelter through the end of the month, and will also be available to county residents who already own pets that they would like to have altered. The above photo shows Humane Society representative Ellen Green accepting a donation from Dr. Dona Alvarez that will be used to sponsor the spaying or neutering of a dozen pets. For information about receiving or sponsoring a spay/neuter discount certificate, interested persons or organizations may contact the Humane Society at 301-334-2699 or the animal shelter at 301-334-3553.

MY FIRST BIRTHDAY WITH JESUS

I see all the birthday presents in your world below and the candles on the cake make a bright glow
The sadness is so evident, please wipe away that tear, for I'm spending my first birthday with Jesus Christ this year.

I hear the beautiful hymns my family holds so dear,
but they can't compare with the angel choir up here.
I know how much you miss me, I see the pain inside your heart, but I'm not so far away, we really aren't apart.
So be happy for me dear ones, you know I love you all so dear, and be glad I'm spending my birthday with Jesus Christ this year.

I send each of you a special gift from my heavenly home above,
I send each of you a memory of my undying love
After all "love" is the gift more precious than pure gold, it was always most important in the stories Jesus told.

Please love and keep each other, as our Father said to do, for I can't count the blessings or love he has for each of you
So, let's celebrate my birthday, and wipe away that tear.
Remember "I'm spending my birthday with Jesus Christ this year!!!"

We'll all love you as long as God gives us breath.
Mom and Dad, Brothers, and Sissy

To the Editor:

I am responding to the long, enlightening letter to the editor that was authored by various women's groups and published in The Republican last week. My purpose in writing is "to speak up and make an obvious wrong right," in this case at least two wrongs; perhaps more considering other remarks that were made in the letter. But before I do, I want to make it crystal clear that I don't believe they represent the vast majority of hard-working, even heroic, women in Garrett County. I know too many of these honorable women, and they have my respect and love.

On Jan. 19, 2001, I submitted a nomination to the Garrett County Commission for Women recommending that Louise Harvey be inducted into the Hall of Fame. I sent a three-page letter along with the application outlining her background. Some of what I included follows:

Louise is a disabled veteran of World War II, having served in the ETO (European Theater of Operations) from August 1943 to January 1946. Anyone reading about her experiences would know that this alone should have been enough. But she was also one of the founding organizers of Mountaintop Chapter of DAV (Chapter 29). And she was one of the first white women to join the NAACP after seeing how black soldiers were being treated on the train when she returned from the war. She has also been a staunch supporter and advocate for the mentally ill for 50 years. She has been a lifelong citizen activist who is not afraid to speak out on behalf of oppressed women (and men). The good people of Friendsville can attest to this after hearing her at the meeting concerning the proposed move of the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad (at which meeting, by the way, I don't recall seeing any of the signatories to last week's letter). She was a registered nurse, operating room administrator and supervisor, who volunteered to serve her country. I asked Louise one time what she thought her greatest achievement has been. She did not hesitate with her answer: "Being a decent human being."

On February 28, 2001, I received the unsigned form letter notifying me that the GCCW had rejected her. To add insult to injury, they only inducted two people instead of three. It was the ultimate snub. My wife, also a registered nurse and a real woman, was irate. The Republican would never print what I thought.

Now let's turn to the issue of equal pay and benefits. On March 10, 2000, a local man sent a letter to Kathleen Kennedy Townsend outlining the disparity in pay and health benefits between the women employees of the Garrett County library system and employees of other publicly funded organizations. A copy of the letter was sent to the Maryland Commission for Women. On March 16, 2000, the same man sent a memorandum to Gail Herman and Susan Athey-Oxford, two of the signatories to last week's letter, requesting help in dealing with this issue. Not only has that help not been forthcoming, the women who make up the GCCW have been remarkably silent about an issue that one would think would be at the top of the list for them. Not a word about it in last week's letter or any other that I can remember. Indeed, the letter of last week looks very similar to the one that the same group sent to The Republican on May 4, 2000; the same pap, but nothing about actual women's issues, like the plight of the women working in the Garrett County library system.

How dare they invoke images of "rights and liberties fought for by our foremothers and forefathers" or "our public library have celebrated this month" (referring to Women's History Month) after what they have done — make that, haven't done. I have never witnessed a more blatant case of hypocrisy.

Perhaps it is time for a new "women's rebellion," this time from within the so-called movement. As I already stated, I know many of the vast majority of honorable, heroic women (unsung heroes all) in this county, and I don't believe they are being represented very well. I would like to see them shake up these groups from within. Maybe oust those who play the Round Robin game of musical chairs known as "Which board am I sitting on today?" and get some people involved who are willing to roll up their sleeves and get some work done.

George Falter, Founder
Garrett County Chamber of People

P.S. And to dispel any notion that one might have that I don't understand women's issues, I'll be happy to have my daughter talk to you. She is a lawyer who wrote opinions for Judge Karwacki of the Maryland Court of Appeals before he retired.

House Destroyed

Among the investigators at the scene were Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco Gabriele, plus agents from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms. Senator Hafer and his wife were flown via a Maryland State Police helicopter from Annapolis to Cumberland, and arrived at the Cumberland Airport at about 6:30 p.m.

Hafer was 6 years old in 1936 when his father purchased the farmhouse. He uses the residence as a weekend retreat, and also resides at the Frost Mansion in Frostburg.

"The house is totaled," Hafer said, "but fortunately, everyone is okay, which is the most important thing."

Hafer, a Republican, has served in the Maryland Senate representing Garrett and Allegany counties since 1991.

Hafer Issues Statement On Loss Of House

State Senator John J. Hafer (R-Garrett, Allegany counties) issued a statement yesterday regarding the fire that destroyed his family home near Finzel on Monday, and the criticism that was received by a Maryland State Police official who authorized helicopter transport for Hafer and his wife Lorene from Annapolis to Cumberland on the day of the fire.

MSP Lt. Col. David W. Czorapinski, chief of the MSA support service bureau, authorized the use of the medevac helicopter, and then was reprimanded by MSP Superintendent David B. Mitchell.

"My wife Lorene and I would like to thank our friends, colleagues, and the citizens of Maryland for the gracious outpouring of support that has been expressed to us over the loss of our family homestead," Hafer said. "While the fire destroyed many personal possessions, their thoughts and prayers reinforce to my family what is really important in life.

"Further, I would like to thank the Maryland State Police for their assistance in our time of despair. They serve every citizen of Maryland by going above and beyond the call of duty each and every day. I regret that a State Police lieutenant colonel has been subject to criticism for helping our family, and I feel it appropriate to send financial reimbursement to the state for the cost of transporting Lorene and me to our home during our time of personal distress," he said.

The fuel cost of the flight was estimated to be $600.

Senate Minority Leader Martin G. Madden (R-Howard, Prince George's counties) also commented on the transportation issue. "I commend Senator Hafer's commitment to reimbursing the state for the cost of the trip. In a time of crisis, it speaks volumes to his integrity and character.

"After making a 180-mile trip to Annapolis earlier in the day, Senator Hafer received the frightening and shocking phone call that his home was engulfed in roaring flames," Madden continued. "On learning the news, Senator Hafer's staff ably observed that he was visibly upset and in no condition to make another three-hour, 180-mile drive in rush-hour traffic back to Garrett County. It was a matter of public safety. The State Police was asked for assistance, and it was the decision of the State Police to utilize a helicopter as the means of transportation."

Gorman Church Of God Plans Spring Sale

A spring sale is slated at the Gorman Church of God, located at 7301 George Washington Highway. The sale will be held on Friday, April 6, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., and on Saturday, April 7, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Sale items will include Easter candy, crafts, baked goods, hot dogs, and bunny and cross cakes. A white elephant table will also be set up.

The public is invited to attend the sale.

Boat Launch Open At DCL State Park

The boat launch at Deep Creek Lake State Park has opened for the season, according to DCL Recreation Area manager Paul Durham. The launch is available 24 hours a day, weather permitting. A $2 launch fee is required, which is collected through the honor system. Boat launch users are still required to pay the $3 per car service charge upon entering the state park. The state park boat docks, which are not in place yet, will be installed once the lake is free of ice.

For further information persons may call the DCL State Park Discovery Center at 301-387-7067 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The next monthly meeting of the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad will be held Tuesday, April 10, at the Grantsville Squad Hall, beginning at 7 p.m. New members are welcome to attend or to contact Mary Yoder at 301-895-5988.

GRANTSVILLE SENIOR CENTER

A mini-health fair will be held at the center on Thursday, April 5, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Seniors will have the opportunity to have their hearing and vision checked, and receive information about depression, oral cancer, prescriptions, and blood pressure. All are welcome.

On Thursday, March 29, cake and ice cream was served to all to celebrate the March birthdays of Dorothy Hare, Stella Swauger, Edwin Yoder, Jean Meese, Harriet Buckel, and Hilda Duda.

SOFTBALL TEAM MEETING

A planning team for the Grantsville women's softball team will be held Friday, April 6, at the Grantsville American Legion, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The Grantsville team is part of the Grantsville Men and Women's Softball League. For team information, persons may call Carol Humberson at 301-895-3246.

GRANTSVILLE SCHOOL

The 5th grade class of Mr. Miller has been attending Garrett Community College this week for the College and Me program.

WYCLIFFE BIBLE TRANSLATORS HOLD DINNER

Wycliffe Associates will sponsor a banquet at the Salisbury fire hall in Salisbury, Pa., on Monday, April 9. Speakers for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sheyda, recent missionaries to Brazil. Reservations for the dinner may be made through Grantsville area coordinator, Pastor Dale Curtis, at 301-895-5928.

NORTHERN MAT CLUB

In district tournaments held over the past few weeks, several members of the Northern Mat Club competed, and nine wrestlers qualified to proceed to the regional meet at Millersville University in Millersville, Pa., on Saturday, April 7. Those qualifying include Brent Butler, Cooper Corley, Josh Duckworth, Brock Glotfelty, Casey Kamp, Derrick Kamp, Brandon Opel, Jason Opel, and Jason Warnick.

CEM 1 PRODUCTIONS, Cumberland, will present Rodgers & Hammerstein's The Sound of Music, April 5-8. Pictured are Laura Godfrey (center) as Maria, with the von Trapp children (clockwise from the top) Joshua Ruppenkamp (Friedrich), Heather Stone (Louisa), Rae Michelle Fazenbaker (Brigitta), Gracie Hawkins (Marta), Emma Godfrey (Gretl), Joshua Courtney (Kurt), and Breanna Martin (Liesl). For reservations and information, persons may call 301-777-2667. See story for details.

Sound of Music To Be Performed In Cumberland

CEM 1 Productions will present the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical classic The Sound of Music, April 5 through 8, in the theatre of Allegany College of Maryland, Cumberland.

Directed by Chris McCabe, the production features a cast of over 30 actors and musicians. The music is by Richard Rodgers and lyrics are by Oscar Hammerstein.

Portraying Maria will be Laura Godfrey. Captain Georg von Trapp is played by local theatre veteran Ron Growden. His children will be: Breanna Martin (Liesl), Joshua Ruppenkamp (Friedrich), Heather Stone (Louisa), Joshua Courtney (Kurt), Rae Michelle Fazenbaker (Brigitta), Gracie Hawkins (Marta), and Emma Godfrey (Gretl) The Mother Abbess will be played by Maude McDaniel. The role of Max Detwiler will be played by Tom Vogtman, and the Baroness, Elsa Schraeder, will be portrayed by JoAnn Fletcher, Grantsville.

Ms. Fletcher is the Garrett County Big Brothers Big Sisters coordinator. A group from Big Brothers Big Sisters will be attending the Sunday, April 8, matinee performance as their monthly activity.

Performances will be presented April 5, 6, and 7 at 8 p.m. and April 8 at 2 p.m. For information and reservations, persons may call The CEM 1 Box Office at 301-777-2667.

Marsh Mountain Consort Next Up At Bach's Lunch

The "Bach's Lunch" Lenten musical series, presented on Wednesdays at noon at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church during the season of Lent, will next feature the Marsh Mountain Consort, a locally based recorder ensemble.

The concert is set for next Wednesday, April 4, beginning at 12:05 p.m. It will last approximately 30 minutes. Admission is free; however, free-will donations are appreciated. Persons are invited to pack a bag/boxed lunch and have lunch in the church parish hall following the concert.

The final concert in the series for this year will be presented Wednesday, April 25, after having been postponed earlier because of winter weather conditions. It will feature Susan Peterson on flute and Jerry McGee, organist.

Diary Of Anne Frank Slated At Frostburg State

Season Too! will present a student-directed production, The Diary of Anne Frank, on Friday, April 6, and Saturday, April 7, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre.

Written by Francis Goodrich and Albert Hackett, this play is based on the famous diary kept by Holocaust victim Anne Frank from 1942 to 1945, while she was in hiding with her family and four other individuals in Amsterdam, Holland.

According to director Carly Churchey, a senior theatre major at FSU, the two-hour drama is being staged "with great consideration to historical accuracy and naturalism."

The Frank family is portrayed by Andrea Dian Smith as Anne, David Lowe Jr. as her father, Aideen McDonnell as her mother, and Jennifer Johnson as her sister Margot.

Portraying the Van Daan family are John Bennett as the father, Tiffany Pirolozzi as the mother, and Ben Russo as the son Peter.

Supporting roles are played by Sean Lyons as Mr. Kraler and Jennifer Arnold as Miep Gies, as well as Crystal Rice, Robert Prato, Chris Hill, and John-Michael Rolnick, who portray German soldiers.

The stage crew consists of Megan Adams, stage manager; Justin Seward, set designer; Jennifer Null, costume designer; Chris Dudeck, lighting designer; and David Fox, sound designer.

For information and reservations, persons may call 301-687-4145 Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Tickets are $3.

Eating, Visiting

by Mrs. Nabisco

All I have to tell you this week is everything I have eaten, and that is a lot, considering I am now in the hospital with a big fat stomach.

I started the week off slowly with a small brunch with the gals from the church on Sunday. It was smaller than usual. The four of us had omelets, pancakes, eggs Benedict, toast, muffins, juice, coffee, bacon, fruit, and my famous glornie doones to complete the meal. Because that was brunch, we waited until 12:30 p.m. to have lunch at the "all-you-could-eat spaghetti dinner" held at the fire hall.

Monday, I was busy sending e-mails, because as you know, I am very technologically advanced, although I did have time to go to little Debbie's house for dinner. We talked about the weather, the changing stock market, various hairstyles, the differences in cat litter, and the list goes on and on.

We were so busy gabbing we almost forgot to eat. We had a wonderful soup and salad to start with, followed by chicken cordon bleu, roast beef, mashed potatoes, scalloped potatoes, broccoli, succotash, beets, corn bread, and homemade noodles.

For dessert, we had Debbie's wonderful chocolate cake rolls, oatmeal cream pies, and banana cake bars.

I think the last three or four banana cake bars put me over the edge. Dr. Doolittle said I had an overextended stomach, irritated intestinal tract, some gout, a little cholesterol, gingervitis, and simple chronic halitosis.

In simple terms, I ate too much and didn't brush my teeth. Guess next week I will only have seconds at dessert.

Until next week, happy eating.....

OBITUARIES

IMA GONER

Ima Goner, 102, succumbed yesterday shortly after bench pressing an anvil. She was in a daily habit of benching the item, but had added new weighted wrist bands to better buff her forearms.

She is survived by her mother, Stella Breathin, and a smattering of children, brothers, sisters, cousins, and pet ferrets.

She was an active member of the Tae Kwon Do Auxiliary and the One-Legged Pickle Seed Kicking Club. She was so thin she had to jump around in the shower to get wet, and she wore size 11 shoe, wide. A graduate of the Academy of Paper Maché, she earned extra hours in popsicle stick assembly and luge steering.

In addition to her club membership, she collected lint and foil. She liked to eat shaved kiwi and those little Nip-Chee crackers. She preferred cold water in her bath, and found joy in startling squirrels.

A service is slated for Tuesday evening at 10 p.m. to commemorate the timeslot of her favorite television program, Discovering Your Spleen. The body will be stuffed.

The family asks that expressions of sympathy take the form of Ben & Jerry's ice cream and soft bagels.

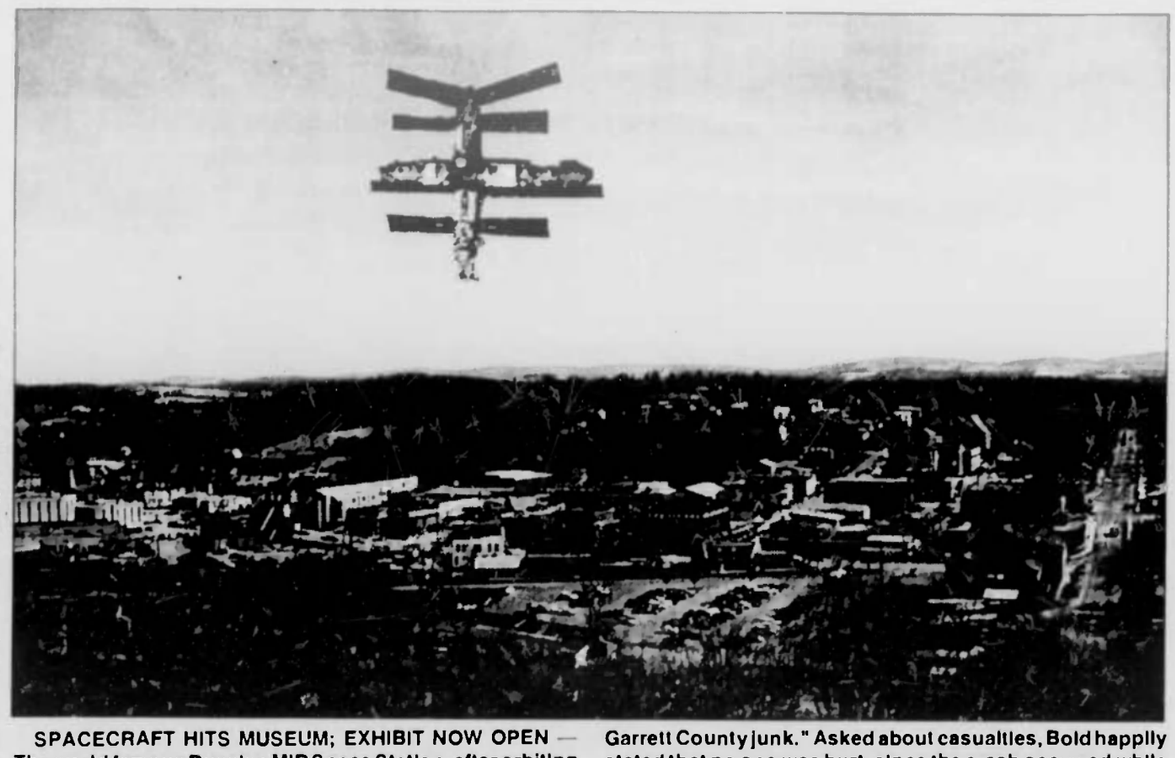
Letter

Dear Editor,

I want a job at your paper. I am a Democrat. Is that okay? I write short sentences. Do you mind? I read fast. I type good.

Sincerely,

Ima Dork



SPACECRAFT HITS MUSEUM; EXHIBIT NOW OPEN — The world famous Russian MIR Space Station, after orbiting the planet Earth for 15 years, finally came to rest last Thursday afternoon, landing directly on the Garrett County Historical Society Museum in Oakland. The station, shown above seconds before impact, struck the museum's upper-floor offices at approximately 2:42 p.m., traveling at about 576,000 miles per hour. It arrived at the bottom floor milliseconds later, striking a direct hit on the museum's "gloves through the ages" display. The fact that his museum has been destroyed in an apocalyptic, fiery crash has not dampened the spirit of society president and museum curator Robert Bold, as he has chosen to look on the bright side of the disaster. "Are you kidding? This is the best exhibit we've ever had here," said Bold in a press conference held Friday morning, after he and his staff spent the night sifting through the rubble and assessing the damage. "Oh, it pretty much vaporized everything that we had," Bold said, "but . . . who cares? People will come from all over the country to see this thing; it's got much more drawing power than all that old Garrett County junk." Asked about casualties, Bold happily stated that no one was hurt, since the crash occurred while the entire staff was out for coffee. In fact, the only living things lost in the crash were a family of mice Bold had been trying to evict for some time. "Those mice have finally gone to that great space station in the sky," stated Bold. "Or rather the one that used to be in the sky." Visitors are encouraged to view the new exhibit any time they choose, since there is currently no way to close the museum. "We're open 24-7," Bold said, "since we don't really have any doors or windows anymore, or walls, for that matter. It's kind of hard to close when the building's a pile of rubble with a space station on top." However, there will be a charge for admission, as museum officials have identified a need for funds to rebuild infrastructure. "We need to buy a padlock for the station's front hatch," Bold stated. "Otherwise, who knows what kind of hooligans will be coming in here, stealing pieces of space junk and old vacuum bags of freeze-dried borscht." However, the curator does plan to offer a free glass of Tang to the first 100 visitors while supply lasts. "Y'all come," he added.

Governor Ferris Wheel Blendrenning Gives Update

In his State of the State's State Address this week, Governor Ferris Wheel Blendrenning discussed the amenities offered throughout the state, including Deep Creek Lake and its surroundings.

"Deep Creek Lake is a jewel in Garrett County's recreational crown," Blendrenning said. His discussion then turned to Gappy Tooth Park, a ward of the state. "Gappy Tooth Park is a jewel in Allegany County's golf and hotel business crown," the governor said.

"And Ocean City is the jewel in Worchester County's body-surfing crown, and Annapolis is the jewel in the historical significance crown. Let's see . . . Baltimore City is the jewel in the really awesome aquarium crown, and St. Mary's is, I'm sure, some kind of jewel in someone's crown. I don't know. There's lots of jewels. And crowns."

That was about all he said.

Sharp Remarks Cut A Two-Day Suspension

An incident that occurred late Monday evening has led to the two-day suspension of a bureaucratic official, according to another bureaucratic official.

Officer Sam E. Flatfoot was standing next to his patrol car when his superior officer came outside to reprimand him. The superior issued a sharp rebuke and uttered cutting remarks, which went right over Officer Flatfoot's head and caused extensive damage to his patrol car.

"You can see where those cutting remarks have dented and scratched the paint all over the side and hood of my cruiser," commented Flatfoot. "And that sharp rebuke slashed a hole plumb through my front tire."

Jaywalkers and litterers will be the source of money used to pay for the repairs. The officer's supervisor was unavailable for comment, sharp or otherwise.

READY TO MAKE HIS MARK on your heart, this adorable pooch is available for adoption through the local animal smelter. "He's the perfect pet for the homeowner with yellow socks, shoes, carpets, and walls," said a smelter spokesperson.

Rumpus-Pigpoke Wedding Slated

Sally Pigpoke and Reifert Rumpus, both of Buzzard Neck, have announced their engagement and forthcoming wedding. They don't really want to get married, but they're both 26 and feeling a lot of pressure from their friends.

Sally is gainfully employed in dish maintenance at Goiter's Restaurant and Fill Dirt Center. She holds an e-mail correspondence certificate in calligraphy.

Reifert is a cow-kicker shin-guard salesman and a member of Ye Olde Reluctant Dragon Society, for which he was recently crowned the Venerated Fire Douser. They gave him a new fez and everything.

They guess they'll do it in a few weeks, probably on Wednesday night because that's the only evening they don't play bingo. You can come if you want to. Gifts are mandatory.

Skateboard Run Proposed For Backbone Mtn.

The Garrett County International Olympic Committee has proposed the construction of a 4-mile-long skateboard run that would follow the center line of Route 135 down Backbone Mountain. Wanderingsports Program director Lincoln Logsdonne unveiled the $12.5 million proposal yesterday to the cheers of the county commissars, who had donned orange spiked hairstyles for the occasion.

Local skateboarders approved the proposal as well. "Yo dude, that would be extreme to the max," said Reggae Yoder. "Vertical speed goes up when you are going downhill. It would be wiggin' awesome."

In a related development, the Dry-Towns Ambulance Service will relocate its Westernport station to the 90-degree turn of Route 135 at the bottom of Backbone Mountain. "There won't be any doors on the ambulance bays," Chief Geteni Andgo stated. "We'll just let 'em roll on into the station and come to a quick stop at the rock face. We've also made large spatulas standard issue for all station personnel to help facilitate patient recovery."

Local College To Offer An Office Neatness Lecture

The local college will soon offer a seminar on keeping a neat and orderly desk. Several people in the office of The Nacilbuper newspaper have already pre-registered for the lecture, which will be held April 1.

The course will be taught by a local reporter at the newspaper, who was recently told that "a neat desk is the sign of a frightened mind." She, Winkie Winkelvoss, decided to be the guest speaker in this course after that comment was made and the clutter on the nearby desk started to crawl toward her area.

"I understand that some people are organized, even though it doesn't look like it," Winkelvoss said. "I have been told that a messy desk is the sign of creativity. That is fine, but keep it in your own area and keep it out of sight."

Another reporter, who shall remain nameless, retorted by saying, "Keep your eyes on your own desk, kid." This reporter was immediately signed up for the course by Winkelvoss. In fact, three out of four reporters in the newsroom will be attending the course.

The public is invited to attend the free course. Persons interested may call 1-800-NEAT-FREAK for more information.

Nacilbuper To Use Alternate Page Numbers

The Nacilbuper newspaper will discontinue using consecutive page and section numbers and letters.

From now on the page numbers will vary each week, according to the editor. "Some weeks we may use all numbers that are the root of 435, some weeks we may count backwards, and some weeks we may not use any numbers at all and only use Greek letters," said Editor Dull Pencil.

According to Pencil, this will provide variety to the readers and "fun for all."

This page is a joke. Really. We're serious.

Mad Ramp Disease Running Rampant

A virulent strain of mad ramp disease has struck the region. "All ramps should be carefully washed, burned, and buried before being consumed," warned health department officer Glodney Rotfelty. "A person who eats tainted ramps will immediately notice something wrong when their breath becomes minty fresh instead of smelling like a cowpie on fire."

Pachyderm Debate Continues; More Sightings Noted

The elephant debate in and around the county heated up this week when another incident of a nuisance pachyderm was reported to the Department of Unnatural Resources (DUR). According to reports, the 3,000-pound female sat on a Hyundai Excel parked along Rt. 219. The Excel was declared a total loss. Elephant defenders claim the car shouldn't have been parked along the roadway.

"We try and try to tell people — don't park your cars in elephant country. But do they listen? No. And not only that, but inside this car was a new jar of Jif. What do you expect?" asked Shaharazod Treehugger. "The elephant and the human can co-exist if people just give a little. And they're such nice animals, so gray and big. And so wrinkly."

On the other side of the debate, Mrs. Igotta Gunn said the elephants are completely out of control.

"Oh, sure, elephants are cute — cute 'til they sit on your head!" she said. "They're real cute 'til they walk through your garage and carry it 8 miles away, or step on your dahlias. You can go right over to West Virginia and shoot as much packyderm as you want — what's wrong with our state?"

The president of the Gentlemen's Homemakers Club gave his view on the subject. "Everyone knows how value-bul they's teeth is. Why, we kin redo a whole pianny keyboard with one adult tusk. We kin raise a good bit a' dough. I jes want they's teeth, thas all."

On a tip provided by Jimmy Dufus, who asked that his name not be published, the reporters of the Nacilbuper did a little digging into the issue. After much bribing and promises of Reuben sandwiches from Englander's, it was learned that the DUR was apparently trapping the elephants in Howard County and dropping them off in our neck of the woods.

"The population had really been dropping off," said a DUR deep-throat. "It was time to bring the elephant back to its natural habitat."

However, it has since been learned that too many elephants were relocated here, so the DUR has planned to release 1.8 million mice next week to scare the 'phants away.

"Thank goodness for wise management," said Nimrod Squat, a person of little consequence. "What a mess it would all be if there weren't humans around to manage nature."

Lobotomy May Be Performed On Employee

An employee of The Nacilbuper newspaper has been airlifted to a hospital in Pittsburgh for treatment and possible lobotomy.

Morticia Gross was demonstrating her new tennis shoes that convert into roller skates when she tumbled down the stairs and out into the alley. As she flew down the stairs, she injured the editor, a press room worker, two reporters, and a rat who inhabits the press room.

"The first concern was the rat," said another employee, who wished her name not be published. "He has become part of the family, and if he doesn't survive the operation, heads will roll."

According to the police, only the rat sustained serious injuries.

It was reported that Gross was heard yelling, "But they (the shoes) look so cool," as she skated down the steps.

She was listed in fair condition for her injuries, but the editor, who suffered a bruised ego and ankle, contacted the doctors personally and requested a possible lobotomy for Ms. Gross.

Since he is the editor and has a lot of clout, the request is likely to be honored. No further information was available at press time.

Bull Riding Accident Leads To DWI Arrest

A Swanton man was arrested Saturday for riding an animal while intoxicated (RAWI) when the police found him and a bull unconscious in a pasture on his property.

According to the report, John John, 89, decided to take the bull "out for a spin around the yard" when they hit the gate around 1 a.m. The police found the bull's head stuck in the gate and John unconscious on the ground.

After regaining consciousness, John failed the administered sobriety tests. He was transported to the hospital, where he was observed overnight for head injuries, and was later released.

"I thought I'd take old Vernon out for a stroll to see the stars," John told police. "I reckon I really did see stars, 'cause next thin I knowed, I was in the hospital."

The bull was not injured in the ordeal.

In another incident, one person and one truck were transported for serious injuries after a motor vehicle accident early Sunday morning along High Street.

Chick Filette, operating a 2001 Dodge Ram truck, was attempting to turn onto High Street when a 1995 Dodge Neon, operated by Rose Bud, Loch Lynn, hit the truck broadside.

According to the police, the truck was completely destroyed. The report also cited that the Neon had a small scratch on the front right bumper.

Filette was transported to the hospital, where he remains in critical condition. According to the hospital, Filette suffers from numerous broken bones, a ruptured spleen, a minor head injury, a bad hair cut, and many hangnails.

The truck was transported to a local junkyard.

Bud told police that a chipmunk ran into the road, causing her to swerve and hit the truck. The police are still debating on whether or not to charge Bud. At press time, they were still split 50-50 on the value of a chipmunk's life.

An Oakland woman was injured Monday when she was hit by falling prices at Floor-Mart Discount Center.

Tallulu Hasenpfeffer, 101, suffered a broken hip when she was hit as a price tag was singing and "turning back" in the lawn and garden center.

"I enjoy Floor-Mart's discounted prices, but didn't realize they would sting like the dickens when one hit you," Hasenpfeffer told police.

According to the hospital staff, they could only keep her admitted for one day. Hasenpfeffer signed herself out of the hospital so she could return to the store and finish her shopping.

It's April, fool.

Wolfes Celebrate 65th Anniversary

Dalton Wayne and Florence (Wilson) Wolfe of the Lake Ford area of Oakland will observe their 65th wedding anniversary on Wednesday, April 4. The couple were married at home on April 4, 1936, by Rev. S.E. Ryan.

Mr. Wolfe was employed in a variety of fields, including electrical engineering, electronic instrument repair, general contracting, timbering, and coal mining. Mrs. Wolfe is a housewife. They are members of the Lake Ford United Methodist Church.

The couple have three children, John W. Wolfe, Oakland; Carol Ann Anderson, Blairs, Va.; and Robert Wolfe, Oakland; eight grandchildren; and numerous great-grandchildren.

The Wolfes reside at 5915 Cranesville Rd., Oakland, MD 21550.

Wampler Couple Celebrating 65th

Raymond and Dorcas Wampler, Swanton, will celebrate their 65th wedding annivasary next month. Reverend George Baughman married the couple in Cumberland on April 11, 1936.

Mr. Wampler is the son of the late Jonas and Sarah Wampler. He was self-employed and is also retired from the Glenn L. Martin aircraft manufacturer of Baltimore.

Mrs. Wampler is the daughter of the late Jesse and Annabelle Broadwater. She is also a retiree of Glenn L. Martin.

They have two daughters, Helen Mainhart of Brookfield Center, Conn., and Judy Harhager of Stewartstown, Pa., six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

An anniversary card shower is being held in their honor. Friends and family are invited to celebrate the occasion with them by sending cards of congratulations to the following address: 16608 W. Liberty Road, Stewartstown, PA 17363.

Liller-Beckman Wedding Planned

John and Nora Liller, Friendsville, and Janice Gillespie, Ohio, announce the marriage of their daughter, Amy Deanna Liller, to Stephen Eugene Beckman Jr., son of Stephen Sr. and Lillie Beckman, Crellin. The couple have been engaged since Christmas 2000.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Southern High School. She is employed at Towne Restaurant in Oakland.

Mr. Beckman is a 1994 graduate of Southern High School, and is employed by Wal-Mart in Oakland.

The wedding ceremony will take place on Saturday, April 21, at 2 p.m. at the Mountaintop Christian Assembly of God Church, Mtn. Lake Park. The reception will follow in the fellowship hall.

Although some invitations have been sent, all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Warnick-Collins Couple Exchange Wedding Vows

James R. Collins, son of Robert and Gladys Collins of Swanton, and Tonya L. Warnick, daughter of Shirley Warnick of Swanton and the late Ronald Warnick Sr., were married on Feb. 14 in Oakland.

The bridegroom is employed by Humberson Homes, and the bride is a homemaker. They reside in Swanton with their children, Jay, son of the bride, and Brandi, daughter of the couple.

COUPLES RENEW VOWS — Eighteen couples renewed their wedding vows recently at the Mt. Zion Methodist Church, located along Rt. 40 near Grantsville, as part of the church's "Renewing of Wedding Vows Service," which was presided over by Rev. Steven Lightner. Organist Carolyn Ganoe provided the music along with various soloists. Connie Burdock sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Only God Could Love You More," and Loretta Hummel sang "An Old Song of Love." Burdock and Lola Rowe performed "O Perfect Love" and "Each for the Other." The women received a rose bouquet and the men received boutonnieres. Each couple was also presented the book Still the One. Pictures were taken by Wamsley Portrait Gallery, and dinner followed the service in the church social room with a cake baked by Betty Burdock. Altar flowers were placed by Twila Mae Fike, Mildred Husselbaugh, Connie Burdock, Lola Rowe, and Sheila Baker in memory of Leonard and Mary Wilhelm's wedding anniversary, which would have been Feb. 14. Candelabras and a unity candle adorned the altar. The couples were married a total of 530 years. Pictured in the front row, left to right, are John and Lola Rowe, Rev. Steven Lightner, Jennie Stark, Juanita Spiker, and Tracy and Lowell Broadwater. In the second row are Harry and Connie Burdock, Diana and Roy Broadwater, Sheila and Dale Baker, Ira Stark, Jack Spiker, Twila Mae and Harold Fike, and Carol Bower. In the third row are James and Linda Conner, Donnie and Chrisay Jenkins, Loretta and Ben Hummel, Carol and Ward Frazee, Judy and Larry Lovell, Naomi and Shane Kyle, Lillian and James Guthrie, and Bill Bower. Not present for the picture were Jodi and Steve McClintock and Autumn and Brian Barclay.

Bosley Fans 16 In Southern's 6-1 Opening Win At Preston

The Southern High School girls' varsity softball squad picked up where it left off last season, as the Rams quickly established themselves as a powerhouse again in yesterday's convincing 6-1 opening win at Preston. Mound wizard and two-time All-Area Player of the Year Jennifer Bosley gave up only three hits while recording 16 strikeouts in a seven-inning complete-game performance.

The Rams wasted no time in giving Bosley more than enough runs to work with by jumping out to a 3-0 first-inning lead. Junior Autumn Uphold singled and soon scampered home when classmate Ashley Liller punched out an RBI single. Bosley drew a walk to put runners on first and second, and both she and Liller subsequently scored on Knight errors.

Southern scored a single run in the second inning, then two more in the fourth after Uphold singled and Liller drew a walk to put runners on first and second. Deja vu struck when the two runners scored on a pair of Preston errors, and the Rams were comfortably in the driver's seat by a 6-0 margin.

The Knights' Jessica Lewis tagged Bosley for an RBI double in the seventh and final inning, but the junior hurler bore down and closed out the contest by leaving Lewis stranded on base.

Uphold led the Rams at the plate by punching out three singles, while Ashley Hardesty rounded out Preston's offensive output by adding a pair of singles to the Lewis double. Southern tallied seven hits while committing a lone error, and the Knights totaled three hits and four errors.

The Southern varsity is slated to take on Northern in Accident today at 4:30 p.m., and the Rams' home opener is scheduled for Wednesday when Preston visits Oakland for a 4:30 p.m. rematch.

DiSimone Fires Two-Hitter In Win At Keyser

The most successful high school baseball program in the area in recent history, the Southern High School varsity, opened its 2001 campaign with a bang yesterday afternoon by blanking host Keyser, 8-0, on the Potomac State College diamond. Justin DiSimone fired a two-hitter for the Rams, while he and his teammates finished with seven hits.

The Rams opened their scoring with four runs in the top of the second inning, added three more in the fourth, and tacked on an insurance run in the sixth. Chad Panther and Steve Elswert accounted for four of the Rams' hits, as he recorded a double and a single.

DiSimone issued no walks and struck out six in going the distance on the mound. The only Golden Tornadoes who managed to connect for hits were Eric Melody and James Altobello, who each stroked a single.

It was the first loss in three starts for Keyser.

The Rams are scheduled to travel to Kingwood, W.Va., this Friday to take on the Preston Knights at 4:30 p.m. They will travel to Hampshire High School this Saturday, play at Allegany next Monday, and then host Preston for their home opener next Wednesday.

A SPECIAL ASSEMBLY was held in the gymnasium of Southern High School on Friday to present a number of special awards, the most significant of which was the Mildred Haney Murray Award for Sportsmanship, presented to one school in the Maryland State 1A Basketball Tournament that is rated by judges as demonstrating the best overall sportsmanship. The evaluation includes the actions of coaches, players, cheerleaders, band members, and fans from the schools that earn a spot in the state tourney. The award was presented this year to the Southern girls' varsity basketball team, which finished second in the state 1A tournament. NHS Softball Squad Loses Debut At Alco

The Northern High School varsity softball squad fell in Monday's season opener at Allegany High, 18-4. The Huskies had their hands full going up against the defending Western Maryland Interscholastic League champs, and were held to only three hits by the Camper pitching duo of Jen Cook and Heather Laffey.

Northern got off to a good start in the contest, as the Huskies mounted a 3-0 lead in the top half of the first inning. Alco rebounded with a 10-run explosion in the second inning, a five-run third inning tally, and a three-run fourth on its way to a 15-run lead. NHS scored one run in the top of the fifth before the game was called in accordance with the 10-run mercy rule.

Jolene Brenneman accounted for a pair of Husky singles on offense, and worked the entire game from the mound in her first varsity start. The junior gave up nine hits, a figure not ordinarily associated with an 18-run total, while the Huskies committed a pair of fielding errors.

Cook whacked a triple and a double for the Camp-ers, and teammate Lacey Smith doubled and singled. Shanae Proud punched out a pair of singles, and Corrine McKenzie belted a double. Cook earned the win by striking out four over her three innings of pitching duty. Laffey fanned a trio of Huskies over the final two innings to take the save.

Northern's feet will stay to the fire during action of the coming week, as the young Huskies will be tested this afternoon in a 4:30 home game against defending regional champ Southern. NHS travels to Fort Hill Tuesday to take on the Sentinels.

Huskies Fall By 14-6 Margin In Hancock Debut

Northern High School's varsity baseball team got off to a slow start in yesterday's season debut at Hancock, as the Huskies were defeated by the Panthers 14-6 in an abbreviated six-inning contest called on account of darkness.

NHS's fortunes looked promising when the Huskies opened with a one-run first inning and a three-run second to take a 4-0 lead. Hancock struck back with a pair of runs in the bottom of the second stanza to halve the margin, then busted loose for eight runs in the third to go up 10-4. The Panthers roughed up junior starter Greg Whittemore and reliever Cliff Everett, a sophomore, in the third-inning flurry, knocking out four hits and drawing six walks.

Northern scored one run in the fourth inning, and Hancock responded with a run in the fifth to make the score 11-5. The Huskies scored another run in the top of the sixth, but the hosts tagged sophomore reliever Dan Vagnetti with three runs in the bottom of the stanza to bring their margin of victory to eight.

Senior Jeremy Frazee stroked a double and an RBI single for Northern, Whittemore singled twice, and senior Greg Speicher and junior Bryan Lenhart each punched out a pair of RBI singles. Hancock's Mark Hoffman tallied a pair of singles, two runs, and one RBI, while teammate Justin Moore belted an RBI double. NHS totaled seven hits and three errors, and the Panthers had eight hits and three miscues.

Northern reportedly faces arch-rival Westmar in a 6 p.m. make-up game tomorrow evening in Lonaconing, then debuts on its home diamond in a noon Saturday doubleheader against Mapletown. The Huskies travel to Cumberland Wednesday to take on Fort Hill.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of my son "Dink" who died on Good Friday, April 1, 1983.

It is lonely here without you, so sad along life's way. Life does not seem the same to me, since you were called away. It broke my heart to lose you, but you did not go alone, for part of me went with you that day God called you home. They say time heals all sorrow and helps us to forget, but time so far has only proved how much I miss you yet.

Dearly loved, fondly remembered, and sadly missed.

Lakers Win Two Of Five; Record Is 7-5

The Garrett Community College baseball team played five games this past week, and had a sixth one postponed on Tuesday because of the remaining, subfreezing winter conditions. The Lakers split a doubleheader with Hudson Valley CC in Conway, S.C., last Thursday, coasting to a 12-0 win in the opener, but dropping the nightcap, 7-6; then cruised to an 11-5 victory over the junior varsity of Methodist College on Friday in Fayetteville, N.C.; and finally dropped both ends of a doubleheader in Cumberland on Saturday, 3-0 and 15-2, to undefeated and arch-rival Allegany College of Maryland. The results left them with an overall record of 7-5.

Garrett was to have played a doubleheader, home opener on Tuesday against the Frostburg State University jayvees, but that encounter was postponed because of the weather conditions.

The Lakers practically won the first game against Hudson Valley last Thursday in the top of the first inning, as they scored seven runs in that frame. They added a single run in the second, and two each in the fourth and fifth innings before the game was called because of the 10-run rule.

Laker pitchers Jason DiAngelo and Mike Berry combined on a two-hitter, while the GCC offensive effort generated a dozen hits.

HR: Matt Mills (Garrett).

Brandon Stewart went 2-for-3, smacked a two-run homer in the fifth, and scored twice, while Craig Barkey and Dennis Show each had a double. Ryan Wetzel scored three times.

After falling behind 3-0 in the second game, Laker Matt Mills rapped a solo homer in the top of the second inning, and Garrett added another run in the top of the third to cut the Hudson Valley lead to 3-2. But the host team scored three more runs in the bottom of the fifth, and held off rallies by the Lakers in both the sixth and seventh innings to ice the win.

Dean Altavilla and Tim Casey each hit a double and two singles for the Lakers, and Mills had a single to go with his home run. The Lakers finished with an 11-10 edge in hits.

Garrett fell behind by a 5-1 margin early in Friday's game against the Methodist College junior varsity, but rallied for 10 runs, including four in the third and four in the fifth, to get their seventh win of the 2001 campaign.

A grand slam by Adam Skocik in the fifth inning gave the Lakers a 10-5 lead. Skocik was 3-for-5 for the afternoon, as he also had a pair of singles. He finished with five RBI and scored two runs.

Hitting four singles for Garrett was Chad Cooper, who also scored three times, while Barkey contributed three singles and three RBI. Mills and Dan Kochenderfer each hit two singles in the Lakers 18-hit performance.

Taking the mound in the first inning after starter Myron Deal got into trouble was Dave Tranquilli, who earned the win. Methodist finished with just three hits.

The Lakers' bats were all but silenced by a pair of Allegany College pitchers on Saturday, as Craig Stabinsky allowed only three GCC hits in the first game, and David Theisen matched that effort in game number two.

The first game was a scoreless defensive battle until the bottom of the fifth when the Trojans finally recorded a pair of runs, as Dan Patsilevas rapped a triple, scored on a single by Jerry Fulton, and after a passed ball, Brett Brown followed with a single to plate Fulton. They added one in the sixth when Mike Elliott came home on a single by Patsilevas.

Nathon Gayman and Mike Berry pitched for the Lakers and allowed a total of only six hits.

The Trojans erupted for 13 hits against three GCC pitchers in the second game, and scored five runs in the second, four in the third, and six in the fourth to record their 13 win in a row this season.

Nick Gozzard and Matt Ripple each had a two-run single in the second inning, while Scott Kintz, Patsilevas, and Nate Babcock each hit solo homers, and Josh Logsdon hit a two-run shot in the fourth frame. Justin Cook ripped a three-run homer in the third inning.

The Lakers are scheduled to play a twinbill today at the Community College of Allegheny-South in Pennsylvania. They will host Anne Arundel CC in a doubleheader on Saturday, play two games at the Essex campus of the Community College of Baltimore County next Tuesday, and host Potomac State College in a single game next Wednesday.

'HOPING TO MAKE ANOTHER "RACQUET" IN WMIL PLAY, the 2001 Southern High School boys' varsity tennis team is on the hunt for a repeat of last year's first-place finish in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League. Top-seeded Ram Josh Stephens and second seed Dustin Silder, the squad's only returning seniors, have been in the program each of their four years at Southern. Two other members of last year's squad, Steve Teagarden and Jeremy Durst, "have improved greatly," according to SHS tennis coach Diana Ashby. Kneeling from the left are Nick Perry, Willie Davis, Nathan Gregg, and Kody Morfoot. Standing are Durst, Stephens, Coach Ashby, Teagarden, and Silder.

A WELL-MATCHED TEAM, the 2001 Ram girls' varsity squad at Southern High School has a lot of enthusiasm this year, according to SHS tennis coach Diana Ashby. "The four seniors — Kristin Stanton, Majel Skeweris, Sarah Teets, and Tasha Sellhamer — beat each other out in practice one day, then change winners the next," the Rams' skipper said. The competitive in-house play should help lead to some wins over teams the squad lost to last year, she added. Seated in the foreground is Ann Johnson, and kneeling from the left are Skeweris, Teets, and Stanton. Standing are Britney Taylor, Sellhamer, Stephanie Smith, and Maria Watkins.

Husky Tennis Squads Get Off To Slow Start

Both the boys' and girls' tennis teams of Northern High School struggled in their first two matches of the season this week, as the squads dropped 7-0 road matches at the hands of perennial powerhouses Fort Hill and Keyser.

The Husky boys were blanked by the Sentinels in their Monday opener in Cumberland. Fort Hill's John Rice, Tyler Lonigro, Adam Martin, Zach Whittington, and Matt McCoy took their singles matches, while the doubles teams of Rice/Lonigro and Steve Shaffer/Tim Mason took their respective matches.

NHS's girls faired no better as the Sentinels took the singles competition behind the play of Jessica Hovatter, Katie Zajdel, Sara Bruszewski, Elana Malak, and Lynn Lancaster. Hovatter/Bruszewski and Vanesah Noccel and Kelly Hallam were FH's doubles team victors.

Yesterday's trip to Keyser had similar results, as both Husky squads fell to Golden Tornado shutouts. John Gustafson, Adam Pritts, Matt Williams, and Rajesh Shendy each took singles play victories for the Keyser boys, and Gustafson/Pritts, Williams/Shendy, and Troy Ravenscroft and Clint Hoalcraft won in doubles competition.

Northern's girls fell in singles play to Golden Tornado players Julie Pritts, Juli Woy, Katie Pritts, and Swati Shroff, while Keyser's doubles pairings of Julie Pritts/Woy, Katie Pritts/Shroff, and Megan Boehmes/Kari McDonald took victories as well.

The Huskies hope to rebound in this week's action, as they travel to Allegany Monday and visit Frankfort Thursday.

NHS TENNIS TEAM HAS EXPERIENCE — The young Northern High School girls' tennis team has all but one player returning from last year's 10-4 squad, and the Huskies are banking that their experience will lead to a repeat of that success this year. Ashley Robinson, only a junior, is the team's returning #1 seed; sophomore Heather Lander is seeded #2, and will be paired with #4 seed junior Christie Flockhart in what Coach Linda Wengerd noted as a "very strong" doubles team. The lone senior, Renee Myers, is seeded #3 and brings last year's Region tourney experience to bear this season. Junior Amber Weimer rounds out the top seeds at #5. Pictured in the front row, from the left, are Mirlah Fletcher, Jennifer Lowdermilk, Annie Donaldson, Meyers, Lauren McIntosh, and Robinson. In the back row are Coach Wengerd, Rachel Bruch, Weimer, Flockhart, Nicole Sisler, Emily Downton, and Lander. Andrea Green was not available for the photo. "The girls show a lot of enthusiasm, and there is tremendous competition within the team to determine seeds," Wengerd commented. "We're looking for a lot of growth within the team and much improvement. Overall, the season should be very successful, and we're looking at having several players earn spots in the Regional Tournament in Hagerstown."

HUSKIES READY TO RUSH NETS — The boys' varsity tennis squad of Northern High School is hoping to make an impact in WMIL play this season with aggressive play. HUSKY MATMEN HONORED - The members of the Northern High School wrestling team, who finished in second place in the Maryland State 1A/2A championships earlier this month, concluded their season last week with an awards program to honor the most outstanding members of the squad. Pictured above, from left, are: Brandon Kamp, Most Nearfalls and Most Reversals; Jeremiah Guard, Doug Carey Award; Mark Wolf, Most Valuable Wrestler; Pete Stein, Pin Award (25 pins this season); Aaron Hordubay, assistant coach; Blake Huber, Lee Sutherland Award, and head coach Scott Stough. Wolf and Huber also received awards for recording over 100 pins during their high school careers. Below are the recipients of the Minds in Motion awards, presented to those students who maintain a high grade point average while engaged in their particular sport season. From left are: Mitchell Guard, Mike Deem, Eric Garlitz, and Coach Stough.

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

Winter seems to be hanging on with extra tenacity this year, but that hasn't stopped our outdoor enthusiasts from making big plans for the coming spring and summer seasons.

In fact, this very weekend, Spring Creek Outfitters in McHenry is sponsoring an open house and their first annual fly-fishing tournament to be held on the Casselman fly-fishing waters. Format for the fishing competition will be anglers going out in flights of two-hour duration. In that time, the competing angler will measure one fish of his choosing, at which time his fishing is over. It may be the first fish caught or not. Anyhow, the longest fish logged in will determine the winner. Harold Harsh said that the competition will commence at 10 a.m. and all anglers should be signed up by that time. There is a $10 fee for competing anglers.

The fishing tournament will be this Saturday, March 31, with the open house lasting Friday (March 30) through Sunday (April 1). Scheduled for appearances at the open house are noted fly-tiers Dave Rothrock, Walt Young, Joe Soma, Randy Buchanan, Kerian Frey, and others. For more specifics on the open house and fly-fishing tournament, call Spring Creek Outfitters at 301-387-2034 or e-mail anoland@gcnet.net.

FREE NRA YOUTH MEMBERSHIPS

Youngsters interested in learning more about the shooting sports now have a cost-free way to explore hands-on what NRA membership can offer. Available to first-time NRA junior members under the age of 18, the NRA's free six-month youth membership includes six issues of Insights (NRA's youth member magazine), four NRA youth logo decals, and an official NRA membership card. Matt Szramoski, manager of NRA youth programs, said that they want all youngsters to take advantage of the many gun safety and shooting-related programs that they offer. Youngsters taking advantage of the trial membership will receive a renewal notice at six months and may choose to renew their membership for $15. For more information, call NRA's Youth Programs Department at 703-267-1505 or write to them at 11250 Waples Mill Road, Fairfax, VA 22030.

D & B ARCHERY LEAGUE CHAMPS

The youthful team of Brian Roderick, Brad Roderick, and Chase Ashby grabbed the winter archery laurels in the D & B Sport Shop league competition. These young Garrett County archers took the lead with four weeks left and never looked back. Competition for the second and third spots was a bit closer, going down to the last week. Second-place winners were Tom Layton, Don Kisner, and Randy Sigley. Close behind in third was the team of Terry Lucas, Roger Hinebaugh, and Darrell Welch.

GUN BASH TO BENEFIT KITZMILLER FIRE DEPARTMENT

The Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department is holding a fund-raising gun bash on June 9. The event, called the Summer Gun Giveaway, will be held at the Oakland Elks Lodge social hall, with doors opening at 3 p.m. There will be a grand prize of $4,500, along with a host of other prizes. Tickets for the event are $25 and can be purchased from any Kitzmiller fire company member. Dan Milavec has them at D & B Sport Shop as well. Get your tickets early. The Deer Park Fire Department's bash scheduled for April 14 has been sold out for several weeks.

WATERPROOF WIZARD BOX CALL

The first wooden, yet waterproof, box call ever has been developed for the turkey hunter. This call will work flawlessly under any weather condition, especially when it matters — in the rain! The manufacturer, Penn's Woods Products, claims to have even given this call the ultimate test by totally submerging it in water. Company information says that the waterproof wizard never needs chalking: only an occasional buffing of the treated surface. For further information, contact Penn's Woods at 1-877-426-3225.

LOCAL HUNTERS LEAD MARYLAND TO RECORD DEER HARVEST

A record 84,776 deer (83,092 white-tailed deer and 1,684 sika deer) were harvested in Maryland this year, topping last season's take of 77,660 deer by 9 percent. New records were set in the bow, firearm, and muzzleloader seasons.

Firearm deer hunters took 48,248 deer, which is 9 percent above last season, and 54 percent of the firearm harvest consisted of antlerless deer. Firearm hunters harvested 57 percent of deer taken during all hunting seasons.

Muzzleloader deer hunters bagged 18,287 deer for a 6 percent increase over last year.

Videoconference On Deer Issues Slated At GCC

The Garrett County Forestry Board, in cooperation with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, will sponsor the local downlink of a videoconference discussion on issues surrounding deer populations in rural woodlands, which will be broadcast from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, April 21, at Garrett Community College.

Regional and national experts will be providing information on resolving deer problems in rural wooded landscapes for all interested private forest landowners, hunters, and land managers. GCC will be among the sites linked with Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., in an interactive regional satellite broadcast sponsored by the Cornell Cooperative Extension Service and its partners.

The discussion will address a variety of topics, including the effects of deer on rural woodlands, managing for optimal deer population levels in woodlots, and how hunters, landowners, and land managers can work cooperatively to reduce deer impacts on forests. "Many people often recognize the problems associated with overly abundant deer populations, but don't know what management options exist, who they should work with, or how to coordinate their efforts with others in their community," commented a spokesperson for the GC Forest Conservancy District Board.

The videoconferenee will provide introductory presentations documenting the role that deer have played historically and their impaets, both positive and negative, to forests and communities. Over the years, landowners and researchers have developed a number of approaches to resolving problems incurred by improperly managed deer populations. Presentation topics will include silviculture and forest management, and the building of relationships between landowners and hunters.

The GCC downlink will take place in Room 254 of the Information Advanced Technology Center. There will be no charge for the seminar, but because of limited space, seating will be on a "first come" basis, and pre-registration will be required. Professional foresters can earn 2.5 Continuing Education credits toward their license requirements by attending the training. Interested persons can register for the videoconference by calling the Mt. Nebo office of the Maryland Forest Service at 301-334-3296.

Plant Closing

rier will cease to utilize water from the springs it owns in the Deer Park area. Lazgin said that the company intends to transport water via tanker trucks from Garrett County to a "much larger, more efficient plant" in Allentown, Pa.

Ten times the size of the Deer Park plant, and commonly referred within the industry as one of several recently constructed "superplants," the Allentown facility was built six years ago at a cost somewhere between $25 million and $35 million, according to local sources. The cost of a comprehensive upgrade to the Deer Park plant was estimated by local sources to have been approximately $3 million, and would have increased the annual bottling capacity here from 5.1 million units to nearly 7 million units while eliminating most of the need for overtime and part-time employment. The 30 employees at the Deer Park plant were responsible for $2.2 million in wholesale activity last year, according to Perrier, which reports annual revenues of $1.5 billion.

A number of smaller, older water bottling plants acquired by Perrier in recent years (the Deer Park site was purchased by the company in 1993) have been closed by the company since the Allentown plant came on-line. That facility has no water source of its own — All water is trucked in, bottled there, and distributed from there via truck and rail, with the major portion going to the big market areas of New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

In addition to the 30 Deer Park plant employees who are losing their local jobs, the spin-off effect of Perrier's move could play a part in the local trucking industry. Perrier's spokesperson declined to divulge its intentions as to whether or not a local trucking line would be offered the contract to transport the Deer Park water to Allentown. Larry Wagner Trucking has been hauling approximately two dozen tractor-trailer loads of bottled water per day, five days a week, out of the Deer Park location.

Local bottling plant employees have been offered the choice of accepting severance packages or relocating to take employment at the Allentown plant. Several employees said this week that the news had come as such a surprise that they hadn't had time to make a decision. Part of the plant will shut down production in May, and the local bottling operation will cease operations completely in September.

"This is a shock," Deer Park mayor Donald Dawson commented. "There's always been a lot of water going out of here, and it seemed that the plant could have easily done even more business, but Perrier will do what it feels it has to do. We lost the Handy Girl sewing factory last year, which was a loss of approximately three dozen jobs. It really upsets us that this is happening."

Asked To Help

ic to the volunteer system.

His position has historically been funded by the Western Maryland Health System (WMHS). However, because Hardy works in a "non-revenue-generating" capacity, his position has now become threatened by budget cutbacks. Ramsey explained that WMHS will not cut funding completely, but has asked if the counties can work together to partially fund the $70,000 package. This figure includes the position salary and benefits.

WMHS will provide 50 percent of the money for the position, and has requested that counties pay the rest, with percentages based on the number of rescue calls. Allegany would cover 78 percent of the remaining tab, with Garrett putting in 22 percent, or about $7,700.

The commissioners had questions about the need of the paid position, and asked why the volunteers are required to obtain so many hours of training. Hardy said the public demands a high level of care, "and they should get it," he added. Dr. Richard Perry, president of the Region I EMS Advisory Council and the medical director for the county's rescue squads, said the local communities are not aware of how efficient the volunteers are.

"Frankly, the public here is spoiled," Perry said. "The emergency care provided by volunteers in the Region I area is unsurpassed statewide. These people want to take training. They want to know what to do out in the field. Our volunteers are the best in the state, and people don't realize it."

In light of that endorsement, Ramsey said it is imperative that Hardy be retained in his position to give the volunteers a needed troubleshooter and guide.

Brad Frantz, director of the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management, said it is important to support the volunteers.

"The saying is true that if you work like a horse, people are going to ride you like one," Frantz said. "These volunteers put hours and hours into it, and sometimes their hard work isn't recognized by the public."

Hardy and Perry also asserted that paramedics are indeed practicing medicine in the field, and they deserve support for their work.

The commissioners said they would consider the request. Monty Pagenhardt, county administrator, reported Wednesday that he had already contacted the administrator in Allegany County to discuss the funding formula.

Hearing Set

Persons who wish to be in attendance at the hearing must first call the facility at 304-335-2291, ext. 289.

Ferrell lived in Deer Park at the time of Ford's disappearance. The leads and clues pointed to him as the probable murderer of the 19-year-old girl, but the case has been controversial from the beginning because of a lack of substantial physical evidence. Ford's body was never found, but her burned out Bronco was located near a trailer owned by Ferrell, and investigators reported finding blood evidence in the trailer. The defense has purported that the police mishandled the case and that the evidence was possibly planted or tainted.

Prosecutors and investigators remain firm in their belief that Ferrell is responsible for Ford's life, while he and his defense lawyers continue to maintain his innocence.

ties, and to community groups who wish to clean up public lands where refuse has been illegally dumped.

Tipping fees at the landfill will be waived for one-day bulk collection events conducted by towns. All municipalities that presently utilize the county landfill for the disposal of routine curbside refuse collection will be eligible. The event will consist of a single collection per household.

Prohibited items include commercial waste, liquid waste including containers of paint, tires, batteries, large automobile parts, yard waste, brush, stumps, and large quantities (over 100 pounds per household) of construction or demolition debris. Also prohibited for this event will be refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, dehumidifiers, or any other appliance with refrigerant.

Acceptable items include white goods, furniture, and other household items that are not normally accepted in the regular curbside collection program of the towns. White goods, metal, and construction/demolition debris must be segregated from household refuse for proper disposal or recycling.

Tipping fees at the Garrett County landfill will be waived for participating communities approved by the solid waste and recycling office. Community groups or organizations may clean up areas along roadways or streams where refuse has been illegally dumped. The clean-up of private property is not eligible under this program. Persons may call the office at 301-387-0322 for more detailed requirements on this program. Municipalities and community groups must obtain approval and schedule the collection events with the recycling office.

Tire Amnesty

fee on the sale of each new tire in the state.

Tire Amnesty Day will provide a direct benefit to Maryland citizens, according to Love.

Love said the project was originally conceived to aid county residents by providing a responsible disposal alternative, free of charge, for those who had accumulated a small number of scrap tires prior to the adoption of Maryland's Scrap Tire Law. Through a ban on landfilling of tires, that law had forced most local jurisdictions in Maryland to impose a disposal fee for tires to cover costs associated with shipping and disposal at alternative processing facilities.

More information can be obtained concerning the tire amnesty event by calling the solid waste and recycling office at 301-387-0322.

Antlerless deer comprised 57 percent of the total muzzleloader harvest. Maryland bow hunters harvested 18,241 deer, which is 6 percent over last year. Antlerless deer comprised 44 percent of the bow harvest.

Statewide, the top 10 counties with the highest total deer harvest are: Garrett (7,974), Frederick (7,843), Allegany (7,555), Washington (7,524), Carroll (4,440), Baltimore (4,439), Dorchester (4,382), Worcester (3,732), Kent (3,720), and Montgomery (3,670).

Deer hunters this year donated 61 tons of venison to the Maryland Farmers and Hunters Feeding the Hungry program. The donated venison provided 488,000 meals for Maryland's hungry.

IMPORTANT NOTES

Spring gobbler season to open on April 18, and Ralph "Gilbert" Livengood is back from Florida. Also, the Barefoot Man will be at Nippers on April 22.

A Cumberland man caught a new Maryland freshwater state record brown trout recently. Edward J. Martin, a 23-year-old angler from Cumberland, caught a huge 13-pound, 7.5-ounce brown trout March 1 while fishing the Barnum area of the North Branch of the Potomac River. Martin is the first angler to set a state record in 2001. Martin battled the 30.5-inch fish for about half an hour, while his dad, David G. Martin, (who coincidentally, caught the state record 7-pound, 9-ounce cutthroat trout in May 2000), watched.

SAY IT ISN'T SO

Rated R - Running Time: 1:33 - Released 3/23/01

There's nothing like time-wasting, career-padding, disposable goofball comedies to make us critics wonder what we're doing with our lives. Say It Isn't So, the incestual farce produced (but not written or directed) by offensive comedy-meisters Peter and Bobby Farrelly, fits the bill perfectly. The film is directed by the Farrellys' frequent assistant director James B. Rogers in his first try at the helm, and written by Peter Gaulke (Saturday Night Live) and Gerry Swallow, and although this creative team stays very close to its producers' formula of treading, and in fact tromping, on socially thin ice, it only succeeds about 50% of the time. It does provide something to watch during winter's long death rattle, however, and gives stars Chris Klein and Heather Graham something to do between more important projects. But they don't do anything very interesting.

Klein plays Gilly Noble, an animal control worker in Shelbyville, Indiana, who grew up as an orphan. The film begins pathetically with Gilly's oral dissertation on loneliness, but soon he is introduced to an inept hairdresser named Jo Wingfield (Graham), who just returned from Beaver, Oregon, where she broke off an engagement with wealthy playboy Jack Mitchelson (Eddie Cibrian). Gilly and Jo fall blissfully in love, much to the irritation of her trailer-trash parents, the wheelchair bound Walter (Richard Jenkins), whose recent stroke necessitates the use of a robotic sounding vocal synthesizer to speak, and Valdine (Sally Field), a well-dressed but ignorant woman who still wants Jo to marry Jack and score the big payoff. But just as they begin to plan their wedding, Gilly's hired investigator discovers that his mother is none other than Valdine, who gave up a baby boy for adoption not long after Jo was born. Naturally, their romantic relationship comes to a screeching halt and Jo moves back to Beaver, where Jack is waiting with open arms. But then the real Wingfield orphan shows up, and Gilly decides to pursue his one true love.

The most interesting and amusing person in this movie is Orlando Jones, whose character, double amputee and freelance pilot Dig McCaffrey, is barely even necessary to the plot. Dig befriends Gilly on his way to Beaver, and offers dubious help in various situations, but it is Jones's characterization, not his role in the story, that makes the difference. Resembling Jimi Hendrix (complete with huge, head-banded afro), Jones enlightens every scene he's in with comic energy, but that is a mixed blessing, since it underscores the blandness of Klein and the usually unfunny antics of Field and Jenkins. Graham, meanwhile, is not asked to do anything but look good, which she does with utmost acuity.

This movie sinks or swims on its humor, and frankly, the Farrellys don't appear to have been very good swimming instructors. ★★½

HEARTBREAKERS

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 2:03 - Released 3/23/01

I must say this film exceeded my expectations. Heartbreakers, a silly comedy directed by David Mirkin (Romy and Michele's High School Reunion), while not a monumental icon of filmmaking, generally hits its mark thanks to a clever script and a cast with the ability to deliver the goods. Penned by Robert Dunn, Paul Guay, and Stephen Mazur (the latter two of which worked together on 1997's Liar Liar, among others), the story involves a mother/daughter con team who have made a career out of seducing wealthy men. Its surprisingly matched leading performers, Sigourney Weaver and Jennifer Love Hewitt, work well together, and their virtually all-male supporting cast, including Ray Liotta, Gene Hackman, and Jason Lee, flesh out the story in vastly differing roles.

The film begins during the wedding of auto dealership owner and known womanizer Dean Cumanno (Liotta) and his lovely new girlfriend Max (Weaver). After an uneventful wedding night (she falls asleep from too much champagne), he returns to work the next day terribly frustrated, only to be seduced by his sexy new secretary, Page (Hewitt). When Max comes in unexpected and finds the two in a compromising position, she sues for divorce, getting half of Dean's fortune in the settlement. Only then do we discover that Max and Page are working together, a mother and daughter who have perfected the con to a fine art. But just as Page, who is sick of her mother's domineering ways, decides to strike out on her own, the two are approached by an IRS agent (Anne Bancroft) saying that they owe nearly $250,000 in back taxes. They decide to stay together for "one big final score" to pay off the debt before Page leaves the nest.

The mark is Palm Beach billionaire tobacco baron William B. Tensy (Hackman), a crochety old man whose smoking practically has him in the grave already. Although Page reluctantly agrees to participate in the scam, she also becomes intrigued by a down-to-earth bar owner named Jack (Lee), who apparently has a $3 million offer to buy his establishment. As the scam on Tensy progresses, Page attempts to prove her ability to work alone by conning Jack, although Max worries that she'll become romantically involved. Soon the two cons become intertwined, and emotions begin to get in the way.

I have never seen Jennifer Love Hewitt in anything but the I (Still) Know What You Did Last Summer series, and I am pleasantly surprised by her talent as a comedienne. She is sensitive in the more serious scenes, but she also has the timing and delivery to support this film's clever comedic script. Weaver, not quite as believable, has her moments, especially when she dons a terrible Russian accent. Hackman and Liotta, who reappears later in the film, are quite amusing also. Not since My Cousin Vinny have I seen such an insubstantial comedy with such a dazzling variety of costumes, Hewitt and Weaver go through the clothes like fashion models on the runway, and they both look great.

Heartbreakers is no masterpiece, but it offers some funny moments and some good performances by actors generally accustomed to other types of roles. It might be better to wait for the rental, though, when you can go to the kitchen for a snack during the dumb parts and rewind to watch anything funny you may have missed. ★★★½

ENEMY AT THE GATES

Rated R - Running Time: 2:11 - Released 3/16/01

Movies about World War II have never been in short supply since the time when the global conflict was still going on, however, undoubtedly due to the Cold War, there have been precious few American WWII movies recounting the heroism of the Russian army and people. While Soviet leader Josef Stalin has never been much of a sympathetic figure to anyone since his death, there is no doubt that the unbreakable will of the vastly outgunned Red Army, and the similar resolve of the poverty-stricken Soviet populace, helped convince the world that Hitler was not as invincible as he seemed. Jean-Jacques Annaud's Enemy At The Gates is a look at one of the great turning points in the war which took place in the Russian city of Stalingrad (now Volgograd), Hitler's first major defeat after several years of virtually uncontested Nazi victories. Set in the winter of 1942-43, during this major Nazi-Soviet clash, Enemy isn't a grand epic involving attacks and counterattacks, with huge armies swarming and tanks exploding. It focuses instead on a small part of the conflict, recounting the true story of a duel between two snipers — a game of hide and seek, if you will, in which the penalty for being found was death.

Written, directed, and co-produced by acclaimed French director Annaud, with screenplay assistance by Alain Godard, Enemy At The Gates stars Jude Law (The Talented Mr. Ripley) as Russian rifleman Vassily Zaitsev, a country boy whose phenomenal skill is noticed by news writer Danilov (Joseph Fiennes). Danilov, knowing that low morale is as much at fault for recent Russian defeats as any other factor, introduces Vassily to future Prime Minister Nikita Krushchev (Bob Hoskins), who is serving as a high-ranking officer in the Red Army, and suggests that Vassily become the object of a nationwide media campaign. If the people have a hero, he argues, they may be able to muster the courage to keep up the fight. So as Vassily racks up kill after kill against important German officers, Danilov ticks away at his typewriter, building the young man into a celebrity of epic proportions, instilling hope in the Soviet consciousness and encouraging other sharpshooters to become Red Army snipers.

This campaign works beautifully until the German high command decides to fight fire with fire. Major Koenig (Ed Harris), a sniper with equal skill and cunning to that of Vassily, is sent to find the Russian hero and end his winning streak. Soon Vassily becomes aware that his national fame isn't such a good thing, as Koenig seems able to predict his every move.

While this film recounts the horror of war with the kind of brutal realism recently seen in films like Saving Private Ryan and Schindler's List, it also presents a traditional romantic triangle involving a young woman named Tania (Rachel Weisz, The Mummy) who is loved by both Vassily and Danilov. This affair works, in a way (all three actors are adequate, though none really have the kind of spark needed to generate real romantic heat), but the love story tends to take away from the authenticity of the film. It is supposed to be a true story, after all, and this kind of emotionalizing makes it feel much like another Hollywood romance. Harris, for his part, is believable as always; he gives Koenig a heart and soul that makes us understand that even Germans, even Nazis, were real people too. Also effective is 13-year-old Gabriel Thomson as Sacha, a young boy who works as a sort of double agent between Vassily and Koenig. Thomson's innocent charm keeps us in the dark regarding his true alliance as well as it does the other characters.

Enemy At The Gates, while not slavishly true to historical fact, is a good character study and a glimpse into one major facet of the war, namely the Russian perspective, that has heretofore been lacking in American movies. While it drags at times and its romance seems a little too conventional for the subject matter, it generally succeeds at telling a truly heroic story, providing yet another vehicle to showcase the talents of Law and Harris, and of their supporting cast. ★★★★ still active. Four of the charter members are deceased, and the 2001 concert will be dedicated to their memory.

Two Concerts

The original members still active with the choir are Martin, Ruth Hetz, and Wayne Durst. Those who are deceased include Eileen "Dick" Layman, Donald J. Newman, David Savage, and Pastor Triplett.

There has never been an admission charge to the choir's concerts, but the free-will offering that is collected is always donated to "someone in need," Martin said. "A lot of people have been assisted in this way over the past 25 years," she said.

Martin said that the choir serves as "spiritual therapy" for both its members and many of the members of the audience, and a number of close relationships have been formed because of the choir. "To sing God's praises and bring glory to his name has been the main purpose from the beginning," she said.

Martin said that she is among those who have received "a lot of spiritual healing" from working with the choir over the years. "They (the members) have been there and helped me through some very difficult times," she said. "I never understood why God chose me to direct a choir, because I have no professional training to do so. But he did.

"I like to think that God is the director and I am just a resource that he uses to get his message to others," she said.

"You must feel the music, not just sing it," she added, "and to feel it, you must get direction from God."

GCC Math Team Participates In State Conference

A team of math and science educators from Garrett Community College and the Garrett County Board of Education was invited to give a presentation during the recent Maryland State Eisenhower Conference at the BWI Marriott. This marks the second year the local team was selected to participate.

The team, consisting of GCC math department faculty members Dr. Nancy Priselac and Linda Maycrard and Southern High School science teacher Diana Marks and math teacher Wade Grove, presented a two-hour program to middle school teachers about volcanoes, using activities, simulations, and technology to motivate student learning.

The Garrett team developed this presentation to train teachers working with GCC's upcoming Integration of Mathematics and Science Summer Center, which is funded by the Maryland State Department of Education. "Instructional teamwork pays off for student learning," Priselac noted. "Diana and I worked this year with the Challenger Learning Center staff in Wheeling, West Virginia, to develop the Angela Island simulation used as a portion of this presentation. Mike Nedrow of GCC's math department and Wade Grove joined us for a year-long series of training sessions held by the Challenger Center staff in Huntington, West Virginia."

This team of four is a subgroup of at least 25 Garrett County public school and GCC math, science, and technology faculty members, who spend at least three Saturdays per semester and a week each summer training to stay current with reform trends and technology training, and to link instructional goals to Maryland core learning goals and content standards. Jim Allen, GCC director of technology, provides funds for the team training sessions. "We are always looking for partners with a futuristic vision and have been lucky to find them right here in Garrett County," said Priselac.

The next training session is scheduled for Saturday, April 21, from 9 to 3 p.m. in the MIDLN Distance Learning Classroom at GCC. Dixie Troellingor of Key Curriculum Press will continue training with a Goemeter's Sketchpad software package, illustrating new activities from Key Curriculum's latest publication. Additionally, Susan Lauer and Miki Merritt, Casio Inc., will be present to address questions about graphic calculators and Casio Cassiopea models.

Any teacher or prospective teacher interested in participating in the training session free of charge may contact Priselac at 301-387-3045 or via e-mail at nprise lac@gcc.cc.md.us for more information or for reservations.

Annual Easter Drama Slated At Cherry Glade

A drama, "Behold the King," will be presented eight evenings at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church, located along the Accident-Bittinger Road, near Accident. This drama, written by Esther S. Yoder, is a vivid depiction of the crucifixion and resurrection and the surrounding events based on accounts written in the Bible.

The play is in its seventh production, with many of the members of the cast continuing in their roles for several years.

The dates for the production are April 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 20, 21, and 22 at 7:30 p.m. each evening.

For ticket information, persons may call 301-245-4321, 301-895-5815, or 301-746-7028.

Benefit Dance To Take Place

A benefit dance for Harvey Guthrie will be held Saturday, April 7, from 9:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m.

Guthrie is 60 years old and had open heart bypass surgery in November of 2000.

The event will take place at the Grantsville American Legion and prices are $5 per person and $8 per couple.

Music will be provided by Triple T DJs. For donation and/or dance information, persons may contact Tom Garlitz at 301-689-8145 or 301-689-6847.

Missionaries Share Brazilian Experiences

Dan and Louise Sheyda, members of Wycliffe Bible Translators, will be sharing their recent missionary experience in Brazil at a banquet on April 9 at the Salisbury Pa. Volunteer Fire Department.

They worked with a multinational force of missionaries, who are dedicated to translating the Bible into Brazil's unwritten language.

The Sheydas joined the Wycliffe Bible Translators in 1974, and have taught children from many backgrounds, supervised the printing of the New Testament in 11 languages, and worked in tropical heat with teams of skilled volunteers from the United States to build an Indian training center.

They will share their stories in 26 banquets throughout Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa, Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia, and Virginia.

The banquet gifts help raise funds for Wycliffe missionary projects around the world. For reservations to this banquet, persons may contact coordinator Pastor Dale Curtis of Grantsville at 301-895-5928.

IT'S YOUR CHOICE

A LETTER FROM A LOVING DADDY TO HIS CHILDREN

Well, just here in my little apartment thinking or dreaming; call it what you will.
Home alone, sitting up thinking, why don't I hear children laughing and playing or crying and running to Mommy or Daddy?
Well, is it because the babies are all grown up now or is it just your choice?
Why don't we laugh and smile together anymore or go fishing or even a picnic on Sunday?
Why don't we laugh and smile together anymore or go fishing or even a picnic on Sunday?
It's your choice.
Why don't we get together at Christmas and give gifts? It's your choice.
Why don't we share our love that we had years ago? With a phone call or even a letter.
It's your choice.

WHY DON'T WE GO AND VISIT DAD?
It's God's Choice
Dad's Gone Home.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

There is another great Buckwheat-Pancake Dinner sponsored by the Bittinger 4-H Club scheduled for this coming Saturday evening, March 31, from 4 to 7 p.m., at the Bittinger fire hall. Cost is $4.50 for adults, $2.50 for children, and children 5 and under free. Come out and enjoy all-you-can-eat pancakes, buckwheat cakes and sausage. Drinks are included.

Since Pastor Pat and Keith were on vacation last week, which included a visit to the church in Somerset, Pa., where Keith will be interning, Lowell Leitzel led our worship services at Emmanuel Lutheran Parish. Emmanuel's new sanctuary has added some new items, including new wooden padded choir chairs with under-seat bookracks, which were donated by Don and Jane Sealing and their families. I am sure the choir especially enjoys these new chairs.

This Sunday, April 1, will begin Daylight Savings Time. Remember to "spring forward" and set your clocks ahead one hour before you go to bed on Saturday night. (Don't be late for church.)

March was the debut for Emma Bass for her acolyte duties. With her light blonde hair and in her white robe, she looked like a little angel. It was quite a contrast to the way she looked after she took a dunk in the creek a few weeks ago.

Speaking of the creek, the high water in it drew like a strong magnet, Caitlin, Mere, and their friends, Hannah and Gretel Avis-Dielhman, to spend a busy Saturday experimenting in water engineering, building dams, and using some old drainage tiles. They did just like my crowd of Cindy, Sally, Carol, and I used to do every spring when the snow melted and filled up our creek, when a shallow, slow-moving creek turned into a rushing small river.

A very strange thing that happened from that visit to the woods was that Mere got a tick on her neck. I never heard of any ticks around in the winter. But, as usual, Caitlin found it and got it removed.

This last week is typical of the end of March around here. It is very unusual for us not to get a big snow storm between March 25 and April 1. It is much more like mid-winter instead of early spring. In fact, Lenny Poholsky told Sally after church that they will move to Arizona because he can't stand this cold anymore. But Sally said he was just kidding. What would Bittinger do without Sally's helping hands? Well, anyway, we can enjoy another spring thaw.

In extreme contrast, Robbie Glotfelty, Claire Sussman, and Holly Hare are enjoying the 80-degree weather in Las Vegas. Claire told me this morning on the phone that although she is getting a bit of sunburn, it is now turning into a nice tan. She plans one last visit to the swimming pool today before they will fly home back to winter. But I can't wait to see her. At least this trip is unlike last year's trip to the Southwest where there were murderers loose in the area, and I watched the news with horror and was terrified that he would cross the path of my two dear little girls. The murderer finally was captured after they had safely arrived home.

The good news is that Northern Band won first place in their division of the Concert Band Festival. Claire also enjoyed an evening out with some relatives who flew in from the West Coast to see her. They were Lloyd's aunt, Shirley Tolley, and her daughter Jackie, and Jackie's daughter Jenna of San Diego. They showed her around big points of interest in Las Vegas.

A bunch of young people around Bittinger are elated about our Maryland Terps getting into the Final Four of the NCAA Basketball Tournament. It seemed like they had a jinx on them for years, and now it is over. In fact, Carol Bass and Courtney Englar are sure they will go the whole way to the national championship. First we have to once again face Duke, but we have already beat them once in the regular season, and twice lost to them by only two points in the two other games. We won over Duke when they were #1, and last weekend the Terps beat Stanford, which was #1 in the country at the time.

The Terps look almost unstoppable. Added to that list is Gary Buckel, who thinks they can beat any team, even Duke again.

Kandi Buckel and Allison Buckel are on a trip to Colorado. Meanwhile, Leslie is home helping to take care of her mother Sharon, who is recuperating following hospitalization and is doing well at home. Leslie and Cindy Stanton were on hand to help with judging speeches at the 4-H meeting last week at the Bittinger 4-H meeting.

Some of the representatives of the Bittinger 4-H Club did a bang-up job at the County 4-H Public Speaking Contest held at Garrett Community College last weekend. Blakely Glotfelty won reserve champion in the intermediate division prepared speech contest with a speech about the "Pop Music Scene;" and her cousin, Matthew Bass, won reserve champion in the extemporaneous category, using the topic he drew on, "What I would do if I was the President." Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty both won blue ribbons.

Margaret Hershberger Wagner and James Wagner visited Ed and Lucy Wagner in Cumberland on Wednesday evening.

Dr. Jeffrey Buckel of Pensicola, Fla., spent last week with his grandparents, Ralph and Ethel Buckel.

Cindy Stanton visited Lea in Towson over the weekend. They were Friday night guests of Steve and Donna Mazer and daughters of Glenwood. Also visiting were Tim and Alison Mazer and daughters, and Bernie and Phyllis Mazer. Cindy also visited with a college friend, Barbara Weitzel Scheerer, of near Towson. Cindy and Barb lived in Cumberland Hall at Frostburg State University and hadn't seen each other for 28 years.

Ruth DiPaolo attended the Garrett County Commission for Women 7th annual Hall of Fame breakfast at Leone's at Silver Tree Center on Saturday morning.

Betty and Ellis Sacra, Partlow, Va., visited Ruth DiPaolo over the weekend.

While Rodney and Marci Glotfelty were having a ball chaperoning a group of high school kids in Las Vegas, which does not sound like a fun job on vacation to me. Blakely, Darryl, and Elliot were enjoying a visit from Granddad George Farmer, who came up from Baltimore to help take care of them. If I know George, he was happy to be relieved from his job, as he usually escapes as soon as possible from Garrett County when the snow starts to fly when he is here. It is not good golfing weather. Actually, Pop-Pop got away in time on Sunday morning before we got much snow.

GLADE MENNONITE CHURCH

The next meeting for the Kids Night will be held at Glade Mennonite Church on April 4 from 6:30 until 8 p.m. Kids Night is open to all children from kindergarten through the 6th grade. Activities for the evening include games, crafts, and singing.

Mountain Lake Park Observer

by Dan Whittelsey

Now is the time to start thinking and planning for the summer elections to the town council. The positions held by Leo Martin and Fred Learey are open and subject to challenge. The office of mayor now held by Paul Shockey is also open for rival candidates.

None of the above have yet decided whether to run for their seat or retire. They will have to file by June 4 to run for office. June 12 will be the date of any primary elections that will be held if necessary. July 10 will be the date of the general election, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

I hope we will have a good turnout no matter who you are voting for. I noticed that Oakland recently held its council elections. Only 37 voters showed up. I think that is a pretty sad turnout for Oakland. They should be embarrassed.

There are a number of issues still open. Before the elections I think it would be helpful if the mayor and council summarized for the voters the open items. This writer will be glad to itemize any such details the mayor and council wish to list. The most obvious open item is the budget. This should be forthcoming shortly.

Spring Fund-Raising Dinner

Thursday, April 26, 2001, 6:30 p.m.

Pleasant Valley Community Center

$20 per person includes a Turkey Dinner

Guest speaker Al Feldstein will talk about the history of the B&O Railroad from Cumberland to Oakland, MD. Mr. Feldstein has made previous appearances at fund-raising dinners for the society showing slides of turn-of-the-century postcards of Garrett and Allegany counties.

The society is raising money to help complete Dailey Park beside the museum in downtown Oakland. Tickets available at the Garrett County Historical Society Museum, Fitzwater Furniture, Gregg's Pharmacy, Gonder Insurance, and Hershberger Insurance.

Tickets will not be sold at the door, and the society needs to know by April 21 for those planning to attend.

Adorable Adoptables

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Ida Reckner celebrated her 96th birthday Tuesday, March 20th. Delores Wilt, and Marilyn Bittinger, relatives from near Oakland, and Olive Bender were among her visitors. Ida had lunch at a restaurant in Oakland, and afterward visited many sites which brought back memories of her early life, including her alma mater Oakland High School, and the house on Third Street which was home to her during her high school days; the Oakland train station which she passed through on weekends when she traveled by train to and from her home near Swanton to attend school; the historical sidewalk made of inscribed bricks which will soon include the names of her and her late husband, John, Sr., A gift given in honor of them on her birthday. Ida also received other gifts, including a planter, a bouquet of flowers, pictures, as well as telephone calls, and many cards and well-wishes from relatives and friends from both near and far. After a carry-in dinner for Ida, the children and grandchildren of Jim and Donna Gloffelty, namely Linda Oester, Salisbury, Pa., Karmen and Tony Carey, Frostburg, Cheryl, Taylor, and Tim Glotfelty, plus Mandy Wilson and Laura Bach, brought refreshments and enjoyed joining Ida for her decorated birthday cake and ice cream, and an evening of reminiscing and laughter. Tom Glotfelty, her grandson, had begun the celebration by attending church services with her Sunday morning at St. John's Lutheran Church, and treated her to lunch at Penn Alps, before returning to Detroit Tuesday morning. Lois Kolb of Accident visited Ida Sunday afternoon.

CHERRY GLADE MENNONITE CHURCH

A drama, "Behold the King," will be presented at Cherry Glade Mennonite Church on April 11-15, and 20-22, at 7:30 p.m. For ticket information, persons may call 301-245-4321, 301-895-5815 or 301-746-7028.

GCC To Offer Water Safety Instructor Class

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College will be offering a water safety instructor training course at the Mellenry campus. The first session to be held Monday, April 2, from 5 to 7 p.m. will focus on the discussion of prerequisites and learning objectives, and will set dates and times convenient for participants to attend the remaining sessions.

This 40-hour course, not including the April 2 session, will train instructor candidates to teach aquatic programs, learn-to-swim programs; basic and emergency water safety; and water safety instructor aide courses. Eligible individuals will also receive the safety training for swim coaches.

Those persons interested in attending the April 2 session should contact the Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069 for registration and additional information.

New Garrett County Vacation Guide Available

The Garrett County 2001-2002 Vacation Guide arrived one month ahead of schedule at the Visitors Center in McHenry. With publication cost supported by advertising, the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce's full-color, 176-page magazine remains free of charge.

"The cover of the guide is extremely important, and this year we have a 'killer picture' of Swallow Falls that makes the guide jump out from among its competitors. It just begs to be picked up," said chamber president Ken Wishnick.

The publication spotlights six feature stories on county attractions, including "Land of Seven Lakes," "A Winter Wonderland," "Oakland's Restored Treasure," "Beauty and the Swamp," "In Search of Vistas, Waterfalls, and Isolated Forests," and "Fish Tales." These pieces highlight specific sites and activities for visitors to Garrett County to enjoy. "I always anticipate that each guide will be better than the past year's, but we've really made a dramatic step forward this time," Wishnick said.

Among new features are an expanded adventure sports section and a map of the Wisp ski trails. The guide also contains directories of services, accommodations, restaurants, places of worship, retail shops, and businesses, as well as lists of ongoing activities and special events. Sections of the guide are dedicated to local history, historical sites, recreation areas, and the arts.

A primary tool for promoting tourism, Wishnick said that the guide is "put into the hands of tens of thousands of potential visitors" at consumer travel shows held throughout the region. In addition, over 50,000 copies are sent to people responding to advertising or promotional stories that appear in regional and national media. "I've been to well over 100 travel shows, and I haven't seen a better, more informative promotional guide anywhere," said chamber marketing manager Deb Clatterbuck.

Concepts for this year's Vacation Guide were developed by a chamber task force under the leadership of Doug McClive. Chamber member Advertising Art Design Inc. had the contract to shepherd the guide from layout through production. The publication also features original photography and layout designs by Lance Bell of that firm.

"I commend the Vacation Guide task force, under Doug McClive's leadership, chamber staff and AAD Inc. on working together to produce this extraordinary vacation guide. This is an impressive marketing tool that will be used to continue our double-digit growth rate for tourism in Garrett County," said Jerry Geisler, chairman of the chamber's board of directors.

For a copy of the guide, persons may stop by the Visitors Center in McHenry, or a number of other local business locations.

The chamber has arranged for an assistant to be at the Visitors Center for chamber members who wish to pick up their supplies of Vacation Guides for distribution. This service will be available this Saturday, March 31, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., or the following Saturday and Sunday, April 7-8, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Read Then Recycle.

VACATION GUIDES ARE HERE - The 2001 edition of the Garrett County Vacation Guide, a 176-page magazine that features a wide variety of information about the county, its resources and businesses, is now available at the Visitors Center in McHenry, and at various business locations around the county. Doug McClivo, pictured above, was the chairperson of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce task force that developed the concepts for the new guide. Also in the photo is Jane Segaloff, a visitor to the county from Lexington, Mass., who said, "Garrett County is a refreshing change from the flat, urban environment I'm accustomed to." Chamber members may pick up their supplies of Vacations Guides at the Visitors Center this Saturday, March 31, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., or the following Saturday and Sunday, April 7-8, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. See story for details.

Piedmont Woman Hits House, Faces Several Charges

A Piedmont, W.Va., woman faces numerous charges after her vehicle hit a house along Garrett Road early Sunday morning, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Karen Ann Harms, 33, was charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI), driving while suspended, malicious destruction of property, disorderly conduct, fail to obey a lawful order, resisting arrest, and second degree assault on a police officer.

Harms was released on her own recognizance from the Garrett County Jail. Maryland State Police assisted on the call.

A traffic stop along Paul Street resulted in the arrest of a Mtn. Lake Park juvenile and his passenger early Saturday morning.

Deputies stopped the juvenile driver after he failed to stop at a stop sign along Maryland Highway and Youghiogheny Drive. He was arrested and charged with DWI, failing to stop at a stop sign, violating a license restriction, and possession of alcohol under 21.

He was released to his parents that night. The passenger, Thomas Kendall Miller, 19, Loch Lynn, was also arrested and released on his own recognizance.

Miller was arrested for disorderly conduct, after he began cursing and screaming at the deputy, according to the report.

An Oakland man was also charged with DWI when deputies made a traffic stop along High Street around 1 a.m. Sunday.

Robert Wayne Johnson II, 29, was arrested and charged with DWI and speeding. He was released on his own recognizance.

In another incident, two passengers were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital (GCMH) after their vehicle was rear-ended when it was stopped in the road to avoid a deer.

Kimberly Ann Kisner, 27, Oakland, was operating her 1993 Dodge Spirit west along Maryland Highway when she stopped in the road to miss a deer, according to deputies.

Jeffrey Wayne Cox, 45, Eglon, W.Va., who was also westbound in a 1999 Nissan truck, was unable to stop in time and hit the Kisner vehicle.

Two passengers in Kisner's vehicle, a juvenile and Sharon Soult, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to GCMH, where they were treated and released.

Kisner was taken to by private vehicle to GCMH, where she was treated and released. Cox was uninjured in the accident.

Cox was charged by deputies for failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Icy roadways were the cause of an accident early Wednesday morning that sent an Aurora, W.Va., man to the hospital for treatment, according to sheriff's deputies.

Raymond Wade Burgess, 42, was traveling southbound on Garrett Highway near Monte Vista Road when he lost control of his 1991 Dodge minivan on the icy roadway and struck a guardrail.

He was transported by private vehicle to GCMH, where he was treated and released. No charges were filed in the incident.

Two Oakland residents were treated at GCMH for injuries as a result of a motor vehicle accident along Sand Flat Road late Thursday evening.

Justin Luther Edge, 18, was operating a 1994 Hyundai coupe southbound on Sand Flat Road near Spring Glade Road when he swerved to miss a deer. According to the report, the vehicle ran off the roadway and overturned in a field.

Edge and his passenger, Tony Gean Wilson, 17, were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to GCMH, where they were treated and released.

The Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene, and the Maryland State Police assisted in the investigation.

The operator of a 1980 Dodge truck was treated for injuries as a result of a motor vehicle accident along Garrett Highway early Monday morning.

Donald Eugene Lint Jr. was southbound on Garrett Highway south of Sand Flat Road when he lost control of his vehicle and struck the bank on the northbound lane.

Lint was transported by private vehicle to GCMH, where he was treated and released.

Correction Noted To Early Head Start Information

Age criteria for eligible Early Head Start Program participants was misstated in last week's newspaper. The correct age range for infants and toddlers taking part in the program is 6 weeks to 36 months.

An extension of Garrett County Community Action Committee Head Start, the developmentally appropriate Early Head Start Program utilizes a variety of methods to facilitate children's learning and development. Applications are being accepted for both the center- and home-based Early Head Start options. Persons interested in obtaining an application may visit the center at 360 West Liberty Street, Oakland, or call 301-533-0270.

Regent Scholars Choose Frostburg State University

Four local students recently received awards from the prestigious University System of Maryland Regents Scholars Program. The recipients are: Phyllis Furr, Oakland; Christa Moore, LaVale; Benjamin Norris, Frostburg; and Lynford Yoder, Salisbury. All of these students are attending Frostburg State University.

Funded by endowments established by the University System of Maryland's foremost benefactors, Regents Scholarships provide outstanding students with funds covering the entire estimated costs of tuition, room, board, books, and academic materials.

Regents Scholars are selected on the basis of demonstrated academic ability, strong motivation, exceptional character, and a record of extracurricular accomplishments. High school applicants should have a score of at least 1,400 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test and a grade point average near 4.0. Transfers from Maryland community colleges with 4.0 grade point averages are also eligible.

These scholarships are renewed each year in which the scholar continues full-time study toward a baccalaureate degree and maintains at least a 3.5 cumulative grade point average.

Phyllis Furr of Oakland transferred to FSU after completing her associate's degree in business administration at Garrett Community College last May, where she was active in Phi Theta Kappa and GCC Pipes and Drums. At FSU she plans to major in business administration with a concentration in marketing. Her grade point average for the fall 2000 semester was 4.0. In her free time, she is active in Our Town Theatre and the Oakland Rotary. She is the daughter of Fern L. and Edwin R. Yoder.

Lynford D. Yoder of Salisbury, Pa., is also a transfer student at FSU, with a major in art and design. A graduate of Garrett Community College, he enjoys playing and watching basketball, and volunteers with his church youth group at the Allegany County Nursing Home. He is the son of Menno and Elaine Yoder. During his first semester at FSU, he earned a 4.0 GPA.

New Discharge Permits Designed To Improve Potomac's Water Quality

The Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) is announcing its final determination to issue a new discharge permit to the Upper Potomac River Commission (UPRC) which is designed to significantly improve the quality of the discharge to the North Branch Potomac River. UPRC's Westernport facility treats process wastewater from three local communities and Westvaco Corporation's Luke Mill.

To help UPRC meet new permit limits for turbidity and color, Westvaco Corporation has agreed to upgrade its paper processing facilities with additional pollution prevention controls. The final version of the permit is much more restrictive than the tentative determination, according to the MDE.

The revised permit is the result of extensive deliberations among MDE, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), Safe Waterways in Maryland (SWIM), the American Canoe Association, Westvaco Corporation, and UPRC.

"The public input received during this process resulted in substantial enhancements to the proposed terms of the permit," said MDE secretary Jane Nishida. "It is important that we move forward with the permit at this time so that improvements to the water quality in the North Branch can be realized."

Among the improvements that will be achieved by the new permit limits will be a 50 percent reduction in water discoloration within two years, and additional permit requirements to achieve compliance with water quality standards will apply within three years.

The permit requires compliance with the water quality standards within one mile of the discharge point until completion of required turbidity and color studies. The study results are to be made public within 30 months and the permit reopened to implement the final compliance location. Current color and turbidity impacts have been reported as far as 20 miles downstream.

The final permit also includes a 35 percent reduction in the limit of suspended solids, plus water quality assessments of their impact on organisms living on or in the stream bottom. There are also first-time limits for total nitrogen, which are among the most stringent applied to a publicly owned treatment facility in Maryland.

Other new or revised permit requirements include a thermal study, biological monitoring of the North Branch, annual priority pollutant scans, and biomonitoring. Concurrent with the issuance of the permit to UPRC, the state is issuing a new pretreatment permit to Westvaco Corporation, which will provide additional water quality protection, and is renewing a separate cooling water discharge permit with more stringent temperature limits than in the previous Westvaco permit.

"This has been a lengthy process involving citizens' groups and government agencies at all levels," said EPA acting regional administrator Thomas Voltaggio. "We expect the permit to help restore aquatic life and significantly reduce pollution in the Upper Potomac."

Duncan Smith, founder of SWIM, said, "SWIM is very pleased with the results of a year and a half of negotiation on this permit. SWIM continues to be committed to its 'win-win' beliefs. This permit is a 'win' for Westvaco, a 'win' for MDE, and most importantly, a 'win' for the Potomac River and its users. While the river won't be as clear as it is above the discharge, with the new permit, the river should be able to support life once again in the near future. We commend Westvaco and the Upper Potomac River Commission for the capital expenditures they have promised to commit and for their environmental commitment to the community."

SWIM executive director C. Victoria Woodward added, "We are hopeful that SWIM's negotiations are indicative of a departmental trend of expanding public participation in a meaningful manner before legal proceedings become a necessity. Bringing parties to the table for negotiation saves time, money, and most importantly, leads to an expeditious issuance of permits protective of the waterways."

There have been noted improvements in this segment of the Potomac River since 1990.

"Maryland has put considerable effort into improving the North Branch Potomac River, including surface coal mine reclamation, acid mine drainage treatment, and fish stocking," said J.L. Hearn, director of MDE's Water Management Administration. "This permit will ensure that further necessary improvements will continue."

Easter Dinner Volunteers Needed

The Garrett County Community Action Committee/Area Agency on Aging is recruiting volunteers willing to prepare and deliver an Easter dinner to a homebound elderly person in the county. Volunteers package a dinner from their own Easter table and deliver it to a frail senior who lives nearby and is alone and/or unable to prepare a nutritious meal on Easter.

The agency has identified many home-delivered meal clients who could benefit from the delivery of a meal on Easter.

"The packaging and delivery of a meal or two takes so little of a person's time, and previous volunteers have commented on the pleasure they receive when they see the face of the elderly person light up when the meal is delivered," an agency spokesperson stated.

Persons interested in participating in this effort are asked to contact the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431, or toll free, 888-877-8403.

Open House Set April 7 At Frostburg State

The Frostburg State University Office of Admissions has scheduled an "Open House" information session for prospective students on Saturday, April 7.

The open house will convene in the FSU Lane Center Lobby at 9:30 a.m. for registration and refreshments. Welcoming remarks will be offered at 10:30 a.m., followed by consultation sessions with departmental representatives at 11 and 11:30 a.m. At noon, a walking tour of the campus with visits to the residence halls will be available. A brunch will then be served at 1 p.m. in Chesapeake Dining Hall.

For information and registration, persons may contact the FSU Office of Admissions at 301-687-4201.

Bloodmobile Nets 101 Units At Oakland Visit

A March 2 visit of the American Red Cross bloodmobile to the American Legion in Oakland saw 116 people step up to help replenish current blood supply shortages. From those, 101 units of blood were collected. Of those donating, two were first-time donors. They were Richard Koontz of Horse Shoe Run, W Va., and Jane Moreland of Oakland.

Three recurring donation volunteers were Carla Post, two-gallon Pete Swanson, three-gallon and Beverly Thrasher, seven-gallon. Top donor for Friday was Miriam Simmons, who donated for the 72nd time to reach the three-gallon mark.

The bloodmobile was sponsored in memory of George Ferraiolo of Hagerstown, who lost his fight with cancer on February 1, 2001. Mr. Ferraiolo has family in the Oakland and Accident areas.

Those volunteers who made the bloodmobile possible were Rosalie Baker and Anne Lyon, greeters; Elizabeth Hartford, David Wheeler and Nova Stoneeipher, registration; Anne Forrester, and Allen and Lorraine Snyder, canteen; and Junior Ferguson, Joyce Ridder and Mary Rodeheaver, canteen. Junior Ferguson also donated homemade cookies.

The bloodmobile will return to the Oakland Elks Lodge on Friday, April 6, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. To be eligible to give blood, individuals must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, and be in generally good health. Normally, individuals can give blood every 56 days.

To further ease the donation process and help maintain accurate donation records, the ARC encourages individuals to bring their blood donor card, driver's license, or other positive identification with them when they give blood. Individuals with specific questions should contact the Red Cross, toll free, at 1-800-54BLOOD.

by Krista Friend
reporter

The March 7 meeting of the Red House 4-H Club was held at the Red House Church. The meeting was called to order by Alicia Green.

Stephanie Bresnahan read the minutes and Samuel Steven Friend led the pledges.

There were 20 members that signed up for Bowl for Kids' Sake on March 31. Each team must raise $15 to participate.

Forty-nine members participated in the beagle sales for the club. Tia Green and Travis Whiteland gave demonstrations at the meeting. Stephanie Bresnahan reported on the M.A.J.A.C.

The meeting was adjourned by 4-H member Justin Fitzwater.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Air Force Airman 1st Class Angela L. Shank has arrived for duty at Tyndall Air Force Base, Panama City, Fla.

Shank is a current operations scheduler with the 325th Training Squadron.

She is the daughter of Donald Shank of Grantsville.

MSDE Honors Local Students For Service

The Maryland Student Service Alliance (MSSA) and Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE) recently honored 47 students, two of whom are from Garrett County, nominated by their school systems for contributions to their communities through service.

The two honorees are James "Jamie" Bolen, Southern High School, and Kathleen Marie Burke, Northern High School.

Jamie has devoted his volunteer service to young people, having worked as a camp counselor with a work project in Nicaragua, and with theater involving the youth. As a leader of his class, he said he believes that he can make a difference. Jamie hopes to continue his education at West Virginia University.

Kathleen has been active in 4-H, helped in nursing homes, cleaned up trash, helped in community plays, and volunteered at the library, which has lead to her interest in studying literature, science. She has also become a Water Safety Instructor's Aide and works with youth with autism, Down Syndrome, and cerebral palsy.

The award ceremony was held at Villa Julie College during MSDE's annual statewide student service-learning conference.

"These students have gone beyond the state requirement of 75 hours of service-learning during high school, and in some cases in excess of 1,000 hours of service to their communities," said State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "These students have embraced the true learning experience service affords and are role models for their peers."

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE

The following activities have been scheduled at Deep Creek Lake State Park for this coming weekend, Saturday and Sunday, March 31 and April 1. All programs will take place at or depart from the Discovery Center and further information on all activities can be obtained by calling the center at 301-387-7067.

Saturday's activities will get under way with a 10 a.m. lakeshore natural history hike, a one hour 15-mile guided hike that will be led by a park naturalist. Thirty-minute horse-drawn hayrides will be offered each hour on the hour beginning with the 11 a.m. ride and concluding with the 3 p.m. ride. Ride reservations are required and may be made by contacting the Discovery Center. The nature film Eyewitness: Mammals will be shown at 1 p.m., and a 30-minute children's scavenger hunt will begin at 3 p.m.

Sunday's slate will begin with a 10 a.m. spring bird hike, a 45-minute guided outing during which participants will learn how to identify many different winter birds by sight and call. "Soaked Alive!" a 30-minute nature program featuring live snakes, will be presented at 1 p.m. Cuddly Cubs will be shown at 3 p.m.

Seatbelt, Safety Seat Violations Enforcement Set

"Chief's Challenge 2001," a state-wide enforcement program of all child safety seat and seatbelt violations, has been set by local police agencies. The Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack W and Garrett County Sheriff's Office enforcement program will begin this Monday, April 2, and continue through June 2. State troopers and sheriff's deputies will be enforcing and educating the public on the proper use of seatbelts and child safety seats throughout the duration of the program.

4-H Club News

TRAILBLAZERS

by Sarah Cosner

The monthly meeting of the Trailblazers 4-H Club was held March 15 at Yough Glades Elementary School. Erica Green reminded us about Public Speaking, which is March 24 at GCC, and Achievement Night, which is April 7 at Northern High School. Travis Sines is bringing the door prize to the Achievement Night.

Linda Rush discussed the baby beef workshop, which was being held on March 24 at Western Trails. New market animal record sheets were passed out. We filled out a survey from the Livestock Association. Our club decided to sponsor the eight members who are doing Bowl for Kids' Sake at $5 each.

Nick, Jenna, and Carey Rush served refreshments. Our next meeting will be held on April 29 at Par-Matt Lanes Bowling Alley at 3 p.m.

GRANTSVILLE 4-H

by Kris Knox

The Grantsville 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on March 14 at 7 p.m. at the Sportsman's building. The meeting was rescheduled due to inclement weather. Nineteen members and eight parents were in attendance. Ann Sherrard, 4-H Extension agent, was guest speaker. Aaron Wilhelm and John Beachy led pledges.

Old business discussed was: ski day at the Wisp, county public speaking contest, County Council, bowling activity, buckwheat dinner, and the weigh-in and spring show at the fairgrounds.

New business discussed was: broiler chick project, camp on-site training, Teen Focus conference, Achievement Night, Bowl for Kids' Sake, beekeeping school, Md. 4-H Forum workshop, and Friendship Weekend.

Information was shared about a beef workshop held on March 17 at the Ott farm in Clearville, Pa. All members carrying the Beef Project were encouraged to attend the afternoon workshop.

Ann Sherrard spoke about collecting canned goods at Achievement Night, and also answered any questions or concerns about 4-H. Karen Wilhelm Smith is assisting Ann and the 4-H Extension office in setting up a web site for member use.

A survey sent by the Livestock Association was completed by the club members, and a discussion on the Shooting Sports club for the Northern area was held.

Demonstrations were given by Ashley Beitzel on making cupcakes, Bridget Welch on making brownies, and Autumn Rizer on fit-

Judy jump-starts Blanchard's career

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Q. What can you tell me about the amazing actress who played young Judy Garland in ABC's Life With Judy Garland: Me and My Shadows? –Diane via e-mail.

A. Tammy Blanchard, 24, was virtually an unknown before landing the part that appears to have made her an instant star. She played Drew Jacobs for three years on Gilmore Light but otherwise had only a couple of independent short films on her resume.

The New Jersey native, who still lives with her mother and two brothers, says she has known she wanted to be an actress since she was 8. She played Dorothy in a high school production of The Wizard of Oz. Next up: a role in the movie Stealing Stanford.

Tammy Blanchard

Q: The guy who plays the Gorton's seafood fisherman in TV commercials looks a lot like an actor who used to be on Wagon Train. I think his name was Denny Miller. Is it really him? –Richard on Cape Cod, Massachusetts.

A: Yes. The actor, now 67, used the name Scott Miller when he was playing Duke Shannon on Wagon Train (1961-64). He's also a former movie Tarzan.

Q: Is the woman who plays Dr. Richard Kimble's wife in flashbacks on The Fugitive the same actress who used to be on the drama series Homefront? –M.S. via e-mail.

A: Nice catch! Beautiful Kelly Rutherford, who plays Tim Daly's ill-fated wife in Fugitive flashbacks, previously played barmaid Judy Owen in Homefront.

Q: I dearly love Ed. How does its future look? –Anne in Kentucky.

A: Relax, Anne. NBC has rewarded its freshman charmer with an early renewal for next season.

Q. What is Ann Jillian up to? I've always enjoyed her but haven't seen her in anything in quite a long time. –Jerome M. via e-mail.

A. Since starring in the 1997 TV movie I'll Be Home for Christmas, Jillian, 51, has guest starred in a 1999 episode of Touched by an Angel and in Walker, Texas Ranger last November.

The beautiful singer and actress is finding some of her most fulfilling work these days, however, as a motivational speaker for various groups. Her successful battle against breast cancer left Jillian more indomitable than ever, and her down-to-earth charm and way with people make her one of life's natural cheerleaders.

Q: To which actor was Tyne Daly previously married, Jim Brown or Georg Stanford Brown? –Richard in Holiday, Fla.

A: From 1966 to 1990, Daly was married to Georg Stanford Brown (Roots, The Rookies).

In Focus

Magician David Copperfield is in the eye of a flaming storm in Copperfield's Tornado of Fire, airing Tuesday, April 3, on CBS.

During the special, Copperfield stands in the vortex of a fiery twister that, if it were wind instead of fire, would be powerful enough to blow a house off its foundation. One wrong movement could burn him to a crisp.

In another segment, Copperfield invites an audience member on a psychic journey to a distant location – a trip lasting only seconds but spanning miles.

Monday

Peter MacNicol stars as John Cage, an eccentric lawyer whose quirks often work to his professional advantage, in Ally McBeal, airing Mondays on Fox.

TRIVIA

Orson Welles was 25 years old when he directed and starred in Citizen Kane. It is considered by many to be the best film ever made.

Mark Harmon was voted Sexiest Man Alive in 1986. He earned a different kind of honor in 1996 by rescuing two teens from a burning car.

Losing to Win

This proud and toothless young lady has already made an important discovery about the way God's plan works. Sometimes you've got to lose to win. How often we rediscover this in life.

There are so many examples of this truism. We endure some discomfort as our baby teeth are replaced and our "grown-up" teeth begin to grow through. In the same way, we might experience some pain in our lives as the Creator makes way for those traits that help us become spiritual "grown-ups". We may not be as joyful as this young lady because the path ahead is not clear to us. We must have the courage to give up the control over our will and let the Father work His divine will. Then, we can become a faithful and joyful spiritual being. Our Lord says in Luke 17:33, "Whoever tries to keep his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life will preserve it."

Visit your local house of worship this week. You may lose an hour of sleep, but you can gain a brand new life.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

NO 'MERE' ANYTHING

April 1, 2001

Background Scripture:
6:1 through 8:3
Devotional Reading:
Micah 4:1-7

It doesn't sound all that interesting or important, does it? Waiting on tables—a menial job whether at home or in church. The twelve apostles in the post-resurrection church of Jerusalem made it sound that way: "It is not right that we should give up preaching the word of God to serve tables" (6:2). While we cannot know exactly what the twelve meant, it does sound as if they are denigrating the task of waiting on tables.

Because there were rising complaints within the church that the Hellenist (Greek-speaking) widows were not getting their share of the daily distribution of food, the apostles knew they had to do something to correct that condition. Their proposed solution was to appoint seven men to be responsible for this task, so that the apostles could devote themselves to praver, teaching and preaching.

Some regard this passage as the first demarcation in the church between laity and clergy, what some would deem between a 'lower' and 'higher' calling. Whether that is so or not, there does appear to be a qualitative difference between these two vocations: one group would be servants of the word, the other, servants of the serving tables.

Full of the Spirt

I am not certain, however, that the difference isn't more apparent than real. The contrast was not so much the spiritual quality of the two different groups, but of function. The qualifications laid down by the apostles is indicative: "...seven men of good repute, full of the Spirit and of wisdom" (6:3). Those sound like pretty heavy qualifications for people just waiting on tables. But then, where did we ever get the idea that preaching the word is qualitatively more advanced than serving the needs of fellow human beings? The calling of the clergy is not a higher calling, just a different one.

First selected was Stephen, described as "a man full of faith and of the Holy Spirit" (6:5). That hardly represents a step down in spiritual qualifications, does it? And then the apostles "prayed and laid hands upon them"—pretty impressive for men who were chosen 'merely' to wait on tables and equitably provide food rations for the widows. If this was the first experience of church organization, it seemed to have been successful: "And the word of God increased, and the number of disciples multiplied greatly in Jerusalem, and a great many of the priests were obedient to the faith" (6:7).

Stephen was not called to preach, but that did not keep him from witnessing for his Lord. "Stephen, full of grace and power, did great wonders and signs among the people" (6:8). When he disputed with the members of certain synagogues, we are told that "they could not withstand the wisdom and the Spirit with which he spoke" (6:10). There was a lot more to Stephen than waiting on tables. First of all, he was a witnessing disciple to Jesus Christ.

Angel Face

Something else that we need to see is this man's great spirituality. The Council sat to examine this upstart and they were amazed at him: "And gazing at him, all who sat in the council saw that his face was like the face of an angel" (6:15). Of how many of the apostles was something like that said?

Stephen went on to preach a sermon to his antagonists, but it was not the sermon, but what happened when it was over that settled once and for all that Stephen was no "mere" anything. When his listeners evidenced their rage and "ground their teeth against him, Stephen responded with an act of discipleship that was neither clergy nor lay, apostle nor deacon—it was the act of a true follower of Jesus Christ: "But he, full of the Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God and Jesus standing at the right hand of God... And as they were stoning him, he prayed, 'Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.' And he knelt down and cried with a loud voice, 'Lord, do not hold this sin against them'" (7:55,59,60).

We do not know how the other disciples died or what they said in their last moments, but we may be assured that none of them rose above Stephen's example, for it was the example of our Lord Jesus Christ. When we live and die as he did, there is nothing "mere" about our lives.

Hospice Walk To Be Held April 21 Rain Or Shine

The sixth annual "Walk For Hospice" will be held April 21, rain or shine, at Deep Creek State Park, beginning at 10 a.m.

The walkers must register at 9 a.m. and will choose either the one mile or the three mile loop paths to walk.

"All money raised for Hospice of Garrett County Inc. stays in this county to help meet the needs of the terminally ill patients and their families entrusted to our care," said Brenda J. Butscher, executive director. "We are grateful for the walkers who have participated in the past and invite all of them and others to join us this year."

"This is a very important fund-raising event for our programs, which resulted in nearly $20,000 in support last year, our highest total to date, and we are hoping to surpass that amount this year."

The top three prizes include a Hewlett Packard Pavilion computer with a Hewlett Packard deskjet printer, a Sony Handycam Vision camcorder with Super Night Shot, and a Panasonic 25" TV/VCR unit with remote and many other features.

In addition, the top three winners will also receive the other fund level prizes listed. Those who raise over $1,000 will receive a "boom box" with CD player, cassette and radio, and all of the other prizes to be awarded at the lower funding levels. A fund-raiser with more than $250 in pledges will receive an overnight pull luggage and all of the prizes at the lower funding levels.

Those raising more than $100 will get a telephone and the prizes under the $100 level. Those who raise over $50 will receive a Hospice beach towel and the prizes under that level, and those raising more than $25 will be awarded a box of microwave popcorn.

All participants will receive a bottled water, and refreshments will be served. Drawings for other prizes donated by area businesses, including sports apparel, will be conducted throughout the morning.

Persons interested in receiving a walker sign-up sheet and sponsor sheet may call 301-334-5151. Grantsville area residents may call 1-800-521-5252. TTY Maryland Relay is also available at 1-800-735-2258.

Walkers are reminded that all money is to be collected in advance and turned in to Hospice on the day of the walk.

SOCIAL WORK MONTH — Members of the Allegany-Garrett County unit of the Social Work Caucus celebrated Social Work Month recently at a luncheon hosted by the Western Maryland Health System. Pictured are this year's speaker, Cherie Snyder, of Allegany College of Maryland's Integrative Health Program (far left), and Social Work Caucus officers (left to right) Mary Lou Mosbey, Carolyn Clauson-Andrews, Anita Hartman-Rozas, Amy Monoco, and Jan Chippendale. Cool Tools Technology Fair Slated At GCC

The second annual "Cool Tools" Technology Fair is set for Saturday, April 21, from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Continuing Education building and computer labs at Garrett Community College. The free event "will be filled with learning and fun to help children and adults understand the importance of computers and technology in our lives, now and in the future," said spokesperson Sandy Major of GCC's Small Business Development Center (SBDC) and Garrett Information Enterprise Center (GIEC).

The Cool Tools fair will feature a midway area of computer games for all ages, Lego Dacta, Turtle Target, button making, high-tech face painting, and a computer scavenger hunt with prizes.

The showcase are will feature short demonstrations of computer-related topics including presentations titled Internet Action; How to Use Technology and the Internet for Fun and Profit; E-Mailing, Shopping, and Resources on the Internet; Promoting Your Business or Organization; and Communicating in Today's World.

The exhibit area will feature demonstrations of computers and related technology products and services. To date the roster of exhibitors includes the GIEC, VITALink, DeepCreekMall.com, the Garrett County Board of Education, the GC Health Department, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the GC Partnership for Children and Families, Sky Tech Services, ACT Personnel Service, the Ruth Enlow Library, Garrett County's 4-H programs, and the Garrett Rural Information Cooperative.

Among the fair's other activities will be a drawing for free door prizes and an "i-raffle" for an iMac and a USB Hewlett Packard printer.

The Cool Tools fair is made possible with the financial and in-kind contributions of a number of sponsors, including the Technology Team of Garrett County; the GIEC; the Board of Education; GCC and the college's SBDC; Garrett County's Economic Development Department, Chamber of Commerce, and Economic Development Corporation; Demaree Inflatable Boats; DeepCreekMall.com; the Garrett Rural Information Cooperative; F&M Bank; Mettiki Coal; MicroWorks of the GC Community Action Committee; VITALink; and Windfall Resources Inc.

Cool Tools is spearheaded by the Technology Team of Garrett County, which works to support economic development and stable families in the county by creating new employment awareness and training opportunities in order to ensure a computer literate workforce. Members of the Technology Team are Cathy Ashby, Jim Hinebaugh, Dusty Huxford, Sandy Major, Dr. Brenda McCartney, Terry Norris, Dusty Stanton, Crystal Schaffer, Bob Stephens, Don Storck, Chuck Trautwein, JoAnn Vent, Peter Versteegan, and Julie Yoder.

For more information on the Cool Tools Technology Fair, interested persons may consult the event's web site at DeepCreekMall.com.CoolTools, or watch for newspaper advertisments in the April 12 issue of The Republican.

Slots Available For "Cool Tools" Technology Fair

The "Cool Tools" Technology Fair has openings remaining for individuals and/or organizations interested in participating in the event in an official capacity, according to fair spokesperson Sandy Major.

Openings remain for individuals and organizations wishing to participate in the fair as exhibitors, and those interested in doing so may contact Major at 301-387-3167. Organizations interested in supporting the fair through financial or in-kind contributions may contact Major for more information as well.

A PC Clinic will be held at the fair for non-profit community-based organizations that wish to evaluate and upgrade older 486, Pentium, and Macintosh computers. Parts for upgrades will be available at cost. Computers will be evaluated and upgraded by high school students who are participating in GCC's I-Tech training program. Non-profit organizations may call Board of Education computer resource teacher Chuck Trautwein 301-334-8926 to reserve a time slot.

Garrett County school students interested in displaying their work at the fair in a gallery of computer-generated student projects may call Trautwein at 301-334-8926 for details.

Corridor H Approved For Grant-Tucker

A Grant and Tucker county segment of Corridor H, the proposed east/west interstate highway from the Virginia state line to I-79 at Weston, has been approved by the Federal Highway Administration. The Federal Highway Administration decision, announced Friday by West Virginia governor Bob Wise, clears the way for design, right-of-way purchases, and construction of the 16.5-mile Bismarck-Davis segment of four-lane highway.

The Bismarck-Davis Corridor H segment will begin at W.Va. state Rt. 42 just south of Bismarck in Grant County, and will follow approximately the same path as Rt. 93 west until concluding 7/10 of a mile east of Rt. 32, just east of Davis. At that point the Davis-Thomas section will begin, which will take the highway between those two communities. At its closest point to Garrett County the highway will be no more than four miles south of the southernmost tip of the county.

Antiques

by Ralph and Terry Kovel

Perfume-bottle collectors like to specialize in favorite types. Some want figural bottles, some brand names. Perhaps the most popular are the Czechoslovakian "large stopper" bottles. These fancy bottles were made of cut or pressed glass, sometimes clear, sometimes colored. Tops were often as tall as the bottle. Flowers, animals, women, geometric and other designs were used as decorations on the flat, glass upper sections of the stoppers. The bottle was sometimes made with a matching design, but more often the bottle was a different design or color.

These perfume bottles were filled at home and kept on a mirrored tray on a dressing table. Many women had trays with 10 or 20 bottles, each filled with a different perfume. Very fancy bottles had added gold filigree decorations highlighted with glass "jewels." The $1 bottle of the 1920s now sells for hundreds of dollars. Because the bottles are attractive and showy, they were often kept in the family for several generations. Look around — someone in your family might be saving a treasure.

Q: Can you give me information about my unusual oak hall stand? It's 7 feet tall and has not only coat hooks and a lift top seat but a tall clock in the center with mirrors on each side. My father bought it in the 1950s from a Texas antiques dealer. A German friend says it is European, but the clock is marked "Waterbury."

A: Your hall stand is unusual, but we have seen others with large, built-in clocks. They were machine-made in the United States between 1890 and 1910, when oak furniture was at the height of popularity. The Waterbury Clock Co. of Waterbury, Conn., was established in 1857. By the late 19th century, Waterbury was manufacturing wall clocks in wooden cases as well as clockworks for other makers. So your hall tree might have been made by any one of the many oak-furniture manufacturers around the country. Large furniture pieces are sought by today's collectors. Your hall stand could sell for as much as $5,000.

Paw's corner

All Skunked Up

Q. Help! My cat was sprayed by a skunk. How do I get rid of the smell? Will the spray affect my cat's health?

A. Your outdoor cat has finally met its match — the wily skunk! Growing up in the country, I remember my cats coming in from the woods, looking very humble and smelling just awful.

The good news is: A skunk's spray will not harm your cat.

The bad news: The odor can be very difficult to get out, no matter what method you use. And you certainly don't want a smelly cat running around inside the house, or over to the neighbor's. So, into the garage Puss goes.

How to remove the odor? Try this:

• Get some room-temperature (not cold) tomato juice, as well as a sponge and a plastic basin.

• Place your cat in the basin — keep your hand on it at all times, because it will try to escape.

• Soak the sponge in tomato juice and then dab the sponge over the cat's coat. Work it in well.

• Let the juice set for five minutes (don't let it dry) and then rinse it off completely using lukewarm water.

Most likely, you will need to repeat this bathing process two or three times to get rid of the pungent odor. Even then, some residual odor may remain. A follow-up bath, using a gentle, cat-friendly shampoo, may mask the smell for a few days until it dissipates naturally.

If tomato juice doesn't reduce the smell, commercial skunk-odor removal products are available. Because most are chemical-based, follow the instructions exactly and watch your cat closely to make sure it doesn't have a reaction to them.

A last word: Don't try unusual or dangerous methods to remove the skunk odor! I actually overheard someone recommending that a pet owner should dip her cat in turpentine! A "bath" like that can seriously damage your pet's health. If tomato juice or a safe commercial product doesn't work, contact your veterinarian.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Translators are not perfect, and therefore, translations aren't, either. Sometimes, they're so far from perfect that they're laughable. Here are some real-life examples of English translations on foreign restaurant menus: dreaded veal cutlet; buttered saucepans and fried hormones; french fried ships; fried fishermen; roasted duck let loose; toes with butter and jam; pork condom bleu.

• Flying is an increasingly common method of transportation for many — people commuting to work, going on vacation and traveling for business all use airlines. To make these repetitive flights more interesting (or because they get really bored), airline attendants will occasionally try to make the "in-flight safety lecture" and other announcements a bit more entertaining. Here are some real examples that have been heard or reported:

— "There may be 50 ways to leave your lover, but there are only four ways out of this airplane."

— "Weather at our destination is 50 degrees with some broken clouds, but they'll try to have them fixed before we arrive."

— Thank you, and remember, nobody loves you or your money more than XYZ Airlines."

— Pilot: "Folks, we have reached our cruising altitude now, so I am going to switch the seat belt sign off. Feel free to move about as you wish, but please stay inside the plane till we land — it's a bit cold outside, and if you walk on the wings it affects the flight pattern."

— And after landing: "Thank you for flying XYZ Airlines. We hope you enjoyed giving us the business as much as we enjoyed taking you for a ride."

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On April 2, 1513, near present-day St. Augustine, Spanish explorer Juan Ponce de Leon came ashore on the Florida coast and claimed the territory for the Spanish crown. Although other European navigators may have sighted the Florida peninsula before, Ponce de Leon is credited with the first recorded landing and the first detailed exploration of the Florida coast.

• On April 5, 1614, in Virginia, Pocahontas, the daughter of Powhatan, chief of the Algonquian Indian confederacy, married John Rolfe, a Jamestown tobacco planter.

• On April 6, 1712, in New York City, Colonial America's first major slave rebellion occurred as some 20 African-American slaves, armed with guns and clubs, set fire to houses along the northern edge of the city. Nine whites were killed before a militia arrived to suppress the uprising.

• On April 4, 1841, only one month after assuming office, William Henry Harrison, the ninth president of the United States, died of pneumonia at the White House. Previously, at the inauguration on a bitterly cold day, Harrison declined to wear a jacket or hat, made a two-hour speech and attended three inauguration balls. Soon afterward, he developed pneumonia.

• On April 8, 1935, the U.S. Congress voted to appropriate the Works Progress Administration, a cornerstone part of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "New Deal" for America's vast number of unemployed citizens.

Mtn. Lake Park Youth To Hear "Bird Talk"

The Mtn. Lake Park Youth Activities Committee (MLP-YAC) is sponsoring "Bird Talk" by Jon Boone on Saturday, March 31, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Ticket Booth along G Street.

The Very Hungry Caterpillar will be read, and pictures will be taken of youth wearing apple or carrot costumes. A book drawing will be held in three age categories: adult, older youth, and children.

All activities are free and for all ages. Persons wanting more information may call Gail Dever at 301-334-8122 or 301-334-8819.

Board Of Ed. ACE Meeting Slated

The fourth meeting of the school year for the Garrett County Board of Education's Advisory Committee on Education (ACE) is scheduled for Wednesday, March 28, at 7 p.m., in Room 310 of the Continuing Education center at Garrett Community College.

The agenda includes a MSPAP report by Dr. Pat Mullinix, coordinator of research, evaluation, and information. The public is invited to attend.

Wertz Appointed West Virginia's NRCS Officer

Charlotte A. Wertz, a former resident of Garrett County, has been appointed to serve as the state administrative officer for the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in West Virginia.

"I'm looking forward to the challenges of my new position and the opportunity to further the mission of NRCS," stated Wertz. "As a parent and grandparent, I want to support efforts to make the world a better place. The work that NRCS does is written on the landscape of West Virginia and the nation."

NRCS offers technical and financial assistance to help private landowners conserve, develop, and wisely use their soil, water, and related natural resources on a voluntary, non-regulatory basis. In 2000, NRCS helped 117,000 West Virginians reduce soil erosion, improve water quality, enhance fish and wildlife habitat, promote good land use, reduce flooding, and improve woodland and pasture conditions.

"As Charlotte is breaking new ground for NRCS, it is appropriate that she will assume her new duties during Women's History Month," stated an NRCS spokesperson. She is the first woman to hold that position in West Virginia and the highest-ranking woman in NRCS in West Virginia.

Wertz will oversee the contracting, financial management, and human resources staffs. These divisions provide the essential support that NRCS technical staffs rely on to provide assistance to West Virginia landowners.

Her career with NRCS, formerly the Soil Conservation Service, began in 1984 when she was hired as a financial management clerk. Other positions that Wertz held included state administrative secretary, personnel management specialist, and human resources manager.

Prior to working for NRCS, Wertz was employed by the Integrated Business Methods Inc. in Oakland, Truetemper Corp. in Cleveland, and Vitro Laboratories in Silver Spring.

Wertz credits support from her co-workers, friends, and family for her success. She is the daughter of Roy and Lorraine Elliott of Oakland. She is married to Captain Michael L. Wertz, formerly of Cape May, N.J. They have five children: Charlie, Cheryl, and Chad Friend, and Becky and Katie Wertz. Wertz and her family live in the Morgantown area.

Ramp Cook-Off To Be Held At Local State Park

Herrington Manor State Park will be hosting a ramp cook-off in celebration of Garrett County's folk life.

The event will be held at the state park's lake house on Saturday, April 28, from 1 to 5 p.m. A panel of three judges will determine the winner from 2 to 3 p.m., and tasting by the public will be from 3 to 5 p.m.

There will be interpretive events on-site, games, tasting, and live music. Preregistration for the cook-off is required and must be received no later than April 25. Electricity will be available.

Persons interested may call Herrington Manor at 301-334-9180.

THE SUN — In April, sunlight hours each day increase, starting at 12.7 hours on April 1 and growing to 13.9 hours at month's end. The sun's midday peak height in the south creeps upward from 54 to 65 degrees (45 degrees is halfway up). Sunrise times slide backward from 7:03 a.m. on April 1 to 6:18 a.m. at the end of April. Sunset times move forward from 7:43 p.m. on April 1 to 8:13 p.m. at month's end.

THE MOON — Early April features a half full moon in the evening's sky (looks like a "D") that's great for crater spotting with telescopes and binoculars. The evening moon grows to full on the night of April 7-8, then rising before sunset. On April 13 the moon will appear near the planet Mars in the southern dawn. By April 15 the moon will have shrunk to half full at dawn. On April 20 the moon is last seen as a sliver low in the easter dawn. The moon reappears low in the western dusk on April 24, appearing as a razor-sharp sliver. The crescent moon is near the planet Saturn on April 25 and near the planet Jupiter on the 26th.

THE BRIGHT PLANETS — Our five nearest planetary neighbors appear as points of light that shine more steadily than the twinkling night stars. But if a planet appears very close to the horizon or if it's windy, even the planet's light may flicker. In April two bright evening planets can be seen. The bright planet Jupiter appears as the first bright point of light in the western dusk. Lower and one-sixth as bright is the planet Saturn, also in the west. The bright orange planet Mars rises in the east in the early morning hours. In mid April, the brilliant planet Venus is again visible, this time low in the eastern dawn. At this same time, Mars can be seen in the south.

APRIL'S BEST SIGHTS — April is the last month to see Orion in the western dusk. To Orion's left is Sirius, the night's brightest star. The Big Dipper is high in the north on April evenings. Along the outward curve of the Dipper's handle is Arcturus, a bright golden star. Go farther along this arc to Spica, the brightest star in Virgo. High in the southern evening sky is Leo, the Lion. The right side of Leo resembles a backwards question mark. At the bottom of the question mark is the bright star Regulus, marking Leo's heart.

APRIL ASTRONOMY ACTIVITIES — The Frostburg State Planetarium feature for April is "The Universe of Dr. Einstein," exploring the life and discoveries of the greatest 20th century scientist. Our planetarium programs start with a live tour of the current evening sky using our planetarium projector. Our free public programs are each Sunday at 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m., each presentation lasting about an hour. (There will be no programs on Easter Sunday, April 15.) The planetarium is in the front lobby of Lawes Hall, near the middle of the Frostburg State campus. There is free convenient parking nearby. The Cumberland Astronomy Club will have its monthly meeting on Saturday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the Frostburg State Planetarium. All interested sky gazers are welcome.

Dr. Bob Doyle directs the planetarium at Frostburg State. Since the mid '70s, Doyle has been writing sky columns for beginners who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards. To ask a question, call the FSU Planetarium at 301-687-4270 and press 4. Doyle also hosts "Skywatch," a brief program on days of the week and sky sights that airs on weekday evenings just before 9 p.m. on WFWM, Frostburg State's radio station, which transmits at 91.9 FM in western Garrett County and at 96.3 FM around Oakland. Dr. Doyle's e-mail address is rdoyle@frostburg.edu.

SGCRW Club Hosts Statewide GOP Meeting

Members of the Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club helped host the recent statewide Maryland Federation of Republican Women's spring board of directors meeting at Rocky Gap Lodge in Cumberland.

SGCRW Club members shared host responsibilities with other clubs of the Western Region by assisting with delegate registration, and also prepared a Garrett County promotional tourist package for each of the 125 participants. The package contained a copy of the Garrett County Vacation Guide and brochures and promotional items from local businesses and organizations.

The two-day meeting began with a presentation on the ratification of the Constitution and the story of the Federalist Papers by the state chairman of the MFRW Americanism Committee. A workshop on "How to Start a Political Campaign" was presented by Joyce Lyons Terhes, former chairman of the Maryland Republican Party, and Jim Burton, former Maryland GOP executive director.

SGCRW CLUB HONORED AT STATE MEETING — The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club helped host the spring board meeting of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women at the Rocky Gap State Park lodge recently. The two-day event included an awards presentation for local chapters of the state organization, and the SGCRW Club was recognized with the White Oak award for above average general performance, and the Community Service award for its Shopping Trip for Seniors program. SGCRW Club members and dignitaries shown at the meeting, from the left in the front row, are Ann Rebele, Arzella Parsons, MFRW president Marilyn Danker, and SGCRW president Bea Crosco. In the second row are Ruth Umbel, Ellen Bartlett and husband Congressman Roscoe Bartlett, Leona Beckman, and Nita Roberts.

The following day the MFRW Club members were welcomed by Maryland Senator John Hafer. Congressman Roscoe Bartlett delivered remarks that praised President George W. Bush's agenda as well as his performance in office to date. Both Senator Hafer and Congressman Bartlett invited questions from the audience. Barbara Comstock, director of Research and Strategic Planning for the Republican National Committee, was the featured luncheon speaker, and she explained President Bush's income tax cut proposal in "layman's terms."

Chartered in 1921, the MFRW is the state's oldest and largest women's political organization, with 1,900 members in 44 clubs across the state. It is part of the National Federation of Republican Women, with 107,000 members. For further information about the SGCRW Club, persons may call 301-334-9213.

Hafer Votes Against State Budget Proposal

Senator John J. Hafer (R-Allegany, Garrett) this week voted against the state budget proposal, and issued a warning of what he considered to be potential negative ramifications to the citizens of Maryland.

"As a small-business owner, you can't continue to spend more than you take in. The governor wants to spend $801 million more in excess of revenues," said Hafer. "I call that a bad budget, particularly when the economic indicators are sending us major warning signals to stop the spending."

Hafer said Maryland legislative analysts project general fund revenues at $9.9 billion, yet total general fund spending approved by the Senate is $10.701 billion. Total spending from all funds is approximately $20.98 billion.

"We need to slow the growth of our state budget, or Maryland's citizens will surely face severe program cuts, broken state promises, and large tax increases," the senator continued. "The Senate Budget and Taxation Committee had to work overtime to cut $184 million from the governor's original proposal. However, by spending $487 [million] in reserve funds and the entire $375 million surplus, Maryland is now operating without a fiscal safety net in the face of uncertain economic times."

When lowering the state revenue estimate for fiscal year 2002 by $50.2 million, the Board of Revenue Estimates explained its March 14 decision by stating, "We do not have the same assurances for fiscal year 2002. Nationwide weakness will have an impact on Maryland, causing a stronger than previously expected slowdown in employment and economic growth." The operating budget also relies heavily on capital gains tax collections, which have fluctuated from $87 million to $600 million over the past 10 years, Hafer reported.

"With the recent decline in the stock market, the runaway level of state spending found in this budget cannot be sustained by depending on $690 million of a revenue source that is so highly volatile," said Hafer. "Another issue is the rapid expansion of state bureaucracy, an ongoing theme of the Glendening-Townsend administration, while at the same time our baseline services are under-funded by more than $160 million — mental health services are underfunded by $41 million, Medicaid programs are short $32 million, and juvenile justice computer systems and ongoing programs require at least $4 million more — just to mention a few.

"This budget adds 3,054 new state positions. I don't believe we can afford this new influx of employees in future years," said Hafer. "Instead of growing state government, we should be innovative in our approach to new hiring and ask how we can retain skilled employees who are jumping to the private sector, particularly in the technological arena."

Town Hall

KITZMILLER

The town meeting was held on Monday, March 26.

- The town is gathering information and names to be put on a memorial in the park in honor of any Vietnam and/or Korean War veterans.
- Kitzmiller School will begin a recycling project for newsprint. This will take place the last day of March, April, and May. The town will haul the newsprint, and citizens are also invited to participate.
- It was announced that the town will hold a baked potato bar at the fire hall on April 27 to help benefit the Relay For Life.
- The original date for the town meeting in May has been changed to May 21 so as not to interfere with Memorial Day.

The next town meeting will be held Monday, April 23.

ACCIDENT

- Note to residents: An informational meeting concerning the relocation of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad station from Accident to Mellenry is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 3, at the Accident Town Hall. A representative of the NGCRS will make a presentation and answer questions. The mayor and town council will also be present.

LOCH LYNN

- The next meeting of mayor and town council is set for 7:30 p.m. this Monday, April 2. The board of Garrett County commissioners will be on hand for its annual visit. The meeting will be preceded by town voter registration, which will take place from 5 to 7:30 p.m.

WHEN TOMORROW STARTS WITHOUT ME

When tomorrow starts without me, and I'm not there to see
If the sun should rise and find your eyes all filled with tears for me
I wish so much you wouldn't cry the way you did today, while thinking of the many things we didn't get to say
I know how much you love me, as much as I love you, and each time that you think of me, I know you'll miss me too

But when tomorrow starts without me, please try to understand
That an angel came and called my name, and took me by the hand
And said my place was ready, in Heaven far above, and that I'd have to leave behind all those I dearly love
But as I turned to walk away, a tear fell from my eye, for all my life, I'd always thought, I didn't want to die
I had so much to live for, so much yet to do, it seemed impossible that I was leaving you
The good days and the bad, I thought of all the love we shared, and all the fun we'd had

If I could re-live yesterday, just even for a while, I'd say goodbye and kiss you and maybe see you smile
But then I fully realized that this could never be, for emptiness and memories would take the place of me
And when I thought of worldly things I might miss come tomorrow,
I thought of you, and when I did, my heart was filled with sorrow

But when I walked through Heaven's gates, I felt so much at home
When God looked down and smiled at me from His great golden Throne
He said, "This is eternity, and all I've promised you, today your life on earth is past, but here it starts anew
I promise no tomorrow here, for today will always last."

And since each day's the same, there's no longing for the past. But you've been so faithful, so trusting and so true
Though there were times you did some things you knew you shouldn't do
But, you have been forgiven and now at last you're free, so, won't you take my hand and share my life with me?

So when tomorrow starts without me, don't think we're far apart
For every time you think of me, I'm right there in your heart

Younger Population Continues Slide In Far-Western, Eastern Counties

by Kate Alexander
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON — While their overall populations grew slightly or remained stable, the number of children continued to ebb in counties at the far reaches of the state.

Over the last decade, the population under age 18 fell by 3 percent in Somerset County, 2 percent in Garrett County, and 6 percent in Allegany County, according to census data released last week.

And the implications of that decline are rippling through the communities' schools and economies.

"There is no industry to keep young people here," said Ted Abbott Sr., a Somerset County Board of Education member until last year. "Young people don't work here so they don't live here and you don't have young people having families" as a result.

Tom Lawton, Somerset County planner, said the trend has been ongoing for about 30 years, and he attributes it to an influx of retirees without children. He is not concerned by the decrease, but added that it does not bode well for the schools in the county.

Few of the local officials contacted were concerned about the drops, which pale in comparison to Baltimore City's loss of more than 18,000 residents in the under-18 group from 1990 to 2000. All other counties in the state posted increases in their young populations.

But Baltimore's 10.3 percent decline for young people nearly mirrors the city's overall loss of 11.5 percent of its population, according to the census. Somerset and Garrett counties saw overall population increases of about 6 percent, while Allegany County's population stayed steady.

While the actual numbers are small in Somerset and Garrett counties — the decrease translates into less than 150 people in each county — officials were keeping an eye on the troublesome trend.

The change is more pronounced in Allegany County, where the drop represents the loss of 959 people under age 18 over the last decade, or 9 percent of the county's total school population, according to state Board of Education figures.

The Allegany County school superintendent's office did not return repeated phone calls seeking comment on the population shift. An Allegany County Economic Development Commission spokesman said he was not aware of the drop and would withhold comment on any economic impacts of the trend until having a chance to explore its implications further.

In Somerset County, Abbott said the declining school population has created a dire situation — fewer students lead to fewer state education dollars.

The school board last fall recommended unifying the county's two high schools — which together house about 600 students — in order to cut costs, but the measure was defeated in a referendum in November. Now the board is considering combining the middle schools and high schools, said Washington High School principal Louise Cheek.

Abbott suggested that the county's biggest problem in keeping young people was a lack of jobs — one of the main reasons cited by Garrett County officials as well.

Garrett County Planning director John Nelson said the overall population has grown because an increasing number of older folks are retiring to their second homes in the county while the younger population leaves to seek employment.

But Nelson said that he sees that trend changing in the very near future due to several new economic opportunities moving into the county.

ClosetMaid, a wire basket manufacturer from Florida, is scheduled to move into Grantsville within the next year, bringing with it 750 new jobs, said Ken Wishnick, president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. He said a new sporting facility planned for Wisp resort area will bring hundreds more new jobs.

With the new jobs, the exodus of the young is "turning around now, and I think it will be the start of bringing people in," Wishnick said.

While the planners welcome their new growth, Somerset's Abbott noted that the source of the county's overall growth — retirees — also has its downfalls.

"You reach a point when it's almost a retirement community, and then the likelihood of young people staying is even less," Abbott said.

TIPS CAN SAVE LIVES, these Wisp Food Service staffers have learned through the Training for Intervention Procedures (TIPS) program they completed recently. By learning appropriate intervention techniques when the effects of alcohol could create a danger for a patron or others, or when an underage person may be attempting to purchase alcohol, these managers and servers will be able to play a part in preventing a possible tragedy. Seated from the left in the front row are Brenda McDonnell, Christel Brenneman, Lee Ann Diehl, and Daniel Selb. Standing are Tina Fox, Wendy Friend, Wisp Food Service beverage manager Lisa Pursley, local TIPS coordinator Fred Herath, Scott Alexander, Kristie Sausman, and Shannon Mahoney. These Recreational Industries employees represent the Place at the Base of the Face, Pizzazz Pizzeria, the 23-Below Lounge, and the Will O' the Wisp.

Wisp Servers Complete TIPS Training Class

Restaurant managers and Food servers affiliated with Wisp Food Service recently completed the Training for Intervention Procedures (TIPS) program through Health Communications Inc. Among county establishments holding liquor licenses, Wisp Food Service of Recreational Industries, under the management of Martin Heise, "has distinguished itself as the most active in arranging the alcohol awareness trainings," according to local TIPS coordinator Fred Herath.

Over 300 area residents have successfully completed TIPS workshops since 1997, and the program is credited with playing a part in a significant decline in citations for underage sales since that time. In 1998 Garrett County reached October before its first alcohol-related traffic fatality of that year, the longest period of time within any year in at least the prior 22 years. Workshop participants consistently evaluate the training as valued and effective, Herath said.

Health Communications offers seven TIPS training programs, three of which — the On-Premise, Off-Premise, and Parent programs — are available in Garrett County. In order to receive nationally recognized certification, a TIPS workshop participant must attend to information, accurately assess video vignettes, participate in role-play situations, and achieve at least a 71 percent score on the written exam.

In addition to the Wisp, several other local establishments have undertaken the expense, time, and scheduling involved in providing a five-hour on-site workshop, including the Black Bear Tavern, the Point View restaurant, and the Silver Tree complex. Area convenience and package stores that have participated in the three-hour Off-Premise program, those most vigorous in preventing underage sales and alcohol intoxication, have been Markwood Citgo, BFS, Midway Liquors, and Martin's grocery, according to Herath. "All of these merchants are to be commended for their outstanding commitment to professionalism and public safety," he said.

"Despite enthusiasm, it is particularly difficult for smaller establishments to arrange or respond to periodic trainings, which, without subsidy, can require a registration fee of $25-$50 per participant," Herath stated. "This cost, in addition to compensating employees for their time in training, truly inhibits full participation."

Businesses or organizations wishing to host or sponsor a TIPS training session may contact Herath at 301-334-7933. Additional information can also be found at www.gettips.com.

Estonians Find New Adventures In And Out Of GCC Classrooms

by Joan Crawford

Although the country of Estonia is not in the territory normally served by Garrett Community College in western Maryland, two residents of the Baltic country, college lecturer Mart Reimann and champion cross-country skier Reeda Tuula, have enrolled in GCC's Adventure Sports program this spring semester.

Reimann, who is also teaching an ecotourism course at the college, has come to America in response to the efforts of the Maryland National Guard and GCC president Dr. Steve Herman to open channels of communication between the two countries. The project is an outgrowth of a larger initiative between the Republic of Estonia and the state of Maryland.

Tuula first learned about the Adventure Sports program when her father heard a Voice of America shortwave radio broadcast about the signature GCC program.

Both of these new students are graduates of Estonian universities and are now pursuing degrees in Adventure Sports to add another dimension to their professional careers.

Reimann holds a BSc in geoecology from the Tallinn Pedagogical University Faculty of Mathematics and Natural Sciences, where he lectured on ecotourism, environmental protection, and recreation management. For four years he has served as expert on nature conservation with the Ministry of Environment. He is also a member of the board of the Estonian Ecotourism Association and works as a consultant to coordinate recreational areas planning in the state forests of Estonia, a job he is now doing by e-mail. His reason for coming to the Adventure Sports program is to perfect his skills in outdoor adventure activities.

"I have a strong background in nature and the environment," he said, "and I have done a great deal of hiking, biking, and canoeing, but I need to learn more about the other sports. In our country many more people ride bikes than here in America."

Reimann said he enjoys having his office in the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies and working with other faculty who share his interests in the outdoors. At GCC, where he is taking some classes with students he teaches, he has found no great distance between teacher and student, as there is in Estonia. "Classes at GCC are smaller," he said, "and much more informal. We have better discussions."

Reimann speaks proudly of his Estonian heritage as a member of the fifth generation to live and work on the farm that was returned to his family when the Soviet Union disintegrated, and of the musical legacy all Estonians share. "Estonians have a very strong identity," he said, "and every municipality has its own choir. We have one of the largest outdoor stages in the world, where every four years 30,000 actors, singers, and dancers perform a concert of folk dancing and singing."

Reimann, who has been singing since he can remember, also plays the saxophone and recorder. "The recorder is close to nature," he says, "and it's good to hear around a campfire." He had an opportunity to play it during the recent cold weather camping weekend course in which he was a student. He will probably take it with him for the orienteering course in April, which will meet at the Quantico Marine Base in Virginia. The instructor will be Lt. Col. Robert Turbyfill, former coach of the United States Olympic orienteering team.

Tuula, who will also be taking the orienteering course, said that she has found the Adventure Sports program to be just what she wanted. A graduate of the University of Tartu with a degree in economics, she has worked for a sports equipment company in Estonia doing product analysis and cost accounting. She has also pursued her sport of cross-country skiing to the championship level, having won a national championship and several marathons, including an international competition. In 1998 she was the first woman to win a series of four marathons.

Since coming to Garrett County, Tuula's new winter sport interest has become snowboarding. She still finds opportunity to cross-country ski at Herrington Manor State Park, and she is taking a teleskiing course in addition to ecotourism, general psychology, expository writing, introduction to recreation, and orienteering.

This woman, who has climbed and skied in the Alps, is finding Garrett County to be "the perfect place. I love the water and I love the mountains," she said. "I am now doing something for myself, things I could not do in Estonia. This program has changed my life so much. I now want to give something back."

Tuula is considering working in America after she completes her degree. Right now she plans to go home for a few weeks this summer to see her brother and her German shepherd named "Lord." But she will come back in the fall and is looking forward to adding climbing and kayaking to her adventure sports.

Having Tuula and Reimann as students in the Adventure Sports program has been good for the other students and instructors, according to AVS program director Mike Logsdon. "We are learning from them," he said. "Our Adventure Sports majors are training to be leaders in an industry where they will often encounter clients from all sorts of backgrounds and from different cultures.

"What could be better than to have Estonians Mart and Reeda be a part of our adventure sports academic family? Two students from a half world away have come together with fellow students from the United States to study a common love—to become a professional in the world of adventure recreation."

BASKING IN THE (RELATIVE) WARMTH of an early Garrett County spring, Estonian natives and Garrett Community College students Mart Reimann, left, and Reeda Tuula have immersed themselves in the many outdoor activities this area provides. The Adventure Sports majors are pursuing their love for the outdoors in both the classroom setting and in their free time by cross-country and downhill skiing, and are looking forward to the hiking, biking, and kayaking opportunities that will come with warmer weather. See story.

Eastern Star Officers Installed

The Oakland Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star recently held a meeting at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple to install new officers.

Worthy Matron Bette L. Welch and Worthy Patron David L. Hall presided. Lillian Reckner was installed as organist and Betty Foy was installed as chaplain by installing officer Mildred Martin, Past Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Maryland; installing marshal Betty Beckman, Past Matron, McKinley Chapter No. 12; installing chaplain Arie Wagner, Past Matron, McKinley Chapter No. 12; installing warder Thelma Henshaw, Oakland Chapter No. 67; and installing sentinel Lewis Marks, Past Patron, Oakland Chapter No. 67.

Dottie Csanner, Junior Past Matron, Oakland Chapter No. 67, was appointed a member of the Grand Family for 2001-2002 as Grand Esther. Ruth Ellen Paugh was introduced to the chapter by the Worthy Matron as flag bearer for the year 2001-2002. Cheree Reckner won the door prize.

Guests for the evening included M. Jane Doll, Associate Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Maryland; Robert B. Ross, Associate Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter of Maryland; Jack Doll, Past Patron, Frederick Chapter No. 79; and Judith Hall, Past Matron, McKinley Chapter No. 12.

A social hour followed the meeting. The next meeting will be April 3 at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Temple. An Easter program is planned, and refreshments will follow the meeting.

SEARS DONATES TO BBBS BENEFIT — The Oakland Sears store has donated an Alva tabletop stereo to the Garrett County chapter of Big Brothers Big Sisters. The stereo will be raffled at the annual Bowl for Kids' Sake fund-raiser, slated for this Saturday, March 31, at Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland. Local BBBS coordinator JoAnn Fletcher, left, is shown accepting the donation from local Sears proprietor Russell Sines. A number of local businesses have donated door prizes that will be given away throughout the fund-raiser. Persons interested in participating in the bowling benefit may call Garrett County BBBS at 301-334-3591 or 1-800-400-0735.

Maryland House Of Delegates Approves Prescription Drug Plan

by Megan Scott
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — The Maryland House of Delegates unanimously approved a bill Friday to ease the rising costs of prescriptions drugs for poor, uninsured people and the elderly. The decision came three days after the Senate approved its own prescription drug coverage measure.

"This was definitely needed," said Delegate Joanne Benson, D-Prince George's. "The state, with all its wealth, has an obligation to find a way to help these senior citizens and young mothers. I am just delighted and excited. It's very dear to my heart."

The Senior Prescription Drug Relief Act would add about $30 million to Medbank, the Maryland Pharmacy Discount Program and Short-Term Drug Subsidy Program.

Residents on the Eastern Shore, Southern Maryland/ Anne Arundel County, and the Washington suburbs will have access to a nearby Medbank, which will provide access to free prescription drugs for eligible individuals. Medbank is now in western Maryland and Baltimore County.

Seniors without prescription drug coverage and all individuals at or below 300 percent of the federal poverty level are covered under the Maryland Pharmacy Discount Program. The federal poverty level is $8,590.

Eligible individuals would pay 82 percent of the Medicaid price for prescription drugs, according to the bill. Those people below 130 percent could purchase drugs for 25 percent of the Medicaid rate. This is pending a waiver from the Health Care Financing Administration.

The bill mandates the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene to study the possibility of individuals purchasing drugs through a local health department. The report is due Dec. 1. It also requires the comptroller to examine giving a tax credit to those individuals who are above 300 percent of the federal poverty level and spend a certain amount on prescription drugs.

U.S. drug spending grew more rapidly than other health spending in the 1990s, according to a report last year from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

The annual rate of increase in prescription drug expenditures increased from 10.6 percent in 1995 to 14.1 percent in 1997.

Delegate Dan Morhaim, D-Baltimore County, said the problem of prescription drug coverage has grown more significant over the years. Morhaim, an emergency room physician, said the solution is to "provide insurance that allows proper coverage at different income levels."

The House and Senate bills differ only slightly. Both include expanding Medbank and adding funds to the Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program. The Senate bill increases the income limit for the Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program from 116 percent of the federal poverty level to 120 percent.

Differences between the bills will be worked out in a conference committee.

"I supported it," said Delegate Salima Marriott, D-Baltimore. "Basically I believe in universal health coverage. Any steps we take moving in that direction, I'm delighted."

Poster Contest To Be Held For Skin Cancer Prevention

The Coalition for Skin Cancer Prevention in Maryland is holding a poster contest for all Maryland students for Skin Cancer Awareness and Prevention Month.

Deadline for the contest is April 27, and prizes will be awarded on May 7, Melanoma Monday, at a press conference at MedChi, the Maryland State Medical Society, located in Baltimore.

Skin cancer is the most common cancer, but also the most preventable. Childhood sunburn is the leading cause of melanoma, a deadly form of skin cancer, which is on the rise in Maryland. The coalition has developed a middle school curriculum, "SunGuard Your Skin," a web site at www.sunguardman.org, and a mascot, SunGuard Man, who travels statewide to events.

All Maryland K-12 students are eligible. Contest posters must be no larger than 16x20 inches, showing why and how to protect the skin from the sun's damaging rays.

The first place winner will receive a $100 U.S. savings bond, appear on Fox 45 TV, and have a class pizza party with SunGuard Man; the second place winner will receive a $50 U.S. savings bond and a SunGuard Man T-shirt.

Entrants should send their poster plus their name, address, phone number, e-mail, school, and grade to: Poster Contest, Coalition for Skin Cancer Prevention in Maryland, 1211 Cathedral Street, Baltimore, MD 21201. Persons wanting more information may call 1-800-492-0872, ext. 340.

Support Group Meeting Slated

Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Arthritis/Fibromyalgia Support Group will meet next Tuesday, April 3, in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital board room at 6:30 p.m. This meeting will serve as a "Welcome Back/Get Acquainted" session.

The support group meetings are held at no charge to the public, and all ages are welcome. Interested persons can obtain additional information by contacting Victoria Insley, a facilitator of the Arthritis/Fibromyalgia Support Group, at 301-334-9767.

Massage Therapy Course Offered By Garrett CC

The Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College will offer a course titled Emotional Processing: Assisting Clients on Saturday, April 28, and Sunday, April 29, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day.

This course is designed for the individual who is pursuing knowledge and skills to become certified as a massage therapist. Upon completion of the course, the student will have completed a review of techniques designed to assist clients engaged in emotional processing. Topics to be covered include anatomy and physiology, coping, closure, boundaries, and referral.

This course is open to students and practicing massage therapists. Massage therapists will earn 12 Category A Continuing Education Units (CEUs) and must provide proof of licensure at the time of registration. GCC is approved by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork (NCBTMB) as a continuing education provider under Category A.

For additional information, persons may phone 301-387-3088.

Stress Workshop To Be Conducted By Head Start

Garrett County Community Action's Head Start Program has designed an interactive stress management workshop for Head Start parents called the "Pampered Parents Workshop." This workshop will be held Wednesday, April 11, 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident.

Terry Kasecamp, professor of psychology at Frostburg State University and Garrett Community College, will conduct an interactive stress management presentation that will teach parents how to identify the stress in their life and how to use effective coping skills.

Following the presentation, parents will be encouraged to visit various "stations," which include makeovers by Patsy McBride of Patsy McBride Hairstyles and Betty Pritt of Mary Kay Cosmetics; seated massages by Carol Ann Sisler and Cindy Humbert; and an exercise demonstration by Jen Wilson of Mountain Fitness.

Aroma therapy and herbal tea will be offered at the "Tea and Talk" corner. Lunch and baby-sitting will be provided by Head Start. Persons wanting more information may contact GCCAC Head Start at 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 127.

FINANCIAL COUNSELING SERVICES are now available to patients of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Pictured above are Clemie McLaughlin, patient account representative, and Kathy Callis, director of patient financial services, who will help patients without insurance understand the options and alternatives available to them. See story for details.

GCM Hospital Offers Financial Counseling, Verification Assistance

As part of its customer service efforts, Garrett County Memorial Hospital is now offering financial counseling and insurance verification services for hospital patients.

Financial counseling is available for patients who need care, but do not have insurance. This counseling will explain the Medicaid process, go over GCMH's Charity Care Program, assist patients in setting up a payment plan, as well as offer self-pay patients a prompt-pay discount.

For patients with insurance, GCMH now provides insurance verification services. This will enable patients to know exactly what their insurance will pay before the procedure is done. Patients will be assisted in developing a better understanding of how each insurance situation differs.

"The primary focus of this effort is improving 'customer service' by guiding our patients through the maze of healthcare insurance, regulations, and operations," said Donald Battista, GCMH president and CEO. "Alterations in Medicare, Medicaid, managed care, and other insurance policy changes have impacted patients nationally as well as locally. These changes typically are related to services that are no longer covered by insurance companies or increases in 'out-of-pocket' expenses insurers are requiring patients to pay."

For patients with insurance, GCMH will also collect co-payments and deductibles at the time of service in order to reduce patient inconvenience and mailing costs.

"Many patients are not aware of the extent or limits of their insurance coverage until they experience an illness. This program is intended to provide patients with information early so there are fewer surprises later on," said Kathy Callis, director of Patient Financial Services.

GCMH plans to continue improving its service to both patients and physician communities through the efforts mentioned above. "These improvements will become more evident in the coming weeks and months, and we encourage the public's active participation by commenting to hospital staff about the changes and improvements so we can serve our patients better," Callis added.

Skin Cancer Screening Set For Area Seniors

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital Wellness Department is offering a free skin cancer screening for area senior citizens. Sean McCagh, M.D., and Laurie Grant, CRNP, will perform the screenings on April 2 by appointment only from 8 a.m. to noon at the hospital.

"Skin cancer is the most common cancer in the world," said McCagh. "Everyone should be familiar with the early signs of skin cancer."

To schedule an appointment, persons should call the GCMH Wellness Department at 301-533-4327.

Seniors Health Fair Slated By Agency On Aging

Two free mini-health fairs for senior citizens, one in Grantsville and the other in Oakland, are being sponsored by the Garrett County Community Action Committee Area (GCCAC) Agency on Aging. The events are offered for all those 60 and older.

The first health fair will take place at the Grantsville Senior Center, 125 Durst Ct., on Thursday, April 5, and the second is set for the following day, Friday, April 6, at the Mary Browning Senior Center, 104 E. Center St., Oakland. Each event will get under way at 9:30 a.m. with registration and coffee, then the free health screenings will be available from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Medical personnel will provide health screenings including vision, hearing, depression screening, body mass index, blood pressure, and oral cancer. A pharmacist will also be on hand to review medications and answer questions on drug interactions and side effects.

Providers for the event include the Garrett County Health Department, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Mt. Top Mental Health Associates, Regional Eye Associates, Beltone Hearing, Garrett Rehab Services, Gregg's and Rite-Aid pharmacies, and Dr. Terry Dornburg, D.D.S.

For further information or to make a reservation for lunch at one of the sites, interested persons may call the GCCAC at 301-334-9431, ext. 140, or toll-free at 1-888-877-8403.

MARCH IS NATIONAL NUTRITION MONTH, and in celebration of that designation, the Mary Browning Senior Center hosted a nutrition and health fair last Friday. A similar event was held at the Grantsville Senior Center earlier this month. Several individuals led workshops in the areas of exercise, food preparation, hygiene, diet, and general health. In the picture above, Amy Ritchie, left, of the health department is shown as she leads three participants in exercises. Shown below left is Beverly Carvell of the Cooperative Extension Service as she serves food she prepared in her workshop about fixing healthful meals on fixed incomes. Also pictured are Irene Martin and Mary Alice Fries. Other leaders and speakers included Tina Buckel, Linda Ashby, Margaret Janney, Dr. Ronel Williams, and Dr. Ken Mankemyer.

Pro-Agriculture Amendment Fails In House Of Delegates

An amendment to restore funding to the Cover Crop Cost Share Program in the 2002 budget failed last week in the Maryland House of Delegates.

Sponsored by Del. Paul Stull (R-Frederick Co.), the amendment would have returned $250,000 to the program that had been stripped by the House Appropriations Committee.

According to farming advocate Lynne Hoot, executive director of the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts, ignoring concerns of the farming community they represent, a coalition of rural delegates voted with city, suburban members to ensure defeat of the amendment. Western Maryland Del. Kevin Kelly opposed the pro-agriculture measure.

Hoot said she was dumbfounded by the failure of the bill. "This program to expand the use of cover crops would be very beneficial to the farming community. The program should be expanded to western Maryland because it would be beneficial in stopping erosion on the sloping ground there. Western Maryland has a greater need from an erosion standpoint than the Eastern Shore. It is unbelievable that the program was cut. It is hard for me to believe that anyone would oppose putting the $250,000 back in," said Hoot.

The cover crop program is also backed by the Maryland Farm Bureau. The program though is not only positive for the farming community, Hoot added, it has strong environmental benefits as well. The Maryland Center for Agro-Ecology, the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, the Patuxent River Commission and the Maryland Department of Planning all support cover crop initiatives.

Russ Brinsfield, executive director of the Maryland Center for Agro-Ecology, testified that funding for the cover crops program would be a "positive step towards restoring the Chesapeake and, by helping farmers remain economically viable, also help preserve and enhance our valuable farms and open space."

The cover crop program is presently limited to the Eastern Shore, where it was introduced in response to the pfiesteria concerns around the lower shore during 1997. According to the Maryland Department of Agriculture and University of Maryland scientists, expanding the program statewide could result in a reduction of 5,000,000 pounds of nitrogen running off into streams, groundwater, and the Chesapeake Bay.

Planting cover crops accomplishes nitrogen removal at a cost of about $1 per pound, one of the most cost-efficient control strategies available. The House of Delegates Environmental Matters Committee's bill analysis strongly supported cover crop funding. "A cover crop cost-share program, which is expanded geographically and financially, will further demonstrate that Maryland is committed to its farmers and to protecting our state's resources for future generations," the analysis stated.

Farming In Maryland.....

Farm Bill Must Balance All Interests, Says Farm Bureau

The next farm bill must provide "an expanded public investment in agriculture" that includes increased income support for producers, much of it "countercyclical," and increased expenditures for conservation, research, and export promotion to help the industry grow and prosper, American Farm Bureau Federation president Bob Stallman last week told the House Agriculture Committee.

Stallman testified in the second of a series of hearings on the future of American farm policy. "We have a vision of a profitable agriculture from growing markets, increasing value-added efforts and providing voluntary incentive-based conservation programs," he said.

"Our vision is to capture the 'farm opportunity,' and, on a long-term basis, capture more of our income from the marketplace and less from government payments."

Agriculture Committee chairman Larry Combest (R-Texas), in his opening statement, said, "This promises to be a demanding series of hearings, but I believe that everyone on the committee recognizes their importance."

Combest charged all agricultural groups offering testimony to provide specific policy recommendations — and demonstrate how those recommendations would affect the federal budget, World Trade Organization obligations and related industries, and the ability to move U.S. commodities on the world market.

Stallman, a Texas cattle and rice producer, told the committee that Farm Bureau is the only agricultural group to testify that represents producers of all commodities in all 50 states. "We, like this committee, must ensure balance between all those interests. We believe our recommendations achieve that balance, as well as stay within a reasonable budget request and our WTO commitments."

Planting flexibility must be maintained in the upcoming legislation, Stallman said. That has allowed producers to plant for the market rather than for the government.

Before itemizing Farm Bureau's numerous recommendations for the new farm bill, Stallman said farmers will need another short-term relief package. "We believe Congress should approve $9 billion in emergency assistance for fiscal 2001 as soon as possible," the farm leader explained.

Agriculture Department statistics show that a substantial portion of farm income over the past three years came from government payments. Cutting those payments would hurt farm income and would begin to underline the financial balance sheet of the farm sector, Stallman said.

While supporting continued direct payments, Stallman said new income support payments should be countercyclical with those support levels declining when farm income improves. He also called for rebalancing loan rates between commodities.

Stallman told the committee that AFBF's board of directions recently agreed that after three years of low income in the agricultural sector, an additional $12 billion per year will be needed for Farm Bureau's overall proposal, starting in fiscal 2003 (or in fiscal 2002 if the new farm bill is completed earlier).

Farm Bureau also urged that up to $1.5 billion be authorized yearly as needed for countercyclical payments to producers of fruits and vegetables.

"Bridging the gap between where we are now and where we want to be in the future requires an expanded public investment in agriculture," Stallman said. He said that must include funding increases for conservation, research, and export promotion activities.

Stallman's testimony included a list of nearly two dozen programs, regulations, and tax code reforms outside the purview of the Agriculture Committee but directly affecting the economic well-being of the industry. These include biotechnology, ethanol, the Food Quality Protection Act, trade sanctions, and WTO negotiations.

"We are here to discuss the next farm bill, but there are many outside factors that will have an effect on the success of this policy," Stallman said.

For more information on Farm Bureau's testimony, interested persons may log onto AFBF's Voice of Agriculture web site at www.fb.org.

Chicken & Egg Numbers Reported

Maryland laying flocks produced 71 million eggs during January 2001, of which 65 million were table eggs and 6 million were hatching eggs, according to the National Agricultural Statistics (NASS). The average rate of lay was 74.5%. The average number of layers on hand during January 2001 was 3,973,000. On Feb. 1, 2001, 2% of the layers in Maryland were being molted and 36.5% of all layers had been through a molt.

United States egg production totaled 7.21 billion during January 2001, up 1% from last year. Production included 6.11 billion table eggs and 1.10 billion hatching eggs, of which 1.03 billion were broiler-type and 67 million were egg-type. The total number of layers during January 2001 averaged 333 million, up 1% from the total average number of layers during January 2000. January egg production per 100 layers was 2,164 eggs, down 1% from 2,178 eggs in January 2000.

Farmers Union Tells Governors Conservation Is A Priority

National Farmers Union (NFU) president Leland Swenson recently praised governors for their commitment to help farmers and ranchers achieve the goals of natural resource conservation at a meeting of the National Governors' Association Committee on Natural Resources. At the meeting, convened by Gov. Tom Vilsack, D-Iowa, Swenson urged governors to work in their states and with Congress to provide a level of funding that will sustain long-term success for these initiatives, more directly target compensation and technical assistance to family-sized operations, and protect the soil, water, air and wildlife resources of rural America.

"I commend the leadership of Governor Vilsack and members of this committee for your commitment to private and public benefits of conservation," Swenson told the committee. "Your efforts on issues such as Smart-Growth strategies, monitoring conservation practices in your states, and aiding landowners in your conservation efforts is crucial to protecting the nation's health and productive habitats. A common-sense approach to the issue of conservation will go a long way toward achieving the multiple goals of saving our natural resources and keeping farmers as stewards on the land."

Farmers Union is urging the consideration of several new initiatives that are complementary to current programs that encourage conservation and environmental stewardship. They include Sen. Tom Harkin's, D-Iowa, Conservation Security Act that would target incentive payments to family farmers and ranchers who practice production agriculture in ways that protect our natural resources. Farmers Union also supports incentives and technical assistance to encourage implementation of carbon sequestration programs to allow farmers to receive economic benefits for addressing global warming. Lastly, an intermediate-term soil rehabilitation program to restore cropland recently decimated by weather, disease or pests should be considered.

The family farmer and rancher organization also supports a number of priorities that will help maintain and improve existing conservation initiatives at the federal level. They include: raising the cap on total enrollment for the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) to at least 40 million acres; reducing the emphasis on whole-farm CRP enrollments; expanding the Wetlands Reserve Program; adding funding to the Farmland Protection Program to protect farmland from development, including endangered species habitats as a priority in the Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program, increasing funding for the Environmental Quality Incentives Program; and ensuring sufficient resources for Conservation Technical Assistance for farmers wanting to adopt sound conservation practices.

"Congress and the states must adopt a comprehensive and cohesive approach to promoting land conservation, looking particularly at long-term solutions to the ecological challenges of our agricultural lands," said Swenson. "Your efforts and commitment will help America's family farmers and ranchers continue to participate in conservation efforts that benefit all of America."

March News Items Released By Garrett Farm Service Agency

Michael Kozier, Garrett County FSA executive director, has released a number of news items and reminders to county farmers and landowners. Those requiring more information or answers to questions may contact Kozier at 301-334-6950, ext. 2, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Dairy Market Loss Assistance Program (DMLA III): The Dairy Market Loss Assistance Program payment signup began on Feb. 26, and will end on March 20.

This signup period is for "new" producers who were eligible but did not participate in DMLA I or II or those who received payments on less than 12 months of production.

All new DMLA III applications must be submitted to the office by close of business on March 30. Applications received or requested after March 30 will not be approved, including faxed or mailed applications.

The national payment rate for all dairy producers under DMLA III will be $0.6468 per hundred weight on production up to 39,000 hundred weight.

Production Flexibility Program Provisions: Payments are now available for crop year 2001—the sixth year—AMTA or Production Flexibility Contracts. PFC contracts can be updated now for payments now or later this year. Aug. 1 is the final date to update contracts and request payment. All payments will be issued before Aug. 31. Payments cannot be made unless requesting in writing on the required form provided by our office. Cash rent tenants are also required to provide the landowner's signature on a lease of Land Rent Certification form, for payments requested before July 1.

The AMTA contracts offer production flexibility by not requiring or restricting the planting of contract crops on these farms. The only planting restriction on these farms is on fruits and vegetables (FAV) in excess of the FAV history acres established in 1996. There is an acre-for-acre payment reduction for planting contract acres to FAVs on farms that have FAV history. It is considered a contract violation to plant FAVs on contract acres on farms without FAV history acres established, and this may lead to contract termination. Non-contract acres on contract farms may be planted to fruits and vegetables without penalty.

Changes in operation or ownership of PFC farms must be reported before payment is requested. Changes requiring farm record reconstitutions must be made before the June 1 deadline to update the PF contracts.

Following a farm reconstitution, the owners and operators have 30 days to re-enroll the resulting farms and to request payment. Failure to do this will cause the contract earnings to be reduced to zero. If the operator changes after the payment is issued, the new operator must sign the contract as successor-in-interest in order for the former operator to keep the payment that she/he received.

Payments are calculated using 85% of the contract acres times the FSA farm crop yield times the following payment rates for 2001: wheat $0.474/bu, barley $0.206/bu, oats $0.022/bu, corn $0.269/bu, and grain sorghum $0.324/bu.

2000 Crop Honey and LDP Program: Eligible honey producers may obtain honey nonrecourse marketing assistance loans or loan deficiency payment (LDP) by making application until March 31 or within 30 calendar days after the date of publication of these regulations in the Federal Register. Producers shall request the loan or LDP at the county office where the producer's farm records are located. Applications will not be processed until regulations are published in the Federal Register.

The loan rate will be $.65 per pound for all honey that meets loan eligibility requirements. A loan service fee shall apply to the smaller of .005% of the gross loan amount or $45 plus $3 for each lot over 1. Honey may be stored on or off the farm. Pre-loan inspections must be performed by county office persons to determine the eligible quantity of honey.

Loans mature on demand, but no later than the last day of the ninth calendar month in which the loan was approved. Honey for loan must be stored in clean, sound, uncased metal or plastic intermediate bulk containers. Containers must be identified with producer's name, type of honey, net weight, and container number. Also, a lien search will be conducted, and a financing statement will be filed to protect Commodity Credit Corporation's (CCC) security interest for all honey loans. Honey marketing assistance repayment rates will be announced monthly.

CCC shall make loan deficiency payments to 2000 crop honey producers who agree to forgo the nonrecourse loan, or who have already marketed their 2000 crop honey. The LDP will be based on the date beneficial interest was lost. Eligible container requirements do not apply for LDP.

Satellite Video Conference: The University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service and the Garrett County Forestry Board will sponsor a video conference on "Deer in Rural Woodlands." The conference will be held on April 21 from 9 a.m. to noon in Room 254 at the Information Advanced Technology Center at Garrett Community College.

There will be no charge for the conference, but persons must pre-register by calling the Maryland Forest Service at 301-334-3296.

Acreage Reports, Report Timely, Report Accurately: "Reporting your planted acres timely is the 'best' thing you can do for your farm in our office," Kozier said.

Acreage reports are requirements of the following programs:

- Commodity Loans
- Loan Deficiency Payment
- Conservation Reserve Program (DRP & CREP)
- Non-insured Assistance Program
- Production Flexibility

The menu consists of: pancakes, sausage, homefries, eggs, sausage gravy, ham, fruit, biscuits, coffee, and juice. The public is welcome to attend.

THE WISHING WELL

In the hope of letting people in our area and out of town know when someone is ill or recovering from an accident or illness, I would like to be able to include names in The Wishing Well to give friends and loved ones the opportunity to send them a card, visit them, or call them. At times like these every little bit of encouragement can speed up the recovery process and make the days a little brighter. If you know of anyone whom you would like to have included in The Wishing Well, please contact me at 301-746-5933.

Steven Frazee, son of Jim and Rose Frazee, recently underwent open-heart surgery at the Seventh Day Adventist Hospital. He will be recuperating at his brother Bob's home at 713 Lythe Hill Court, Westminster, MD 21158.

Bennie Pook celebrated his 83rd birthday on March 27 and has been in poor health lately. He can be written to in care of: Manor Nursing Home, 1770 Barley Road, York, PA 17404. Bennie's wife Betty visits him daily and misses all of her friends in the Friendsville area. She recently celebrated her birthday also. She can be reached at 2510 Lori Drive, York, PA 17404.

Martha D. Witt was recently admitted to the Garrett Memorial Hospital due to a slight heart attack. Her address is 5286 Friendsville Road, Friendsville MD 21531.

ON A PERSONAL NOTE

If you haven't already experienced the way that time just flies by, then take note: my son, Christopher Sines, will be turning 22 years old on Sunday, April 1. Now I'm sure that some of you are saying "so what?" but I know that there are a lot of you who can't believe it.

Remember when Chris was just a small, sickly, little guy, who had a lot of prayers said to get him to his 4th birthday? Well, he has grown into quite the young man, who makes us very proud every day! Chris gets so excited for his birthday to come that one would think it is a big event, but then I remind myself that it truly is, because we are very blessed to have him.

By the way, his address is P.O. Box 411, Friendsville MD 21531, for those who are interested.

March News

Contract farms with fruits and vegetable plantings.

May 31 is the deadline for reporting small grains—wheat, barley, and oats.

July 15 is the deadline for coarse grain commodities (corn, soybeans, grain sorghum), fruits and vegetables, as well as CRP acres.

Filing a timely report is a free service of FSA, while a late filed report carries a fee.

USDA programs are rapidly changing due to the current agricultural economy. Future programs may be based on the acreage report which is filed now.

Kozier said it is best to call in advance of a visit to the office.

Reminder For Growers of the 2000 Crop of Small Grains: March 31 is the last day to request a commodity loan or an LDP on wheat, barley or oats.

Kozier said that those who have any of these commodities on hand and who have not requested a commodity loan or an LDP may want to call his office to see if they are eligible to receive this benefit.

LDP Rates Available on the Web: Those who have access to the Internet can go to the home page of the Farm Service Agency and get the daily LDP rates for any county in the U.S.A. The web address is: http://www.fsa.usda.gov.

The rates are posted daily and are only available on that particular day. So, those missing a certain day must contact the county office to get that day's rate.

Foreign-Owned Agricultural Land: Foreign investors who have purchased or sold land in Garrett County must report the transaction to the FSA office within 90 days.

This report is required by the Agricultural Foreign Disclosure Act, and failure to comply could result in a fine. Application forms are available at any FSA office.

2000 Crop Loan Rates: The following are the loan rates for the 2000 crop year: barley $1.45/bu, corn $2.05/bu, oats $1.26/bu, soybeans $5.37/bu, grain sorghum $3.02/cwt, and wheat $2.59/bu.

Payment Limitation: Producers who receive program benefits are subject to limitation and payment eligibility requirements. Certain programs require "Actively Engaged In Farming" determination before any payments can be issued. Other programs require only "Person" determinations.

Any entity program benefits must provide the names, addresses and ID number of the entity's members. Applicable forms and further details are available at the FSA office.

Signature Requirements: A husband or wife can sign documents on behalf of each other for FSA and CCC programs in which either spouse has an interest unless written notification denying a spouse this authority has been provided to the county FSA office.

Receives Honor For Achievement

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Jamie White, Kitzmiller, has been named recipient of an award in the category of science. White is a student at Southern Middle School, and was nominated for this award by science teacher William Janoske.

The academy selects USAA winners upon a recommendation of teachers, coaches, school counselors, or other qualified school sponsors, and upon a variety of personal criteria, such as academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, motivation to learn, citizenship, and attitude. The biographies of the winners are published in the academy's yearbook.

Jamie White is the son of James and Teresa White, Kitzmiller.

SWANTON NEWS

Mareva and Orval Teets attended the Chessie Federal Credit Union dinner meeting at the Shrine Club in Cumberland on Saturday evening.

Mary June Harvey spent last week with her daughter-in-law, Betty Harvey, in New Martinsville, W.Va. While there she visited her grandson, Kenneth Harvey, and his wife Irene. On Friday she and Betty traveled with Getaway Tours to Lancaster, Pa., where they attended the Sight and Sound Theater for the show Behold the Lamb. On Saturday morning they attended the show Abraham and Sara. After lunch they journeyed to Hershey Park, spending some time at Hershey's Chocolate World. From there the tour returned to Moundsville, where they had parked their car.

On Sunday, Sandy and Brian Schofield of Bittinger, drove to New Martinsville to visit with Betty and to bring Mary June back to her home in Swanton.

Gary Friend of Glenwood Springs, Colo., visited relatives and friends here last week.

Meredith and Maxine Ball, and Mareva and Orval Teets visited John and Linda Fleming on Friday evening.

Addy Wilson, Graham, N.C., spent some time here with her family, David, Mary Lou, Joni, and Holly Wilson. She also visited her grandmother, Freda Teets, and her grandfather, Tom Wilson, before she returned to her home in Graham on Friday.

EMERGENCY ORDINANCE 2001-1

WHEREAS, the Friendsville Mayor and Town Council find it prudent to make additions to existing regulations regarding municipal elections; AND

WHEREAS, the Friendsville Mayor and Town Council are desirous of adopting regulations to assist the Friendsville Board of Elections in determining the voter's intent in municipal elections,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville that, when the Friendsville Board of Elections is reviewing ballots following the closing of the polls of said election, the following technical points shall be considered when judging the validity of a questioned vote:

1. If any portion of the cross mark extends beyond the square, the vote is valid as long as the intersection of the cross mark is within the square.

2. In reference to a write-in vote, when the voter's intention is noted, it shall not be defeated by the fact that the name of the candidate is misspelled, that the wrong initials are employed or that some other or slightly different name of similar pronunciation has been written instead of that of the candidate actually intended to be written in.

Introduced and adopted this 5th day of February 2001.

The effective date of this ordinance is February 5, 2001.

WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION
Garrett County
Application for State Discharge Permit 93-DP-1814:

Maryland Department of Transportation, State Highway Administration, 3876 National Pike, Accident, MD 21520, applied for renewal of a permit to discharge vehicle wash water from a highway maintenance facility, located at Routes 40 and 219, Keysers Ridge, Maryland, to ground water, via a subsurface disposal system.

A tentative determination has been made by the Department to issue the permit requiring monitoring of flow without limits, total petroleum hydrocarbons limited to a daily maximum of 15 mg/l, volatile organic chemicals limited to their drinking water maximum contaminant level and a daily maximum of 100 µg/l, and operational and maintenance requirements to protect waters of the State.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by April 18, 2001. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, Maryland 21224, Attn.: Dr. Ching-Tzone Tien, and must include the name, address, and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by April 18, 2001 will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Dr. Tien at the above address, on or before April 30, 2001. Any hearing impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Dr. Tien at 410-631-3662 or by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Dr. Tien at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request to Dr. Tien at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.30 per page.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BID

Sealed proposals shall be addressed to and deposited with Gary Brack, Director of Plant Operations at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, 251 North Fourth Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1375, until 2:00 p.m., local prevailing time, Tuesday, April 10, 2001, for the following Project:

Alterations to Coronary Intensive Care and the Progressive Care Unit

Bids will be privately opened.

Each bid shall be accompanied by a certified check, a cashier's check or the bid bond of an approved Surety Company, in an amount of not less than ten percent (10%) of the amount of the proposal. Check or bond shall be drawn in favor of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. All bidders must submit proof of acute care hospital construction experience, as outlined in the Project Manual.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening of bids, except if delayed by a required approval of another government agency, the sale of bonds, or the award of a grant or grants, in which case contract award would occur within 120 days of the date of bid opening, unless extended by the mutual written consent of the contracting body and the bidder. Thirty (30) day extensions of the date for the award of the contract may be made by the mutual written consent of the Owner and the bidder.

Project Manual and Drawings for bidding purposes may be obtained by the contractors at the office of Hayes Large Architects, Logan Boulevard & Fifth Avenue, P.O. Box 1784, Altoona, PA 16603; Phone (814) 946-0451; Fax (614) 946-9054; e-mail Altoona@HayesLarge.com on or after March 15, 2001, upon deposit of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) for one set of complete documents including General Construction, Heating, Ventilating and Air Conditioning Construction, Fire Suppression Construction, Plumbing Construction and Electrical Construction Drawings and the Project Manual, which amount [less fifteen Dollars ($15.00) for expense of postage and handling if documents are mailed to bidder] will be refunded to the bidder only upon submission of a bona fide bid and the return of the Drawings and the Project Manual, including Addenda, to the Architect in reusable condition within ten (10) days after the date of opening of bids; otherwise, the deposit will he forfeited. A second set of construction Drawings and the Project Manual may be obtained upon an additional refundable deposit of Fifty Dollars ($50.00). Additional sets of Drawings and the Project Manual may be purchased.

Work shall be started on the Project no later than ten (10) days after the Notice to Proceed is issued by the Owner. The entire work shall be completed, ready for use, on or before 150 calendar days after notice to proceed.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital reserves the right to waive any informalities in bids, or to reject any or all bids.

Mr. Gary Brack
Director of Plant Operations

INVITATION TO BID

The Grant County Board of Education will receive sealed bids until 10:00 a.m. LPT on April 12, 2001, for renovations of the existing science area at the Union Educational Complex, Mt. Storm, WV, at the Office of the Grant County Board of Education, 204 Jefferson Avenue, Petersburg, WV 26847. The Bids will be opened publicly and read aloud at approximately 10:05 a.m. LPT.

The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory Performance Bond and Labor and Material Bond each in the amount of at least one hundred percent (100%) of the Contract Price.

The Bidding Documents, which consist of the drawings and the Project Manual, are available at the office of the Architect, Alpha Associates, Incorporated, 209 Prairie Avenue, Morgantown, WV 26501. Potential Bidders may obtain copies of the Bidding Documents beginning March 30, 2001.

A $75.00 deposit is required for each set of Bidding Documents if picked up at the address listed above. The deposit is fully refundable, provided the Documents are returned unmarked and in a usable condition as determined by the Architect. A separate, non-refundable fee of $5.00 per set is required if the documents are to be mailed.

A Non-Mandatory Pre-Bid Conference will be held at the Union Educational Complex, Mt. Storm, WV, at 1:00 p.m. LPT on April 5, 2001. All potential Bidders and Interested subbidders and material suppliers are encouraged to attend.

The Grant County Board of Education reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informalities in the bidding.

A satisfactory Bid Bond, furnished by a solvent surety company authorized to do business in the State of West Virginia, in the amount equal to five percent (5%) of the bid, must be furnished with each bid.

After the scheduled closing time for the receipt of bids, no bid may be withdrawn for at least 60 days. The bid bond shall be forfeited to the Grant County Board of Education, as a measure of liquidated Damages should the Bidder fail to execute the Contract and furnish the Performance Bond and Labor and Material Payment Bond within ten (10) days after written notification from the Grant County Board of Education is made for intent for contract award.

The Bid Bond(s) of the unsuccessful Bidder(s) will be returned when the notice of intent of contract award is made, that of the successful Bidder will be returned when the Contract and Bonds are approved.

This is a prevailing wage rate project utilizing the West Virginia Division of Labor Building and Construction Wage Rates for Grant County.

West Virginia Code 21-1-1-2 requires that all persons desiring to perform contractual work in West Virginia must be duly licensed and must include their number of the Bid. The West Virginia Contractor's Licensing Board is empowered to issue the contractor's license. Application for a contractor s license may be made by contacting the West Virginia Division of Labor, Building 3, Room 319, 1900 Kanawha Boulevard, East, Charleston, West Virginia 25305-0570. Phone (304) 558-7890.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a copy of its contractor's license prior to issuance of a Purchase Order/Contract.

It shall be the Contractor's responsibility to ensure that all subcontractors are duly licensed to perform work within the State of West Virginia.

NOTICE AND ORDER

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property situate in Election District 03, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the collector of Taxes for Garrett County and State of Maryland to Bruce D. Cable:

All that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 13, containing 9000 square feet, more or less and described in a deed from Mary Kitzmiller, Personal Representative of the Estate of Phyllis Kelivitis to Stanley E. Tasker and Dessie M. Tasker, husband and wife, dated May 5, 1976, and recorded on May 19, 1976, in Liber No. 366, folio 641, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six (6) months and one day from the date of the sale has expired.

It is thereupon, this 16th day of March 2001, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that the notice be given in accordance with Rule 2-121 by certified mail requesting: "Restricted Delivery - show to whom, date, address of delivery" on the defendants named in the complaint, warning the Defendants to be and appear in this Court by the 15th day of May 2001, and redeem the property and answer the complaint, or thereafter a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property, and vesting in the Plaintiff a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

MORTGAGE ASSIGNEE'S SALE
Case No. C-01-6684

Of Valuable Improved Real Estate located in Garrett County, Maryland, improved by premises located at 573 Dry Run Road, Swanton, Maryland 21522

Under and by virtue of a power of Sale contained in a certain Mortgage from George W. Greenville to Sandy Spring National Bank Of Maryland, dated the 22nd day of January 1990 and duly recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 544, at Folio 169, docketed for foreclosure in Civil No. C-01-6684, the holder of the indebtedness secured by the Mortgage having assigned the Mortgage to Martin L. Goozman, as Mortgage Assignee, by Instrument duly executed, acknowledged and recorded among the Land Records of the said County, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the holder of the Note secured thereby, the undersigned Mortgage Assignee will offer for sale in "AS IS" condition at public auction in front of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, Courthouse, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on

Monday, April 9, 2001
at 2:00 p.m.

all that property described in the said Mortgage as follows:

PARCEL 1: All that piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 12, Garrett County, Maryland, which is particularly described as follows, to-wit:

BEGINNING for the part thereof hereby intended to be conveyed at a bounded double chestnut tree standing at the end of the fifth line of the second parcel of land described in the said deed from Edward Pritts and wife to Arthur Pritts and Peter Bickford and running thence reversing said fifth and part of the fourth line thereof, North 28 1/4 degrees West 66 perches, South 61 3/4 degrees West 66 1/2 perches to the end of the fourth line of Arthur Pritts part of said second parcel of land, then with the fifth line thereof South 43 1/2 degrees East 74 1/2 perches, to the sixth line of the aforesaid second parcel of land thence reversing said sixth line North 54 1/2 degrees East 48 perches to the beginning, containing 25 acres.

EXCEPTING, however, one acre 104 perches conveyed by Peter Bickford, et ux., to Carl D. Perrin, et ux., by deed dated March 25, 1946, and recorded in Liber No. 139, folio 186, one of the said Land Records.

TOGETHER WITH a right of way from the property hereby conveyed to the Dry Run Country Road which was granted to the parties of the first part by the First National Bank Of Oakland, et al., by Instrument dated September 17, 1977, and to be recorded among said Land Records.

PARCEL 2: All of that lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 2, Garrett County, Maryland, and is more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING for the same at a 3/8 inch rebar set in the northwestern limits of Dry Run Road said rebar marks the northern most corner of lands of Donald Richard King Jr., thence from said beginning, South 36 degrees 58 minutes 55 seconds West, 314.34 feet along the northwestern limits of Dry Run Road to a 3/8 inch rebar set, thence North 53 degrees 01 minutes 05 seconds West, 102.04 feet through the lands of Donald Richard King Jr. to a 3/8 inch rebar set, then North 54 degrees 58 minutes East, 330.48 feet along the lands of George W. Greenville and Esther M. Greenville to the beginning, containing 0.37 acres of land, more or less.

Said property is improved by contemporary style family home with 4BR, 2B, F, LR, and K on first level, with 1BR, 1B on basement level, attached 2 car garage.

The property will be sold subject to all conditions, restrictions, easements, covenants, rights-of-way and agreements of record affecting the property, and subject to whatever an accurate survey or inspection of the property would disclose, in "AS IS" condition, without any express or implied warranty as to suitability, quality, condition or description, including any contained herein.

A deposit of $10,000.00 cash, certified or cashier's check, payable to the undersigned Mortgage assignee, shall be required at the time and place of sale. The balance of the purchase price shall bear interest at the rate of 10% per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement. No deposit shall be required of the noteholder where the noteholder bids on the property at sale, and payment of the purchase price by the noteholder shall be made by crediting the purchase price against the foreclosure costs and expenses and the indebtedness secured by said Mortgage.

Adjustment on all taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments, annual front foot benefit charges and deferred connection fees, homeowner's association fees and condominium association fees, if any, shall be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, transfer tax, recordation tax and all other costs incident to settlement shall be paid by the purchaser.

The premises are sold subject to the right of any persons in possession of all or any part of the premises under recorded or unrecorded leases or rights of occupancy, if any. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the premises.

Compliance with the terms of sale shall be made within ten (10) days after final ratification of the sale unless said time is extended by the undersigned Mortgage Assignee in his sole discretion for good cause shown, time being of the essence; otherwise the deposit shall be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser.

The Mortgage Assignee is not liable, individually or otherwise, for any reason. If title to the property is not or cannot be transferred consistent with the terms hereof for any reason, the Mortgage Assignee's liability is limited, at its sole discretion, to return any deposit, thereby rescinding the sale, and there is no other right or remedy against the Mortgage Assignee at law or in equity.

Martin L. Goozman
Mortgage Assignee

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
McHenry Water Service District

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing of the County Commissioners of Garrett County is scheduled for Tuesday, April 3, 2001, at 10:00 a.m. in the Garrett County Commissioners' Public Meeting Room, located at the Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland, to consider creating boundaries for the service area of the McHenry Water Service District in Garrett County.

In a Resolution adopted on February 12, 2001, the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, pursuant to Title 9, Subtitle 648, of the Environment Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1996 Volume), proposed to determine the boundaries for the purpose of providing sewer facilities to serve the area described in that Resolution and shown on the plat attached thereto. A copy of the Resolution of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission adopted on February 12, 2001, and the plat showing the boundaries of the proposed service area are on file in the offices of the Garrett County Sanitary District, 313 East Alder Street, Old Courthouse, Room 200, Oakland, Maryland, and are available for public inspection during regular business hours.

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on April 3, 2001, to determine if the creation of the McHenry Water Service District is necessary for the public health, safety, and welfare of the residents of the proposed service area and if feasible financially and from an engineering standpoint.

By Order of the County Commissioners of Garrett County
R. Lamont Pagenhardt
County Administrator

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT
NOTICE TO CREDITORS
NOTICE TO UNKNOWN HEIRS
Estate No. 9153

TO ALL PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE ESTATE OF Paul Ellsworth Coimer:

Notice is given that Joseph Wilmer Coimer, 772 Fosters Inn Road, Grantsville, MD, was on March 1, 2001, appointed personal representative of the estate of Paul Ellsworth Coimer, who died on February 5, 1999, without a will.

Further information can be obtained by reviewing the estate file in the office of the Register of Wills or by contacting the personal representative or the attorney.

All persons having any objection to the appointment (or to the probate of the decedent's will) shall file their objections with the Register of Wills on or before the 1st day of September 2001.

Any person having a claim against the decedent must present the claim to the undersigned personal representative or file it with the Register of Wills with a copy to the undersigned on or before the earlier of the following dates:

(1) Six months from the date of the decedent's death, except if the decedent died before October 1, 1992, nine months from the date of the decedent's death; or

(2) Two months after the personal representative mails or otherwise delivers to the creditor a copy of this published notice or other written notice, notifying the creditor that the claim will be barred unless the creditor presents the claims within two months from the mailing or other delivery of the notice. A claim not presented or filed on or before that date, or any extension provided by law, is unenforceable thereafter. Claim forms may be obtained from the Register of Wills.

INVITATION TO BID

Sealed bids marked "Bid for the Grantsville Housing Project Work" will be received by the Garrett County Maryland Community Action Committee Inc. and the Town of Grantsville (hereinafter referred to as Owner), at the office of Century Engineering Inc., 10 North Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, until 4 p.m. on the 10th day of April 2001, and then and there the bids will be publicly opened and read.

This project is for construction of a housing project. The work consists of clearing and grubbing, earthwork, stormwater management, road base and pavement, water and sewer lines, and reseeding.

A pre-bid conference will be held on the 28th day of March 2001, at 10:00 a.m. at the Senior Center, Durst Court, east off Pennsylvania Avenue in the Town of Grantsville, to answer any questions concerning the contract documents. All bidders are invited to attend.

Contract Documents will be available for inspection during regular working hours at the office of the engineer, Century Engineering Inc., 10 North Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550. Contract Documents may be obtained from the Engineer upon written request and remittance of full payment of seventy-five dollars ($75.00) for each set, with checks made payable to Century Engineering Inc. Payment will not be refunded, said payment being retained by the Engineer to cover cost of printing, handling and shipping. Requests for Contract Documents shall be submitted to:

Morgan C. France, L.S., P.E.
Century Engineering Inc.
10 North Third Street
Oakland, Maryland 21550
301-334-2305

All bids must be made on the required Bid form. All blank spaces for Bid prices must be filled in, typewritten, or in ink, and the bid form must be fully completed and executed when submitted. The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or minor defects, or to reject any and all Bids. Any Bid may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of Bids or authorized postponement thereof. Any Bid received after the time and date specified will not be considered. No Bidder may withdraw a Bid within 30 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the Contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the Owner and the Bidder.

Bidders must satisfy themselves of the scope-of-work by examination of the site and a review of the Contract Documents including Addenda. After Bids have been submitted, the Bidder shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of work or of the nature of the work to be done.

The Contract Documents contain the provisions required for the work included in the Project. Information obtained from an officer, agent or employee of the Owner, or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the Contract.

An acceptable Bid Bond, payable to the Owner, in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid must accompany each Bid. A certified check in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid, drawn on a solvent bank chartered in the State of Maryland, and payable to the Owner, may be substituted for the Bid Bond.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign Bid Bonds, Performance Bonds, Payment Bonds, or Defective Materials, Workmanship and Equipment Bonds must file, with each Bond, a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The Bid Bonds of all bidders, except the bonds submitted with the three (3) lowest acceptable bids, will be returned within a fifteen (15) day period following the time of opening of the bids. The Bid Bonds accompanying the three lowest acceptable bids will be returned after the Contract has been awarded to and executed by the successful bidder. Provided the Owner, for any reason whatsoever, determines that it is not in its best interest to award a Contract, the Contract award will not be made by the Owner and the Owner will not then be liable for any payments whatsoever to the Bidder. Extension of time beyond the thirty (30) day period of the award may be made only by mutual agreement between the Owner, the Bidder and the Bidder's Surety.

The party to whom the Contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement within ten (10) calendar days from the date when Notice of Award is delivered to the Bidder. The Notice of Award will be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and contract forms. In case of failure of the Bidder to execute the Agreement, the Owner may, at his option, consider the Bidder in default, in which case the Bid Bond accompanying the proposal shall become the property of the Owner.

The Owner within ten (10) days of receipt of an acceptable Agreement signed by the party to whom the Contract was awarded, will sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the Owner not execute the Agreement within such period, the Bidder may, by Written Notice, withdraw his signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of notice by the Owner.

A conditional or qualified Bid will not be accepted.

Award will be made by the Owner to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over the work shall apply to the Contract throughout.

The successful bidder will be required to fully complete all contract work within one hundred twenty (120) consecutive calendar days from and including the date of receipt from the Owner of formal notice to proceed.

The award of any contract will be made by the Owner.

Bidders are cautioned that bids that are deemed by the Owner to be obviously unbalanced may be rejected.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any proposal for failure to comply with all requirements of this notice or of any of the Contract Documents; however, it may waive any minor defects or informalities at its discretion.

The Owner further reserves the right to reject all proposals, or to award a contract or contracts, which in its judgment is in the best interest of the Owner. The Owner is an equal opportunity employer.

Further information can be obtained by reviewing the estate file in the office of the Register of Wills or by contacting the personal representative or the attorney.

All persons having any objection to the appointment (or to the probate of the decedent's will) shall file their objections with the Register of Wills on or before the 20th day of September 2001.

Any person having a claim against the decedent must present the claim to the undersigned personal representative or file it with the Register of Wills with a copy to the undersigned on or before the earlier of the following dates:

(1) Six months from the date of the decedent's death, except if the decedent died before October 1, 1992, nine months from the date of the decedent's death; or

(2) Two months after the personal representative mails or otherwise delivers to the creditor a copy of this published notice or other written notice, notifying the creditor that the claim will be barred unless the creditor presents the claims within two months from the mailing or other delivery of the notice. A claim not presented or filed on or before that date, or any extension provided by law, is unenforceable thereafter. Claim forms may be obtained from the Register of Wills.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

LENTEN SERVICE AT MAPLE GROVE

The April 4 Union District Lenten service is set for Maple Grove Assembly at 7:30 p.m. Speaking will be Debbie Strawser. Everyone is invited to attend.

EASTER DRAMA

There are two planned performances of "Vinegar Boy," an Easter drama to be presented on Palm Sunday, and on April 11 both at the Maple Spring Church at 7:30 p.m. The public is welcome to attend either the Sunday or Wednesday performance.

A sunrise service is set for Sunday morning, April 15, at the Aurora United Methodist Church, at 6:30 a.m.

SOUP, SALAD MEAL

The Maple Spring Church of the Brethren on Rt. 24 south of Eglon will be the site of an all-you-can-eat soup and salad dinner on April 7. Serving is from 4 until 8 p.m., and the meal includes dessert. Donations asked are $5 for adults and $3 for children. Proceeds go to sponsoring the Youth Fellowship group.

SMORGASBORD APRIL 21

A smorgasbord will be served at the Aurora United Methodist Church on April 21. Proceeds go to the paving fund. The dinner will be served between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m., with $6 adult donations and $3 for children.

25TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION SET

An open house is planned for Dick and Connie Knotts of Horse Shoe Run, on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. All are invited to come to the William Slaubaugh Memorial Building at Mt. Grove on Saturday, April 7, between 3 and 6 p.m., to help them celebrate.

SOCIAL STUDIES WINNERS NOTED

Local students who were county winners in the recent Social Studies Fair are:

Division I, Stephanie Bittinger, geography, and Tracy Moats and Tiffany Ellifritz, anthropology; both first place.

Division II, Josh Mullenax, economics, Tracy Fields, world history, Nathan Myers and Anthony Wilt, geography, and Jordan and Seth Feather, sociology, all first place.

Division I, second and third place, Samantha Conrad, 3rd in anthropology, Marissa Bachtel, 3rd in economics, Caitlin Roth, 3rd in local and state history, and Kaitlyn Schalker, 2nd in U.S. history.

Division I, pairs second and third place, Amelia Friend and Kelsey Mullenex, 2nd, economics; Ryan Rocha and Josh Rinker, 2nd, psychology, and William Dixon and Rickie Snyder, 2nd, local and state history.

Honorable mention in Division I went to Jonathan Mauldin and Lakin Radford for world history.

Division II, Melissa Morris, 2nd, sociology, Jennifer Sullivan, 3rd, world history; and Mallorie Freeland and Nicole Britner, 2nd, sociology.

CEMETERY REQUEST

The Aurora Cemetery Association is asking that old decorations be removed from graves by April 15. Those who are placing new spring decorations are asked to remove the old ones and dispose of them.

REVIVAL SERVICES

The Mt. Top United Methodist cooperative parish is sponsoring a three-day revival. The Friday, April 6, services are scheduled to be held at the Aurora United Methodist Church at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

MINI COURSE FOR GARDENERS

For those interested in a mini-course from a master gardener, a course will be offered Tuesday evenings from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m., beginning April 24 at the Aurora School. To obtain the materials expense recovery, a fee of $5 will be charged. To register for the course, persons may call the Aurora School at 735-3781. At least 10 participants are needed for the course.

PERSONAL MENTION

Joey DeLauder of Huntsville, S.C., visited with his grandparents, Fred and Dorotha Forman at Amboy, and grandmother DeLauder at Terra Alta on March 16-18. He attended a performance of "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown," at Preston High Theater, in which his brother, A.J. DeLauder, was portraying the part of Linus.

Floyd Knapp of Amboy was taken last Wednesday, March 21, to Cortland Acres Nursing Home, where he will remain a resident.

Paul Stemple of Aurora underwent surgery at Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Friday, March 23, and remains a patient there at this writing. He is expected to be released to the care of his son, Steve, in Elkins.

Jim Bolyard of Amboy was admitted last Monday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he underwent surgery on Sunday, and is expected to be able to return to his home this week. He reportedly has complications following knee surgery.

Several from this area spent a weekend at the NASCAR races held at Bristol, Tenn., this past weekend. Some of those who went were John and Jeanette Adams, Greg and B.J., JoAnn Helton and son Jim, Alan and Patty Wilt, and Carl and Cynthia Bachtel.

Ray and Pauline Best of Riva, Md., visited last week with Eugene and Bernadine Bachtel, Clifton and Grace Bachtel, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bachtel. On Saturday they attended a 99th birthday celebration for Ray's aunt, Bernice Gaither, in Bayard.

Jackie and Alma Snyder of Aurora were Sunday afternoon visitors in Fairmont with her sister and brother-in-law, Grace and Jerry Winter, and Grace's daughter, Linda Bachman.

Nina Layman was admitted Saturday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for an overnight stay, and was to return to her Aurora home Sunday.

A Sunday surprise dinner held at the St. Paul's Lutheran fellowship hall was an occasion to honor Dean Sisler who celebrated her birthday on March 28. All of the Scott and Dean Sisler children were present, along with most of the grandchildren: Michael and June Sisler, Ron and Donetta Nice, Ron and Jana Freeman, Tammy Fauber, Derrick and Cara Radford, and Shauna and Paul Perrine and their families; also Kitty Myers and granddaughter Erica, James and Deloris Slawter, Bill and Sandra Hauser, Beth and Chad Bishop and a friend, Marie Martin, Mary Nice and Larry Nice, Mary and Junior Streets, Terry and Phyllis VanDevender and their family, and Linda and Sam Terrant and their family.

Leota Elsey, Aurora, entered Cortland Acres Nursing Home at Thomas on Monday, March 26, where she is now a resident.

Tim Harsh returned to Bryant College in Massachusetts following a visit with his parents, Wade and Mary Harsh, Eglon, during spring break.

Rickey and Kelly Myers of Aurora were among those attending the Bristol, Tenn., NASCAR races last weekend.

Mrs. Joe Fint and her son and daughter, Joey and Rebecca, all of Aurora, are vacationing this week in Florida.

Tom Teets, a WVU student, is spending spring break with his parents, Mark and LaDeana Teets, at Eglon.

Floyd and Ginger Massey of Silver Lake made a weekend visit to Greenville, Tenn., following the illness and hospitalization of Floyd's father.

Local students were winners in the Tucker County High competition of their chapter of FCCLA (Family Career and Community Leaders of America), during the week of February 11-17. The competition placed Heather Roth in first place in "Lesson Plan Development," while Alicia Shaffer tied for second place with Angie Bland. Cora Cullers took first place, and Shari Winters second place, in the poster contest.

In storybook design, Heather Roth's book, "Little Frog," won a first place and has been published by Creations by You Publishing Company. It is on sale for $14.95 from Heather at 735-5035.
